Guignol Theater to Open Monday With Premiere Presentation of 'Hay Fever'

Elaborate Stage Sets Designed by Frank Fowler Will Be Feature

MRS. W. F. GALLOWAY HEADS UNIQUE CAST

Reception to Be Held on Stage Following First Night Performance

The Guignol Theater will make its initial bow to the University and community Monday night with the opening of 'Hay Fever,' which will run throughout the week.

'Hay Fever,' a hilarious comedy in three acts by Noel Coward, has had successful runs in both New York and London and promises to be a rare treat to Lexington audiences.

The versatile cast is headed by Mrs. Frances Galloway, wife of Prof. W. F. Galloway of the English department, in the role of the weary and whimsical Judith, and Alvin Hager, in the role of her husband, David Bliss, an author, is played by Charles Blaine, Delta Chi, senior in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Each member of the family invites a guest to spend the week end, entirely unknown to the others, and the complications which result form the plot of the play. The guests are Myrl Arundel, a vamp, played by Margaret Lewis, F. W. C. secretary; Jackie Corydon, a flapper, played by Garnett Shouse, Delta Delta Delta, sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences; Richard Greenham, a director, played by Leon Gigglesworth; and Sandy Tyrrell, a prize-fighter, played by M. L. Nolan, Delta Chi, senior in the College of Engineering.

An elaborate stage set has been designed by Director Frank C. Fowler and executed under the direction of Thomas Lyons, professor of drama, and William Zoff, student stage manager, with the assistance of John Lester. It is that of the spacious and charming summer home of a country estate in England and the style is suggestive of Spanish, beautified by a balcony which opens on a walled garden.

A reception will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the Men's gymnasium when several people of prominence have been invited as guests.

Miss Cynthia Smith, business manager of the Guignol, is at her office in the former Roman building every afternoon and evening for the convenience of those who wish to reserve seats for 'Hay Fever.'

U. K. to Make Gobs of Whoopie At Pep Meeting

What should be the most successful pep meeting held this year by the Sucky Circle will be given at 7 o'clock tonight in the Men's gymnasium when several red-blooded students of the University will be on hand to make "whoopie" for the team and drum the hopes of Centre by tearing out the roof of said building with real, honest-to-gosh Wildcat yells.

And gentlemen, we are taking a great interest in "Rah, Rahs" in a dignified tone of voice, such as have been very outstanding at the two other pep meetings, we most joyfully challenge and histles that will give the team some idea that the student body is behind them.

The band will be there, of course, and at 7:45 o'clock will lead the band of rosters to the Ben All theater where a program will be directed to the pep meeting. The program will surprise if the Wildcat followers will break loose and do a little boisterous down thro too. The last time the pep leaders had a hard time getting a riot out of the crowd. No one's going to hurt you so turn on and make a little noise. Your ticket is good for the rest of the show and no one will throw you out for disturbing the peace.

Remember that every admission ticket means a donation to the fund for sending the band south with the team, and anyone who thinks that a game of horn-tooters doesn't help all better pack up the extra pair of socks and head for home because they are out of place here.

Be on hand at 7 o'clock sharp and let's show the mighty Wildcat team that we are behind them, win or lose.

FENCERS REPORT FOR PRELIMINARY PRACTICE

The first practice session of the fencing team was held Monday afternoon. The 15 men who were out exhibited a keen interest in the sport, and also showed exceptional talent in the more advanced work. He is a possessor of the coveted trophy "Iron Man," and under his direction the team hopes to reach a very high degree of proficiency.

ORCHESTRA PLANS UNUSUAL CONCERT

Organization Is Specializing on Schubert as University's Contribution to Schubert Centennial, Says Professor Lampert.

The symphony orchestra of the University will give its first concert within a few weeks, according to Professor Lampert. Thirty-two members have been permanently chosen and a program in commemoration of Franz Schubert, the well-known composer, is being planned for the first concert.

The concert will include Schubert's celebrated "Unfinished Symphony" and parts of the ballet music from the opera "Rosamond." It will be the University's contribution to the Schubert Centennial which is being observed over the world at this time.

The philharmonic orchestra is showing more advancement and interest this year than ever before, due to the recent founding of the Philharmonic school. The orchestra was founded nine years ago by Professor Lampert, but this is the first year he has had a full complement of students.

Concerts will be held on Sunday afternoons in the Men's gymnasium until the completion of Memorial hall, when musicals will be held in the large auditorium. The student body and public are invited to attend these concerts.

Members of the orchestra are taking a great interest in the concert, Professor Lampert, and will offer a series of concerts, each having a specific theme.

The Kampus Kat To Reveal Truth At Centre Game

"Only one dime, 10 cents, the tenth part of a dollar, folks, and a copy of The Kampus Kat is yours!"

This will be the cheering message that will echo across Stoll field tomorrow at the Homecoming game, when the Kampus Kat makes its appearance.

It is reported from reliable sources that several members of the faculty and student body have, on their knees, pleaded with the editors of the Kat to withhold the fatal information about them, but the Kat editors were not so easily won over, and the student body will be informed about all the fraud and crime that lies beneath the apparently quiet exterior of the University.

The Kat sees all, knows all. Evil-doers are leaving school by scores, it is said at the registrar's office. They know that they will be exposed when The Kat appears Saturday.

Nevertheless, The Kat is considered one of the most interesting contents to be one of the most entertaining columns published by university students in recent years. Considerable time and work has been devoted to its publication, in an endeavor to make it equal or better than the previous edition of The Kampus Kat, which won national first honors.

Among its contents are a number of exceptionally interesting columns devoted to Alumni, Fraternity Row, Fashionable Sports, Society and Classified ads.

So frank and revealing have been the editors, that they would be afraid to appear abroad without wearing their "Big Boy" hats. They are so openers were so easily operated.

Praying Colonels Are Doped to Meet Defeat Under 'Cats' Crushing Attack

FLAMES OF ANNUAL FEUD BURN HIGH

Injured Regulars Will Watch Game While Reserves Meet Foe

(By Wayman Thomason)

The Colonels are praying again; plaintive, tremulous prayers, the same they prayed in 1914 and have prayed every year thereafter; appealing supplications which have been heard, but also unanswered, for victories over Kentucky, many of which have been answered, 11 refused, and two ignored, during almost three decades of fierce contention between the two institutions. Tomorrow is Homecoming day, the 37th anniversary of the first Kentucky-Centre game.

A different spectacle from other years will greet the eyes of some 11,000 Kentuckians of divided allegiance who will assemble in Maxwell stadium to witness Kentucky's annual gridiron classic. A Centre team has not won a game. Kentucky has been victorious in every game of the season, and that score was the result of a belated Northwestern forward pass which caught Kentucky's midwest off balance.

Odds Ever Shifting

In previous years the odds have been against each team at various times, but this year, from 7 to 1925, McMillan, Roberts, Thomasons, and Covingtons clouded the Blue and White football horizon with many touchdowns. In 1926, Jim McLean, injured by a broken leg, was a factor in the Blue's victory over the White, but the White's greatest triumph was the 1927 victory over the Blue, 13 to 0. The Blue's greatest triumph was the 1928 victory over the White, 13 to 0.

Now, in a game rich with tradition in the Kentucky Bluegrass, these two great rivals are meeting again. Tomorrow will be the experience of being Homecomers will gloat over another triumph, or age in another defeat.

It is a section of football which has been seen many times, but it is a section of football which has been seen many times, but it is a section of football which has been seen many times.

Bronston and Toth in Backfield

Before the barrier is sprung, I present these records: "Ollie" Johnson, the Swede, and Al. Fortson, the Alabamian, and "Fater" Floppy" Foraker, the pondering deacon, has a broken proboscis. Thus, Mike Johnson, a member of the Blue team, Mr. Toth are up on the Gamage backfield mounts, wearing the blue and white silks. These boys are appreciative riders like veterans. Coach Busch, Goings, and company from Centre stables may put a clod in the Wildcat track tomorrow as the stretch

ALUMNI CLUBS

This year it is one of the ambitions of the officers of the Alumni association of the University to see organized all over Kentucky and the United States active Alumni clubs. There is hardly a city of any size in the United States where one will fail to find enough Alumni and former students of the University to complete an organization of this kind. We also venture to assert that there is no place in the world where you will find Kentuckians unwilling to gather together with others from his native state. Nothing proves this better than the fact that in almost every large city in the country are found Kentucky societies and Kentucky clubs, made up of all former citizens of the state. If these people, coming from all sections of the state, with nothing stronger to draw them together than the fact that they once lived within the bounds of Kentucky, can form active organizations, how much more active can a club made up entirely of graduates and former students of our beloved Alma Mater be. At Chicago last Saturday the writer had the opportunity to see an Alumni club that is probably one of the most active organizations of the Alumni association. The members of this club, in conjunction with the Kentucky society of Chicago, tendered to Kentuckians in their city, to witness the football game between Kentucky and Northwestern, an entertainment that was one of the most elaborate and successful affairs that it has been our pleasure to attend since we have been associated with the University, either as student or Alumnus. The Alumni and former students living in the Chicago district are finding great pleasure in their organization. They get much out of the regular monthly meetings and their members are numbered among the most active in the Alumni association. If it is possible for them to have a successful organization in their city it is equally possible for successful organizations to be had in every city where there are to be found Alumni of the University.

A great many of you Alumni who read this are living in centers where there already are Alumni organizations or where there are enough of you to form one. The office is willing to cooperate in every way possible with the different Alumni clubs and has already offered to furnish lists of Alumni living in your locality. There are many of you no doubt who are anxious for such an organization but feel that you cannot afford the time to do the work of organizing. A few telephone calls to your friends asking them to help out with the organization, or reorganization, will distribute the work so that you will lose very little of your time. We here in this office are willing to do as much of that work as is possible from here. Call on us at any time.

In the matter of naming the Alumni clubs, two of the organizations have already altered their names to what, to our minds, is a much better title. Both Chicago and Cincinnati Alumni now call their organizations "The University of Kentucky Club of Chicago," and "The University Club of Cincinnati."

An active Alumni club will keep you more closely in touch with your Alma Mater. It will afford you a great deal of pleasure. It will advertise the University of Kentucky. Let us have a club in every city and section of the country.

HOMECOMING DANCE CALLED OFF

After announcing that the Alumni association would hold a dance Saturday night following the Centre game it has been discovered that it would be violating one of the rules of the University. According to a long standing rule, dances are prohibited to students until after Thanksgiving. The officers of the Alumni association feel that it would be against the aims and principles of the association to go on with this dance when it would be violating the rules of the University. We are sorry that we cannot afford you this entertainment when you return to see this game, but are sure that the feeling that we are in accord with the University authorities will counterbalance the absence of the dance.

CHICAGOANS HOSTS TO U. K. ADHERENTS

Alumni Club and Kentucky Society Entertain 900 at Dinner-Dance Following Northwestern Game.

Alumni, students, members of the faculty and friends of the University numbering more than 900 were guests at the University of Kentucky Club of Chicago and the Kentucky Society of Chicago at a dinner-dance Saturday night, October 23. The entertainment was in honor of the Kentuckians who visited Chicago to see the football game between our own Wildcats and the Wildcats of Northwestern University, at Evanston.

True Kentucky hospitality was evident on every side Saturday and nothing was left undone by the former Kentuckians, who now live in Chicago. The Edgewater Beach hotel was Kentucky headquarters and arrangements had been made in advance for the entertainment. While an informal open house was held all during the day at the hotel, the main feature of the entertainment was the dinner-dance which began at 6:30. The members of the football team members of the board and a delegation from the Governor's staff were all given seats of honor just before the speakers' table. These men were seated first. When the dinner began the huge ball room was completely filled with ardent Kentuckians. Immediately following the dinner the program began with the broadcasting of a short address by President McVey which was followed by a 20-minute musical program presented by our crack 30-piece band. Following the radio program, an informal program was begun and President McVey again spoke. He voiced the appreciation of every one from Kentucky for the hospitality of the Chicago Kentuckians and told them something about their state and their university.

The visiting Kentuckians were welcomed by Mr. T. W. Vinson, president of the University of Kentucky of Chicago, Mr. J. W. Carnahan, Alumnus of the University and a member of both the entertaining organizations acted as toastmaster. Other Alumni seated at the speakers table were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Sample, both of whom were active in planning and arranging the entertainment.

Immediately following the program an excellent dance orchestra was provided and dancing was enjoyed until it was time for all those who traveled by special train to leave. As an added feature 100 women students of Northwestern were invited to the dance to furnish partners for the men students who attended the dance without partners. A large special train carrying several hundred Wildcat supporters was chartered and several hundred made the trip by automobile and hitch-hiking.

SOCIETY NOTES

ROSES

Each day she placed within that silent room
A gift of roses—as if their perfume
Might roll away the stone that sealed the tomb—
And was she wrong?
The roses withered, grayly in their vase—
—Can anything be gone, and leave no trace?
Sometimes she thought she was the last, loved face—
And was she wrong?
Always the hunger of the heart is fed
With little things . . . So, being comforted
She smiled . . . She knew her dear one was not dead!
And was she wrong?

REMEMBER KENTUCKY

President McVey delivered an address at the banquet of the Kentucky Society in Chicago Saturday night which will be long remembered by all whose hearts beat with fond appreciation of the Blue Grass state. Students and Alumni, alike, were charmed by the evident sincerity and beautiful sentiment so aptly expressed that they felt the call of the Southland tugging at their hearts. To all came a realization that there is no other state like "Old Kentucky."

Doctor McVey said: "This is a glorious month in Kentucky. The blue hills in the distance are intensified in their purple garments by the golden foliage of the trees along the roads and on the hillsides. Everywhere nature vies with the artist in making a memorable, colorful picture. It is the Kentucky that has charmed its sons and daughters through all the years. Much of the same life goes on as in the old days. The charm of manner and of living holds a people to the memory of their state wherever they may go. They remember Kentucky. Such an affection is a great factor in the life of a state; it moulds opinion and holds tradition, it keeps a people to the memory of the past and creates a great love for the commonwealth."

The foregoing is only an excerpt from an address forcefully delivered. The Kernel, being a part of an institution located in the heart of the state, wishes to congratulate the president in his admirable effort to place Kentucky in the limelight.

Students and Alumni have long realized the charm of this state. It will amply repay any effort if other people can be brought to realize that charm. Such events as Doctor McVey's address will aid in this effort.

Climaxing a day of cumulative interest in Kentucky, it came as the piece de resistance of the program offered by our Chicago Alumni. Thinking students appreciated it, and Alumni suddenly remembered that the appeal of "Home, Sweet Home" must have had its inception in the Blue Grass.

As long as Kentucky has men who are willing to spend their time and thought in forwarding the progress of the state, there will be a steady march of improvement. In order to pursue such a course to its ultimate culmination there must be smooth cooperation among the sons and daughters of the land. They must "Remember Kentucky." It is for the future as well as for the present generation to lend every effort toward that advancement.

Students, when you are graduated, remember our president and set the compass of your endeavor to his example. Then, truly, there will come to Kentucky and to the University such a march of progress as was inspired in the hearts of all who heard our President Saturday night.

GOOD WORK, TEAM

The University of Kentucky Wildcats returned home from Northwestern with a moral victory. It is true that they did not come out of the game with the long end of the score, but what does it matter?—They played a good game and made the Northwestern Wildcats claw and fight as they have never fought before. The Northwestern coach, no doubt, realized that his team had not played a "practice game."

The Kernel wishes to congratulate every member of the Wildcat team for the admirable way in which he played and represented the University. The entire team fought throughout the entire game with not one "let down" or "quit."

Team, the University is proud of you, you fought and did your best. After all, "it's not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game."

IN JUSTIFICATION

The Kernel is duly appreciative of the editorial published in the Wednesday morning issue of The Lexington Herald addressed to students concerned in theater "rushing" and particularly to a student who wrote a letter to The Herald anent the editorial published in The Kernel of last week on that subject.

Some of the students, it would seem, thought The Kernel more harsh than was necessary in this editorial of last week. But considered in the light of what has happened we believe The Kernel was justified in expressing itself as it did. Early in the year The Kernel published two editorials in which it explained the unfairness of "rushing" theaters. These editorials, apparently, received no attention and some students continued to give the impression that they had absolutely no consideration for anyone but themselves.

Since The Herald has been so kind to explain, as we believe we have explained, the reasons for not "rushing" theaters, we hope nothing more will have to be said about the matter.

Finally, The Kernel is published for and by students of the University, and is both a reflection and expression of YOU. When The Kernel points its finger at this or that group on the campus to condemn some action of theirs, it is, we believe, but performing one of its functions, that of determining what is right or wrong. We do not, of course, pretend that we are infallible in these decisions nor is The Kernel the supreme court for the rendition of them. That, we leave to the study books as a whole. In the meantime The Kernel will continue to censor or to praise that which it believes to deserve censorship or praise.

We respectfully request that you call attention both to our faults and our merits. A letter to the editor will receive every attention, providing, of course, that it is signed by the name of its writer.

THE POET'S AUTUMN

O God, are there no words
To make a prayer for me?
As autumn leaves and birds
Forsake the summer tree
Winged thoughts forsake me now—
And, desolate, a sigh
Sweeps through the barren bough
As winds across the sky.
Oh, is there yet a Spring
To swell my lips with words,
That blossoming may sing
Of budding leaves, and birds?
—BERTRAND P. RAMSAY.

MEMORIES

A memory can be exquisitely beautiful—
Like an old master's picture,
Treasured forever.
A memory can cause agonizing torture—
Like a snake's venom
Poisoning the body.
A memory can make life worth living,
Or curse with things one can't forget.
But what is life
Without a memory?
—LEIDA E. KEYES.

TO—

I am very vexed because
I cannot make a poem of you.
Words slip from my eager grasp
When I try to rhyme.
Surely my love is poetry enough
To write in reams.
Truly, I have many dreams
Of fair youth,
The triumph of the young in your eyes,
The song we mutely sing to each other;
Therefore now my pen deserts, and leaves
Naught but those dreams. —M. CUNDIFF

REFLECTIONS

Far down the paths of yesterday
A lad walks briskly on,
No serious thoughts for those of play—
Those thoughts, once mine, are gone.
And when he smiles with boyish grace,
Meek as a first-spring wren,
I wonder if he hopes to face
The man I might have been.
—S. W. DOUTHITT.

PARADOX

Since it is cowardly to live,
The heroes have to give
Their lives.
They die—yet I
Who all for death would give
Must live,
Since it is cowardly to die.
—HELEN HUTCHCRAFT.

TO A CONCEITED YOUNG GENTLEMAN

I hate you,
You are so dunnably impertinent.
Your haughty air of world ownership
Is impossible.
As for vanity
Apollo's grace was naught compared to yours.
In you always smile with self complacency
And I dislike that.
I say all this
Because I cannot see that smile
Or see you quirk your eyebrows—
Like naughty Pan.
And once you
Play upon your violin, and it gives back
Its priceless song to you, I am, my dear,
Re-captivated.
—M. CUNDIFF

Music, Stage and Screen

(By Thomas L. Riley)

Stage and screen will be almost filled to capacity with new theatricals and motion pictures. Guignol theater opening Monday, a large variety of motion pictures to be seen and an old time minstrel show on the variety stage.

"Fazio," at the Strand Sunday
Charles Farrell has had many excellent performances to his credit, notably that of Chico in "Seventh Heaven," and Gino in "Street Angel." Now he comes forth with a picture in full regalia. We look for him to take place in Venice, Paris, and on the Arabian desert. We haven't seen many desert pictures since the first one made. That cured us. However, it should be interesting to note how Farrell and Miss Nissen get along in this one. They should make an ideal couple for the sort of thing. "Fazio" will open at the Strand Sunday.

Minstrel at Ben Ali
It was with considerable elation that we received the news that the Dan Fitch minstrel will play the Ben Ali the first half of the week. We have seen the show every year for some time and we always enjoy it. For an old-time minstrel coupled with spectacular lighting effects and scenery, you can't beat this show. The program lasts one hour and is built along the regular minstrel lines with a grand first part, gags, songs, specialties, orchestral numbers, flash surprises, and all the things that have contributed so largely toward making the negro minstrel America's most unique form of entertainment. Don't miss this show. We know that you will enjoy it.
As the motion picture half of the Dan Fitch program at the Ben Ali we have Red La Rocque in "Captain Swagger." For once, a good picture is "thrown in" with a good stage presentation. Mr. La Rocque is supported by Sue Carroll which is just about our ideal of what a girl should be in a motion picture if she expects the hero to fall in love with her. Now Sue Carroll should contribute largely toward the entertaining value of the picture. "Captain Swagger" is a splendid example of romantic comedy done in a clever style with an unique plot. The Pathe organization assigned E. H. Griffith to direct the picture. Richard Tucker, Victor Patel, and Ulrich Haupt complete the cast.

Lillian Gish at Strand Today
"The White Sister," one of Lillian Gish's early starring pictures, has been brought back to the screen as a re-issue and opened at the Strand yesterday. Our only complaint on the picture is the length which was not its original form, much longer than at present. Henry King, once a leading director, wielded the megaphone on the opus. Another point of interest is the fact that Ronald Colman plays the supporting lead to Miss Gish. Mr. Colman has since become one of the nation's matinee idols as a star. The remainder of the cast is unknown to Americans because the picture was made abroad with a great number of foreign actors. Rome, Na-interesting to many to know British thought regarding the American Revolution, but it is a mistake to waste six pages of an American magazine simply to tell how an Englishman feels about a war which has been on for one hundred years.

"A Gourmand's Tour Through France" is good, and well illustrated, although it is a trifle long for its type. Compare the etching "Old Carter, Rotten," with "Le Restaurant." In view of the American controversy over prohibition, heightened by the presidential campaign, "The Carlsbad Experiment" is well selected. It is also from the National Review of London. It shows that other countries are concerned with the drink problem, although not occupying the limelight as much as America.
The Latin American trend of thought is captured in "Motion Picture Propaganda Against Latin America," from Nosotros, of Buenos Aires. The author complains bitterly against pictures in which the people of the Latin-American countries are made to appear squalid and brutish, and depreciates such output of the cinema men.
"The World Looks at Al Smith," by the overseer of Harvard University, is one which will be interesting to many university students. It is humorous in places.

"Poet Lore" is another new arrival on the campus. It is devoted to poetry and the drama, and as a thermometer is not very heated from present poetic work. A laughable comedy from the Spanish, by Cervantes is included, among several other plays.

"Science News Letter" is running a series of articles on home construction of radiovision sets. The current issue tells also of a new geyser in Yellowstone National Park which rivals even Old Faithful.

MARIETTA COLLEGE (O. C. N. A.)—A dormitory club has been formed by the men quartered in the men's dormitory of Marietta college. Social work and activities will be sponsored by the new organization to many university students. It is humorous in places.

"Not a cough in a Film-ful"
says Norma Talmadge after the Blindfold Test

"When you see my new United Artists' picture, 'The Woman Disputed,' you will notice that I smoke cigarettes in several scenes."
"Not wanting to show partiality to any one of the four leading brands, I decided to make my choice via the blindfold test, which I had heard of many times. Happily, I picked Old Golds."
"I found them smooth, mild and delightfully cool. . . . Hereafter, when I am required to smoke I shall naturally insist on Old Golds. There's not a cough in a film-ful!"

Blonde Swells List of Female Engineer Students to Three

The College of Engineering at the University received a small but most important addition with the fall registration in the person of Miss Elizabeth Michler, of Lexington, who has the distinction of being the first blonde to enter this college as well as being its smallest member. Miss Michler is a freshman.

Up to the time of Miss Michler's entrance in the College of Engineering, there were only two women in this college. Miss Margaret Fry and Miss Olive Dye are the other women who have trespassed upon this former "men's heaven."

Miss Michler when questioned about her first impression of the college said she was "delighted with the course." And although she would not discuss her plans for the future, she probably intends to follow some branch of engineering.

TOLEDO UNIVERSITY (O. C. N. A.)—Hazing is a form of clown antics and will not be tolerated on the campus," declared Dr. Dorrman, new president of Toledo university in his opening address to the student body. "The trouble with hazing is that it degenerates into disrespect and destruction of property and often personal injury. There is no longer room on this campus for students who participate in it," he said.

DR. FUNKHOUSER SPEAKS TO OPTIMIST CLUB

An address on prehistoric life in Kentucky was delivered before members of the Optimist club at their regular weekly luncheon meeting Monday at the Lafayette hotel by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, dean of the graduate school, and head of the department of zoology at the University.

In recounting experiences he had made on archaeological expeditions, Dr. Funkhouser told the club of the discovery of hominy holes found in the rocks in the drainage area of Green river. Dr. Funkhouser also stated that these hominy holes are not common to those regions where Indian relics are found, but only here in this section of Kentucky, and that it clearly indicates that cliff dwellers made their home there at one time.

Since the time was so limited Dr. Funkhouser's address was short, but in response to requests made by various members of the club, he promised to tell more of his experiences at a later meeting.

Literary Students Make High Grades

Majority Enrolled in Literary College at Michigan Get D or Better

Students in the literary college, taken as a whole, have a 18 to 1 chance of passing their courses with a D or better, and a four to one chance of getting a C or better, according to figures released by the Recording's office at the University of Michigan.

To put it a different way, 56 per cent of all the grades given last year in the literary college were D or better, and 85.9 per cent were C or better. Only 3.1 per cent were E, while 1 per cent were X and the rest incomplete, including A's, B's, C's, D's, E's, X's and Inc.'s, 41,450 marks were turned in by all departments of the literary college.

The history department turned in 4,266 marks to lead the pack but English was a close second with 4,145, and rhetoric also broke into the four thousand column with 4,001 marks turned in. These courses were easily the most popular, no other department even breaking 2,500, although German, economics and psychology were grouped closely around 2,250.

Pathology with three students and Sanskrit with six proved to be the least popular courses, although Sanskrit deserved much better. Two of the students enrolled received A in the course and the other four received B.

Besides Sanskrit, only one other course last year, library science, offered a one to two shot at an A. To the 283 students enrolled were distributed 95 A's, 161 B's, 25 C's, 5 D's and 3 X's, making it the most liberal course on the campus in which to pick up a few honor points.

Mental athletes, begoggled scholars, and Phi Beta Kappa rushing material will be interested in physics, mathematics, economics, chemistry, and history, which scored the highest numbers of D and E fatalities in that order. History and economics led numerically, but physics was far ahead in percentage with 27.9 per cent D's and E's.

Some radio speeches we have heard were as dull as the well known "sickening thud."—(Ala.) Florence Herrett.

Mr. McMurray Waxes Poetic over Tobacco

Carrollton, Texas May 15, 1923

Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va. Gentlemen:

Having been a user of Edgeworth for over eight years, I can truthfully say that it is the best on earth. I am enclosing a little ditty that I believe expresses my sentiments entirely:

Old Man Joy and Old Man Trouble
 Went out a walk one day
 I happened to pass when they met
 And I overheard them say
 Said Old Man Trouble, "She's as good as gone as she can be"
 There ain't no fun in anything to me, why I was just talking' to Old Man Sorrow,
 And he says the world will end for tomorrow.
 Then Old Man Joy he started to grin,
 And I saw him bring out that OLD BLUE TIN,
 Then OLD JOHNNY BRIA'R was next on the scene,
 And he packed him full from the OLD BLUE TIN,
 And I heard him say as he walked away,
 "You have to have a smoke screen every day,
 When a man gets the blues, and he needs a friend,
 He can find consolation in the OLD BLUE TIN,
 And I jist don't believe on all this earth
 There's a thing that'll match good old EDGEWORTH."

Yours very truly,
 F. H. McMurray

COLLEGIANS RETURN TO SANITY IN DRESS

The university man, acknowledged oracle in the world of men's wear, has returned to sanity in dress, according to surveys of three widely separated institutions. Yale, Vanderbilt, and Princeton were selected.

In all these, it was found, the students had reverted from the slouchy to the tidy college man.

In all the colleges, the starched collar was found to be so near universal that it appears to constitute almost a uniform. Extreme cuts of trousers, absurd shirt, collar and tie combinations and other freakish effects have disappeared.

Northwestern Wildcats Defeat Kentucky, 7 to 0, Before 35,000 People

IMPROVEMENT IS SHOWN BY KITTENS

Freshman Squad Marks Time as Next Game is With Vandy

Coach Pribble's Kittens are growing wilder and wilder as the weeks pass by, mainly because of the lack of opposition. Market improvement is shown every day and by the time the Vanderbilt game rolls around, the coach has held them in check will be snapped. Scrimmages with the varsity have become a humdrum existence for the frosh, and the "Vandy" game on November 10 will be a god-send.

With the idea of the team going stale before the first major game facing him, Coach Pribble has endeavored to schedule a game to fill in the void. If such an encounter is arranged it will serve to take the surplus edge off their training. It is not known as yet who the opponent will be.

For once the freshmen teams bids fair to send a galaxy of star backs to the varsity next year. As the Wildcats are known to be woefully weak in their kicking and passing departments, the eyes of the entire student body are centered on the quintet of triple threat backs on the freshman squad. German, Kelley, Thompson,

Phipps, and Yates are the men who have shown to the best advantage this year. With the possible exception of Yates, this array of backs can average well over fifty yards on their punts; while Yates has gained the name of being the most accurate passer on the squad. Thompson has been somewhat handicapped by a bad shoulder which he hurt in a varsity scrimmage but during the past week he has improved rapidly. He passes and kicks equally well with either right or left foot.

The big freshman line has been bolstered by new men and they seem to delight in tearing into each other all afternoon. Ericson, a newcomer on the squad, has been playing a great game at guard with Kleiser and Kistner completing the center trio and the Frosh have a combination of scrappy linemen.

With all the improvement the Kittens have shown, much more must be forthcoming if they can hope to repel the attacks of Southern Conference rivals. Tennessee recently defeated Georgetown freshmen 70 to 0, which dims the lustre of the Kittens' crushing defeat of the Cubs. As Tennessee and Vanderbilt have always had good representative freshmen teams in the past, they are looked upon with a great amount of respect by Kentucky adherents. This season, however, the Kitten team has an opportunity to wipe out the defeats of former years suffered by Kentucky from her neighboring state.

WILDCAT LINE IS TOO HARD FOR PURPLES

(By Bill Reep)

Last Saturday afternoon the Wildcat lost a 7 to 0 decision to the Wildcats of Northwestern University in a game that was full of thrills and plenty of action. The Wildcats put up one of the greatest battles of their careers and won a place in the hearts of some 35,000 fans who witnessed the game.

The Blue and White line, of which Kentuckians are so proud this year, held the Big Ten to a standstill every time it got within striking distance of the Blue and White goal, forcing the Purple team to take to the air where they enjoyed great success. It was a forward pass from Captain Holmer to Brunder, left half, for 31 yards that gave the Northwestern team their only score. A 48-yard run in the second quarter was tackled on the completion of the pass, falling headlong toward the goal line with just enough of the ball over the white line to warrant a touchdown.

Gilb Makes Gains
The Wildcats started off in a determined fashion when play was resumed in the third quarter. They kicked off to Northwestern but got the ball again when the Illinois team punted after the first quarter.

Gilb, who has been suffering with a sprained ankle, hit the Purple line four times in succession for a total of 34 yards, placing the ball on the 15-yard strip. On the next play, Gilb fumbled and Northwestern recovered the oval to end Kentucky's serious threat to score. Northwestern took the ball and, with Holmer leading the attack, advanced it deep into Kentucky's territory where the Wildcat line held.

Wildcats Complete Pass
Kentucky's last chance to score came in the last quarter with only few minutes of play remaining. The Wildcats took to the air in those remaining minutes which seemed like years to the Kentucky fans. Covington drew back from the line as the ball was snapped to him on the run, going back 15 yards behind the line of scrimmage he had a huge hit it was decided to try the same play again, and Covington threw another pass to Spicer, but it was wild, the ball traveling far over Gary's head and grounding behind the goal line. This play brought to a finish the scoring threats of Kentucky as it gave the ball to Northwestern on their 20-yard line from where they worked it down the field and out of danger.

The course of the game had gone steadily against Kentucky and that fact with the inability of the Kentucky ball carriers to penetrate the heavy Northwestern line or to evade the rushes of the Purple backs kept the men of Gamage busy every minute of the sixty in which they played. Considering the handicaps under which the Wildcats were laboring, they cannot be given too much praise for their gallant stand in repulsing Northwestern's attack.

Northwestern Backfield Heavier
Northwestern had a much heavier backfield than Kentucky and when the light blue backs would go in for a tackle they were bowled over like ten-pins. The Wildcats of the North used a great deal of deception in their plays and once in a while fooled the Kentucky 'Cats, but never twice on the same thing. A steady string of reserves which Hanly used throughout the game kept their fighting spirit high and they gradually weakened the Kentucky boys down to a point where it was just about all they could do to stand.

It was a great game in every respect and the Wildcats of Kentucky were showered with compliments for the manner in which they played. Kentucky teams have always been noted for their clean play and sportsmanship, and during this game they kept their record spotless.

THE HONOR MAN

"Father Floppy" Forquer, the Newcastle nemesis, parades to or horror barrier this week with a broken proboscis and a darkened eyelet, but two Northwestern halfbacks are on crutches, so our war debt is paid. Honor where honor is due, and "the deacon" is deserving. Clap hands, here comes "Floppy."

TENNESSEE 15, ALABAMA 13

Once Mr. Moses bade the tide to roll back while his Hebrews hit a big hole in the Egyptian line for a touchdown on the banks of the Nile. Say, the prophet had nothing on Major Bob Newland and his Volunteers here, did he? The sophomore, McEver, last Saturday when this youthful mountaineer waded through the Crimson Tide for 98 yards and a touchdown on the opening kickoff to sink the dog bucket in the Gulf of Mexico. This victory has created a great disturbance in the Southern Conference. Suppose Alabama shows her latent strength to upset Georgia Tech, that Tech beats Georgia and Vandy, and Vandy whips Tennessee as she has always done. Then, some dark horses like Kentucky or North Carolina would be in there with the leaders. All those predictions are likely to come true.

COACH POPOFF AND HIS NEWS COMPLEX

The guy that coaches Centre's winter wonders is comparable to the patriot who held Lewis XIV's hand while his family was slaughtered, or the gentleman whose 10-inch firecracker went off in his hand. Every Tuesday for a month the Centre press has come out with: "Centre Colonels Run Through the Freshmen; Show Vast Improvement; Have New Confidence In Coach Pothoff." And, every Saturday a sorrowful reporter has written: "Pothoff Of No Avail; Colonel Blow Another." It takes a lot of imagination to get places in this "pressing" business, and besides it looks mighty bad for the Centre freshmen.

THE GIN WAR

Once a man named Whitney invented a new gin that revolutionized the South and, then, the Lexington gin came along with some of the kind of gin that contained everything else. Whereupon, to preserve the public health and to take a load off of the gymnasium janitor, the annual brawl after the Centre game debate will be conducted in the city night and country clubs, which sold a lot of "Whoops" after the W. and L. game at the expense of Sukey circle. Reform is the innocent name people give to the act of going away from home to their dirt. Americans can't get good liquor so they drink liquid fire. Students can't be nice and dance at home so they go to the clubs. The Sukey's have to go out in the rain and cold and sell peanuts at a nickel a bag to promote athletics when a decent dance after the game would rope in enough rubles to promote anything. But, reform requires that the "ole sport" their sheets somewhere else and about beg them back in a blanket the next morning. Yours for more scandal—the Republicans.

THE TRAVELING MEN SCORE AGAIN

Young Gulliver who has traveled for Swift and company about a brace of centuries ago, along a man like coming some sign, but Coach Hanly of Northwestern could take care of this guy and Annalins in the same breath. He spun such a heavy yard about his delicate line that Kentucky's linemen went on a milk diet all week so they would not be too rough for the boys. But, what a fine tale that turned out to be. Kentucky's line was actually outweighed. In defiance of Will Rogers, don't believe what you see in the papers.

EDGEWATER PEACH

Ziegfeld had done a lot of publicitry in the largest city, but Kentucky gentlemen did things for the Chicago dames which Flo never knew was in the book. When the "Edgewater Peaches" did that center rush into the ball room last Saturday night, they were brown for a heavy loss. The Chicagoans may travel fast on Michigan boulevard, but whine nit comes to tripping the light fantastic, they look better jumping in the lake. There were so many dining rooms in that Windy City hotel I had to eat three times before I found a way to get out. I never saw a place where you could go so far and get to fewer places.

THE CRY TO ARMS

Vandy has been drubbing Kentucky ever since the Spanish-American war. The Commodores have used Wildcat pelts for shoe leather during many football campaigns. "Dapper Dan" McGugin is getting gray-haired after 20 seasons, but he didn't go that way worrying over his games with Kentucky. Kentucky plays Vanderbilt one week from tomorrow. It is a crucial test in the Southern Conference. Kentucky is undefeated and a win would make her athletically. Wildcats for the sake of Coach Gamage and Kentucky, down those Commodores.

BEING UPSTATE: After being told to take an "EL," don't say you always took aspirin for such things.

IF TAKING AN "EL" was the only way I ever had of getting anywhere, I'd die on a dime.

KENTUCKY SCORE PREDICTION: Kentucky 32, Centre 6.

BASKETBALL DRILL DRAWS SMALL SQUAD

Aspirants for positions on Kentucky's varsity basketball squad continue to practice three times weekly in the Men's gymnasium. The squad this year is somewhat larger than at the same time last year, but still has plenty of room for expansion and Coach Mauer urges any men who are intending to come out to report at once.

To date the drill has been entirely on fundamentals with the idea of instilling the Mauer system of play into the new men. Progress along this line leaves a great deal to be desired and as a result the seasons are long and strenuous. A team which will bear the brunt of the early season contest must be shipped into the arena of the present candidates as they are not to be counted on for several weeks after the season is under way. The varsity football squad contains enough basketball material to produce one good team. From

McEVER DEFEATS ALABAMA 15 TO 13

Tennessee Wins Over Crimson Tide For First Victory on Tide Field In Nine Years; McEver Scores.

By Robert Murphy

(Editor Tennessee Orange and White) KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 25.—The most startling upset in Southern Conference football occurred last Saturday when an inspired Tennessee team outgated and outgeneraled the highly touted Alabama Crimson Tide to win by a 15 to 13 score. The Tennessee victory was the first one to be won on the Tide's home field in nine years.

Taking the lead on the first play of the game with the 48-yard return of the kickoff by McEver for a touchdown, Tennessee held a good but narrow lead until the final gun of the game. By returning the kickoff for a touchdown, McEver performed a feat, according to Alabama coaches, which has never been suffered by an Alabama team before—or at least in 17 years of their certain knowledge.

This whirlwind start, however, did not stun the Wade machine for it came back in the next minute of play and scored on its own account, but failed to kick goal. This drive was accomplished in four counting plays ending in a beautiful 45-yard dash by Suther following a cut back line play. Both teams stiffened after the first few minutes and no other scores were registered until near the end of the first quarter when Dodd, star Tennessee quarterback, punted out on the Alabama six-inch line. In attempting to kick out a safety, the Tide fumbled and Tennessee recovered in the end zone for a safety and two additional points. The period ended with the count 9-6 in Tennessee's favor.

Both teams scored again in the second period and the scoring for the day was ended. Alabama's counters came as a result of their tremendous driving plays through the lighter Volunteer line, which was outweighed more than 20 pounds to the man. Tennessee scored by the use of a wise selection of passes and end runs which the Tide was unable to stop.

The second half was featured by the desperate struggling of both team to increase their scores. Neither was successful, although both threatened several times. Alabama advances were reduced to naught on several occasions by fumbles within scoring distance. The Tide backs did not seem able to hold the ball under the hard tackles they received from the Volunteer secondary defense after breaking through the line. The Tennesseans, on the other hand, lost the ball three times in their opponents' territory when short passes were intercepted by the alert Crimson backs.

RESERVES HAVE INEFFECTIVE OFFENSE

(By Laurence Shropshire)

The Eagles of Morehead Normal college purred down from their lofty nests last Saturday and discovered that a formidable-appearing team of gridiron warriors had invaded their mountain stronghold. After vainly scratching and pecking at the big, blue line a few times, the noble birds took to the air and winged their way to a 32-0 victory over the University of Kentucky reserves.

Coach Don Graham was in charge of the seventeen players whom Coach M. E. Potter sent on the trip. Every one of the players saw some action during the game as the "B" team tried fruitlessly to stop the aerial attack by the greatly-outweighed Morehead boys scored five touchdowns. The Morehead backs, unable to penetrate the Wildcat front well, soon tested their wings and the over-head combination of Ellis to Pich seldom failed to function.

Ellis Leads Eagles

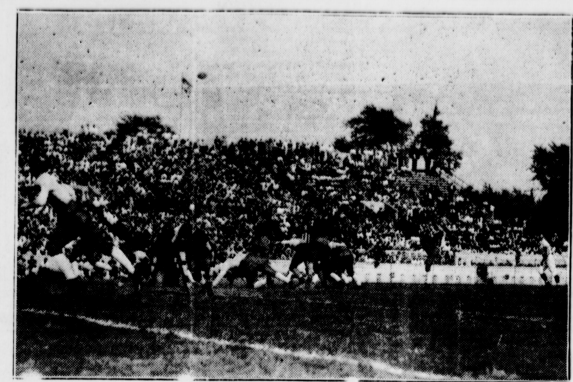

Morehead scored first in the second quarter on a series of passes and Pich place-kicked the extra point. A few minutes later Frayley intercepted a Kentucky pass and galloped 65 yards for another marker. Captain Lew Ellis was the big gun on offense for the Eagle brood, passing with accuracy and punting the pigskin well over 40 yards at each effort. In the latter line he greatly outclassed McLemore who was hard pressed to average 25 yards at each attempt.

At no stage of the game did the reserves show any semblance of an effective offense. Using only a limited number of plays, none of which met with much success, the Wildcat scrubs were able to push over but three first downs compared to the imposing total of 25 gained by the Morehead team. The reserve line, impregnable on defense, allowed the lighter opposing linemen to knife through and spill the Blue and White backs for a loss time after time.

Penalties Are Costly

These faults, coupled with numerous costly fumbles and nearly 200 yards in penalties received for off-sides, slugging, and almost everything else in the referee's repertoire, make it evident why the reserves make such

Many Upsets Occur in Southern Gridiron Games Last Saturday

(By "Totsy" Rose)

Upsets were in order in the Southern Conference last week. The first time this year, almost every outstanding game in the Conference ended in an upset.

Alabama was expected to crush Tennessee but the green sophomores from Knoxville rose to great heights to defeat the Crimson Tide in one of the wildest and most stirring battles of the day.

V. P. I. gave the football world another shock when they defeated North Carolina in a sensational battle that was in doubt until the final whistle. V. M. I. pulled the unexpected by tramping over the Virginia Cavaliers in a well played game. The Cavaliers were great favorites because of their brilliant play of last week against Princeton.

Georgia Tech scored the South's most noteworthy intercollegiate victory at the expense of the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame. Some people rate this as an upset but most critics gave Tech an even chance to win. Kentucky gave a wonderful exhibition of defensive football holding Northwestern to a lone touchdown.

Vanderbilt's powerful scoring machine was held down to a couple of touchdowns by Tulane, but it was enough for a victory. Washington and Lee was overwhelmed by a powerful West Virginia eleven although the Generals were expected to put up a much better game than was the case.

In games against easy opposition, Maryland defeated West Maryland, Florida won from Mercer, Mississippi crushed Auburn, Sewanee overwhelmed Cumberland, and Louisiana smothered the Mississippi Aggies.

Alabama is Favored

After last week's many upsets it is hard to even think about picking a winner. Alabama should get back in a winning mood against Sewanee. Florida should have but little trouble in defeating North Carolina State.

Georgia will probably have her hands full but should be able to down Tulane. V. M. I. will meet Maryland and judging from past performances the Cadets should win.

Two undefeated teams will meet when South Carolina and Clemson a miserable showing in their second contest.

The reserve squad will hit the trail this afternoon for Columbus, Ohio, where they will battle the reserve team of Ohio State University on the morrow. Advance information makes things look bad for the Wildcat scrubs as the Ohio State carity was the team that walloped Northwestern two weeks ago.

The summary:

Reserves (0)	Pos. (32)	Morehead
Cavana	L. E.	Pich
Idlemann	L. T.	Blair
Hays	L. G.	Bates
Lewis	C.	Kreshner
Chapman	R. G.	Counts
Iring	R. T.	Allen
Abely	R. E.	Yaok
Dysard	Q. B.	Sillis (C)
Brown (C)	L. H.	Lewis
Knight	R. H.	Farley
McLemore	B.	Laughlin

Substitutions: Morehead—McNabb, Riddle, and Clayton. Reserves—Collins, Wright, Riley, Featherston, and Campbell.

Officials: Hickey, Lexington, referee; Zopf, Louisville, umpire; Bab, Hazard, head linesman.

tangle. South Carolina should win without much effort as Clemson, although undefeated, has not met the strong opposition that the Gamecocks have encountered. Georgia Tech will handle the strong team in North Carolina. The Tar Heels will probably be defeated, but it will give Tech a great battle.

Tennessee, fresh from their great victory over the Crimson Tide, will fight it out with the Generals from Washington and Lee. It is very possible for another upset to occur in this clash. W. and L. has a very good team and are liable to find themselves in this game. Vanderbilt should continue to win at the expense of Virginia. Vandy also seems to be the outstanding favorite to win the Dixie championship.

The following is a schedule of the Conference teams and our choice:

To Win	To Lose
Alabama	Sewanee
Florida	North Carolina State
Georgia	Tulane
V. M. I.	Maryland
South Carolina	Clemson
Georgia Tech	North Carolina
Tennessee	Washington and Lee
Vanderbilt	Virginia
Louisiana State	Springhill
V. P. I.	King
Howard	Auburn
Loyola	Mississippi
KENTUCKY	Centre

THIRD ROUND NET MATCHES ARE PLAYED

The intra-mural tennis tournament, which will eventually determine the court champion of the University, will go into the fourth round tomorrow morning, according to an announcement by L. W. Roush, student manager of intra-mural athletics.

The second round contests were scheduled to be completed on Wednesday and the third set of brackets were drawn up immediately. All the remaining entries in this round must have their disputes settled by this afternoon. Unfavorable weather has slowed up the competition to some extent, but it is probable that play will reach the final contests within the next two or three weeks if the survivors will cooperate with the intra-mural director and his managers.

No startling upsets, which featured the first three weeks of competition, were forthcoming in the last round. The only favorites eliminated from further activities in this sport went out by way of forfeited matches. The doubles team of Crouch and Johnson, representing the Delta Chi fraternity, were the first participants to inch berths in the fourth round brackets by virtue of three consecutive victories.

Mr. Roush also announced that a date had been definitely set for inter-fraternity volleyball. The first contests in this sport will be played on November 12. The schedule will be posted at a later date. The annual cross-country run will be held on November 24, between halves of the Kentucky-Tennessee freshman game on Stoll field. A number of barriers have been working out for some time in preparation for this event.

What makes you think Moses was a frat man? Wasn't he in the thick of the rush-out?—O. C. N. A.

Students In Debt Arouse Controversy

YALE COLLEGE—(O. C. N. A.)—The student who graduates from college with a debt hanging over his head, hold back at the outset of his career. Dean Clarence W. Mondell of Yale college, declared in expressing his opposition to the borrowing of money to defray the expenses of undergraduates at the college.

The Yale educator also expressed his opposition to the system proposed by Dr. Theodor Arntas at Chicago recently where colleges would be run in a more business-like fashion, with consequent higher costs to students.

Dr. Arnett favored the policy of the students borrowing money to meet the needs of such high costs to the student while Dean Mondell opposed him in every respect, denying that it is best for college expenses to be increased.

Due to the inadvisability of students going into debt to pay their way through college, Dean Mondell added that the student who does adopt this means of getting through has the wrong incentive at the very beginning and instead of building steadily for the future his energies are absorbed in an effort to pay off debts hanging over him.

Prospects of Co-Ed Band Are Bright

Musical Organization of Women Students Is Best in History of School

The co-ed band, one of the few organizations of its kind in existence, has organized for the year with prospects of one of the largest and best bands of women students ever had, according to Elmer G. Sulzer, director of the band.

More co-eds are participating in the work this year than heretofore and much interest is being manifested. Regular practice is being held and the women musicians will make a number of appearances at conventions and other exercises on the campus.

Uniforms have been acquired for all band members and it is hoped to have a women's band at the University in the future which will equal the organization, Director Sulzer said.

Members of the band as announced by Director Sulzer are:

Miss Lois Frazer, Paducah; Daisy Sams, Georgetown; Wilma Powell, Ewing; Alice Marrs, Lexington; Irene Brummett, Lexington; Louisa Dudley, Pembroke; Buena Craig Mathis, Lexington; Jane Gooch, Lexington; Lela Cullis, Lexington; Mary Margaret Howes, Lexington; Sally Christopher, Lexington; Beryl Hardy, Lexington; Bessie Bush, Mt. INFORMAL STUDY PLAN INITIATED AT CORNELL

Cornell university has adopted an informal plan to study which has proved very successful during the past few years. This year fifty sophomores and fifty juniors in the college of arts and sciences will especially benefit from this program of study. Students who take this course are required to have an average of "B" or better in one-half the number of hours assessed. They have the privilege of studying in any field that they wish, receiving three hours' credit each term without attending formal classes.
