GERMANY GAINS SAAR BASIN VOTES EN MASSE 'Cats Defeat Chattanooga With a Display of Power To Roll Up 66-19 Score

Nazi Commissioner of Saar-Basin Says 'No Compromise with Anti-Nazis'

Saarbruecken, Jan. 14.—(INS)—At least sixty and possibly seventy to eighty per cent of the more than a half million Saarlanders participated in yesterday's official plebiscite cast their votes for return to Germany...

The ballots cast by approximately 98 per cent of the 543,323 who registered in the referendum to decide the fate of the 738-square-mile coal mining and industrial valley in Saarbruecken in 860 sealed urns to be counted today under the supervision of a red-coated British regiment.

An English company wearing steel helmets and gas masks and armed with rifles, machine guns, and tear gas grenades guarded the hall as the urns were brought in.

Only officers of the plebiscite commission, headed by Miss Sarah Wambusch, were allowed inside the building.

Meanwhile uppermost in the minds of many was the question of the future of communists, Jews, and others who fought against Nazi domination.

The French border was closed today except to those who could show that they went to the Saar specifically to take up residence.

Results will be jubilantly flashed to the world at 8 a. m. Tuesday (2 p. m. Eastern Standard Time) and all eyes will be turned to Geneva, where the real decision will rest.

Even leaders of the united front would not claim more than forty per cent of the poll for the two alternatives to return to Germany.

Two selections from the state high school band contest this evening were presented, O'Neil's "Silver Cord Overture" which is the class A selection, and "The Angelus," by Massenet, which will be the class B number.

The next appearance for the Concert band on the series of Sunday afternoon musicale is scheduled for March 3.

Suky Presents Wildcat Mascot to Crowd Between Halves

By JOE QUINN Coach Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats won another decisive victory last night when they ran roughshod over the University of Chattanooga's team to win 66-19 in the Alumni gym.

With the first team in the contest, the 'Cats attack clicked in fine fashion, but it faltered slightly when the second team was inserted midway in the first period.

The defensive play of Anderson, Donohue, and Edwards was a feature as was the general play of Garland Lewis.

Between the halves of the game a live wildcat was carried out and exhibited to the crowd by members of Suky.

Soon after the final half began, Edwards took another great pass from Ellington to score on a crisp. Dave Lawrence made two fouls better at the end of the game.

Edwards was sent back into the game in place of Carlisle and he immediately rebounded two shots from Ellington under the hoop.

Carlisle and Lawrence, the combined efforts of Edwards and Lawrence, the defense of Edwards and Lawrence, Coach Rupp replaced his third-string team with the veterans with only four minutes remaining.

In the last few minutes, the regular team ran up 15 points with what seemed like effortless ease.

Edwards was named MVP of the game.

DEVICE DESCRIBED FOR SCORING TESTS

The new device invented for scoring tests was described by Prof. Noel B. Cuff, Eastern Kentucky State Teachers' college at the thirtieth annual meeting of the Association of Kentucky Colleges and Universities in session yesterday at the University.

"The testometer, for which a patent is pending is simple and fool-proof," stated Professor Cuff in his address. "It mechanically eliminates errors in marking and counting examinations. It is from 50 to 120 times as accurate as usual methods of grading papers; hence, a pupil's answers are accurately weighed in the balance; it does labor in two minutes that would take a teacher an hour to do. It counts the correct answers to over 300 examination papers, 75,000 questions in an hour, and it saves about 95 per cent of the ordinary cost of given and scoring examinations."

The course is open free of charge to dairy plant operators and other persons interested in milk production.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By JAY LUCIAN

It is with considerable pride that one notes how the South—especially the teams of the Southeastern conference—have been dominating the athletic spotlight. Up to this year it was the annual trouncing of Yale by Georgia. Alabama held in reserve its great Rose Bowl record and then this year came through with its greatest exhibition. Tulane added some little prestige with its victory over Temple in the Sugar Bowl. Louisiana State showed up well in intercollegiate football but its main donation has been its great championship track team. Vanderbilt and Kentucky held the football angle a little more with their top-heavy victories over Cincinnati, champion of the Buckeye Conference.

The greatest current donation which leads back for a few years and which draws more interest in the East than even the Rose Bowl, is Kentucky's own basketball team. The acknowledged leaders in the South, they have added color wherever they went, north, west, east, and south. Soundly trouncing Chicago, they should have also trounced New York university. Other intercollegiate games with Creighton and Michigan State will continue to uphold Kentucky's prestige and that of the Southeastern conference.

In picking the mythical All-Americans, sports writers noticed how the South predominated. An average of six men were picked from the Mason Dixon line made the various mythical elevens. The South is improving yearly and with the prospect of longer playing weather it should be able to maintain her prestige.

The great work of little "Blitz" Grant, the "Giant Killer" of tennis, in winning the Miami Biltmore tennis crown is deserving of mention. This little star, weighing but 120 pounds and 6 feet 4 inches tall, has at one time or another defeated all the high ranking players in the country. He is rightfully called the "forgotten man" of tennis. Ranked tenth by the United States Lawn tennis association and left off the Davis Cup candidates for this year, Grant defeated on consecutive days Sidney Wood, America's No. 2 player, and Berkeley Bell, No. 7, tennisman to add the Miami crown to his long list of championships which also includes the national clay courts title. A steady, consistent player, Grant's great retrieving ability and flawless form more than make up for the handicap of his slight build.

'Cats Win Easily Over Chattanooga

(Continued from Page One) their swift attack the Cats opened their scoring thirty seconds after the fray began, as Big Edwards cashed in on a free throw. Then Lawrence, Edwards, and Lewis began hitting from all sides before the visitors were able to count a point, when Klein, their lanky center, scored from the foul line with about seven minutes gone.

The work of the Big Blue ball club did not seem to suffer any from their setback at the hands of N. Y. U. last week, and they worked like a smoothly oiled machine from the outset. Captain Dave Lawrence led the Cat scorers in the first half with six field goals for a total of twelve points; while Edwards counted 10 points, and Lewis six. Coach Adolph Rupp removed Edwards and Anderson from the floor with almost ten minutes remaining of the initial period, but the presence of the subs in the lineup did not seem to affect the playing of the team at all, as they continued to bombard the hoops for baskets after baskets.

Chattanooga counted only once from the field; on a long heave by Ring, Moccasin guard; while Klein made three gratis shots to complete the enemy total of five, at the end of the half. So tight was the Cat defense that the opposing team could not get in for close shots and could do little good from far out on the court. The half ended with the Wildcats on top 32-5.

GOLD RULING MODIFIED

Washington, Jan. 14.—(INS)—The prediction that the Supreme Court would not hold the gold clause, affecting contracts in excess of $100,000,000, unconstitutional was expressed today by Speaker Byrnes. "It means too much to the country," he said. "Of course, I don't say that the Court will be influenced by this, but such a thing must be taken into due consideration."
