KWIC TOURNAMENT HISTORY

The first state collegiate championship for women began in 1972. Held on the Eastern Campus, the first tournament drew a then record number of entries, eleven. The second year the championship was held at the University of Kentucky. Eastern and Murray finished 1-2 in '72, and '73 and represented KWIC at the Regional Championships. In '74 the tournament was hosted by Morehead.

1975 saw the most dramatic changes in KWIC tournament structure. KWIC sponsored two divisional championships for the first time, one of the first states in the U.S. to make such an advancement. The University Division was held at Murray. Schools with undergraduate enrollments (women) of 3,000 or less play in the College Division while those over 3,000 participate in the University. 1980 marks not only a new decade but another structural change. The AIAW is now divided into three divisions, I, II, III.
