University Comes First in Oratorical Contest With Smith as Representative

ORATOR PREPARING TO CARRY OFF LAURELS IN SOUTHERN CONTEST

"SHANTUNG" SUBJECT

"The hope of China is that the United States will take her place in the League of Nations where she can effectively champion China's cause. The United States always and everywhere has been the defender of oppressed peoples and it is our own nation, the great republic of the West, to which the struggling republic of the Far East is looking for action and for continuance of that policy which will preserve for her the possibilities of a great future," was the concluding paragraph in the speech that won first place for the University in the oratorical contest held here Monday in chapel, as presented by Clifford E. Smith, a freshman in the College of Law.

Smith will now represent the University against winners of state contests in Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan, to be held in Wisconsin April 2.

The decision was rendered by men from other states who were entirely neutral as to contestants, Professor H. S. Woodward, Western Reserve University; Professor C. H. Thurper, Purdue University, and Professor B. C. Van Wye, University of Cincinnati. The decision in favor of Kentucky shows that a new era in the art of oratory is being recognized, for Mr. Smith's oration was one that appealed to the audience thru logical reasoning and not alone by appealing to the emotions thru "flowery English." It was not however a easy matter to decide according to statements made by the judges, for the Kentucky Colleges were ably represented by gifted orators.

Mr. C. McCoy Franklin, representative of Berea College, who came second, spoke on "Americanizing America by Education of Labor." The theme of his speech was the power of Christian education.

Mr. Frank L. McVey presided, welcoming the audience and introducing the speakers. A large number were present, including a number of out-of-town people.

Mr. Smith will again represent U. K. at the second contest, the Southern Interstate Oratorical League, which will be held Friday night in the Chapel. Representatives from the state universities of Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama, Johns Hopkins and Vanderbilt. The following list of ora-

CENTRE-KENTUCKY GAME TO END 1920 SCHEDULE

Wildcats In Good Condition To Trim Visitors

The University of Kentucky basketball squad will end its 1920 basketball schedule with the Centre-Kentucky game in Lexington Saturday night.

The Centre aggregation has the better claim to the State championship in basketball, since it defeated the Wildcats in Danville February 14. Should Kentucky defeat Centre Saturday night, however, the two outfits would be tied for State honors.

The Wildcats are now in better condition to handle the Centre outfit than when they were defeated 44 to 15, and it is generally thought that the game will be a close one, and that probably a surprise or two will be sprung on the visitors.

Because of the recent illness of Everett, Coach Buchheit had intended starting the game Saturday night with Wilhelm in the center position, but the latter sustained a broken nose in practice Wednesday, so it is highly probable that Everett will be back at center with the remainder of the regular line-up.

Enlow and McGregor will stage a wrestling match between halves.

STUDENT LEAVES TO FILE CLAIM ON LAND

"Kit" Carson First To Accept Homestead Offer.

Daniel C. Carson, of Richmond, Ky., a sophomore in the College of Engineering, left Monday night for Cheyenne, Wyoming, to file on a claim of 160 acres of Homestead land offered by the Government in the recently-completed North Platte Irrigation Project.

"Kit" Carson, as he is known in the University, re-entered school last fall after having served in the army for more than two years. He was with the North Russia Expeditionary Forces as an officer at Archangel, Russia all the time he served overseas.

"Kit" has promised to write to several friends as soon as he arrives "out west" and tell them all about how conditions really are and the prospects and desirability of filing claims on this land recently opened up in Wyoming. The dope from him is awaited with much interest by a number of students in the University, who have expressed their intention to "take up a claim."

U. K. IS REPRESENTED AT STATE CONFERENCE

Four Delegates Hear Important Speakers at Danville

Secretary Owens and four delegates, George Gregory, Bob Davis, Robert Raible and George Baumgarten attended the annual Kentucky State Student Conference of the Y. M. C. A. at Danville, February 27 to 29, returning to Lexington on Monday. George Gregory made a speech Saturday, on "What Can the Y. M. C. A. Expect of the Faculty?"

Representing the faculty of this University at the conference were Dean Boyd, Dean Melcher, Professors Clelland, Freeman and Bureau, and Dr. Best. The convention delegates and faculty were entertained by citizens of Danville.

The Kentucky colleges represented were Berea, Georgetown, Transylvania, Union College, Eastern State Normal, Centre and University of Kentucky.

Speakers of importance at the conference were: Hon. J. Stitt Wilson, California; Dr. W. D. Weatherford, Tennessee; Dr. B. J. Bush, Lexington; P. C. Dix, Louisville, and Harry F. Comer, Tennessee.

TRACK WORK TO BE ARRANGED BY CO-EDS

University of Kentucky To Have New Feature in Sports.

Spiked shoes and track suits are being ordered for the University co-eds.

Beginning April 1, classes in refined track work, weight tossing, hurdling, high jumping and hockey will be added to the curriculum of women students of the University. Censored classes in boxing may be added later.

The University co-eds are going to enter the track competition in earnest and have booked contests with the University of Cincinnati and Louisville College, to be played if those educational institutions have luck with their feminine track and field representatives.

Try-outs for the hockey team will begin shortly under the direction of Miss Sarah Blanding, of the University Athletic Department. All aspirants for hockey honors are "dark horses," so to speak, none having had any previous experience in that sport.

The Kittens, University girls' basketball team, will probably wind up its season here in a contest with Peabody College, of Tennessee, March 17.

TRIANGULAR DEBATES TO BE HELD MARCH 12

One of Intercollegiate Contests in University Chapel Next Friday

On Friday, March 12, the Cincinnati-Miami-Kentucky triangular debates will be held simultaneously in Lexington, Cincinnati and Oxford, Ohio. The proposition to be discussed is one in which there is much interest, inasmuch as it deals with industrial relations and labor organizations. The nature of the proposition, and the careful study which the men have given to the debate this year give promise of some lively forensic contests.

An affirmative team representing the University of Kentucky will meet a negative team representing the University of Cincinnati in the University chapel here. There will be a musical program furnished by Professor Lampert.

On the same evening a negative team composed of A. P. Bell, H. P. Haley and N. B. Conkright will represent the University in the debate against Miami University at Oxford, Ohio. A negative team from Miami will meet an affirmative team representing the University of Cincinnati in that city on the same evening.

The program for the debate to be held here is as follows:

Proposition—Resolved that for purposes of bargaining between employer and employee, the organization of all labor within the individual plant or industrial organization offers a better solution for industrial problems than the present system of national unions. Affirmative, University of Kentucky, Mr. George T. Robinson, Mr. Charles W. Richards, Mr. P. H. Vincent.

Negative, University of Cincinnati, Mr. Herald G. Gardner, Mr. L. Emerson Tull, Mr. Herbert T. Leyland.

Constructive Speeches (ten minutes each): First Affirmative, Mr. Robinson, Kentucky; First Negative, Mr. Gardner, Cincinnati; Second Affirmative, Mr. Richards, Kentucky; Second Negative, Mr. Tull, Cincinnati; Third Affirmative, Mr. Vincent, Kentucky; Third Negative, Mr. Leyland, Cincinnati.

Rebuttal Speeches (six minutes each): First Negative, Mr. Gardner, Cincinnati; First Affirmative, Mr. Robinson, Kentucky; Second Negative, Mr. Tull, Cincinnati; Second Affirmative, Mr. Richards, Kentucky; Third Negative, Mr. Leyland, Cincinnati; Third Affirmative, Mr. Vincent, Kentucky.

Presiding Officer—President Frank L. McVey.

Judges—Professor T. L. Harris, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio; Professor S. J. Brandenburg, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio; Professor R. A. Jelliffe, Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio.

ARTISTS GIVEN CHANCE TO WIN STROLLER PRIZE

Two Tickets To Be Awarded For Best Cover Design

In accordance with the usual custom of awarding two tickets to the Stroller play each year for the best design submitted for the program cover, the management announces the opening of the contest Saturday morning, March 6, to last until March 18.

Any student in the University is eligible to compete in the contest and their drawings will be considered by three competent judges, who will be selected later. Drawings must be turned in to Emory Frazier, at the Stroller rooms. Further information on the contest may be obtained from Mr. Frazier.

Rehearsals for The Climbers are being held each night and the play is rapidly being rounded into shape. Plans for the sale of tickets on the campus and prospects for a ticket-selling contest among the students are being discussed by the management.

"The Climbers" is the first serious play ever presented by the Strollers and serious work, commensurate with its worth, is being put into the practice by every member of the cast. The leading lady is Mary Elizabeth Downing, and those who have had the opportunity of hearing her interpretation of the part say that she is a remarkable interpreter of emotional parts and exceptional for a college actor. Emory Frazier is playing the male lead. He needs no introduction to audiences of the University of Kentucky; all that is necessary to say is that his work is as good or better than ever. The supporting cast has been chosen from an unusually large number of aspirants, and is perhaps the most capable ever got together for an amateur performance in the city of Lexington.

PRIZES AWARDED FOR SUBSCRIPTION WORK

Total Sold Nears 450; Copies May Be Ordered Until March 10.

As a book agent, E. E. Kelly proved his worth by winning the $15 prize for selling the most "Annals," in the three weeks subscription contest, with the sale of 240; Adele Slade was in the money and won second place, totaling 95 year-books, while F. T. Bell came in on the show with 82.

A total number nearing 450 books have been sold and the staff will be compelled to order more books than they had contemplated to sell. Anyone desiring an Annual must bring in his dollar and twenty-five cents before the tenth of March, as after that date no more subscriptions will be accepted. Subscriptions will be taken at the Kentuckian room in the basement of the main building.

PAYS TO ADVERTISE

(Apologies to University Press Club.)
I picked my home-town paper up
And looked upon its pages,
I glanced upon some headlines there—
Oh, shades of holy sages!

There was my name. What in the world
Could make them print my name?
Had I inherited some wealth,
Or gained some sudden fame?

With pride-flushed face and throbbing pulse
The article I read,
The article that told of me,
And this is what it said:

"This young man is a wonder here
We have it to admit;
The most of him, it seems, is brains,
The rest of him is grit."

I'd thought it long, but never knew
That I was really great;
So now my chest swelled up and I
Could feel my head inflate.

Now after this I'll stalk around
With self-important air;
And let the Press Club watch and spread
My greatness everywhere.

INSPIRATIONAL TALK AT JOINT "Y" MEETING

Biblical Reference Subject of Dr. Tigert's Address.

After special music by the choir and a short devotional service led by Lulu Blakey, Dr. Tigert delivered an inspiring talk to the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. meeting in the Recreation Hall at Patterson Hall Sunday evening.

After reading a chapter from St. John describing the miraculous draught of fishes, Dr. Tigert chose as his subject, "Be ye not fishers of fish but fishers of man." He chose war heroes of today, and from the past and from those noble lives demonstrated their purpose of servants of men, Herbert Hoover, Marshall Foch and Robert Lee.

Certain professions, such as teaching, that are today poorly paid, meaning sacrifice and hardship, hold in their ranks men who have decided to be fishers of men. They have chosen the hard path, with small material benefits, but they know that the reward of their sacrifice is the real glory.

After the inspiring talk delicious refreshments were served.

March 3, 1920.

We, the members of the College of Engineering faculty of the University of Kentucky desire to express our sympathy for the relatives of Miss May Dicker whose death occurred on February 19. WILL THE SENATE ACT AT ONCE?

The story which appeared in last week's Kernel concerning the offer of the United States Government of land to ex-service men, has attracted much attention. Ten or twelve applicants have applied to Harry Cottrell for information concerning the procuring of these land grants, and character of land offered.

Although the Kernel does not approve the purpose of underclassmen giving up their work in the University to accept this offer, it does see in it an opportunity for those who are about to complete their college courses, and who are eligible for ownership of this land, and willing to make necessary sacrifices in order to get it. It seems unfortunate that these men, especially those in the College of Agriculture who would and could use these lands, may be unable to do so because they are not to receive their diplomas until June 12, while the latest priority settlement on these land grants expires May 12, and it is probable that those who apply earlier may have choice of more desirable lands.

In view of the fact that the people of the United States are passing through a period of reconstruction following a great war, a period of which the outcome may determine the future stability of the Nation, and in addition to this, in view of the fact that our Government has adopted this plan of extending homestead privilege to ex-service men with the purpose of promoting the agricultural activity of the country, the Kernel urges that this matter be taken up at once and given thoughtful consideration by the Senate of the University in order that ex-service men in the University who have already expressed a desire to obtain these valuable farm lands may find their way to do so.

If the Senate sees fit, the Kernel would be gratified indeed if these students in the College of Agriculture who are looking forward to the attainment of degrees in June, but who desire to take advantage of this opportunity, be granted the same privilege as that extended to students during the war; that is, of receiving credit on the ground of patriotic service, for such work as they might miss in carrying out the details of filing claims to land and arranging for legal residence upon it.

The Kernel is reliably informed that several University men are contemplating filing on Wyoming lands but are balked at the very threshold by the fact that if they filed within required legal dates they would miss graduation, provided the intervening work were rigidly insisted on.

CRUCIAL HOUR FOR UNIVERSITY.

It is one of the commonplaces of present-day economists that after every war there is a period of internal reorganization and expansion. The reason for this is the depletion of resources and reserves by the exactions of warfare. In order to regain the prosperity of peace times, business men and financiers pare the peeling a little more closely, watch corners and cut them whenever possible. Their task is no easy one.

This condition especially prevails in America today, with the additional factor involved, that the exchange medium is seriously inflated. There is less to buy and more to buy with; as a result, prices soar. In such a case, economy is absolutely essential, both in business and political transactions.

But there is also this further consideration, that cannot be neglected by any one desirous of grasping the situation and handling it. Education must not suffer. No man starves his children to feed himself; society would not tolerate it. Yet this is what is being done at present to the young people of the State of Kentucky.

The University of Kentucky has been doing notable work the last two years. War took from it some of its most promising students. Conditions unprecedented in academic history disordered the machinery of instruction. Funds were low and strict economy was necessary to continuance of operation. Despite these obstacles the University has come through the war years without demerit and with extraordinary success. Not only has it held its own, but it has expanded in many directions, and entered many new fields of helpful activity.

This has been especially true of the Colleges of Engineering and Agriculture. Many new and useful courses have been offered—courses that will repay to the State a thousand times their cost in better trained citizens, greater developments in commercial, scientific, and social fields. The percentage of interest, if it were possible to calculate it, would be astonishing, amazing. New equipment has been purchased to enable professors to present adequately and teach their subjects. Buildings have been improved, altered to make them fit for immediate and pressing needs. None can complain of University achievements these last two years.

But what of the next two? These should constitute our period of re-entrenchment. But a school cannot retrench. It must not go back, and conditions prevent it from standing still. We must go forward. Enrollments will increase; there will be new demands, new opportunities. We must meet them.

These things take money. We must have money. Dormitories, new class rooms, new equipment, additions to the faculty, improvements necessary to make the University a fit place to which to send young people for scholastic training; these we must have and these will take money. The Legislature must give us money.

Kentucky is already far down in the educational roster of States and not without loss to herself and her prestige can she go back. Yet this is what will most certainly happen if the appropriation for the University of Kentucky is not increased by the action of the Kentucky Legislature. Failure to increase it will mean a step backward.

LET US GO FORWARD!

WATCH YOUR STEP!

Now that March has arrived, with the welcome tidings that Spring is just around the corner, ready to surprise us with birds, her sweetness of flowers, and sunshine, the Kernel laments the rise of an evil which is even more distressing than the usual epidemic of Spring fever and the lapse in the good work of the students of the University.

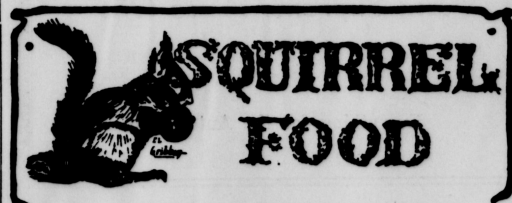

There is no time more tenderly beautiful, no season more evanescently appealing to man's sense of beauty than that which brings the buds and blossoms, brought to life by the warming sunshine of Spring. Nor is there any place which awakens more wonderfully at the spell of those transforming genii than the campus of the University of Kentucky. The robin and the cardinal will be greeted with new green leaves and wild flowers. The picture the Master painter is preparing to limn for us lacks only the mantle of Spring covering the sloping hills and levels of the campus with a carpet of green.

The Kernel notes with grief that certain good students of the University and others who are perhaps visitors are making it impossible for the student body to receive to full extent, the beauty which might be theirs. For along the borders of every driveway which winds among the buildings on the campus are unsightly ruts left by automobiles, and prints of horses' hoofs. These are the result of careless driving; there is scarcely a space of ground of any size on the campus which is not marked by unsightly paths made by those who take short cuts to and from buildings.

The Kernel seriously believes that this is a matter which invites the thoughtfulness of every member of the student body to which this paper belongs. It recommends especially to that most powerful organization, the membership of which is restricted to wearers of corduroy, that it devote its attention for awhile to the work of bringing to task those who are seen to offend in this way against the principles for which the Senior court exists.

Furthermore, it urges that the entire student body consider itself an active committee to let it be known that this barbarous mutilation of the campus cannot and must not continue. In their hands rests the only weapon which can be used effectively to combat this evil. That weapon is public opinion. That weapon must be used now if the University of Kentucky is to enjoy her full heritage of beauty.

The Kernel is confident that in gaining the co-operation of the student body, it leaves the matter in safe hands.

Lily Cromwell: "Iambic, of course."

Amanda: "Yes, but that was two nights ago and besides I didn't hear you."

Pat Hall Pastimes.

Shades of St. Paul, Tolstol, and lesser prophets.

Shades of King David and "Alexander," the interpreters of dreams.

A Pat Hall maiden saw a vision and dreamed a dream.

There came, as it were, a light in the darkness and she saw herself standing in the midst of it, diligently packing all her clothes into a hair-net.

And still she packed and still the hair-net stretched until, her wardrobe all secured, she fastened the strange receptacle with a safety pin. And lo! the vision faded, and she dreamed no more.

Which being interpreted, shows that the day is not far distant when the modest maiden may pack her dainty garments in a commodious hair-net and sally forth upon a week-end house party, secure in the knowledge that she is well supplied for every occasion.

The following is an exact reproduction of a valentine received by an S. A. E. who modestly desires his name to be withheld. Although it is more than a trifle late, the subject is always interesting:

Sweetheart's Valley,
Lover's Lane,
Marriage Town.

Dearest Darling:
Most worthy of admiration,
Alas and alack, what shall I do?
For want of a husband, I appeal to you.
Is it to be or not to be?
Marriage, they say, is a lottery.
Let's try it and see.

If joy to me you will bring,
Send me quick a diamond ring.
If, for any reason, there is no hope
Then send me instead, ten yards of rope.

If the writer's name you cannot guess
Send all the mail to the one you love best.

From me to you, can you guess?
A LEAP YEAR KID.
P. S.—I bet you a kiss you cannot guess
Who sent this letter to your address.

Among the passengers on board a ship crossing the Atlantic recently was a man who stuttered. One day he hurried to the captain. "S—s—s—s"—he stuttered.

"Oh, I can't be bothered!" said the captain angrily. "Go to somebody else."

The man tried to speak to every one on board, but no one would wait to hear what he had to say.

At last he came to the captain again. "Look here," said the captain, "I can tell you what to do when you want to say anything, you should sing it."

Suddenly, in a tragic voice, the man began to sing:

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind?
The bloomin' cook's fell overboard and is twenty miles behind."
—Philadelphia Star.

The wife of a new member of Congress was much distressed by the unexpected appearance of an old sweetheart of her daughter—a big, good-natured son of the West, though of a rather crude exterior.

"Alice," said the mother one day, "I don't understand how you can put up with Jim, now that you've been associating with so many fine young men in the East. I should think he would grate on you. Don't you find him a little rough?"

"Yes, ma," answered she, blushing. "And yet Jim tells me he shaves every day!"

They were playing poker in a western town. One of the players was a stranger, and was getting a nice trimming. Finally, the sucker saw one of the players give himself three aces from the bottom of the pack.

The sucker turned to the man beside him and said: "Did you see that?"

"See what?" asked the man. "Why, that fellow dealt himself three aces from the bottom of the deck," said the sucker.

"Well, what about it?" asked the man. "It was his deal, wasn't it?"

ABOUT THE CAMPUS

Hurrah! for the girls. At last the "chicken walk" is getting the long-looked-for coat of asphalt applied to it.

Judge Samuel Wilson was the speaker at the meeting of the Engineering Faculty Club held Thursday night in the Library of Mechanical Hall. "Hobbies" was his subject.

Margaret Ingles, class of '16, Mechanical and Electrical, is in Lexington, having been called home from New York, where she is employed as engineer with the Carrier Engineering Corporation, on account of the death of her mother who was killed last week in Arkansas, by an auto truck.

The first of a series of tests on a car equipped with the Anderson carburetor will be run the first of next week in the auto-testing laboratories in Mechanical Hall.

"Tip" Parker, class of '15, Mechanical and Electrical, was a recent visitor to the campus. With the exception of eighteen months which he spent in France, he has been connected since graduation with the Pennsylvania and at present he is mechanical Engineer in the motor division, and is located in Columbus.

George F. Blessing, class of '97, Mechanical and Electrical, was initiated into the Tau Beta Pi fraternity Wednesday. Mr. Blessing is Dean of Engineering at "Swarthmore" and came all the way from Pennsylvania for the initiation because the fraternity requires that the work be done here.

Professor Farquhar has received an invitation from the seniors of the Letchfield High School to deliver the commencement address there on May 6th.

Professor W. D. Funkhouser is the author of an article which appeared in a recent issue of The Philippine Journal of Science which is published in Manila, "New Records and Species of Philippine Membracidae."

Professor Rees, Mathematics, is confined to his bed at the home of his father at 726 East Main with the "flu."

Doctor Pryor attended the meeting of the Council on Education of the American Medical Association in Chicago the first part of the week.

Gordie Young, student in Agriculture, has accepted a position teaching agriculture and agricultural botany in the Picadome High, Harrodsburg pike, in connection with his work in the University.

NOTICE!

To Members of the Faculty:
The meeting called for Monday, March 1, for the organization of a faculty club, has been postponed a week. This meeting will be held at the same hour on Monday, March 8.

WILDCATS ARE VICTORS IN TENNESSEE GAME

Return With Laurels From Southern Trip

The Wildcats didn't return from their Southern trip with a perfect record, but they wallowed old Tennessee in the mud before they turned homeward, which fact is being received with joy in Kentucky. And the good part is that the crippled Wildcats retaliated with such vim that they defeated the Volunteers by a margin larger than the sum of the margins of all three of the Tennessee victories over Kentucky during the present season.

Weakened by the loss of Blakey and Everett the Wildcats lost two of the three games played on the Southern trip. The first stop was at Williamsburg, Kentucky, where the Cumberland University quintette sprung a surprise on the Wildcat camp, and defeated them, 30 to 21.

The summary and scoring at Williamsburg was as follows:

Kentucky, 21; Cumberland, 30.
Lavin (4)	Ellison (4)
Forward.
Hayden (13)	Siler, A. (12)
Forward.
Wilhelm (4)	Adkins (8)
Center.
Ridgway	Davis (4)
Guard.
Burnham	Siler, E. (2)
Guard.

Referee—Jones.

Hayden, Lavin and Wilhelm played with distinction in this first game, as in the next two, and proved that the Wildcat aggregation wasn't such a "patched up" machine after all. Burnham was acting captain on the trip.

At Knoxville, Tennessee, the Wildcats broke even, losing the first game and winning the second. It seemed to have required the first two games for the new Wildcat team to get to working smoothly, but when it did come to itself, it wiped Tennessee off her feet. Hayden, Kentucky crack forward, was "hot" during all these games, and made such a habit of sinking the ball into the baskets that it caused the opponents much consternation.

The line-up and summary for the first Tennessee game was:

Kentucky, 25; Tennessee, 28.
Lavin (9)	Troutman (8)
Forward.
Hayden (12)	Sullivan
Forward.
Wilhelm (8)	Jones (8)
Center.
Ridgway	McCabe (10)
Guard.
Burnham	Bell
Guard.

Substitutes—Tennessee, Moss (2), Hatcher.

Referee—Reeder.

The three-point victory must have shattered Tennessee's nerve, for Saturday night the Wildcats were able to play rings around their hosts. Hayden shot goals at will, Lavin followed him closely, and every member of the Kentucky team helped boost the tally. At the end of the second half Coach Bender, of Tennessee, saw his hopes sliding, so he sent in the same combination of subs that had been successful the night before, but Messrs. Moss and Hatcher found their efforts fruitless. Kentucky won the game with a lead of eleven points.

The summary was as follows:

Kentucky, 36; Tennessee, 25.
Lavin (10)	Troutman (4)
Forward.
Hayden (16)	Sullivan (2)
Forward.
Wilhelm (6)	Jones (8)
Center.
Ridgway (2)	McCabe (6)
Guard.
Burnham (2)	Bell
Guard.

Substitutes—Tennessee, Moss (4), Hatcher.

Referee—Reeder.

SIGMA NUS CHAMPIONS IN FRATERNITY GAME

Defeat S. A. E.'s In Third Game of Series

The Sigma Nu fraternity basketball team won the third game of the fraternity series Tuesday night by defeating the S. A. E. fraternity team, champions of the 1919 series. The score was 34 to 5, which indicates in some degree where the superiority of the two teams laid.

The game was played on the gymnasium floor and was witnessed by a considerable number. Much interest was shown in this game, although it was not the finals of the series, because it was felt that the two contesting teams were the most evenly matched of the eight fraternity teams. The S. A. E.'s are the present holders of the silver loving cup presented by the Pan-Hellenic Council, and the Sigma Nu's are the ex-champions of fraternity basketball in the University, having won the cup in 1918.

In previous games recently played the S. A. E. team had defeated the Sigma Chi team, the Sigma Nu aggregation had accepted one game from the Pi Kappa Alpha's through forfeiture, the A. T. O.'s had defeated the Kappa Alphas, and the Kappa Sigmas had won from the Phi Delt's. So the game Tuesday night was the first of the two semi-final games. The second game will be played soon between the Kappa Sigmas and the A. T. O.'s, after which the final game will be played between the Sigma Nu's and the winner of this latter game.

The S. A. E.-S. N. game would hardly have appealed to the spectator who happened to know the finer points of basketball. Loose playing predominated on the floor because of lack of practice and because of the fact that most of the players were out of condition. It was evident from the first minute of play that the Sigma Nu outfit could win the game, and it soon became a desperate attempt on the part of the S. A. E.'s to keep the score down as small as possible.

The story of the game may be seen from the following summary:

S. A. E.		S. N.
Rogers	McMahon (6)	Forward.
Corn	Wilkerson (8)	Forward.
Wood	Gorman (14)	Center.
Logan (1)	Collpits	Guard.
Snoddy (2)	Fuller (2)	Guard.

Substitutes—S. A. E., Connell (2); S. N., Lewis (4), Duvall and Beam.

BASKETBALL SEASON TO CLOSE AFTER NEXT GAME

Kentucky's Quintette Shows Splendid Record

The 1920 basketball season is practically over. Only one more game remains to be played—the Centre-Kentucky game Saturday night. At the present time Kentucky has won five games out of eleven played. This may seem discouraging to some, but when we dig deeper into the records of the season we find that the Wildcats of Kentucky have made a total of 281 points, while their opponents have made a total of only 255, giving Kentucky the lead by 26 points. And in the four Tennessee games that occasioned so much interest it is interesting to know that although Kentucky lost three of the four games, yet she totaled two more points than did Tennessee.

The season has developed some exceptionally good varsity material. With the exception of Everett and Burnham all the gang were unknown quantities to Kentucky fans, yet with the closing of the season the names of all the squad members are familiar to every student. Hayden and Blakey, undoubtedly the outstanding stars of the season, were both new material to the squad. They have been most successful in their goal tossing, rarely ever missing a good chance to shoot. Hayden's points for the season of eleven games are 114, and Blakey's total for eight games played is 57 points.

Everett has been very successful with his position as captain of the squad, and his floor work and goal-shooting have been good. In Ridgway and Smith Coach Buchheit has found running guards of sterling qualities, and two that will improve with their years on the squad. Burnham has maintained his reputation of being one of the best guards in Kentucky's history. Lavin probably has made more progress during the present season than any of the men not generally considered "first stringers." He has gained an enviable reputation as a live little forward, and has contributed much to the success of the season, both in his capacity of player and as manager of the 1920 squad. Wilhelm had a good opportunity of showing his value as a center on the Wildcat team on the Southern trip, and no one will deny that his work was excellent. It is unfortunate that he should have suffered an injury during the last days of the season. Evans and Carr are members of the squad that have had few opportunities to fight for the Blue and White, but their presence with the squad always gave the school a sense of security, and when they have been called upon they have responded with excellent work.

Taking the season from these points it can hardly be said to have been in any degree a failure. Coach Buchheit has done some wonderful work with the men, as the superior playing of the present squad as compared with the squad just after the Christmas holidays indicates.

Evans, (hopefully): "The King has flees."

In Selecting a University

For a college education, there are five things to be taken into consideration:

1. The men at the head of the Institution.
2. The scholastic standing and ability of the Teaching Staff.
3. The location and advantages of environment.
4. Equipment, buildings, laboratories and libraries.
5. Cost.

In all these respects the University of Kentucky commends itself to those seeking a higher institution in which to carry on their education.

All Departments, including Liberal Arts, Sciences, Agriculture, Law, Education, Mining, Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering.

SOPHS BEAT FRESHIES BY NARROW MARGIN

Finals Decide Championship of Campus League Teams

The Sophomore basketball quintette defeated the Freshman outfit Thursday afternoon in the Campus League finals by the close score of 23 to 22, thus ending the intra-scholastic fight that has been waging in the University gymnasium since the League series began two months ago. The Sophomores are now the champions of the Campus League teams, and will soon play the winners of the Fraternity League in a desperate effort to gain the title of champion of the University in basketball.

The Campus League basketball series has been one of the biggest successes of the year, taken from an intra-scholastic point of view. Intense interest has been manifested throughout the series by members of the various squads and their loyal supporters, as well as by faculty members and other University friends. A considerable number of spectators have gathered at each of the contests, and the final Thursday was witnessed by a record crowd.

The series began with eight squads contesting for the honors—four class teams and four college teams—but by the gradual process of elimination and by forfeiture the rivals were narrowed down to the two age-old rivals in all collegiate activities, the Freshies and the Sophs. The Freshies saw an opportunity to get revenge for the gloomy days of last fall when bald heads predominated the campus, and the Sophs knew that here was the chance of their lives to pay back their young brethren for the terribly wet ducking administered not many months ago in a nearby pond. So they battled royally.

To say that the championship game was a "hot" one is putting it too mildly, for as much is to be implied by the publication of the score. It seemed the members of the class of '22 wished to tantalize their opponents by placing through the basket just enough points to make the tally read "23," but the ever resourceful representatives of the class of '23 retaliated, when they saw the game was lost, by smearing their side of the board with a huge and menacing "22".

Bronze basketball watch fobs will be given out immediately by the Athletic Department to the victors, and also a championship pennant will be awarded the team.

The results of the championship game were as follows:

- Sophomores, 23; Freshmen, 22.
- Wilkerson (8) Fest (11) Forward.
- Morris (4) Ringo (3) Forward.
- Lewis, A. D. (4) Bauer Center.
- Brown (7) Baugh (8) Guard.
- Sauer Borin Guard.
- Substitutes—Freshmen, Barr.

VISITING SPEAKER IN CHAPEL TUESDAY

Dr. Fortune Talks on "The Things That Abide"

Dr. Fortune, of Transylvania College, was the speaker at chapel, Tuesday. His subject was, "The Things That Abide."

Dr. Fortune stressed the changes that are constantly taking place, saying that the world is constantly changing, our life is changing, and consequently, the philosophy of today is not the philosophy of yesterday. We are living in unsettled times and we need to keep our eyes on the one unchanging thing—GOD. "Truth abides; Love abides; God abides. It is for us to look upward and forward, facing the changing world, and make the future more glorious."
