

CHAPTER	PAGE
VII.—Wherein Lucia sees treachery brewing, Pell proves himself a brute, and an unexpected guest appears	129
VIII.—Wherein the bandit expounds a new philosophy, and makes marionettes of the Americans	141
IX.—Wherein Uncle Henry chatters some more, there is an auction, and things look black indeed	160
X.—Wherein an old friendship comes to life, Lopez learns a thing or two, and finally makes a match	176
XI.—Wherein a man proves himself a craven, a shot rings out, and the bad man explains one little hour	206
XII.—Wherein the bad man cannot understand the good man, and disappears; and a dead man stirs	216
XIII.—Wherein an old situation seems about to be repeated, another shot is fired, and the bad man comes back	242
XIV.—Wherein an old friend returns, and there is a joyful reunion	267