Men's Glee Club Heard On Sunday Vesper Program

All Student Entertainment Is Conducted In Memorial Hall

Selected from a field of forty-one of the University's loveliest coeds, Miss Leigh Brown, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Lexington, was crowned 1937 Kentuckian Beauty Queen at the annual year book dance held at the Alumni gym Saturday night. She is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Prof. Enoch Grehan, head of the University journalism department, will open the 13th annual meeting of the Kentucky high school press association with a formal welcome at 10 a. m. Friday, on the campus.

A large audience listened to an interesting all-student program Sunday afternoon in Memorial Hall, featuring the men's glee club, under the direction of Harlow F. Dean, Jr., and accompanied by Adelle South Gardner at the piano.

KHSPA TO MEET FRIDAY MORNING

Grehan Will Give Welcome; Address To Young Writers; Dinner-Dance Included On Program

Following a report by Victor R. Portman, state director of the association, the Kernel staff will give Prof. Lawrence Yates, of the English department, who will speak on "Good English," and Plummer, assistant professor of journalism, on "Blundering Into Laughs," Joe Jordan, of the Kernel staff, on "Speaking of Journalism," and George Kerler, of the Kernel staff, on "The Future of the Journal."

The glee club stood up in full force to render that ever-popular glee club specialty, "De Old Ark," which was sung with great pathos and sweet sentimentality on "Opportunity." "Let's Sing a Little of Roses," the dear "Dear Old Kentucky," and "The Blue Bird" were also rendered.

Music for the affair was furnished by the "Thornhill" band, a five-piece band who made a half-hour broadcast over WHAS from 9 to 9:30 o'clock.

Sour Mash, A Humor Digest, To End Truncy This Week

By ANDREW ECKDAHL

Sour Mash, campus humor magazine, will be on sale sometime this week. It was announced yesterday afternoon by George Kerler, editor. Personally, we don't believe it as we have heard that story before. However, what is the information for I did not setting a definite publication date, "because if I did, the mag probably would come out on it. This way I have a when and if Sour Mash is published it will sell for only 15 cents. This announcement was first made in the December 1st issue of the definite publication date of publication was set. Kerler avows that this is a correct statement—"The issue, Friday, December 3, at the Lafayette Hotel." Dr. Adams chose the subject "The Factor to be Considered in Influencing People."

Mash. Commenting on the pictures, Editor Kerler only sigh and mutter, "Lovely, lovely." We sure had a tough time getting those pictures out. We managed to get three representatives from the first group, who when he had recovered from his reverie on the charm of the coeds of our course, just as the first of the tardiness of the mag, but it sounds good.

Members of the Kernel staff attending the meeting were Chepeleff, Lathrem, and Penn. At its final session Saturday the association adopted a resolution opposing any attempt to censor college newspapers.

BULL PEN

By GEORGE H. KERLER

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 4.—That old feeling blanketed the Wildcats as they trudged off the Gridiron here today for once again they were whipped by and failed to score on a conference opponent. No major club in the loop came near equalling this feat. (Rather distinguishing, isn't it. Even little Sewanee tallied seven points against Tulane.)

On paper 6 to 0 is just about the difference between Florida and Kentucky. The Oranges completed a colossal schedule but were never good in any game, whereas the Cats were skinned by a few telephone counts. The statistics show the Gators in decided advantage but it was any team's ball game all the way.

If you happened to be one of the squad of paying guests you would not have squawked about the gale price after the contest. For it was the craziest and most exciting battle the Cats encountered all year. The ten yard chain men spent the afternoon racing up and down the sidelines marking new ground for the offense to gain.

If the Blue Grassers could overcome their touchdownphobia once inside the opposition's 20 yard line perhaps there would be a happier story to tell. But whatever deflates the Kentucky advances when the ball reaches scoring acreage, punctured the Cat drives consistently. Maybe it was Mayberry who seemed to be eleven guys whenever we tried to pass.

Things looked bright after the kickoff when Washington fell on a Florida fumble on their 21 stripe. Perhaps the Duck should have picked up the ball and ran with it, for a fumbled kickoff means a free ball. But Mayberry stopped the Blues cold by intercepting our first pass.

The game received some desperate publicity but the crowd, in size, was disappointing. It seemed that the only ones present were the Florida faculty and student body. Across the field was a congregation of folks who just came out to see the game. Near the end, however, some group, feeling patriotic, organized for their union. Away from some Kentucky always converts a band of disinterested spectators into rabid Wildcats.

Walter Mayberry and Bob Davis first and second All-Southeastern linebackers looked up in a ground gaining dash and when the smoke cleared away Mayberry had some what the better of it by about 30 yards. The Florida star, however, but moves swiftly once he sees open air. As a line plunger he's not so hot but give him the credit and he's right at home. Among other things enhancing his talent is his ability to punt and pass. In short, he's the whole Florida backfield.

In the closing minutes of the battle, Kentucky forced the Gators to kick twice from their end zone. Each time Davis was back to receive the booby and how the Cat bench roared for him to turn one into a touchdown. Each time he made excellent returns under average circumstances but a scoring gallop was a necessity. Too many Orange jerseys prevented a that headline accomplishment. It would have been a grand finish to his collegiate career.

Modern indeed are Floridians in their stadium set-up. Instead of a horseshoe they have a three sided rectangle. Instead of benches they have concrete diaphragms which certainly must be comfortable during the rain but certainly uncomfortable during an exciting skirmish like Saturdays.

The dugout was thirty yards long and had a footrest beneath the bench. An arrangement something like for a church pews with kneeling facilities. However the catch came in that there was but about five feet four inches between the foot plank and the cement ceiling. When something thrilling happens on the field, the natural set calls for arising. This was done several times during the afternoon much to the turmoil of several heads. Imagine getting up out of your seat as quickly as you get up to leave a class and having your skull crack the concrete roof. Rather dismaying.

According to W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech coach, no less than a dozen of his men were knocked senseless during the Gator-Tech game which the Engineers won, 12-0. Considering the usual bodily damage done on the gridiron, Tech's trainer must have had a busy afternoon.

Florida won the ball game and 25 potential residents. The weather and climate were ideal. Friday the sun beat down but the air was cool and Saturday, between halves, a sheet of gray clouds covered the sky. This made weather conditions for football unexampled. It was 55 degrees, sunless and windless. The giant palm trees that shaded the stadium wall were motionless.

Guard George Boston was the where he started his first jaunt around end for 18 yards. Kentucky's 42. Robinson stopped all this intercepting spectacularly Mayberry's heavy hit the 18-12 and returning it five yards where Kentucky was penalized 15 yards for clipping.

Instead of Kicking Davis tore through tackle for nine yards and then 28 to the Blue 43 where Mayberry topped him. Washington slipped one to Garland, good for five yards but the Gators held, forcing Simpson to kick. This he did beautifully. Hagan followed with a downfield and pounced on it on Florida's five. But Mayberry zoomed one down to the Cats' 25 and again the Wyzmen were put in place.

Replacements aptly came in at the start of the second quarter. Mayberry flipped one to Walker who was downed on Kentucky's 14. Mullins, with an open field ahead, slipped as he was about to catch another toss. Again Berry drifted back to pitch but Kid McClubb swooped in and flattened him for a right yard loss. Hodge (the fury of the battle) deposited his injury snatched Mayberry's next heave and sprinted back 35 yards to Kentucky's 29 where he underhanded a wild lateral, luckily covered by Sydney.

After a we-punt you-punt swap, Mayberry intercepted another pass on his 26. Here the Gators started moving with Mayberry running and passing and a few powerful line smashes by Mullins. They traveled all the way down to Kentucky's five yard line where Hagan recovered a fumble on the four. Simpson stroled into tackle as the half whistle blew.

Kentucky Threatens
Feating Davis' open field galloping the Gators kicked off to Robinson who frightened the crowd by scooting down the sidelines 29 yards to Florida's 41. A Hodge plunge, Davis' ten yard hope through tackle,
