JUDITH SAXE, COMMUNITY WORKER

ISRAEL BONDS TO HONOR STANLEY ROSE

Stanley Rose, local businessman and community leader has been chosen by the Lexington Committee for State of Israel Bonds to receive the "Lion of Judah" award at its annual dinner on Sunday evening, November 22, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Mr. Rose has been active in Jewish and Lexington community affairs since his arrival here over 30 years ago. He has served as President of Temple Adath Israel, chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, and President of B'nai B'rith. He has been a member of the American Civil Liberties Union for 45 years, served on the boards of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the Anti-Defamation League, and was a charter member of the Lexington-Fayette County Urban League. He has also served on the board of CKJA, and is currently a member of the Community Relations Committee.

Rose is President of Factory Services, Inc., and in his professional capacity has served on local and state commissions dealing with solid waste disposal. In 1979 he was named Member of the Year of the Solid Waste Management Association. *continued on page 2

★ CKJA ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING SCHEDULED ★

The annual meeting of the membership of CKJA is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, November 25, 1981 at Temple Adath Israel. This will provide all members of the Jewish community the opportunity to hear the accomplishments of our community during the last year. Each committee chairperson of CKJA will present an annual report of his/her committee's activities and seek suggestions and comments for future activities.

Nominations for directors of the Central Kentucky Jewish Association will also be accepted from the membership at the annual meeting. According to the constitution and by-laws any member of CKJA (those who have contributed to the annual fund-raising campaign) may be nominated. The person nominated must have already agreed to the nomination and must be nominated by four other members of CKJA. The nomination must be in writing and signed by the four members.

VOLUNTEER OF THE MONTH

Problem-solver, Planner, Leader—that pretty well describes our Volunteer-of-the-Month, Allan Slovin. As CKJA Vice-President for Campaign and Community Services, Allan exemplifies the finest kind of service a person can offer to his community. He combines insight, a real talent for organization, persuasiveness, a keen sense of humor (a primary requirement for anyone sitting on a Board of Directors), and compassion, qualities which enable him to deal effectively with any task he undertakes. Allan always focuses upon getting the job done - and getting it done well. Three years ago our campaign was in trouble, so he set to work and provided the basis upon which our present Campaign Chairmen, Steve Caller and Gail Cohen, have built so successfully. Thanks to Allan's efforts, CKJA now maintains a comprehensive computerized mailing list - no small accomplishment. Bonds committees, nominating committees, search committees, future planning committees - Allan addresses the issues of each with characteristic good sense, vitality, and honest effort.

Nor does he neglect other community responsibilities. Currently, Allan serves as Vice-President of the Lexington Philharmonic Society.

So, Allan, we all thank you for your work, your support of Israel, and your commitment to making Lexington a better place for us to live as Jews.

A native of Cleveland, Mr. Rose is married to Dr. Harriet Rose, has two sons, Richard and David, and one grandchild.

Featured speaker at the dinner will be Ambassador Nahum Astar. Ambassador Astar has served the State of Israel in diplomatic posts around the world, from Liberia, Australia and New Zealand, to several posts in the United States.

The Israel Bond Organization has been the principal source for mobilizing investment capital for the development of every phase of Israel's economy. Now marking its 30th Anniversary year, Israel Bonds has provided more than $5.2 billion, which has been earmarked exclusively for Israel's Development Budget.

Reservations for the dinner can be made by contacting Susan Caller, 2805 Lakehill Circle, Lexington, 40502, or calling her at 266-1314.

CKJA Affiliates With Federations!!

In an action that may have far reaching effects on the future of Jewish communal services in Lexington, CKJA has become a member of the Council of Jewish Federations, the national coordinating body for community federations. CKJA's application was accepted at the quarterly meeting of the CJF board of directors in September. The nomination for membership was "enthusiastically seconded" by national board member Stuart Handmaker of Louisville.

Begun 14 years ago as the Jewish Community Association, with the main purpose of providing a Jewish Day Camp for children, the organization has grown to include programs and services ranging from recreational and cultural, to the social services. The decision to federate means that the Lexington Jewish community will become more involved in the mainstream of Jewish life. The affiliation with CJF will provide the community a wide range of organizational resources that will enable us to improve and expand in all areas of service.

Morton Mandel, President of CJF stated in his letter of acceptance to CKJA: "This is surely a time when we face a new threshold of vastly increased responsibilities and opportunities -- to assure peace in the Middle East, rescue Soviet Jews, meet the needs of aging and our youth and provide many other vital services."

Ed. Note: The annual CKJA-UJA Campaign provides the funds that support our local community programs, in addition to meeting our primary obligation of supporting Israel and other selected Jewish Charities.

1981 CJF GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO PROBE MAJOR ISSUES ON FEDERATION AGENDAS

NEW YORK, NY--Over 100 workshops, four major plenaries and six important forums reflecting every major issue facing Jewish Federations at home and abroad are included in the agenda of the 50th General Assembly of the Council of Jewish Federations which convenes November 10-15 in St. Louis.

Preliminary registration figures indicate an attendance of well over 2,500 representatives from the 200 Jewish Federations in the United States and Canada which comprise the CJF. Included among these will be 4 representatives of CKJA: President, Judy Levine, Women's Campaign Chairwoman, Gail Cohen, and board members Gloria Katz and Marilyn Moosnick. Judy Saxe, Community Worker, will also attend.

Included in the 1981 GA program will be sessions on issues such as American Foreign Policy and Jewish Concerns; The Jew in the Non-Jewish World; Jewish Communities in Distress Around the World; Jewish Concern for Women's Rights; Opportunities and Responsibilities for Federations; The Jewish Family; Jewish Singles in Community Life; Declining Federal Dollars for Human Services; Taxes and Philanthropy; and The New Anti-Semitism.

The CJF is the association of 200 Federations, Welfare Funds and Community Councils which serve nearly 800 communities and embrace over 95 percent of the Jewish population of the United States and Canada. Established in 1932, the Council serves as a national instrument to strengthen the work and the impact of Jewish Federations through leadership in developing programs to meet changing needs in the Jewish community.

If the Home Fits...

LOUISVILLE HEBREW HOME - 4 COURTS ACCEPTS
FIRST LEXINGTON RESIDENT

Just prior to the High Holydays, Mrs. Shirley Peretz, mother of Dr. Bertram Peretz became the first Lexington resident to be accepted by the Louisville Hebrew Home. Mrs. Peretz' move to Louisville is part of the agreement reached between the Boards of CKJA and 4 Courts this past year.

Mrs. Peretz has been settling into her new surroundings, and has been gratified by the opportunity to once more live in a Jewish atmosphere. As she expressed her feelings at the time of her arrival, she mentioned her pleasure at being able to keep kosher, and added, "but you also need food for the soul. I enjoy talking to people. There's so much to say." Since then, Mrs. Peretz has particularly enjoyed the Simchat Torah services which were a part of the High Holyday observances, and is looking forward to the completion of the new addition to the nursing home.

The new building will house 75 people, and will include a full complement of service facilities. Mrs. Peretz' son Bert was enthusiastic in his description of the new facility. He mentioned that several parts of the original building (a former mansion) were being incorporated into the new, especially the entry arch from the old chapel as part of the new chapel.

Dr. Peretz commented that everyone had been most solicitous of his mother, and particularly praised Sam Stern, Board President, who had helped significantly in Mrs. Peretz' transition from Lexington to Louisville. He emphasized the positive aspects of a Jewish person being able to live in a Jewish atmosphere.

Dr. Charles Gorodetzky, a member of the CKJA Board, also serves on the Board of the Louisville Hebrew Home. CKJA has contributed $10,000.00 to the Home's building fund.

NOTES FROM THE COMMUNITY RELATIONS COMMITTEE

Arms to Saudi Arabia

As you are all aware, the Senate approved the Administration's arms package to Saudi Arabia. For your information, Senator Wendell Ford voted against the package. Senator Huddleston and Congressman Hopkins both voted with the Administration in favor of the arms sale. Our senators and congressman each received a substantial number of letters from the Jewish community expressing opposition to the arms package. The Community Relations Committee recommends strongly that each member of the Jewish community continues to be aware of issues which affect Israel and respond accordingly to our senators and congressmen.

Scientific Creationism

By a vote of 3 - 2 the Fayette County School Board turned down a proposal that "scientific creationism" be included in the public school curriculum. A number of members of the Jewish community had the opportunity to express their disapproval of the proposal. Dr. David Wekstein, Chairman of the Community Relations Committee spoke against the proposal at the School Board meeting.

The issue of "scientific creationism" is not gone. It is expected to emerge again at the next session of the Kentucky Legislature and at the next school board election. All members of the community should be aware of this problem and work to exclude it from our public schools. According to the scientific experts, there is no science associated with "scientific creationism", and according to the experts on church-state issues, "scientific creationism" is an attempt to insert religion into the public schools.

Yad Vashem Project

Yad Vashem, the memorial to victims of the Holocaust is conducting a program to document all of the individuals of the Jewish faith who "laid down their lives, fought and rebelled in order to perpetuate their memories and that of their communities" destroyed during the Holocaust years. The Community Relations Committee of CKJA has forms for this purpose. If you have information about loved-ones or friends who died in the Holocaust, please contact Dr. David Wekstein, 269-4454, who will give you the information on how these martyrs may be memorialized.

Special Request From HIAS

Herbert Wise directs a large and distinguished cast including Danny Kaye, John Rubinstein, Carl Reiner, Eli Wallach, Ed Flanders, Lee Strasberg, Charles Levin, James Sutorius, George Dzundza, Marin Kanter, and Kim Hunter. "Skokie" is produced by Titus Productions, Inc. ("Holocaust"). Herbert Brodtkin is the executive producer, and Robert Berger is the producer.
