SENIORS WHO ENLIST TO RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Underclassmen Will Be Given Credit For Year's Work

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Seniors leaving the University now to enlist in the army will be given credit for the rest of the year's work and will be given diplomas in June, and underclassmen who enter the military service now will be given full credit for the year's work, by order of the Executive Committee in special session Monday.

Members of the faculty and other University officials, who desire to enter the service of the country for defense, will be granted leave of absence, according to resolutions passed by the committee. The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, a state of war exists between the United States of America and the Imperial German Government; and

"Whereas, it is the duty of this University to aid the United States in any way it can; and

"Whereas, there may be students in this University who may desire to volunteer for service in the army or navy of the United States; and

"Therefore, be it resolved by the Executive Committee of the University of Kentucky as follows:

"1. If any student be a member of the Senior class of the University and he enlists for service in the army or navy of the United States, he shall be graduated at the regular commencement in June and receive his diploma without any further examinations.

"2. If any student be a member of the Junior, Sophomore or Freshman class and he enlists for service in the army or navy of the United States, he shall be entitled upon his return to enter the next advanced class in all respects as if his examinations had been successfully taken at the end of the collegiate year.

"3. Any student so enlisting shall

PROBE COMMITTEE RESUMES HEARINGS

The Probe Committee of the Board of Trustees reopened its session Monday after a short recess, with the taking of testimony from several officials of the University and from experts who have been investigating the scholastic work here.

Dr. Thomas F. Cain, president of Olivet College, Michigan, and Professor C. M. McClun, of the University of Illinois, made a report on the work they have conducted at the University, investigating the scholastic standards and methods of teaching.

The committee is composed of R. G. Gordon, chairman; J. I. Lyle, Senator Froman, Dr. J. A. Ammons and J. W. Turner. The hearings will probably continue thruout the week.

BOSTON EDITOR SPEAKS IN CHAPEL THURSDAY

A. E. Winship Talks on "The Aim of University Education"

"PLAN FOR FUTURE"

"Education depends on the intelligence one has in using what he knows and what he doesn't know when coming into an emergency, and the aim of the University is to develop intelligence in students," said A. E. Winship, of Boston, editor of the Journal of Education, speaking to the student body in chapel last Thursday morning on the subject, "The Aim of University Education."

"Intelligence is the horse power of your machine. It is the thing which you have at your command when you need it." The function of the University is to tell people where to go to get information that is reliable. No one who doesn't get the latest and most authentic information can be a success in life.

The secret of success consists in doing the right thing at the right time, the speaker said. To know how to do this one must have intelligence. One of the principal things that a college teaches is to know what to do at the right time. One comes against propositions every day which he never encountered before. The persons who overcome them are the ones who have intelligence.

Progress spells success. People have just come to realize that what one does yesterday is of no value; it is what one expects to do tomorrow that is important. The only reason that people did not have the same inventions and comforts in 1817 that we now have in 1917 is that the learned men of that time spent their time on their grandfathers instead of thinking of some way to benefit their grandchildren.

Chaldea, Egypt, and the rest of the Ancient World occupied their time instead of studying some method to combat disease. No one could qualify as a man of brains if he did anything for humanity; it was beneath the dignity of a scholar. They were looking backward, not forward.

The speaker said that he was impressed with the fact that the men who fire the cannon on battleships are twenty feet below the deck and never see the target at which they are aiming. They are directed in their firing by two men who are in the rigging and who, by means of electrical appliances, tell them where to put the cannon in vertical and in horizontal. Their work consists in getting the swell of the sea and directing the firing of the cannon when the ship gets on the level.

The function of the faculty is analogous to the duty of the men in the rigging. They tell how to get the swell of time. Every one must aim,

GIRLS TO EDIT THE KERNEL NEXT WEEK

The Girls' Issue of the Kernel will appear next week with Eliza Piggott as editor-in-chief and Mildred Graham as managing editor, assisted by a staff composed entirely of girls.

Those who want the news will not be disappointed in this number, but as this is the one time in the year when the feminine portion of the University really has the opportunity of getting in the last word, part of this issue will be devoted to any complaints which may be forthcoming from representatives of the co-ed body.

Squirrel Food next week will be edited by Eliza Spurrier, who promises several rare bits. The other members of the staff already selected are Martha Buckman, Margaret Wilkinson, Edna Smith, Mary Ricketts and Miriam Horine.

OFFICERS' TRAINING OFFER IS ACCEPTED

Adjutant-General Wires That Corps Is Established

FAIRFAX INSTRUCTOR

The War Department's acceptance of the University's offer to establish a reserve officers' training corps at the University of Kentucky was received last week by President Henry S. Barker from Adjutant-General McMain. The following telegram was received from the War Department: "Bulletin issued establishes infantry unit senior division officers' training corps at your institution."

At present it is uncertain when the military course will be instituted at the University. When it was decided by the authorities to establish the course, it was that it would go into effect in September, at the beginning of the next school year, but Captain John C. Fairfax, commandant at the University, in an interview said that receipt of further instructions from Washington may result in its establishment sooner.

Captain Fairfax, who will be in charge of the reserve officers' training corps, will be assisted in the instruction by members of the cadet battalion. The corps was authorized at a meeting of the executive committee of the Board of Trustees a few weeks ago, and the acceptance by the War Department places the University in line with the other large universities of the country.

A complete course in military science, both theoretical and practical, will be given, and graduates will be assigned to temporary duty as second lieutenants, pending permanent details. Military training will be secondary during the first and second years, but in the last two years it will be a major subject.

VOLUNTEER COMPANY IS ORGANIZED BY CO-EDS

Seventy-five Present For First Drill Monday Night

TO MEET REGULARLY

"Company, Attention!" The command rang out as clearly as it ever sounded to seasoned veterans on the battlefield, and seventy-five of the University's fair co-eds came to attention before the commandant. The time was Monday night, the place, Buell Armory, and the girls, as said before, seventy-five of the University's most patriotic daughters, assembled for instruction in signalling and first-aid work.

For discipline the commandant decided to devote the first lessons to drilling, "just like the boys do." Those who came for a lark soon settled down to real work as the commandant and his cadet officers put them thru the simple movements of "About face!" and "Halt, one, two!" Visions of squad drill inflicted by the Dean on Saturday afternoons flitted thru the brains of the frivolous ones, but their giggles changed to anxious looks at the commandant, who refused to crack a smile. For an hour and a half they worked, and just as they were beginning to feel like real soldiers they heard the magic sound, "Fall out."

The company of girls will learn drill movements, Red Cross, signal corps and first-aid work, and will participate in other training that will make them prepared to take up actual service whenever needed.

Regular drill will be held in Buell Armory and practice in telegraphic signalling and other branches of signal corps work will be given. First-aid work will be taught both by Captain Fairfax and Dr. J. W. Proyer. The young women will be trained in the primary course in Red Cross nursing in connection with the training.

The girls' company was formed by Dean Hamilton, who is of the opinion that women as well as men should bear the burden of the great world war, and that they owe it to their country to be trained and ready when the call comes.

Officers of the battalion will be assigned to assist in teaching the girls to drill. The Home Economics Department is co-operating with the military science officers in training the girls for war-time activities that will be useful to the country.

TAX EXPERT ADDRESSES STUDENTS TUESDAY NIGHT

Alfred N. Chandler, representing the Single Tax Service League of New York, addressed the student body in chapel Tuesday evening on the subject, "Single Tax and Economic Preparedness." Mr. Chandler is making a tour of the universities and colleges of the South and West.

NORTHERN LADS TAKE MEASURE OF WILDCATS

Score 2 to 0—Grubbs Is Hero of Miami Fracas

TENNESSEE DEFEATED

After the stellar Wildcat stickers had trimmed Tennessee by the shut-out route and minced Miami five to a bedraggled one, Illinois came along Monday afternoon and tendered the wearers of the Blue and White their first setback of the 1917 season by winning from them by the score of 2 to 0.

The brace of tallies came in the initial stanza. Remembering that catastrophic inning McClellan probably went to his room and dreamed that he was an interned German liner being hacked to pieces by members of the crew. The game started off propitiously when the lead-off man succumbed to Mac's twisters, but Wildcat stock took a downward swoop with safeties by the next two on the list, supplemented by a sacrifice fly to center and a poor throw to the plate by Waters.

It wasn't so much the hits made off McClellan, who had been a regular Verdun up to Monday's contest, that counted, as the bases on balls given and the poor support, at times, of the infield. Klein, the stocky Illinois hurler, also had a little something to do with the defeat of the Kentuckians. Nemo, as he was called in entreaty by his brethren, pitched ruthless ball. He permitted three hits, struck out eight men and gave but one free ticket.

The home team had its one chance in the second inning when both Parks poled safeties and "Rob Willie" Rodes walked. With one man retired, Propps, under conditions similar to those of the fabled Casey, advanced to the rubber. Like Casey, he returned to the bench. Mac ended the spurt by rolling an easy one to the boxman.

Taking sure fielding ability and classy stops in every game to date into consideration, Cambron, second

CADET BAND LEADS FRANKFORT PARADE

The Cadet band of the University, under the leadership of Professor Lawrence A. Cover, journeyed to Frankfort last night and took part in a patriotic demonstration, at which Governor Stanley delivered the principal address. The band headed a great parade from the business section to the State Capitol, where the speaking was held in the Chamber of the House of Representatives. The Kentucky lads left Lexington at 5:30 o'clock on a special interurban car and returned the same evening.

Saturday night the band and members of the battalion will act as escorts for the Governor in the parade and demonstration to be held on Chesapeake in Lexington.

PROF. CANNON OFFERS SERVICES TO COUNTRY

German Instructor Asks To Be Enlisted As An Interpreter

IS LOYAL AMERICAN

The report gained some circulation in ill-informed quarters among students that Professor Harry Cannon and others connected with the Department of Modern Languages of the University were German sympathizers and had formed a club of such sympathizers in the University.

The Kernel hastens, of its own volition, to correct this ridiculous rumor and assure its readers, that, while Professor Cannon does teach German in the University, was educated in Germany, and admires the German people as a people, there is not on the campus a more loyal American citizen. The fact is that within twenty-four hours after America's break with Germany, Professor Cannon went to the recruiting station here and offered his services as an interpreter and asked to be enlisted. The station, however, had no instructions at that time to enlist interpreters, but took his name for future reference.

VOLUNTEER COMPANY DRILLS ON CAMPUS

Volunteer Company No. 2, which was organized by Judge Samuel M. Wilson and Clinton M. Harbison, holds drill on the University campus two nights a week. About sixty men were out at the first meeting.

The plan of the company, which is being instructed by Captain John C. Fairfax, is to meet on Friday night for verbal instruction in drill and foot and squad movements and to put the instruction into practice on the following Tuesday night.

CHEM SOCIETY HOLDS FORTIETH MEETING

The Lexington section of the American Chemical Society held its fortieth regular session in the assembly room of the Experiment Station yesterday afternoon. The following program was carried out:

"Glass, a Review," by W. D. Iler;
"A Report of Some Sulphur Experiments on Different Soils and Crops," by O. M. Shield; "Notes on the Determination of Heroin and Its Salts," by L. A. Brown.

The Miami-Kentucky Game.

If it had not been for the pitching of "the pride of Mt. Sterling" (Tommy Grubbs), and the timely swatting of Curt Park, the game with the Miami bunch would have been an uninteresting contest. For the Wildcat team, collectively, had their opponents entirely outclassed.

With the 5-to-1 victory for Grubbs came the honor of whiffing fourteen of Miami's willow swingers and pitching a three-hit game.

Curt brought in four runs of the five when he made a couple of slivering slashes to the outfield. The other run was made in the closing chapter when the captain attained first on an error, torpedoed his way around the bases and scored on a wild pitch.

CHILDREN GIVEN EGG HUNT AT PATT HALL

With more than twenty-seven dozen eggs and with more than seventy-five children from the Associated Charities and from homes of our foreign neighbors, Patterson Hall yard became a veritable park Saturday afternoon as the youngsters skipped about seeking the eggs which the bunny had so carefully hidden from view. Many of the mothers attended the party and seemed to enjoy themselves as much as the kiddies. Some of the older boys who had outgrown such games as "frog in the middle," and the like, were taken down to the bridge upon Kastle Walk where they vied with one another in the skipping of rocks.

The party was given by the Y. W. C. A. and is one of its annual entertainments. The planning was under the Social Service Committee of which Miss Eliza Piggott is chairman this year and the girls of the committee and of the association as a whole aided both in the donating of eggs and in the entertaining.

That great big one was marked up when Else sacrificed perfectly toward the third corner in the fifth and scored Cambron.

The Volunteers appeared dangerous several times during the latter part of the engagement but were never able to bingle when a hit meant a run. Bolstered up by the finished work of the supporting field, McClellan wiggled himself out of several narrow quarters. Turner, the Volunteer pitcher, also served up an assortment of twisters that were almost as unsolvable as the Springfield brand.

It was thanks to Calloway, the elongated shortstop, that Stoll Field was not turned into a slaughter pen. The lengthy short field man attempted and succeeded in gobbling up grounders extraordinary. Cambron, the Kentucky keystone man, did some praiseworthy field work on the other side of the diamond.

McClellan struck out three Volunteers and a similar number of Wildcats dented the breeze during the reign of Turner. Mac passed four men; Turner pensioned only one Wildcat.

TIME FOR SIGNING UP FOR ANNUAL EXTENDED FEW DAYS

The time for signing up for a Kentuckian, which should have expired last Friday, has been extended several days by the management in order to give the students a last opportunity to secure an annual. The books have already gone to press and all have been engaged with the exception of about fifty, which the business manager expects to be reserved before the end of the week.

The subscription price of the year-book is $2.50, of which $1.00 has to be paid now. Subscriptions are being taken only by Miss Nancy Innes and by members of the annual staff. A number of students have promised E. E. Kelley to take a book from him, but he is no longer in the contest, and unless these promises are supplemented with the required deposit no book will be reserved for them.

Many students have paid twenty-five cents extra to have their names stamped in gold on the cover. The annuals are now on the press and after this week it will be absolutely impossible for the staff to take more orders for this work.

The final proof sheets were read last week and the book is completed. The printers have promised to have the books ready by May 1 or very shortly after, and the annual will be on sale almost a month earlier than usual.

Frank Street is editor-in-chief of the 1917 Kentuckian and composing his staff are some of the most brilliant writers in the University. Much time and labor has been expended in order to make the book this year surpass any previous publications, and from what those who have seen the proof sheets say, their efforts have been successful.

DR. HEALY SPEAKER AT THE AG SOCIETY

New life and enthusiasm was instilled into the Agricultural Society at the rally and get-together meeting held in the Agriculture Building Monday night. Dr. Healy, of the Experiment Station staff, spoke. President Nance introduced Dr. Healy, whose subject was "The Independence of Character of Kentuckians."

Dr. Healy told of the deeds and accomplishments of many famous Kentuckians and gave some interesting historical matter.

The prize offered for the best rural joke was not awarded but was set aside to be given to the one furnishing the best joke for the next issue of the "Rural Kentuckian." Many good jokes were "pulled" by the members, however, in answer to a call for volunteer jokes.

Gordon Nance and Ivan Clay Graddy made talks, encouraging freshmen and sophomores to join the society.

DEMONSTRATORS BEGIN TWO WEEKS' CONFERENCE HERE.

A two-weeks' conference of women county demonstrators was begun at the University Monday under the supervision of Mrs. Helen B. Wolcott, State home demonstration agent. About thirty are attending the conference. The rest of this week will be devoted to instruction work and next week the agents will be given laboratory practice.

Special demonstrations in bread-making will be given today and Friday and Saturday by experts from Washington. Demonstrations in making home cheese, jelly and various canned goods will also be given.

however, not at the level of his professors, but at his own level. The instructors are trying to teach the students how to get the swell of the world, into which they are going after graduation.

The speaker advised the students never to be "anti" anything, but to be "pro" everything. "Be constructive, not destructive," he said. It is not a sign of intelligence to abuse people whose point of view one can by no means get.

Mr. Winship closed his address by saying that he rejoiced that Woodrow Wilson was President of the United States in the country's most sombre moment. He said he did not vote for him, but that he was glad that the man whom he cast his vote for was not Chief Executive of the nation today for the reason that Mr. Wilson has had four years of intelligent practice.

Full Credit to Volunteers.

The Board of Trustees of the University this week offered to all students who desire to enlist at this time in the armies of the United States full credit for the semester's work, the same as if they had completed the course and taken final examinations. Any man who wishes to leave may, if he returns, take up his work without loss of credits for the latter half of the school year 1916-1917.

From a pedagogical standpoint the action of the board is questionable, but from a standpoint of patriotism it is what we would expect from Kentucky men. At a time like this, when men's souls are being tried and the united action of a great people is needed, no body should lift a finger to restrain men from preparing to defend their native land. The board offers to every man a chance to go without personal loss to himself, at least in his relations with the University. The board is to be commended.

But the Kernel, frankly, does not believe that it is wise for any student to desert his classes at this moment to enter the army. A month or two later will do just as well, and the added weeks of study will not injure him as a soldier. The War Department has not announced its full plans as yet. The President has not called a volunteer army to the colors, and it is more than doubtful that such an army will ever be called for. The indications are that the government will take those men whom it wants and not those whom it can get by calling for them. Universal service is the cry today, and no man need fear that he will not get his opportunity to serve.

In the meantime, training is the thing we need most. The University of Kentucky was recently designated as the location for a reserve army training corps, a place where officers may get preliminary training. The daily drill of the battalion and the volunteer companies on the campus gives every man a chance to make himself more fit. Let those who expect to take up arms against the enemies of freedom prepare themselves here for a month or two more.

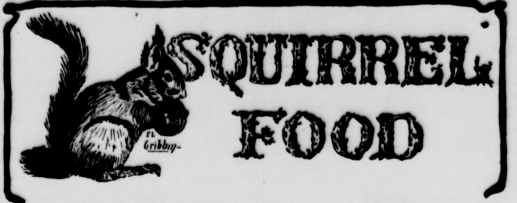

If press reports are trustworthy, the plans of the War Department do not call for active service of the American army for a year, or six months at least. Would it not be wiser for University students to remain here seven or eight weeks longer, making themselves ready? Their services will not be less appreciated or less needed in June than they are in April.

The Glee Club.

The University Glee Club will give its first concert of the year in the chapel next Tuesday night, and the Kernel wishes to impress on the students of the institution that the Glee Club deserves patronage both because it is a real University activity and because it has true artistry to present. The club has worked faithfully all year, and the best vocalists of the campus have been enrolled. The director, Professor Lawrence Cover, is a musician of ability and personality and under his leadership the false note has been chased to his lair far from the haunts of University of Kentucky students and harmony rules the roost. Professor Cover's success with the Cadet Band has been marked—in fact, this year's band has been said to be the best in recent years. It is the opinion of one who has been fortunate enough to hear several Glee Club rehearsals that his success with the club will be even greater.

Music at the University has had a hard time in the past two or three years, and now that competent leaders are directing the warblers of the campus the remainder of the students owe it to them and to the good name of the University to attend and hear the really excellent program that has been prepared.

One of the Jilted Brethren has suggested that the War Department should require two Red Cross corps of women to accompany each body of troops; one corps to minister to the wounded soldiers and one to minister to those of the first corps who faint while ministering to the soldiers.

First Ag: No, in effigy.
Second Ag: Well, that's a suburb of Boston, ain't it?

The writer of this colyum takes the opportunity to disclaim credit for writing the spring editorial which recently appeared in the Kernel. The editorial in question was so good that a great many persons have complimented us very highly on it.

One great advantage in drilling the co-eds lies in the fact that they will at last be taught to "dress" quickly.

Givenchy-en-Gohelle is the latest scene of battle on the Western front. From last reports Kaiser Bill is headed for the last syllable.

We hate to butt in, but it seems to us that it would be a fine plan to equip the co-ed military company with brooms and feather dusters until the War Department finds out that they are drilling and rushes them some real equipment.

According to the latest reports the investigating committee has investigated thoroly the various brands of Kentucky corn whiskey and pronounces them excellent. The results will not come out in printed form as the mass of information obtained is too great to be handled conveniently.

TENNIS PLAYERS TO HAVE USE OF COURTS

Two of the tennis courts in front of the Civil Building have been put in shape and all men who would like to try out later in the spring for the Varsity team are urged to go out now and get in shape. Dr. Tigert announces that he will not be able to give any instruction himself until May 1, but that a great deal of good practice can be secured by men who go out of their own initiative. It is probable that Professor Fred Loomis, who is a tennis shark, will assist with the coaching.

Captain Howard Kinne and Paul Anderson, of last year's Varsity, will be on hand again, and with a large number of new men out the prospects for success in the meets this year will be bright. A tournament will be held in the next few weeks to decide the University championship. All those who desire to go out, or to use the courts at all, must join the Tennis Club. Dues of $1.00 may be paid to Homer Reid, Howard Kinne or Miss Doris Jennings.

GLEE CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT IN CHAPEL

The Boys' Glee Club of the University will give a concert in chapel next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The program will consist of twelve regular numbers and four special numbers, consisting of quartets, readings and piano selections. An admission of twenty-five cents will be charged.

Under the direction of Professor Lawrence A. Cover, the Glee Club has made remarkable strides this year. Regular rehearsals have been held all during the year and for the last several weeks the club has rehearsed five times weekly. The Glee Club has been pronounced by competent judges to be the best ever turned out by the University.

Arrangements have been made to give a concert in Cynthiana on the evening of May 18 and the club has a tentative date in Frankfort. Officers of the organization are Clarence W. Harney, president, and David Glickman, secretary-treasurer.

FORTUNE SPEAKER AT JOINT "Y" MEETING

Should Expand In Spiritual World As Well As Intellectual

MUSIC IS FEATURE

"We never think of the Fourth of July without thinking of the American flag. We cannot dissociate Washington's birthday from the bunch of cherries and the hatchet and we cannot think of Lincoln's birthday without thinking of the log cabin, and so it is that all days of importance have a symbol connected with them and the symbol of Easter is not the bunny nor the egg, but I think it is the lily," said Dr. A. W. Fortune in his talk to the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening.

"Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow," said Dr. Fortune, "they grow mysteriously, they grow naturally and they grow gradually and a lesson may be gained in the study of this most beautiful flower for each boy and girl here this evening. It so often happens that in a University that the students grow along certain lines and do not develop along other lines.

"We want to grow in all directions as does the lily. It does not merely put forth a bloom but it has a stalk and leaves and so we must grow not altogether in intellect as is the tendency, but we must also expand in the spiritual world. I have known several cases where the student has not developed in the spirit at all and in some cases he has returned home after his course in school even weaker in his religion. Young people, grow in your spiritual life.

Dr. Fortune continued by saying that education is a life work and that four years in college will not educate one but the man and woman must forever strive and learn all thru life in order to really live and be educated.

Bart Peak led the meeting and the girls' choir favored with several selections among which was the well-known "Palms" and at the end of the service led in the song "America."

MISS JEWELL ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF PHILOSOPHIAN.

Miss Frances Jewell entertained the Philosopher Literary Society with a "book party" at her home on Ashland Avenue Wednesday evening. Each guest was dressed to represent the title of a book, and brought with her a contribution for the Philosopher library.

The time was spent in guessing the titles, some of the costumes being very clever. "Hard Times" was represented by Miss Alma Bolser, who was decorated with a dozen or more alarm clocks of various sizes. The prize for the best costume was awarded to her by the vote of those present.

Miss Jessamine Cook won the prize for guessing the most titles correctly. She represented "The Land of Long Ago," in a dress of the Sixties. Miss Eyril Richmond was a miracle of rags and patches, as "It is Never Too Late to Mend." Miss Jewell was the very picture of unhappiness, as with swollen jaw and limping feet she pictured "Misery and Its Causes."
