Pres. James K. Patterson,
Lexington, Ky.

Dear Sir:

My affairs have developed in such a way, that I deem it best to write you at this time, in regard to the position in the station.

Pres. Randolph of Charleston Coll. wrote me that the election there would occur about the middle of the present month and I am daily expecting to learn the result. I know there are several strong applicants for that position, and that the result is doubtful, but I am still hopeful.

I have heard nothing from my application at Santa Ana, California; and so I do not know what to look for, from it.

My reason for writing you at this time, is, that I am practically offered a position in a small college at Drexler, Texas, and I will have to accept, or refuse it, within the next ten days. The salary is small and the work not very desirable. Failing in the position at Charleston I would much rather return to the State College than to go to any other place, I have in view, at this time I would accept the position at Drexler rather than have nothing to do,
