

Richmond, Indiana,
September 1, 1882.

Dear Sir;

I send you by mail today a copy of my work on "Military Science and Tactics," which I have just completed with a view to introducing it for use as a text-book at colleges having military departments. I intend using it at Carbondale, Ill., where I am on duty in charge of the ^{military department of the} Southern Illinois Normal University.

I will thank you to invite the attention of the Army Officer on duty at your Institution to this work, copies of which may be had from the Publishers, A. W. Reed & Co., 145 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md. at $2.00 per copy.

Please place the accompanying book in your college library, where the students can see it, after you have carefully examined it, and acknowledge receipt of the same to me at Carbondale, Ill.

Very respectfully
H. Reed

Lieut. U. S. Army.
