

CLEARING HOUSE

No Mention in Bad Mention We are not printing an honorary editorial in this issue. We thought it would be interesting to know many letters were received from the presidents justifying the organization's existence before committing the investigation ourselves.

Concerning "Life" Quite a number of discussions have arisen over the "Birth of a Baby" picture in "Life" magazine. The letter received yesterday from M. H. stated that the four pages devoted to the picture had been deleted from the magazine in the library.

The University Library has found, from sad experience in the past, that the University of Kentucky is shown in "Life" under the caption "The Birth of a Baby" cannot be left on open shelves because of a desire to withdraw anything from readers, but because of an irresistible desire on the part of students to appropriate such material.

A New Name The senior class of the Vernon, Texas, Negro high school, after considerable thought, has decided on a new class play. The lead role has not been cast. The play "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" is being considered.

Enter Final On May 14, Sukey will sponsor the annual final parade. This year, to make a larger and better parade, the parade is being given to the organizations enter the contest. If any campus groups desire their interest, a separate award will be given to the winner of the organization.

An Evie Feeling Here is one to think about. "At the top of the parade, a man in a suit and overcoat was stolen. I say stolen because there was in fact a mix-up, but he would not surely have been left in a place of mine. I also know of another student's coat, which was stolen, and I have heard of similar cases of theft at earlier dances this year.

Social Degenerates It certainly isn't a pleasant thing to do. But at the same time, the best colleges look their buildings after a certain time. Professors have papers, money is kept in safes, and rare college treasures are stored in cabinets. What about the institutions like to do but what they have found to be necessary.

Pleasant Fasting And now, according to Dr. Sherman, of the physiology department, latest experiments on animals reveal that the one alternative to a deficient and a well-balanced diet lives longer than the animal fed in other words we are eating ourselves to death—saying it.

Continued to clip the Kentucky Student Union constitution, because such as human nature remains the same, it will be up for discussion next year. Those who have wondered about the "rehabilitation" charged at the Book Store would do well to read the editorial dealing with that subject. Also included is a needed recognition of the College and its past.

Too seldom do we realize the excellent work this college is contributing to the life of the agricultural state of Kentucky.

Theory Plus Practice

At the time approaches for graduation, and the ultimate surge of college-trained men and women into the world looking for jobs, a project instigated three years ago by students at Grinnell College, Iowa, proves worthy of consideration.

The follow-up of a course in vocational study at the college, this job survey project includes plans for an annual trip to Chicago. Once in the city the students gather at a hotel to plan their daily interviews. Then they scatter to seek information from bankers, lawyers' offices, big industrial plants, and key professional men.

Meeting a big employer and discussing with him some of the real difficulties of a job is a new experience for many students.

Questions are asked about employee training programs, qualities which employers desire in the modern college graduate, and information on employment trends. They gather again at the end of the day to discuss the methods of approach which brought favorable results from business men.

On returning, these reports are disseminated among the students who did not make the trip.

When college students, looking for jobs, first face the down-to-earth atmosphere of a business office and are turned away, too often they lose hope. Since no bed of roses awaits the average individual in applying for a position, a combination of practical theory with practical experience in college should make for a more thorough preparation for after-school life.

Behind The Eckdahl

By ANDREW C. ECKDAHL

WE READ WITH INTEREST Mr. George Lamason's recent item concerning his proposed improvement on typewriters. We have been associated with typewriters for something like four years, more or less, and no matter how gently and considerately we treat a machine it sooner or later gets the better of us.

Now take this typewriter we're using. For the last three years we haven't been able to type a letter on the fifth of the month, as the five key sticks. It's not just an ordinary stick. Our five key is stuck so bad that you would have to hit it with a hammer to get any results. We tried having it cleaned and adjusted, but it does no good—the key will work until the fifth of the next month and then it is stuck again.

A columnist friend of ours once bought a new typewriter. He hadn't used it more than a month before the "I" key was stuck fast, which made the machine useless as far as our friend was concerned.

Something should also be done about typewriter ribbons. Every time we attempt to change a ribbon, it slowly but surely becomes unwound from the spool and winds around us. Once, while alone at home we tried to change a ribbon. We ended up tied to our chair and had to remain status quo for five hours and 37 minutes until the family returned and cut us free.

WOMAN DRAWS SENTENCES

TOTALING 500 YEARS

—Headline in Lexington Herald

(Quite an article, we'd say.)

While scanning the exchange papers the only day we happened to run across the following bit of doggerel:

I love a Kappa Kappa, I am very very happy, I overlook her mappa, I'm no sappa. Inspired by the sentiment of the poem, we immediately sat down and dashed off:

I love a Kappa Delta, Although she looks like helia, For her father does right wellta, He owns a bank.

SUDDEN SINISTER THOUGHT:

There are only 33 more school days until final exams.

Mr. Forrest Barker writes as follows: "After seeing a run in a pair of those new red colored stockings repaired successfully by the application of some lipstick just under the parted threads, I am led to believe that women prefer the reddish hue because they can save the embarrassment of a run and ruin the vision of nearby males at the same time."

Add definition of a hick town. We suspect this one comes from Walter Winchell too. "A hick town is a place where if a girl goes out with a man old enough to be her father she is his daughter."

"Collapsible mental chairs were in use during the middle ages." —The Winchester Sun (Seats of learning, no doubt.)

The Constitution Of The Ky. Student Union

(Adv. note: The second installment of the Student Union Constitution as approved by the student union committee and submitted to President McVey and the Board of Trustees for final approval follows. The remainder of the constitution will appear in subsequent issues of The Kernel.)

ARTICLE IV: MANAGEMENT

Section 1. A. The Board of Directors: Membership. The management of the Kentucky Student Union shall be vested in the hands of the Union Director and the Board of Directors, which shall be subject to the control of the President of the University of Kentucky.

B. Term. The full term of each student and each faculty director and officer shall begin at the beginning of the school year in September and shall continue for one school year. The new directors and officers during the year of their election shall sit with the then existing Board of Directors at its last two (2) regular meetings. Directors and officers selected to fill vacancies shall be installed at the first meeting of the Board following the selection.

C. Powers and Duties. The Board of Directors shall receive, review, and make recommendations of the Union budget submitted by the Union Director and the President of the University. This said budget shall be controlled and administered by the Board of Directors at its discretion in performing the policies and operations of the Union in so far as it does not exceed the authority as prescribed in this constitution.

The Board of Directors shall prepare and administer by laws and house rules by such by-laws or house rules or other wise, the Board of Directors and the Union Director shall govern the activities and conduct of members, guests, visitors, and organizations in the building. The Board of Directors may expel or suspend members upon due notice and a public hearing, deny the privileges of the building, and impose other penalties or conditions which it may consider to be necessary to enforce its by-laws, house rules, or other orders. The Board of Directors, by a majority vote, may recommend the dismissal of any student employee under the supervision and jurisdiction of the Union Director.

The Board of Directors, by a majority vote, may recommend the dismissal of the Union Director. The Board of Directors shall set up and operate an office in the Student Union Building. The Board of Directors shall exercise all powers and duties. In keeping with its authority, not herein especially assigned.

D. Meetings and Quorum. The Board of Directors shall meet at least once each month during the school year and at such special meetings as the President of the Board of Directors may call, or at the call of any other three (3) directors.

E. Voting Power. The voting power shall be vested exclusively in the thirteen (13) active directors. Any active director may vote by a written general proxy.

Section 2. A. Officers of the Board of Directors. The officers of the Board of Directors shall be constituted as follows: President, Vice-president, Secretary and Treasurer. These offices shall be chosen from the student members of the Board of Directors.

B. The President of the Board of Directors. The President shall preside at the meetings of the Union, and at the meetings of the Board of Directors. He shall be an ex-officio member of all committees of the Union. He shall receive recommendations for members of committees from the Board of Directors and shall appoint all committees of the Union with the approval of the Board of Directors. He shall perform all other duties and exercise all powers in keeping with this office not herein especially assigned.

C. The Vice-President of the Board of Directors. The Vice-president shall assume the duties of the President in the event of the President's absence. He shall succeed to the office of President in case that office becomes vacant during the regular term.

D. The Secretary of the Board of Directors. The Secretary shall keep an accurate record of the proceedings of all meetings, both general meetings of the Union, and also meetings of the Board of Directors. He shall issue the certificates and notices, and shall perform all other duties, which are prescribed in other sections of this constitution, and duties in keeping with this office not herein especially assigned.

E. The Treasurer of the Board of Directors. The Treasurer shall perform only those duties as regards his office as specified and directed by the Board of Directors.

Who's Who-ey

By DIDI CASTLE

While battling this out, the fact that vacation begins tomorrow hits us smack in the puss—right between the eyes. It's a shock. "Gee, it's a shock," says the last! Leaflets, flowerlets, treelets, and freckles tell us that it is about time a holiday took it upon itself to arrive. Also mid-semester exams, quizzes, and whatnots—whatnot counting quite a bit. We can begin to mumble nothings about how short a time we are allotted in which to enjoy the caprice of Mother Nature, but something is better than nothing at all. Let's enjoy this sweet interlude in the memory of our schooling to its utmost. Our good wishes follow you all wherever.

SPRINGING through with their social splash of the year, the PiKaps capped the pre-holiday festivities with a neat swing session in the gym Saturday night. With a good crowd, effective lights, and very danceable music, the boys from Transylvania way put forth one of the best of the better terpsichorean tangles of the year. The band seemed to please, the lights were not too bright, everything went very smoothly.

Perhaps the climax of the night came when Pee-Wee, a small colored boy with the band, captured the crowd with a rendition of Ted Lewis' old plug, "When My Baby Smiles At Me." Beaming, bowing, the little ducky set the crowd to whistling, cheering, stomping for an encore. The applause was probably the greatest given any performer at the gym this year. It was ironical to remember that Paula Stone, highly touted performer at the Military Ball, had difficulty in drawing half the ovation from the crowd that the unknown, unheralded little negro got without effort. Which proves that fickle is the mob, and that personality is a strange, elusive quality.

Climatic conditions have become decidedly disturbing lately. As changeable as the proverbial feminine mind, the atmospheric offerings of the past two weeks have been a distinct disappointment for a section representative of the supposedly sunny south. The weather man, apparently unmindful of the plight of the suffering student, who goes to bed each night, not knowing whether, on the morrow, he shall bedeck himself in white flannels or long handles, keeps dealing out a brand of hot-cold weather that reminds us of last season's Wildcat football squad. Diastrophs to personal complacency was the spring snow that we endured last Saturday. Refreshing was the Sunday morning clemency. After a miserable week of rain, snow and sleet, the Sabbath sunshine gave a much needed lift to spirits which had begun to sag beneath the buffeting of such a temperamental display of seasonal instability.

Warm sunshine and mild breezes drew the collegians once more into the open; talk turned to picnics, camps, swimming parties, hikes and fishing. Last summer's experiences were again brought down from the mental attic and dusted off. Reminiscence bursting briefly through this puff of spring, brought memories of the sight of moonlight on the lake, the smell of pine woods and camp fire, the feel of hot sun on wet backs, the small of locusts and freshly cut grass. Summer dances and house parties were revived, and the assignments, fendishly imposed and antagonistic to the pursuit of happiness for the student, suffered for want of attention.

Coincidental with this seasonal rejuvenation is the prospect of the

"TOBACCO GROWERS FAVOR CAMELS FOR THEIR SMOKING!" - is the majority opinion in a survey of successful, well-known tobacco planters

"How about it, Joe, do you find that Camels are different from other cigarettes?"

"Any all-cigarettes-are alike talk doesn't jibe with my experience. There's a big difference. I've smoked Camels steadily for 5 years, and found that Camels is the cigarette that agrees with me, in a lot of ways. Good taste. Mildness. Easy on the throat. And Camels don't give me jumpy nerves. Like a lot of people I know, I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

BILL GRAHAM, seeing Joe DiMaggio pull out Camels, asked his opinion on smoking. Joe answered: "There's a big difference between Camels and others. You, too, will find in Camels a matchless blend of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic."

"Last year I had the dandiest crop ever," says Mr. Roy Jones, another experienced planter who prefers Camels. "I smoke Camels because I know they bid higher and pay more at the auction for the choice lots of leaf tobacco. They paid the highest price I ever got from anybody. Considering that Camels use finer, costlier tobacco, it's not surprising that Camels is the leading cigarette with us planters."

Mr. Harold Craig, too, bases his preference for Camels on what he knows about the kinds of tobacco that go into the various cigarettes. "I get the check—so I know that Camels use more expensive tobacco. Camel got the best of my last crop. That holds true with most planters I know, too. You bet I smoke Camels."

Calling 'Em Wild

By JOE CREASON

FROM the waters of the Eastern Kentucky Teachers College swimming hole Saturday emerged the Wildcats, third time champions among Kentucky's intercollegiate swimmers, and once again the commonwealth's aquatic crown rested with the state university that does not own a swimming pool.

A wave of five firsts, added with a generous dash of seconds and thirds, washed 73 points onto the Blue column of the scorer's sheet. Eastern pulled to second position with a total of 32 markers, trailed by Berea with 28 and Morris, alias Morehead, with 11. During the lapse of time required for the water fiesta, seven state records were discarded and redecorated with better ones.

The first hint of the rebellion against records was sounded in the afternoon preliminary heats when Jim Scott led the 150-yard back stroke field through their act to the unprecedented tempo of 1:58.5, shattering his own state low of 1:59.9, clocked last week against Eastern. This tempo orally assailed the wrath of the record-hunters and the uprising receded. With the opening event of the evening's program — came the revolution and from that point to the end of the spectacle, record times were annihilated with monotonous regularity.

Records Tumble
The time for the 300-yard medley relay was first revamped by amphibious Cats Hillenmeyer, Hinklebein and Tiptlett with an excursion over the water's turl of 3:37.4. Next Begley of Berea paced the 220-yard freestyle to a record with a watch recording of 2:50.7. In order behind the Mountainer were Reid, Huber and Spears of the Blue clad clan. Morris, the Morehead team, showed his contempt for records by hitting a new low in the 100-yard free style of 2:43. Dickman of Eastern finished the most graceful form to capture the proffered diving points, outscoring Cats Curtis and Sharr, who captured second and fourth places, respectively.

The remainder of the events were topped by Kentucky, all in record time. Lloyd Ramsey took the 100-yard free style in 37.3 followed by Frank Roberts. Scott annexed swimming back stroke points and even though his time was above the winning's presentation, bettered the old state mark. Hillenmeyer stroked to a second in this event, Hinklebein demonstrated his superiority over the 200-yard breaststroke entrants with a time of 2:37.4, slicing a generous portion off his own former record time. To conclude the tournament, the team of Davis, Reid, Ramsey and Roberts bested the record time with a clocking of 4:08.6.

Swimming's Future
It seems the height of irony that the team who captured the championship every year since the affair was inaugurated in 1926, should be the only team without a pool for rehearsal. Kentucky's victories over such teams as Georgia Tech and Loyola, during the campaign just closed, definitely proved the Cats are capable of competing in big-time company, yet the reality of a pool here on the campus is no nearer than when the first trail-blazing squad thumbed its way to Richmond for a practice dip back in 1925. If swimming is to succeed as an inter-collegiate activity some arrangements must be brought about for a practice site nearer to home. Although the teams that have stroked with the Blue colors during the three years of the sport's local existence, have been possessed with a pioneer urge; how much longer may we expect the mermen trapped the Cats by 17-1 in Kentucky's first intercollegiate venture, Cincinnati was barely outscored by the polecat team. Kentucky will have its last chance to break onto the winning side of the ledger this season when the Vanderbilt Commodores sail into the Alumni gym for a return match. In a previous Nashville meet, the Commodores outscored the Cats to win by 6-3 in full bouts. As Vanderbilt does not sport a saber team, the Cincinnati start climaxed the saber squads season. The Vanderbilt meet will be held in the afternoon and will afford local fencing enthusiasts their first chance to see intercollegiate competition.

UK TRACK TEAM SUFFERS BLOW; STAR INELIGIBLE

The individual results of the Kentucky fencers were: Brockenridge won 2 and lost 1; Beasley won 2 and lost 1; Hayes won 2 and lost 1; Robbins lost three matches.

SWIM TEAM

The University track team hopes for another undefeated season were handed a sickening blow Saturday when Dave Rogan, distance runner supreme, was declared ineligible due to scholastic illness, making him out of the team for the year.

Holder of the Southeastern conference record times for the 880 and 1 mile runs, Rogan had been expected to coach Lee Rupert to pick up enough points in the quarter, half and mile races to pull Kentucky through to several light wins over the schedule's opposition. The ineligibility came as a result of his failure to make up a required 7 of a credit and now there is apparently no chance of the lagging credit being made up.

A Middleboro High school graduate, Rogan is easily the greatest runner to attend the University. As a sophomore he shattered the time for the Southeastern conference mile and last year returned to lower his own time in the event and to establish a new low for the half-mile trip. His present time for the mile stands at 4:16.3 and his half-mile clocking is 1:54. His brilliant running has attracted nationwide attention and this winter netted him an invitation to compete in the annual Sugar Bowl relays with the nation's best milers, but he refused stating he was not in proper condition to enter.

Last year against Vanderbilt Rogan placed first in the half mile, and two-mile runs. In the dual meet with Tennessee he captured first place points in the half and two-mile events and second in the mile, the first collegiate mile race he ever lost, allowing his team-mate, Heiland, to pass him on the last lap. Against Berea he hit it first in the half and mile.

To Coach Rupert, the loss meant the weakening of his team by possibly 50 per cent on the verge of his first meet with Vanderbilt April 16.

Geologists Leave For Field Study
Accompanied by Dr. A. C. McFarlan and Paul Averitt, a group of 14 students left Friday afternoon, to study geology formations in the vicinity of Caldwell and Hopkins counties.

A study was made of formations exposed at Walch's Cut, at Klaxon Station in Caldwell county, and the Empire Fault at Crofton, Hopkins county. Sections of a petrified tree stump donated to the Geology Museum were secured at Central City, in Multnomah county.

home economics, told of the procedure for organizing and conducting a consumer co-operative.

The nation aspects of the migration of farm youth to the cities furnished the subject of a speech by Dr. E. L. Kirkpatrick, chairman of the youth advisory committee of the American Country Life Association. Rural youth should consider the present economic conditions of industrial centers before they leave the country for the cities, he pointed out.

Albert J. Olney, instructor in rural studies, discussed the state aspects of farm migration. Frank H. Smith, extension and teaching specialist in rural recreation, Berea College, led group games.

At a luncheon in the Commons, Howard F. Sharp, of the Illinois State Normal School, greeted the conference in behalf of the youth section of the American Life Association, of which he is president. Mary B. Kendall, University secretary of the national youth section, also spoke. Vivian and Millie Wilkerson of the home economics club led the group singing.

Forums on co-operation, farm migration and the use of leisure were held in the afternoon. A tea served by Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics fraternity, ended the conference.

Big Ten Squad is Reported To Be Powerful; Tough Battle Expected

While the University is enjoying its Easter holidays, the tennis team will open their 1938 schedule with an engagement on the Rose street courts with the Ohio State netmen starting at 10 a. m. on Saturday, April 16.

The Big Ten school is reported to have a strong outfit this year and the battle should be hot since the six men he will play.

Couch Downing said that he would select the contenders from this group of netters: Evans, Englehardt, Ragland, May, Holman, Bots, Foster, Cooley and possibly Bristow. These men have shown the best possibilities in training and may upset the Ohio State sextet.
