

STATE CONSIDERS SECOND SLICE IN U. OF K. BUDGET

Joint Appropriations Committee of Legislature Proposes Cut of $114,531 SALARY CUT PASSED BY EXECUTIVE BOARD

Reduction Is in Addition to 10 Per Cent Cut Already Made by School

The executive committee of the university met Wednesday morning in the office of the president to consider the recommendation of the university appropriation, proposed by the joint appropriations committee of the legislature.

The reduction in salary was inaugurated as a measure to meet the reduced income for this year, resulting from a decrease in the amount of interest on the various other sources of revenue for the university.

An additional cut of $114,531 in the university appropriation request, submitted by Pres. Frank L. McVey and approved by the budget commission, was revealed Tuesday when the complete report of the joint appropriations committee was read before the House of Representatives.

The new reduction is more than 16 per cent lower than the total appropriation for the university in 1931, and is an additional 10.3 per cent reduction voluntarily assumed on behalf of the university by Pres. Frank L. McVey when he discussed the budget with the state budget commission.

According to this report of the appropriations committee, the total amount allowed the university for all expenses is $1,298,000 which is $114,531 below the amount recommended by the state budget commission in its report to the joint appropriations committee.

Instead of the $1,010,000 asked by the university as a minimum for the general maintenance expenses, the joint appropriation committee set aside $940,469 in budget bill for the university.

Former Student Wins Book Prize

Robert W. Bowden, professor of social science, Youngstown College, Youngstown, Ohio, was a former student at the university. He is the winner of a $3,000 prize for a philosophical work, "In Defense of Tomorrow," according to Dr. F. Paul Anderson, dean of the College of Engineering, who has received a copy of the book.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By Ralph E. Johnson

There will be an unusual situation on next year's basketball team. Three castles will play—Yates, Johnson and Sale, and it is a sure bet that the three of them will be regular first stringers. Yates announced at the basketball banquet that he would be back fighting for a position on the team next year.

Yates will not have football to break him up next year and the months extra practice he will be able to get in on the hardwood floor will assure him of a position. Sale never did play football, so Rupp can depend on him to be out early. However, Ellis Johnson will have to play football up until Thanksgiving Day, and that will be enough of a set-back to cause him to step lively to displace the freshmen coming up, but he can do it.

Darby will experience the same difficulty, but probably more intensely. He has played forward this year, and at times his play was erratic—at other times sensational, but Dekfossey (no football there) will be fighting for a position. Dave Lawrence will be a worthy contender for one of the forward berths; Duth Kreuter will come in at the same time Darby does, but he cannot be neglected for that position. Competition, and might be the order of the day during next season—you can mark that down!

Wednesday night's basketball banquet was an interesting affair. It was not attended by as large a crowd as turned out for the football banquet, but no one there any ice or water-soaked biscuits. Seven-ty-five congenial persons were there and a good time was had by all.

Banquet Notes: The usually serious Gamage, Shively, and Monk Campbell chasing about with an electric hand shaking machine scaring "Daddy" Boles and some women folk most to death. Dr. McVey looked tired. Mrs. McVey was her usual benevolent self. Mrs. Gamage and Mrs. Shively think Coach Fribble has a mirth-provoking laugh... Gerald Griffin nearly had Niel Plummer embarrassed when he had the orchestra call for a special number. Several persons nearby agreed that J. Delmar Adams was easily the finest sports writer in the crowd. Miss Margie did her toastmaster act very well indeed. "Angie" Hale was not at ease as an after dinner speaker. Ellis Johnson on Kreuter. Bill Gess was in an unusually hilarious mood over something Bill said.

Any undertaking demanding strenuous activity or public appearance at this time of year is liable to ruin as a result of "flu." University high lost a game to the Blue Devils because Fisher, center, was too sick to play, but did. Rupp and his boys lost two games in 40 seconds by one point each as a consequence of the aforesaid malady. A cold Gulemoff theatre has resulted in some bad coughs, hoarse speaking voices, and sore throats. If the actors and actresses do not take care Director Fowler will suffer de-

State Considers Slice in Budget

(Continued from Page One) made in the $20,000 request for completing the library stacks; with the exception of a $500 cut in the allowance for agricultural instruction, the other items requested by the university were left intact.

The budget introduced Monday, by Representative Frank Adcock, Carrollton, chairman of the house appropriations committee, calls for a $2,262,500 reduction under expenses for 1931. The total reduction for the university amounts to $338,193.64.

The joint appropriations committee prepared its estimates of revenue for the next two years on the assumption that the 1 per cent sales tax, recommended by Governor Laffoon, would be passed. During the biennial period revenue from this tax would have amounted to $9,000,000, it was estimated, and the budget is to be balanced, the legislators must find some way to make up this amount within the next two years.

Measures at the university taken in an attempt to meet the reduction in income for this year include the closing of the university library at 9 o'clock in the evening instead of 10 o'clock and the closing of the science library during the evening. This measure goes into effect Monday, March 14, and represents a reduction in the number of working hours of student assistants.

'Pun High Form of Wit,' Says Professor

"Only educated and intellectual people enjoy puns," claims Professor Frank Prentice Rand, Massachusetts State College, poet and dramatist. In a lecture recently Professor Rand said that the pun is the highest form of wit, and the lowest. Those who groan at puns and who depreciate them as low forms of wit, usually are motivated by a "sour grapes" complex, he says. It takes the real development of mind to see the subtle connections of ideas and words.

CATHOLIC CLUB TO MEET

A special mass for members of the Catholic club of the university will be held at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning at St. Catherine's academy, 240 North Limestone street. After the mass, the club will hold a breakfast-meeting at the academy. Members of the regular monthly meeting usually held at the Lafayette hotel. All members of the club are requested to attend.

Blotto!

Psychologists say that in order to get rid of a habit it is necessary to remove the stimulus of the staff of the university library, distressed at the number of students who do not fill their pens at the main loan desk and in every reference room, has attempted to remove the stimulus which has resulted in some 120 million persons filling their pens annually at post offices. No longer will Kentucky graduates seek post offices. No longer will Kentucky graduates seek post offices for their ink; the stimulus developing such habits has been removed. It is hoped by the following sign placed on the bulletin board of the library: "Fill Your Fountain Pen at the Main Loan Desk—One Cent."

College Looks for Precocious Students

Northwestern President Hopes To Enroll Six in September

Northwestern university is on the lookout for precocious students. President Walter Dill Scott has announced that he hoped to admit into the university next September as many as six precocious youth who meet all the entrance requirements and who are only 13 to 15 years old.

Special provisions will be made to meet the needs of these superior students. "Our experience with precocious students has been satisfactory," said President Scott. "There have been so few of them, however, that they have lacked the stimulus that comes from cooperation and competition with equals. It is planned to have these six precocious freshmen live together and enjoy an environment favorable to them."

A letter has been addressed by President Scott to a selected list of high school principals appraising them of Northwestern's desire to add the precocious student.

By precocious, President Scott pointed out, it is implied an L. Q. of more than 130, or such youthful attainments as were characteristic of J. Ernest Bushman, who wrote Greek and Latin at the age of 5 and prepared to enter Oxford at the age of 12; Lord Byron, who began to write at 10 and was distinguished at 15; Benjamin Franklin, publisher of a newspaper at 17; Alexander Hamilton, a successful business executive at 15; Albrecht von Haller, German anatomist, who prepared a Chaldean grammar and 2,000 biographies of famous persons at 8; John Stuart Mill, who was proficient in higher mathematics at 8; W. A. Mozart, who performed and composed constantly from the age of 5; Napoleon Bonaparte, known as the "little mathematician" at the age of 8, and organizer and leader of the army; 14; James Watt, interested in higher mathematics at 6, and who began experimenting with steam engines at George Washington, a professional surveyor at 15.

RIOTS AT PRINCETON

Princeton is the college of riots. There has been a series of them from 1800 to 1930. Lengths of prayers, poor food, and unpopular presidents have been the excuses for some of them. The worst upheaval occurred in 1817 when the tutors were locked in their rooms and attacked with bricks and wooden bats.

Cold Weather Runs Spring Football Practice Indoors

Calesthenics Administered in Men's Gymnasium by Coaches

By Delmar Adams
King Winter returned to the campus long enough this week to cause a change in the spring football practice plans of coach Harry Gamage and his assistants.

While it is far too frigid to venture out to the board fence-enclosed practice field, the Cats have received their workouts just the same, being herded into the men's gym and put through various fundamentals and calesthenics to keep them in shape until the cool spell passes.

Wednesday the boys labored hard at lumbering up exercises under the watchful eyes of coaches Gamage, Miller, Pribble, Gibb, and Campbell. Most of the candidates are in excellent shape and have suffered no ill effects from the practices aside from sundry bruises and black eyes, which are to be expected in football.

Up until last week the team was given a long hard scrimmage every day and many of the men showed up well. Several "finds" have turned up in the Wildcat camp as in the case every year in spring practice. All are being groomed to take the places on the 1932 varsity of those men who departed via the graduation route. Among these are Bob Goodman, who seems to be a promising candidate for the vacated blocking back post. Parrish, varsity scrub of last year, has developed into a potential varsity end, and with his elusiveness and speed should be a great asset as a wingman.

This year's Wildcats will boast of a line that will be several pounds heavier on the average as six men from last year's front aggregation weigh in the neighborhood of 200 pounds. Rupert, Crowder, Boots, Cowherd, Crosby, Fish, Riley and Mountjoy, being the youthful behemoths. In addition Capt. "Bud" Up until last week the team was given a long hard scrimmage every day and many of the men showed up well. Survey of Sports Is Made by A-P

Although baseball is being pushed closely for its place as the leading American game by football, it is still the most outstanding of American games, according to a survey recently made in Cleveland by the Associated Press.

Golf was regarded as the next leading game. Other sports mentioned were basketball, horse racing, hunting, fishing, track and field, ice hockey, and tennis. According to the survey golf is the sport requiring the most skill, while baseball, tennis, billiards, and boxing next.

Davidson, 'Walrus' Seale, Bob Montgomery and Blevins from last year's varsity are all big men.

The backs are coming in for a major part of the attention this spring as the changes in the rules make their duties much more difficult. Although the linemen are being turned into elite gentlemen by the modification of their blocks and other rulings these posts still must be filled by big men and bigger men than heretofore.

Coach Gamage has many fine ball carriers on hand this year even after the departure of such stars as Richards, Kelly, Urbanick and Phipps. Kercheval's kicking and line-smashing should make him the foremost fullback in the south next fall. Bach, Foster, Cassidy, Asher, Jean, Miller, Nicholson and Goodman seem the best of the lot and a large amount of dependence is being placed on these men to give the 'Cats a great backfield in 1932.

The new system adopted by Gamage this year is one he has formulated from various well-known systems and original plans, but retains the old Warner or Zuppke formation with unbalanced line and a power-play backfield. It will not be unlike that of the Alabama teams at the university. About two or possibly three weeks more of practice will be held this spring before football logs are stored until next fall.
