CAMPUS NEED In view of the increase in enrollment and the prospects of being one of the largest universities in the South, Kentucky needs a Student Union Building.

With the aid of a Student Union Building it will be possible to establish a social center on the campus which will tend to break down the barrier between the members of social organizations and non-members.

For the past several years there have not been enough dates on the social calendar to enable every organization which desired to give a dance to sponsor such a function.

LONG AND SHORT OF DEFERRED RUSHING A growing movement for deferred fraternity rushing is steadily rising all over the country.

STUDENT POLITICAL THESIS We now have on this campus a Republican Club, organized last year, and a Democratic club organized this week.

Several plans have been suggested, but they may generally be divided into two classes. Some advocate the deferring of pledging for a whole semester or even a year.

spec for the wisdom of those in power. However, it is the duty of youth to criticize, to study, to discuss, and to "strut and fret their ghastly imitations of those in power."

We have just passed a national crisis. Our President has pointed out the need for fundamental change in finance, industry, commerce, agriculture, and government.

night and day

At last the battle week is over. Heard there were quite a few Pan-Hel meetings. That was to be expected. A lot of griping going on about the various phases of the past week.

Class elections due soon. Who is it going to be? Heard that an organized cheering section is going to be formed for the remaining home games.

and Jean Patt "Bat-Brain" Bell were awakened at five o'clock Saturday morning by a loud bang that started in pajamas in their room.

We are a little bit afraid that Sara Rounwall is off to had start at the University. She has been seeing an Avy. lot of Bunny Murray, and that's had enough of a start for anyone.

Hoi Polloi

After that lousy column last week, we hope that this is a bit better. With all of the sorority gals tearing their hair last week, we were a few smudges of dirt on our note paper.

The Chios say that the Tridlets were doing a little rushing. One Tridlet tells us that Deanewie Blanding gave 'em permission to do that. How many benches it seems that a pretty little gal named Charlotte Briggs had promised Chio, and that Saturday night Leridley Finley and Bud Hunt kept her away from Memorial Hall, where the rushes received their bids.

Jeff Baynham and Alice Coppage are married. Yep, they up and bled off to several towns around Lexington last week, and finally found a clerk that would give 'em a license. Congratulations to both of you.

Poor Lon Mary Lally was in town last week-end with her undertaker friend. Some say that they are going to be married in two months. Lon "Moose-Puss" McLoney is eating his heart out. He is trying to forget Mary by dating that keen froliche known as Barbara Wiley.

The Roses The first bouquet of the year goes to petite little Tridlet plebe Martha Alexander, who hails from Lexington. So get a pin, Martha, and wear this bouquet of roses around her campus for a few days. To Alphanag plebe Elsie Woodson, Chio plebe Margaret Folder, KD plebe Elizabeth, and Kappa plebe Virginia Alsop, we will say that you all came mighty close. Speaking of swell gals, what other University in the country has a group that will compete with this group? Fast horses and beautiful women, yes, but beautiful women should be in Italy.

Unexpected Visitor Martha Hall, Pauline Wilmott.

COME ON! COME DANCE!

Bob Salver, a Sigchi transfer from U. of Indiana, says that he'll have his pin on swell little Betty Bruce Nunn within a month. Betty Bruce was glad to hear this, and says that she's ready for it now, but that she may melt down the gold, for she needs some work done on a second molar.

Legal Stuff Prof. McVickers, in Business Law class, gives an assignment something like this. "I hereby duly stipulate that in the class, part of the first part, shall read ten pages each assignment during the fiscal year for me, party of the second part."

Complications The SAE boys inform us that Buddy Dallas has found the girl of his dreams. Upon an investigation we find that the girl is none other than Billy Holladay, and that J. Rice Walker has the jump on Buddy. Such is life in the big city!

Alumni News

By C. T. HERTZSCH, '38
Tom Riley of the class of '31 is one of NBC's many but well paid producers. His job is not performed at the microphone, but at the desk where, pencil in hand, he may cross out one of Lowell Thomas' lines or put a new one in. He is to radio what Zig Zigzag was to the Folies.

Joe Lee Davis '26 was in Lexington this week to attend the funeral of his father.
Mr. A. M. Kirby, '07, and Mrs. Kirby of Hong Kong, China, visited the campus this summer. Mr. Kirby is connected with the Standard Oil Company.

W. J. Foster of Stanley, Kentucky, was elected president of the Owensboro Alumni Club to succeed Earl Byran. This is one of the most active clubs in the state.

Alumni headquarters for the Ohio State game at Columbus will be at the Deslier-Wallick hotel. A space has been reserved in the lobby for the alumni to gather.

William S. Page is working in the Federal building in Everett, Washington. He intends to return to Kentucky in a few years. He hopes to find the old trails covered with concrete.

Orville Kirk Dyer of Buffalo, New York, is still with the Buffalo Forge Company, where he has been since graduation. His only son, William, is a junior in the College of Engineering this year.

Howard A. Hoeng, Chicago, Illinois, is now in charge of all river and harbor improvements of the southern end of Lake Michigan, including those at Waukegan, Chicago, Calumet Harbor, Indiana Harbor, and Michigan City. The work is now in progress at a cost of $4,000,000.

Thomas F. Now, retired farmer, Aberdeen, Ohio, is a new settler. His daughter, Juanita, entered the University this year.

C. H. D. Osborn, Westfield, New Jersey, is an officer in the United States Army. He was a recent visitor at the University Alumni office.

Stonewall Jackson, Plattsburg, New York, is an officer in the United States Army. He was a recent visitor at the University Alumni office.

GEORGE SOUGHT IN LEXINGTON

Long Series of Charges Facing Elusive Individual With Weakness For Fine Clothing

A mysterious man who has never been seen and about whom nothing is known, is being sought by the Lexington public. This elusive individual has the knack of effacing himself from the most embarrassing situations, and his quick get-aways have put the question on everyone's tongue—"Where's George?" "George" is wanted for leaving a farmer's daughter with a broken heart, for neglecting to pay for a broken store-front, and for countless other heinous actions. After each of these incidents, "George" has made a quick departure, a hurried escape. The only clue to "George's" whereabouts, so far as the Lexington public can gather, is that this mysterious man must have a weakness for fine clothing. Graves, Cox & Company report that "George" has purchased a new Kuppenheimer suit every day for the last eight days. The Lexington public will be rewarded for keeping a sharp outlook for "George" and, if he is seen outside of the clothing department of Graves, Cox & Company, the Kentucky Kernel should be notified immediately. A day by day account of "George's" escapes will be found every day in this newspaper.—Adv.

Random Notes On The Recent Xavier Operation

After talking out to Corcoran Field with Jimmy Mimer, Cincinnati Post football writer, and Frank A. Butler, Jr., Post football statistician, I was made to feel very unhappy when forced to dig down and pry to get in...

The football atmosphere was to be noted even before the tunnels were reached... it was just about five minutes before game time and everyone had had one idea...

After much argumentation with the door-keeper, who was very stubborn... we managed to get into the pressbox... and even then it took more phalantering than seemed necessary...

How many of you noted the odd fact that all the touchdowns were made by the team that was on the defensive at the time... which will probably not happen once in a 1,000 games...

An encouraging note... Langan Hay's machine-like precision in place-kicking three successive points after touchdowns...

Phil Bucklew, who did all the Xavier punting, put one out on the Kentucky three-yard line which traveled 56 yards...

...to buy an Arrow regimental stripe necktie. George has many close calls, but he calls these new three color regimental stripe neckties the last word in authentic University fashion.

Where's George? GRAVES-COX

...to buy an Arrow regimental stripe necktie. George has many close calls, but he calls these new three color regimental stripe neckties the last word in authentic University fashion.

and later saw Jimmy Moore, another Wildcat tennis star... who was dining and dancing... and a lot of co-eds around...

Just by way of putting the finishing touches on what has probably been a sticky attempt at columnizing... did you note some of the scores of other games...

The third stanza had not been underway more than five minutes when Sack took Johnson's 50-yard boot on Kentucky's 42-yard stripe and scored...

Perhaps the most sensational play of the night came when Bob Davis took Bucklew's punt on his own 40-yard line and spun and dodged his way the remaining 60 yards for Kentucky's second touchdown...

This was actually the turning point of the game for the Cats and the first time since the Xavier tally that the Lexington rooters were able to breathe more easily.

Early in the last quarter, Bert Johnson intercepted Haffey's forward heave on the Muskie 46-yard line and galloped past half of Xavier's team to score the last marker of the contest...

The breaks of the game were more than even. The Wildcats lost two fine opportunities to score when fumbles gave the ball to Xavier twice inside the 10-yard stripe...

The game was an entertaining one for the fans but showed Coach Wynne that he still had plenty of work to do before the tilt with Ohio State this week...

After the Ohio State game, the Wildcats met the Georgia Tech gridsters here, October 12. The Golden Tornado romped over the Presbyterian College eleven 33-0 last Saturday. A galaxy of sophomores starred.

Alabama, Kentucky's November 2 foe, showed up very poorly when the team of small Howard college tied them 7-7 Saturday.

Florida, who follows Alabama on the Wildcat schedule, exhibited a fat team by defeating Stetson 34-0.

The Wildcats meet Tulane's Green Wave on November 16. Saturday the Wave ran over the Virginia Military Institute gridsters, defeating them 44-0.

The Tennessee Volunteers, Kentucky's final foe, defeated Southwestern 20-0, but looked very weak after being idle on Saturday.

After being idle on Saturday, while their coach scouted the Notre Dame-Kansas game, the Bucks resumed their two-day practices in earnest, yesterday.

They are in for a hard week as Coach Schmidt has already scheduled one or two scrimmages. Plays and fundamentals will also be stressed since the team-work and coordination of last year's great team is missing from all of the combinations the Bucks have used so far this year.

The Bluegrass boys have Schmidt worried about his aerial offense, too. Two of the three touchdowns they scored against Xavier were made on intercepted passes. The Ohioans have drilled long on a good passing attack and now they are not so sure that it will not prove a boomerang to them, especially with the two fast and shifty Wildcat half backs guarding against them.

The Ohio boys seem to have the edge in number of years of experience but for the season the Kentuckians have played two games to their none. The Bucks line should have the edge in weight but the two backfields should stack up about even.

THE GAME ITSELF

It took the flying feet of Bob Davis and Bert Johnson, Kentucky's great scoring duo, to clinch the 21 to 7 victory the Wildcats scored over the Musketeers of Xavier University last Friday night at Corcoran Field in Cincinnati before an audience of more than 12,000 fans.

While the score may indicate that the Cats had a fairly easy evening, the large contingent of Lexington fans who traveled up to witness the contest spent many an anxious moment. Coach Wynne's club never had any decided advantage and managed to score only one more first down than the Muskies.

The four touchdowns made in the game were all registered after intercepted passes or punt returns. Kentucky intercepted two passes and returned a punt to pile up their total while Leo Sack took one of Johnson's kicks and scampered 42 yards down the sidelines for Xavier's only marker.

In the first quarter neither team was able to make much offensive headway and failed to tally. The only worthwhile gains were chalked up when the teams were battling in midfield.

It was not until midway in the second period that Gene Meyers, Wildcat pivot man, snatched a forward pass hurried by Tony Schmeig and outran the entire Muskie team to score from the middle of the field. Fine blocking by his teammates gave Meyers the opportunity for his long dash which gave the Cats

From Enemy Camps

"Stop Johnson and Davis" is the cry in the Ohio State grid camp right now. Considerably worried after scouting the first two Wildcat games and seeing these two Kentucky halfbacks in action, Francis Schmidt, head coach of the Buckeyes, is not going to be caught napping.
