The UK chapter of the American Pharmaceutical Association is observing National Diabetes Week by manning a testing station in Room 112 of the College of Pharmacy. Another station is being maintained by the University Health Service.

Professor Figures Registration 'Miles'

UK students will walk almost 21,000 miles during registration for the spring semester, Dean C. C. Carpenter of the Commerce College has determined.

According to Dean Carpenter, each student will walk one-half mile on each of six trips necessary to register.

The student must first go to the dean of his college to get pre-classification materials. Next he must see his faculty adviser to have his schedule approved. He then returns to the dean's office to have the schedule cards stamped.

He takes his IBM cards to the Registrar's Office. Early in January the student returns to the Registrar's Office where he will pick up his copy of the class schedule.

Finally, the student goes to the Coliseum where he goes to three different stations in the process of registering.

Figuring three miles for each student, and multiplying that by the 7,000 students on campus, Dean Carpenter estimated the total mileage to be close to 21,000 miles. He noted that this was just 4,000 miles short of the earth's circumference.

Engineering Students To Attend Pep Rally

Engineering students plan to attend the Friday night pep rally in a group and also to sit together at the Tennessee game.

According to Lowell Frazier, president of the engineering council, it was considered traditional for many years for the engineers to attend the pep rally and game at homecoming as a single group. "Because of the waning interest in traditions at UK, we are reliving the custom of engineers going to the rally and sitting together at the Tennessee game as an organized cheering section," said Frazier.

Directed by the Engineering Student Council, about 600 engineers are expected to take part in the torch parade and pep rally for the homecoming game this weekend.

Pre-Med Meeting

Dr. George W. Schwert, head of the Biochemistry Department of the UK Medical School, will be the speaker at the AED, Pre-Med Honorary meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in Room 128 of the SUB. The meeting is open to all sophomore, junior and senior pre-med students.

Cattle 'Educate' UK Coed

Anita Lester, freshman home economics major from Harrodsburg, could say cattle are her best friends.

Miss Lester, who has a herd of 22 dairy cattle, is using the money from the sale of her dairy products to put herself through school.

She plans to work with her cattle each summer. "I always take care of them myself. During the summer, I keep them up and put blankets on them to help slicken their hair. Then before I show them, I always wash each one.

"I also do all the milking—with a milking machine, of course," she added.

The only thing she hated about going away to school, she said, was that she would have to leave her cows.

"I really do miss them," she said. "Once I got so lonely, I had the urge to go to the UK dairy barn just to be around cattle, but it was such a long walk from the dorm I decided not to go."

She feels sure cows can show love for people.

"My favorite calf once got lost. I was really frantic. When I finally found her, she ran to me like a lost child."

The money she wins at dairy shows goes for her education. She has won her county dairy championship for seven years and her district for five.

Students Will Select Homecoming Queen

Voting Set Today And Thursday; 28 Candidates Enter Competition

Voting for Homecoming queen will be today and tomorrow in the SUB, the Homecoming Committee announced yesterday.

Twenty-eight candidates have been nominated by Greeks and residence halls. Pictures of the candidates will be posted at the Student Union ticket booth. (Pictures of 22 candidates are shown on page 5 in today's Kernel.)

The queen will be selected by popular vote, only, this year. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes will be queen and the next four highest vote receivers will be first, second, and third attendants respectively.

Three finalists were chosen by popular vote last year, and the winner was selected by a panel of judges.

Candidates are Betty Ann Foley, Hamilton House; Pixie Priest, Alpha Gamma Rho; Betty Jo Shotton, Alpha Xi Delta; Anna Owen, Keeneland Hall; Edwina Humphreys, Kappa Alpha; Priscilla Lynn, Lambda Chi Alpha; Cynthia Beadell, Phi Gamma Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta.

Sandra Tattershall, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Katie Kirk, Pi Kappa Alpha; Alice Akin, Delta Delta Delta; Judy O'Dell, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Barbara Hamlin, Delta Zeta; Ethel Insko, Alpha Delta Pi; Linda Coffman, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Virginia Fincel, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Mona Williams, Phi Kappa Tau; Trudy Webb, Kappa Delta; Mary Lou Conder, Dillard House; Jane Craig, Sigma Nu;

Katie Maddux, Chi Omega; Nancy Peggy Olmstead, Phi Sigma Kappa. Ladd, Alpha Gamma Delta; Joan Stewart, Zeta Tau Alpha.

June Moore, Phi Delta Theta; Dell Haskell, Kappa Sigma; Sandra Sue Smith, Holmes Hall; Ann Shaver, Alpha Tau Omega; Linda Nalbach, Delta Tau Delta; and

The queen and her attendants will be presented at halftime ceremonies at the Tennessee-Kentucky game Saturday. They will also be presented during the Homecoming dance that night.

Two Math Professors Speak At Conferences

Two members of the University Mathematics and Astronomy Department faculty spoke Friday afternoon to separate conference gatherings in Oxford, Ohio and Ashland, Ky.

Dr. J. C. Eaves, head of the department, spoke on large group instruction during a Sesquicentennial Conference at Miami University.

Dr. T. J. Pignana, professor of mathematics, spoke at the mathematical session of the Eastern Kentucky Educational Association in Ashland.

Dr. Eaves said UK was recognized by the Miami Conference because "we have one of the best math programs in the country."

He was chosen to speak because of his experience in directing studies in large class programs. There were both proponents and opponents of large class instruction taking part in the conference.

There is a tendency to set up large class programs in many schools without sufficient individual assistants, Dr. Eaves said. The University Mathematical Department, however, supplies about 60 hours of individual assistance every day, he added.

Because of the shortage of personnel, many schools are now relying on educational television. A number of colleges in surrounding states are now offering courses by TV for the entire state and not just closed circuit, Dr. Eaves said.

Dr. T. J. Pignana, in his lecture at Ashland entitled "A Mathematical Revolution is Underway," discussed some of the leading groups, and individuals proposed changes in the mathematics curriculum of secondary schools and their respective proposals.

He also spoke on their general acceptance and the effects the proposals may have on teachers, and briefly noted a survey of Great Britain's reaction to present day problems.

A Ray Of Light?

A break in the cold weather streak may come tomorrow.

But the possibility is doubtful, the U.S. Weather Bureau at Blue Grass Field reported yesterday.

And, if the break comes, there are indications that rain will follow.

The forecast for today is sunny and cold with an expected high of 29 degrees.

Woman's Best Friend

Anita Lester, freshman home economics major from Harrodsburg, is shown with one of the 22 dairy cattle she owns. She uses the money from the sale of the cattle to help put herself through school.

Accountants Will Meet At UK For Conference

Approximately 150 accountants from Kentucky are expected to attend the 10th annual Kentucky Institute of Accounting at UK Friday and Saturday.

The conference is sponsored by the University College of Commerce and the Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants.

The two day program will open with the first session beginning at 9 a.m. Friday in the Guignol Theatre of the Fine Arts Building.

There will be five major talks during the program, and a banquet address Friday night by UK Basketball Coach Adolph Rupp in the Fireside Room of the Phoenix Hotel.

After Dr. C. C. Carpenter, dean of the College of Commerce, welcomes the group at 9:45 a.m. Friday, Carroll W. Cheek, a CPA from Bowling Green, Ohio, will discuss the "Practical Approach to Management Services for the Small and Medium Size Practitioner."

At 11:15 a.m. Friday, Leslie A. Heath, a certified public accountant from Charlotte, N. C., will speak on "Economics of An Accounting Practice."

Louisville attorney Rucker Todd will address the conference at the beginning of the Friday afternoon session. His subject will be, "Estate Planning—Symptoms and Treatment."

Saturday speakers include Roy G. Mosher, CPA, of St. Louis, Mo., who will talk on "Some Needed Changes in the Income Taxation Business" and Louis E. Ackerson, CPA, Louisville, who will report on the highlights of the New York University 18th Annual Institute on Federal Taxation.

The Saturday session of the conference will be held in the Phoenix Hotel.

The Friday afternoon program calls for group discussions of topics presented by the speakers and a review of the discussions.

In addition to the conference program, the Society Committee on Advisory Services to Individual Practitioners will hold a round table discussion at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Fireside Room of the Phoenix Hotel.

John C. Owens, Lexington, is chairman of the conference committee.

Milk Discussions Open Dairy Conference Today

Fluid and market milk and cheese will be discussed today and Thursday at the seventh annual Dairy Manufacturing Conference being held at UK.

The conference is sponsored by the UK Dairy Section and the Dairy Products Association of Kentucky.

Fluid and market milk will be discussed at today's session beginning at 8:30 a.m. Dr. A. W. Rudnick Jr., superintendent of the UK dairy products plant will be the first speaker. His topic will be "Does Vacuum Treatment Remove Flavors?"

Other speakers at today's sessions will be Orton Overman, Cowles Chemical Company, Skaneateles Falls, New York; Dr. W. S. LaGrange, UK dairy section; Dr. J. J. Sheuring, professor of dairy husbandry, University of Georgia; Dr. W. E. Glenn, UK dairy section; and J. M. Jensen, associate professor of dairying, Michigan State University.

The sessions today will be concluded at a banquet at the Thoroughbred Restaurant at 6:30 p.m., Dr. Rudnick said. The guest speaker will be Ed McCormack, S. H. Mahoney Extract Company, Chicago.

Cheese will be discussed at the Thursday sessions.

Professors To Attend Conference

Three members of the College of Commerce faculty will attend a two-day meeting in Jacksonville, Fla., Friday and Saturday.

Dean C. C. Carpenter, Dr. Robert H. Stroup, and Dr. Rodman Sullivan will attend the Southern Economic Association meeting.

About 500 professors of economics from southern colleges and universities are expected to attend the meeting. A discussion of teaching methods will be conducted. Reports on recent research will be presented during the meeting.

William James, American philosopher and psychologist, once suggested before his death: "These then, are my last words to you: be not afraid of life. Believe that life is worth living and your belief will help create the fact."

Two UK Professors Elected To Posts

Clement Eaton, UK history professor, was elected vice president of the Southern Historical Association at Atlanta, Ga. last week.

Bennett Wall, UK associate professor of history, was elected secretary-treasurer of the association.

This was an annual meeting of the association.

World Peace Is Topic Of Panel Discussion

Former Housemother, Mrs. Crutcher, Dies

Four exchange students and a Fulbright student composed the panel that discussed world peace Monday night in the SUB.

The five on the panel were John T. Bondurant, Fulbright student; Sylvia Paes, India; Yoshihiro Nishida, Japan; Ursula Lawson, Germany; and Antonio Moncada, Honduras.

The topic of discussion was "A Fulbright and Exchange Students Look at World Peace."

Dr. A. E. Bigge, foreign student adviser and moderator of the panel, explained to the audience that the topic must be changed a little because it wasn't possible to look at world peace when we were not having world peace.

He said that "the best we can do is seek a means for working toward world peace."

The general opinion of the panelists was that we need to understand each other and develop a closer relation to other countries.

The statement was made by Miss Sylvia Paes, of India, that "if you don't know someone, you can't get along with them very well."

Mrs. Ursula Lawson, of Germany, told the audience that "a lack of tolerance and understanding leads to depressions which result in war."

The panelists said the student exchange program was the best way to get to know the customs and traditions of other countries and consequently would lead to understanding.

The discussion was sponsored by the UK Women's Club.

The next program is scheduled for Nov. 23 and will feature Prof. J. E. Reeves of the Political Science Department. His topic will be "English Elections and Electioneering."

Mrs. Margaret Chenuault Crutcher, former housemother for the men's dormitories and receptionist at the SUB, died unexpectedly at the home of her son, William L. Crutcher, in Richmond Saturday.

Mrs. Crutcher lived at 322 East Maxwell St. and was the widow of James Crutcher.

When she first came to UK in 1924, she served as the housemother for Alpha Xi Delta sorority. From 1925 to 1943 she was resident director of the men's dormitories.

After leaving this position, she became hostess for the SUB information desk.

Mrs. Crutcher was one of the veteran employees honored by the University at the dedication of its new service building in 1950. She retired from her duties at UK in 1952.

A native of Richmond, she was a daughter of the late Christopher David and Florence Dillingham Chenuault. She was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Besides her son, survivors include a grandson, William L. Crutcher Jr., New York; two sisters, Mrs. David Buckner and Mrs. William M. Anderson, Lexington; and two nieces, Mrs. Florence Simrall Lawless and Mrs. Kitty Simrall Underhill, Lexington.

Services were conducted in the Richmond Cemetery Monday.

UK Team Takes Fifth In Judging

The University Livestock Judging Team placed fifth in the Intercollegiate Judging Contest at the Eastern National Show in Baltimore, Md., Saturday.

There were 12 judging teams competing in the show.

Judging team members are Billy Joe Mitchell, Arnold Watson, James Kirby, Jim Green, and Sid Remmele.

Individual honors were won by James Kirby, who was sixth in beef judging; Billy Mitchell placed fifth in beef judging; and Sid Remmele was third in sheep judging.

Robert Hicks is coach of the judging team.

Their next contest will be in Chicago at the International Livestock Exposition Nov. 28.

Language Exams Set For December

The Graduate Reading Examinations in foreign languages have been scheduled, Dr. Herman E. Spivey, dean of the Graduate School, announced yesterday.

The exams will be given on the following days: French, Tuesday, Dec. 1; German, Thursday, Dec. 3; Spanish, Russian, Italian and others, Tuesday, Dec. 8.

All examinations will be held at 3 p.m. in Room 313 Miller Hall.

Students should confer with Prof. Bigge, head of the Department of Modern Foreign Languages, to get an appropriate book approved.

LUCKY STRIKE presents

Dear Dr. Frood:

DR. FROOD'S MORAL OF THE MONTH

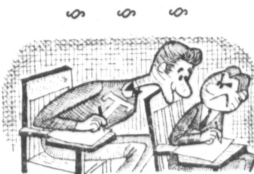

Brevity is the soul of wit. Which is why the sight of a girl in a Bikini invariably brings a smile to a man's face.

Dr. Frood, Ph.T.T.

Dear Dr. Frood: I read a great deal so I never have time for girls. Am I missing anything? Literate

Dear Literate: Only a few marbles.

Dear Dr. Frood: The guy next to me copys frum my paper. What shood I do? Truthfil

Dear Truthfil: Warn him. Quick!

Dear Dr. Frood: When I refuse to go out with unattractive girls, my friends say, "Beauty is only skin-deep." What do you say? Fussy

Dear Fussy: That's deep enough.

Dear Dr. Frood: Do you think next year's dresses will cover the knees? Clothes-Conscious

Dear Clothes-Conscious: They'd better cover more than that.

Dear Dr. Frood: I admire my roommate very much, so I try to be like him. He smokes Luckies. Do you think I should smoke the same cigarette he does? Awed

Dear Awed: No. Ask him for an unused Lucky.

Dear Dr. Frood: Do you think a boy should kiss a girl on their first date? Shy

Dear Shy: She would seem to be the logical choice.

DR. FROOD ON QUERIES BEST LEFT UNQUERIED

Years of experience have taught me never to ask a girl these questions:

- Shouldn't we skip the garlic?
- What happened to the fraternity pin?
- Wow! Is that your roommate?
- Do you mind turning out that light?
- You mean that isn't a beanie?
- How come you never wear shorts?
- Why don't you smoke your own Luckies?

Crosswalks And Death

A crisp winter day. 11:54 a.m. A delicate UK coed passes the Fine Arts Building on the way from class to lunch. She moves between parked cars on Rose Street to test traffic. Slow moving truck coming. She dashes! The screech of brakes, a scream, a thud.

Headlines that evening read:

*UK Coed Killed
By Lumber Truck*

A preposterous situation? We don't think so. The UK traffic situation has reached the point where pedestrian safety is running a poor second to vehicular facility.

It's not a new situation. For years students have been dodging everything from motor scooters to cement mixers as they cross Rose, Limestone, and Euclid—the triangle of streets that surround the campus. Nevertheless, who can but realize that crossing any of these streets is daily becoming a greater risk of life and limb.

Consider Rose Street.

Between Rose Lane and Huguelet Drive—a distance of 2,000 feet—there are only two defined crosswalks. One is at Columbia Avenue and apparently is for residents of sorority houses, and those who park in that vicinity, to use, and the other is at Washington Avenue which evidently is used by dormitory, Cooperstown and fraternity residents, and persons crossing to the Donovan Cafeteria and Agriculture classes.

There are two fallacies in this arrangement. One is that both Washington Avenue and Columbia run perpendicular into Rose Street. Rarely are there no vehicles waiting to enter Rose Street from these two streets, and since they must turn either right or left, the pedestrian, although he has the right-of-way in a crosswalk, must constantly wait for a courteous driver to let him pass. Unfortunately, we have only a few courteous drivers.

The Sun--Aging Agent

DETROIT (AP)—If you want to look younger longer, stay out of the sun.

That's the conclusion reported here by a leading skin specialist at the 12th annual meeting of the Gerontological Society. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

Dr. J. Graham Smith, Jr., dermatologist at the University of Miami (Fla.) School of Medicine, said recent research shows that exposure to the sun, rather than the aging process itself, seems to bring on the skin conditions commonly associated with growing old.

Smith, who did his work jointly with Dr. A. I. Lansing, professor of anatomy at the University of Pittsburgh, drew his conclusion after studying the skin of a group of older people who have lived in the Miami area for at least 20 years.

By studying skin samples and photographs, Smith and Lansing found that skin exposed regularly to the sun showed all the signs commonly connected with growing old—wrinkles; loose, thick and sagging skin; crows feet around the eyes.

But, they reported, skin taken from areas of the body not regularly exposed to sun did not show these signs.

Smith attributed the difference to a change in the composition of the skin brought about by exposure to the sun.

The other fallacy is that two crosswalks are not sufficient to handle the hundreds of students that cross Rose Street multiple times a day.

Then there's also Euclid Avenue.

Pedestrians—particularly coeds—must also make a dash for the other side of the street and often they avert tragedy by only inches. It is interesting to note that Lexington officials have stenciled "Use crosswalks" on both sides of Euclid in front of Holmes Hall. Evidently they are attempting to direct pedestrian traffic to the crosswalk at South Limestone Street. If such is the case their efforts have been wasted, for, at $5 an offense, the city could buy a new cruiser daily if they arrested every one who "jaywalked" at that point.

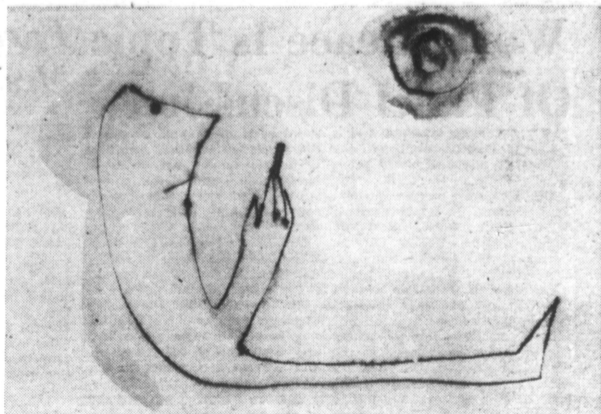

Although UK's three most recent considerations for a protective crossing at Harrison Avenue indicate admirable planning, it will be years before the new women's dorms are completed. The problem concerns residents of existing dorms. Perhaps a restricting wall to channel pedestrians to crosswalks is the answer.

And last consider South Limestone Street.

South Limestone, although crossed less frequently than Rose and Euclid, is the hardest of the three to cross because it's wider and traffic is heavier. Students passing Memorial Hall and approaching South Limestone have the choice of going south to Graham Avenue, north to the Upper Street crosswalk, or chancing the dangers of waiting for an opening and running across.

The perils present on these three streets call for a consideration and plan for corrective action on the part of the University and Lexington officials. UK is expanding rapidly, along with Lexington, and the flow of traffic has created a dangerous situation.

It will be too late after a fatality.

Elective Of Whom?

To The Editor:

What in the world is the University becoming? A dictatorship? When the students asked for preclassification, they asked for a fair one, not one where no choice of classtime or professor is given.

As a graduating senior, I consider my case to be fairly typical of the senior class. I am sure the other classes have equally pressing problems. I have a semester of electives left to be taken. There are many courses in which I would like to enroll and my final choice depends on the professor and the time of the class. As the plan reads now I may sign up for a class on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday taught by my favorite professor and end up in a class on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday taught by a professor of whom I have never heard. So instead of getting the elective of my choice, I am getting the elective of the registrar.

Another pertinent problem is that of obtaining part time employment. How can I apply for a job when I have no knowledge of what my schedule will be. Heretofore, a student could plan his classes around his work. Now this is impossible!

Why have registration at all—why not just be assigned to classes? This would save all concerned much work and worry. Oh, well, I suppose, we the seniors, are quite lucky after all. We only have one semester of this dictatorship. (If we get our classes.)

Lawyers Ask Review

To The Editor:

Since the College of Law has been denied the privilege of submitting a nominee for Homecoming queen, and since the law students, by their very nature, are eager to manifest their interest in campus affairs, the following proposal is hereby submitted:

1. A special committee, composed of the student body of the College of Law, will be in attendance in the Court Room of Lafferty Hall Nov. 18 at 2:50 p.m. to view those nominees of other organizations who care to attend.

2. That nominee who pleases this committee will be the recipient of concerted efforts on the part of said committee to cast the Law School vote (approximately 110) as a block in her behalf.

Each nominee in attendance should be prepared to give a reading of Browning's "Sonnet From The Portuguese No. 14." Those unable to attend at the designated time will be interviewed separately by special appointment with one of the undersigned.

Man Or Mouse

Dear Kernel TV Expert:

How dare you suggest that such a fine, red-blooded American sport like rasslin' could possibly be tainted with the same shameful deception that has come to light on the quiz shows.

That show ignorance on your part, sir. Rasslin' is untainted, untarnished, untouched. It is truly the sport with integrity. How do you think we get such a high rating?

For your information, rasslin' is not only educational but is also an art. Where else the children of America gone learn how to clobber each other? Huh? And for art's sake, there is nothing more beautiful than the perfect execution of a double over and under sledgehammer lock while the opponent has you in a airplane spin.

Your implication, sir, has infuriated me. I consider it as a personal insult. I challenge you to defend your statement. And not with piddlin' words, either. The man's way. Le's fite.

Well, are you a man or mouse?

The election to determine which of these coeds will reign as the 1959 Homecoming queen will be held today and tomorrow in the SUB

A new method of selecting the queen has been instituted in which popular vote alone determines who will be the queen. The next three girls who receive the greatest number of votes will be first, second, and third attendants in the queen's court.

Presentation of the queen and her attendants will take place at halftime ceremonies at the Homecoming game Saturday and also at the Homecoming dance that night.

Girls whose pictures were not available for publication, are Nancy Ladd, Alpha Gamma Delta; Joan Stewart, Zeta Tau Alpha; Sandra Sue Smith, Holmes Hall; Linda Nalbach, Delta Tau Delta; Peggy Olmstead, Phi Sigma Kappa; and Ann Shaver, Alpha Tau Omega.

All students wishing to cast a vote for their favorite candidate must present their ID cards to persons attending the ticket booth.

Each ballot will have space for three names. Any ballot which does not have the names of three different candidates will be automatically disqualified.

Vote For Your Queen Candidate Today

Keeping Tab

By Rod Tabb

It's that time of year again. No matter what kind of records the two teams have, anything can happen when the Wildcats battle the Tennessee Volunteers.

This season has been a dismal one for the Cats as they show a 3-6 mark for the year. These three victories were against nonconference opponents and only one, the Miami win, can be even considered as much of a feat.

The Vols on the other hand have done well, beating such formidable foes as Louisiana State and Auburn and compiling a 5-2-1 ledger for the year with two games remaining.

This year the Blue and White need a win over those orange-clad Vols very badly—perhaps as badly as any time before. A victory over Coach Bowden Wyatt's Knoxville 11 would be some consolation to complaining UK fans and alumni.

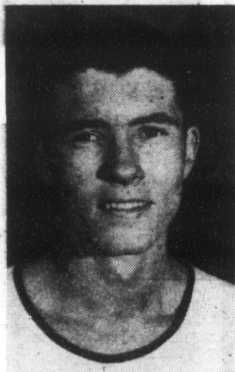

This corner feels the Cats can get that win, but it will take a hustling, aggressive, no-mistake-making Wildcat team to get the job done. The Volunteers will be fighting mad after last week's loss.

A triumph against the Orange Ogres would not make the 1959 season a successful one—but it sure would help a heckuva lot!

A tip of the hat is in order for Coach Wally Butts and his battling Georgia Bulldogs for capturing the SEC title.

Probably no one, not even the Bulldogs themselves, believed the Georgia eleven would take the conference crown. The Bulldogs were chosen for a ninth place spot in the SEC preseason poll.

Last year the Dogs finished the season with a 2-4 conference mark and were 4-6 overall. They finished tenth in the SEC in 1958.

Whelan's Sacrifice Pays Off As Cats Win SEC Crown

It is often necessary for an outstanding athlete to sacrifice a day at Atlanta by Press Whelan in chance for personal glory to achieve a team victory.

Such a sacrifice was made Monday at Atlanta by Press Whelan in the Southeastern Conference cross country meet as the Cats beat second place Mississippi State 60-69.

Coach Don Seaton decided to have Whelan set a fast pace early in the race to draw out Warren Burns and his bunch-running team mates.

Whelan carried out Seaton's plans excellently, covering the first mile in a blistering 4:41. In attempting to keep up with Whelan, several highly touted runners tired and fell far off the pace.

The Maroons' favored Burns was unable to keep up with individual

Fans Hoping 'Pickpocket' Eisaman Can Star Once More Against Vols

By ROD TABB

Given the title "Pennsylvania Pickpocket" after last year's 6-2 win over Tennessee, UK quarterback Jerry Eisaman should again play a key role in Saturday's Volunteer battle.

Eisaman, from Bethel, Pa., earned the nickname last season when he snatched the pigskin from the running Carl Smith thus setting up the lone Kentucky touchdown.

Eisaman was a standout in Saturday's 41-0 romp over Xavier. The 6 foot 1 signal caller heaved two touchdown passes in the Musketeer tilt and ended the day with a five for nine completion record good for 103 yards.

With 6:48 left in the game, Eisaman, faking beautifully, dropped back and threw a pass to end Charlie Vaughn for a 40 yard scoring play.

Fullback Gary Cochran snared Eisaman's second touchdown toss, a 13 yarder, with just 47 seconds showing on the scoreboard clock.

Last season as a sophomore, Eisaman completed over 50 percent of his passes.

He ranked seventh in the Southeastern Conference with 30 successful aeriels on 53 attempts. Jerry's passing was good for 449 yards and three touchdowns with only two interceptions.

Having an additional 83 yards gained on the ground, the 195-pounder finished thirteenth in the conference in total offense. Eisaman last year was second on the Cat squad in scoring, racking up 18 points.

Eisaman, one of the top long ball throwers in the country, has suffered two injuries which have slowed his development.

After an outstanding freshman campaign in 1956, the likeable quarterback suffered a shoulder separation during a 1957 pre-season practice session which caused him to be out of action for the year.

Last year while returning to the campus following semester vacation, Jerry received a minor fracture of the spine in an automobile accident. This injury caused him to miss spring practice, but he managed to get in 172 minutes and 27 seconds of playing time in nine games.

Eisaman, enrolled in the College of Education, was named on the All-Southeastern Conference sophomore team last year.

Jerry graduated from Bethel High School in Pennsylvania in 1956 and, while not being named all-state, the Wildcat field general was looked on as one of the outstanding footballers to enroll at UK in 1956.

It was also the state of Pennsylvania which sent the Cats the fabulous Babe Parilli and Lou Michaels.

At Bethel High Eisaman's coach called the quarterbacks' plays during the game, so on coming to Kentucky Jerry was handicapped at first by lack of experience in play selection.

With Eisaman, senior Lowell Hughes, and junior Leeman Bennett ready to go at the quarterback slot, the Wildcats should be in fine shape at this position when the Volunteers come on to Stoll Field to battle for the old beer keg.

Fans are hoping (some even praying) that Eisaman and the other two UK signal callers can direct the Colliermen to victory.

meet winner Bob Peete of Alabama who finished in 21:10.2. Alabama was third in the meet with 87 points.

Dave Purdy, sophomore from Paducah, led the Cats with a 21:24 timing as he finished third close behind the fading Burns. Burns ran the four miles in 21:10.

E. G. Plummer far outdistanced the next two Maroon runners to come in fourth in the time of 21:32.

John Baxter of UK placed 13th in 22:37. Danny Jasper was the fourth Kentuckian to cross the line, running to the point of exhaustion attempting to beat Mississippi State's John Pitman. He finished 17th behind Pitman.

Whelan, as a result of his torrid early pace, finished 23rd to be the fifth man in for Kentucky. Other Kentuckians finishing were Bill Smith who placed 22nd in his first cross country meet with the time of 23:58, and Roger Gum who placed 39th despite being ill the night before.

Gum beat Mississippi State's fifth man, Artie Mansfield, who finished 40th.

Kentucky, in winning their second consecutive SEC title, finished the season having defeated 14 teams while losing to four.

Julian Heron, co-owner of the Tates Creek Stables, puts one of his mounts over the jump. Heron and Don Haeferner own and operate the stable which has about 2,000 acres of land covered with trails and jumps.

Students Own Jumper Stable

Two UK students own and operate the largest hunter and jumper stable in Lexington.

Julian Heron, sophomore commerce major, and Don Haeferner, graduate student, are the two enterprising young men.

The name of their stable is the Tates Creek Stable located in the new Gainsway subdivision on the Tates Creek Pike.

According to the two horsemen, a hunter is a pleasant conveyance to hounds. He should jump safely, quietly, and with the style and emphasis on manners while carrying his rider cross country.

A jumper is judged only on his ability to jump high, they added. How he does is not counted. Most of the hunters and jumpers today are thoroughbreds that were too slow for the races.

Although the stable is operating now, Heron added, it will not be completed until early next summer.

"The best treasure is a frugal tongue,"—Jack Paar.

The 1929 Homecoming display trophies were won by AGD and SX.

There have been no reports of the New Jersey cranberry crop being tainted by aminothiazole residues.

At that time it will consist of about fifty stalls, a large indoor riding ring, an outdoor show ring, polo field, several paddocks, and about 2,000 acres covered with trails and jumps.

For their ages, the two young men have acquired a great deal of experience in the horse business.

Heron first started riding professionally several years ago in his home state of Maryland. He has since ridden and trained horses in Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D. C.

Haeferner has been a trainer, a week and the boys say visitors are always welcome.

places as Columbus Riding Club, Greenbrier Military School, and the Fort Benning Hunt Club.

This past summer Heron and Haeferner's students earned over 100 ribbons while competing in eight horse shows.

One of their pupils won her class at the Lexington Junior League Horse Show with 58 other horses competing.

Another one of their students won the sportsmanship trophy given by the league.

The stable is open seven days a week and the boys say visitors are always welcome.

Fellowship Program Accepting Applications

The Rockefeller Brothers' Theological Fellowship Program is now accepting applications for a one year fellowship at a divinity school.

These fellowships are awarded to those who are not now planning on seminary or graduate theological work, but who would be willing, if awarded a fellowship to attend seminary for one year in order to consider the ordained parish ministry.

The awards cover expenses for room, board, tuition, fees, books, and minimum spending allowance.

Married fellows with children are granted a total of $3,200. Fellows should be 30 years or less at the time of admittance to the seminary. College seniors, graduates, businessmen, military officers, and teachers are all eligible. Requirements are at least a 3.0 standing and a sincere desire to consider the ministry.

Applications should be made to Fred Strache, YMCA director, before noon Saturday, Nov. 21.

Representatives from the Vanderbilt Divinity School will be at UK to talk to prospective theological students Nov. 30 to Dec. 4.
