Dear Sir:-

Someone, during the present term of court, has attempted to indict the Wisconsin Steel Co. for an alleged fencing up of the road up Clover Lick Creek. We were able to prevent the indictment by stating to the Grand Jury that if any road had been fenced up which should not have been, it was done unintentionally and would be removed.

We suggest that you ascertain at what point it is that the road is claimed to have been fenced up, and if the road has been fenced that you have the fence removed.

Kindly advise us what you learn in regard to the premises so we may be posted at any future time that this question may again arise.

Yours very truly,

s/JH
