Many students have problems with UK-VIP

Several report busy signals

By Clarissa Blair Staff Writer

A busy telephone line may be more bearable to students than crowded campus registration sites. But during a trial run of the UK-VIP network from July 26 through Aug. 16, some students found more amiss with the phone registration system than mere busy signals. #### University breaks record for external gifts, grants

By Ayana Blair

A record-breaking $98,037,918 in external funding was awarded to UK last year.

The figure — which includes money received by UK's main campus, the Community College System and the Albert B. Chandler Medical Center — jumped about 6 percent from the 1991-92 academic UK students, staff and faculty earned the majority of the awards, totaling $95,966,594, in grants and contracts. Alumni and friends of the University contributed the remainder for research.

"UK faculty, staff and stu-dents have once again demon-strated their ex-cellent abilities s grantsper-ons," said Lee

"Examples of recent research where UK people have a national impact include studies of coal liq-uefaction, Alzheimer's disease and drug abuse prevention," she said.

Last month the University re-ceived one of the largest awards of the year when it signed a $19 mil-lion agreement with the Depart-ment of Energy.

UK is part of a five-school con sortium that currently is developing new methods for converting waste materials and coal into oil.

The Medical Center received the largest amount of the external funding, $39.9 million.

Peter Bosom-worth, chancel-lor for the Med-ical Center, said most of the funding that the medical center re-ceives is from external sources.

"The increase in funding will al-low for more graduate and under-graduate research and provide for more summer employment," Bo-somworth said.

Bosomworth also said the in-crease in funding will allow for "a creation of new knowledge which is transferrable to students."

Much of the record-breaking re-ceipts is funding that has been set aside for specific purposes at both the University and the Medical Center.

Auxillary funding alone accounted for 6.2 percent of UK's $889.2 million budget, which was approved by the Board of Trustees early this summer.

New director says future bright for King Center

By Tyrone Beason

On the morning of his fourth day as Martin Luther King Jr. Cultural Center programming di-rector, Don Offut sits at the end of a long table, trying desperate-ly to get a student to read him a poem she's written.

She finally obliges.

"It's called 'Ain't I a Black Woman?" she says shyly, after flipping through a book of her

Suddenly the student, biology junior Daudra Scisney, tears into the first verse with enough verve to jump start a Mack truck, swerving intrough a meticulously crafted explanation of what it is and what it is and what it is and with it isn't to be black and female.

As Scisney spins around the last curve of her mantra, Offul lifts himself from his chair and fills her circle of poetic glory with laughter, cheers and applause.

"You are a black woman, sister, and you got the house," Offut tells her with the infectious joviality of Cliff Huxtable.

This is where the 46-year-old Bowling Green, Ky., native loves to be these days — somewhere near the center of a small but passionate black campus community.

The King Center gives him that opportunity. The Office of African-American Student Afriars, formerly the Office of Minority Affairs, recently hired him to oversee planning and programming at the center. He started Monday.

3 who aided Denny testify

L.A. riots beating trial continues

By Linda Deutsch

LOS ANGELES — Three good Samaritans who rushed to the aid of trucker Reginald Denny testified yesterday that they knew instantly when they saw him being beaten on TV that they had to help.
Lei Yuille said she had just come home from work as a dietician and her family was watchine riot cover.

home from work as a deitcian and her family was watching riot cover-age on TV on April 29, 1992. She said they saw Denny being dragged out of his truck and pummeled. "My brother was in the room," she said. "He looked at me and said, 'We are Christians. We've got to go help him out,' and I said, 'Right,' Then he went and got his keys.'"

Right. Then he went and got his keys."

Yaille said it took about 10 mintest to get from their South Central Los Angeles home to Florence and Normandie avenues, where rioting had broken out following verdicts trial. She said she ran to Denny's board. Denny had managed to get back in the driver's seat of his 18-wheeler.

"I told him I was there to help him," she said, "I can't see. I don't know what happened." I told him I would guide him."

Yuille recalled how others came to help: Bobby Green, who testified that as a truck driver he felt obligated to rush down and drive the massive truck that could not have been driven by an amateur, and Titus Murphy, who testified that he and his girlfriend had no second houghts when they decided to head for the seene.

"Why did you do that?" Deputy District Attorney Janet Moore asked Murphy on the stand.
"Why not?" he responded. "I thought we should go to help him."

None of the people had ever met before, but Murphy said, "At that moment we all clicked at the same time... We knew we had a task to do. We were going to take him to the hospital."

Damian Williams, 20, and Henry Watson, 28, are charged with attempted murder and other offenses in attacks on Denny and seven others at a South Central Los Angeles intersection as the riots erupted on April 29, 1992. They could get life in prison.

Denny testified for the first time about the attack on Wednesday and watched a videotape of men kicking him and bashing him. He said he re-membered none of it.

The 37-year-old truck driver who was beaten nearly to death in the opening moments of the 1992 riots said he recalls almost nothing after the passenger window of his rig shattered.

"From that point on I have no idea what I saw," Denny said. "I have no memory after that."

Several jurors put their hands over their mouths, and one shook his head, as images of a bloodied Denny being kicked and pummeled flashed across the six TV screens set up around the courtroom.

Since the attack, Denny said, he has undergone numerous operations to repair his shattered head, put his eye back in its socket and move his jaw back into place. He has taken medication for seizures and clotting for over a year and now is permanently susceptible to head infections.

With Labor Day approaching and the summer film season winding down, the studios are making an artistic about-face. Instead of calculated crowd pleasers such as "Jurussia Park," "In the Line of Fire" and "The Fugitive," the fall movie lineup is filled with distinctly intelligent, high-minded works.

But only a handful of these films were born on the back lot. Some of the more notable fall releases—"The Joy Luck Club." "Short Cuts," "Six Degrees of Separation"—are not original screenplays. Instead, these and others are adapted from hit plays and acclaimed fiction.

Local band celebrates CD release

Tomorrow and Sunday, 10 Foot Pole will be playing music from their latest album Fuel To Keep Us Cool at The Wrocklage.

On Saturday night, you must be at least 21 years old to get in because alcoholic beverages will be sold. The Blueberries, another band from Lexington, will be opening for Ten Foot Pole at 9:30 p.m.

The Wrocklage is located at 361 W. Short St.

Sunday's festivities open with two bands, Carousel and Amazing Grace, starting at 6:30 p.m. Sunday is the all-ages night at The Wrock-lage; yes, this means that alcoholic beverages will not be sald 10 Foot Pole members are Brian Arnett on bass and vocals, David Farris on drums, Billy Quinn on guitar and John Turner on horns, vocals, keyboard and special ef-fects.

Volleyball Cats set for scrimmage

Defense to be showcased

By Ty Halpin Sports Editor

The UK volleyball team is going through more transitions right now than the former Soviet Union. The Wildcats have a completely new coaching staff, a different offense and a fresh approach to the way the team plays defense. Tonight at 7 p.m., the Cats will put the new systems to work in a preseason Blue-White scrimmage at Memorial Coliseum. Head coach Fran Ralston-Flory, the Boris Yeltsin of the squad, is anxious to see her team in action. This is really just a runtrough, she said. 'I haven't seen his team in a real match situation yet. It will be interesting.'

this team in a real match situation yet. It will be interesting."

The scrimmage will give Ralston-Flory some ideas on how versatile some of her players are.

"We're just trying to see where people are going to fit."

Some positions in UK's starting lineup are yet to be filled.

"One place we will really be looking at is who will be our starting (other) outside hitter," Ralston-Flory said. Senior Ann Hall, freshman Gina Heustis and junior Melo-flory said. Senior Ann Hall, freshman Gina Heustis and junior Melo-flory said. Senior Ann Hall, freshman Gina Heustis and junior Melo-flory said said are all in the running for the job. Ralston-Flory said Hall has the edge in the race.

Sobzack fractured her thumb during a blocking drill in practice. She will be out two to three weeks.

Ralston-Flory, who is a very defensive-minded coach, wants to see this part of UK's same tonight.

"This is really to see how far we've gotten with our defense," she said.

IN THE HUNT: Senior Ann Hall is fighting for the last starting spot.

"It will be a little different in that the setters will control the entire of-fense. We'll see how much leader-ship we have at that position." Senior Jane Belanger should be the starting setter for the Wildcats.

UK opens its season Wednesday at Miami (Ohio). The Cats are ranked 14th in the Volleyball Monthly poll and 18th in the Ameri-can Volleyball Coaches Association poll.

The Wildcats open their home schedule with matches against Louisville, Indiana and No. 19 No-tre Dame as they play host to the Big Four Classic Sept. 3-4.

Red Sox to honor 1918 champions

BOSTON - The Red Sox will

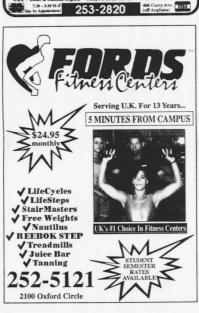

BOSTON — The Red Sox will present World Series mementos to descendants of their 1918 championship team, resolving a snub that some claim has put a 75-year-old curse on Boston.

The 1918 squad, the last Red Sox team to win a World Series, was denied commemorative championship emblems — apparently because of a labor-management dispute that included a short players' strike before the fifth game of the World Series. Members of that team, and their the fifth game of the World Scries. Members of that team, and their descendants, have sought the emblems for decades. The team had 20 players, including Babe Ruth, on its World Scries roster.

Descendants will be presented with framed stickpins during a pregame ceremony on Sept. 4. Julia Ruth Stevens, the daughter of Babe Ruth, is expected to be among those attending.

College life not easy for some Asians

Imagine stepping out of an airplane and walking through a gateway into an entirely different world.

It happens every year to students from around the globe who come to Lexington to be a part of UK's international students program.
About 1,500 students from 95 countries came to UK last year.
Most international students are bent on achieving their educational goals when they come to the United States. But for some Asian students, the road to academic success is hampered at times by their strugis hampered at times by their strug-gle to adapt to the new surroundcerns.

"One day, I stayed in my room all afternoon because my American friend said she would call me, but set didn't," said Maho Fukagawa, who is from Japan. "I wondered if I di something wrong to her."

Because American and Asian cultures are very different, Asian students can easily misunderstand the behavior of American students, UK psychologist Richard Ramsey said.

He explained that American stu-dents often say, "I'll give you a call," and really not intend to. It is an obligatory remark similar to weeks for a call. They blame and question themselves. "Asian students start feeling iso-lation, depression and loneliness," Ramsey said. Barbara Kennedy, the director of the Center for English as a Second Language, also stressed the differ-ence in communication style be-tween Americans and Asians. She said that the American com-

She said that the American communication style is more direct. Aik Chong Tan, a Malaysian UK student, said he was shocked that American students talked about racial or sexual problems in class. He said Malaysians rarely talk about these problems openly. Moreover, Asian students are more concerned about these problems openly. Moreover, Asian students and to talk about their personal matters, in contrast to other internation at students. Kennedy said.

European cultures are similar to American's, European students feel more secure in talking about they personal matters. However, Asian students are more concerned about heir grades, Kennedy said.

If Asian students did talk to her about personal things, they tended to avoid her afterward, she said.

Asian languages — Chinese, Korean, Japanese and Malay — differ tremendously from English, so these students tend to have a harder time studying at American universities than do students from other parts of the world.

For example, the syntax of the English "I go to school" is "I school to go" in Korean and Japanese.

Because the Asian alphabet also is very different from the English alphabet, Asian students can never make a guess at the meaning of unfamiliar words.

Some Asian students tend not to

"I am always afraid of talking to Americans because my English is poor, and I am afraid of making grammatical mistakes," Jee Young Kim, a Korean UK student, said.

Tan said he always is nervous when talking to American students because he is afraid Americans do not understand him.

Ramsey pointed out that American students sometimes are not pa-tient and do not try to listen to inter-national students.

"I was in a cafeteria one day, and a cashier asked me something. I didn't understand what she said," Kim said. "I said, 'What?'

"She repeated it again, but I still didn't understand. She gave up and started punching a cash register. I was very depressed and disappointed."

and was on WRFL's most requested song list.

Between the tracks are the band's signature "ditties," which are basically creative improvisational jam sessions. Some of the band's best work jumps out during these imaginative musical conceptions.

Excellent examples include Quinn's classical guitar piece after "ldiot Twins," J.T's horn solo before "Girl Who Dances," or Arnet's funky slap rhythm on his four string just before "Prince Skynd."
The ditties are, in fact, almost as good as the songs themselves.
Fuel To Keep Us Gool can go from a very seventies disco feel, as jazzy wehicle on "Killing Me Dude," and to the laid rock tune on "Prince Skynd."

trying to push new ground with this sophomore release, Fuel To Keep Us Cool may push many listeners away, as well.

A good recommendation for those spinning the disc is to have al-ready acquired a taste for the im-provisational nature of jazz.

Otherwise, some people may be lost in the deviations of set keys or the out-of-time jaunts into which the band slips.

This can create an almost spacy, uncontrolled and unorganized structure, although this is the sound that the band is most likely aiming for. It is also well accomplished by so tight a band.

Fuel To Keep Us Cool will reinforce the current fans of 10 Foot Pole and probably will introduce several new listeners to the band as well.

It probably will help the group get more gigs, also, since most of the local music spots in Lexington and Louisville won't be afraid to touch the band with its namesake — a "10 Foot Pole."

Perot, Jackson agree NAFTA takes U.S. jobs

Associated Press

Associated Press

ROCKVILLE, Md. — Texas
billionaire Ross Perot found an eager ally last night in civil rights leader Jesse Jackson as both denounced the proposed North American Free Trade Agreement as a drain on American jobs.

Perot, who has been campaigning vigorously against the treaty, told a town meeting in this Washington suburb that the only people who will benefit if the treaty is approved are Wall Street speculators and businesmen planning to move their operations to Mexico to cut labor costs.

And he told delegates at the an-

And he told delegates at the an-nual convention of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference that "the first jobs that will go to Mexico" will be those that other-wise might be funneled into inner-city economic development in this country.

Perot's remarks were greeted with enthusiasm by Jackson, who said the proposed NAFTA treaty amounts to "a slippery slope south-ward" of American jobs and will lead to the closing of U.S. factories.

lead to the closing of U.S. factories.

Jackson said opposition to NAFTA, which the Clinton administration is campaigning to get ratified in Congress, is one issue that he and Perot agree on strongly.

And he said civil rights organizations such as the SCLC and labor unions will battle to have it defeated.

Both Perot and Jackson, former presidential candidates, criticized the Clinton administration for its strong support of the treaty as well as the Bush administration, which first pursued it.

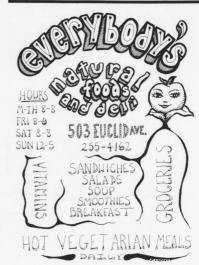

The pact would erase tariffs and other trade barriers among the United States, Mexico and Canada. Supporters have argued that it would allow for expanded U.S. markets in Mexico and not lead to major loss of jobs.

Arnett seems to exhibit incredible musicianship as a master of slap! funk bass, creating rhythms that would get any audience jumping to the beat. Quinn also manages to deliver well-rounded vocals that blend in with the styles of music that grab the listener as soon as the first track, "Fuel To Keep Us Cool," begins. This song was featured on
