(7) Report of the President. The President submitted his quarterly report in writing to the Board. The report was as follows:

During the last three months the office of the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, as well as my own, has been busy in rounding out and completing the program begun two years ago. edifices occupied by the College of Education and Associated Schools are finished and the organization of the college is now The equipment authorized in the aplocated in these buildings. propriation of $30,000 by the last Assembly has been purchased and most of it installed. It will be seen also, in looking at these buildings that the area around about has been graded and seeded and walks put in place, and drives are now being constructed in the rear of the buildings. Much, however, remains to be done before the area can be used satisfactorily for the college and associated schools. The expense has been heavy and the completion of the work is now held up by the lack of earth to cover the present level. Grading has also been done around about the men's dormitories, so that the appearance of these grounds has been much improved.

The dairy products building authorized by the Legislature of 1928 is completed and now occupied by the various departments of the agricultural staff. The work on the library building has gone forward rapidly and the contractor reports the building will be fully completed and ready for occupancy by the last of March. This fact anticipates our budget requirements considerably, in that a portion of the cost of constructing the library was left to the budget of 1931-32.

The plans for the agricultural engineering building on the Experiment Station farm have been completed and are presented to this meeting for consideration. These plans call for a building with a frontage of 163 feet, the central portion being two stories and the remainder one story. The observatory plans, also, are completed, the original plans being modified to nearly the amount available for the erection of this building. The dome for this building will cost almost as much as the building itself. The order for the plans for the dome has been placed with the In making this statement it may architects, Towner and Sellew. be said that the construction of these buildings completes what the University has in mind at the present time in the way of All surplus funds from University income are mortgaged by the construction of the library for at least another year. However, with the growth of the student body and the new demands being made upon the University other buildings will be required in the near future. I may enumerate for the sake of a memorandum: a new dormitory for women, a student building to care for the activities of the student organizations, engineering shops and recitation buildings, laboratories for some of the sciences, and a building for the department of home economics. The University must look forward also, in the near future, to the erection of an armory to take care of the activities of the R. O. T. C. and the indoor work of athletic teams.

One other construction matter may be brought to your attention at this time, and that is the use of the warehouse on South Limestone Street. This building has been purchased and the plans will be presented for its utilization as soon as the department of buildings and grounds can provide them. The building should be used to house the department of buildings and grounds and to take care of a number of other things.

In discussing the financial situation of the University with the Business Agent, he assures me that in his opinion, the income of the University for this year will be maintained; that the effect of the drought upon the assessed valuation and the payment of taxes will not come before next year. What the situation will be then no one can tell, but it is likely to improve rather than As indicated a few minutes ago, the University has financial obligations that project themselves into the future for some time. These financial obligations are due to the construction of the library out of income, the payment of annual amounts, which in a period of time will amortize the cost of the men's dormitories, Kinkead and Breckinridge Halls, and the purchase of the ware-house opposite the campus. In addition to these, advances have been made from University income on the construction of the Memorial Hall and the stadium. In the case of the Memorial Hall the Greater Kentucky Fund was expected to cover the cost of its construction, but the erection of the building together with the organ cost about $47,000 more than the constributions to the fund and the pledges of the guarantors. There is also due from the Greater Kentucky Fund and the Athletic Council approximately $55,000 on the stadium. The receipt of these amounts would materially relieve the University from the financial difficulties in which it finds itself at the present time. Meanwhile it will be necessary to hold expenditures as low as possible this year and next, in order to meet these financial problems.

On Saturday afternoon, September 20, 1930, the actual attendance at the University was 3,039. The accompanying chart which covers the period from 1915-1930, shows student attendance as of October 1 of each year. It should be kept in mind that figures of a given date are more indicative of the differences than the aggregate figures of a year. It may be said the student enrollment in 1930 is more than three times what it was in 1915, and the number registered in that time shows an increase of 214 per cent. In this connection, it may be observed, the increase in students at the University over last year will amount to 11.5 In a time of depression it is a matter of surprise to many that the enrollment increases, but the fact is, in periods of depression students go to college. This accounts for the increase. Many of these, however, are badly pressed for funds to This accounts for the ingo on, and the University finds itself forced to furnish employment and secure as much help from friends and the community as possible to keep the students on.

One of the requirements of the University is that the freshmen shall report several days in advance of the regular opening. This year the students came on Thursday and were carried through a rather strenuous program. The purpose of this program is the orientation of the student to his university. The program was satisfactorily carried out this year, due to better leadership and better arrangements for caring for the students.

One of the dangers that confront any institution is that of hardening and routinizing the curriculum. It is necessary that the faculty constantly keep in mind this tendency and as a result, study the curriculum, so that it may be adjusted to the times and to the student. For many years we have talked about a personnel bureau and something has been done in a minor way. This year the budget made allowance for an executive secretary, and to provide opportunities for the students to learn about their own qualifications and particularly to find out those things that will assist them not only in their college course but in finding a suitable career.

This is the second year of the operation of the new men's dormitories and for the first time they are completely filled. The Dean of Women reports that the women's dormitories are crowded. The student body is more than three hundred larger than last year and the problem of housing students confronts the University again. Whether it is wise to spend more money for more residence halls for men is a question, but it is practically a necessity to make additional provisions for housing women students. with the increasing demands for housing facilities comes the requirement for recreation areas. The University sooner or later will have to open new playing fields, not for varsity teams, but for student recreation activities. Something has been done in this direction in providing tennis courts, but fields for baseball, football and other sports must be provided in the near fu-I have suggested in previous reports that a part of the Experiment Station farm opposite the men's dormitories be used for that purpose.

Perhaps the most pressing problem which the University has at the present time is to make provision for graduate work. The demands in this field are far beyond anything that could have been anticipated. To develop graduate work which the University ought to undertake there must be more and more adequate provisions in the way of laboratories and libraries and it will demand a high type of men. The new library will facilitate this work, but from time to time it will be necessary to review the graduate situation if the University is to meet the demands upon it.

A study is being made under the direction of Dr. J. S. Chambers in in regard to pressing and fundamental facts problems in medical education in Kentucky. The reports which have been submitted by him thus far deal with the number of physicians, hospitals, medical students and some of their problems. The expectation is that this material will be available in the near future, so that the facts may be clearly apprehended and understood. It is proposed to call a meeting of the persons interested in the problem for discussing the situation and still further study.

I have to report to the Board of Trustees that the University has had an excellent year in the one just closing June, 1930, that the morale of the faculty and student body was high, that the spirit of purpose and interest was evident. The various Contributions for the general welcolleges have made progress. Contributions for the general we fare of the State by the College of Agriculture and Experiment Station have been very great indeed. The loss of the leadership which this division of the University work seemed to have suffered in the departure of Dean Cooper proved to be unfounded. The University and the State will continue to enjoy and profit by his leadership and fine judgment in the agricultural and ex-The University has established perimental problems in Kentucky. under the authority of the Board of Trustees a Bureau of School Service, a Bureau of Municipal Affairs, a Bureau of Business Administration. - (8) Agricultural-Engineering Building. A motion was made, seconded and carried authorizing the President to receive bids for the construction of an agricultural engineering building from funds provided by the last Legislature. The Board approved the plans as submitted by the architects, Frankel and Curtis.
- (9) University Observatory. A motion was made, seconded, and carried that the President be authorized to advertise for bids for the construction of the University Observatory.
- (10) Printing. A communication was read by President McVey from the Director of Extension of the United States Department of Agriculture calling attention to the delay occasioned in printing involving the expenditure of Federal funds. The matter was discussed at some length and a motion was made, seconded, and carried authorizing the President of the University to have printing done at places other than the State printer's under such conditions as may be legal, and when he regards it advisable to do so.

(11) Organization of Training School. President McVey made a statement regarding the organization of the Teacher Training School and the agreement which the Board has with the City of Lexington for the payment of part of the salaries of the teachers in the elementary school. He submitted a list of recommendations for appointment on the staff of the Training School, after which a motion was made, seconded and carried that the recommendations of the President be approved. The list recommended was as follows:

Director and Assistant Professor of Education, Mr. Sherman G. Crayton, M. A., University of Indiana, $3,000.00.

Kindergarten Staff Teacher, Miss Frances K. Martin, M. A., University of Ohio, $2,000.00.
