UK Considers Tire Contract

The University has been requested by the War Production Board to consider a contract for tests of a puncture-proof, one-piece wheel and tire. The tests will be conducted in the College of Engineering. Dr. H. L. Donovan is now investigating the possibilities of such a contract.

Last week the WPB queried the executive committee of the board of trustees concerning the supervision of refinement of production processes of the tire. The inventor of the process is Capt. J. V. Martin, Rochelle Park, N. J., head of the Martin Airplane Development Laboratory, Inc.

Resembles Solid Tire

The combined wheel-tire is made of wood and rubber and closely resembles a solid tire. The core of the wheel is made of wood, with shock-absorbing spokes. The base of the tire is made of hickory with a heavy coating of rubber.

Dr. Donovan said that he understood the new wheel-tire could be built for about the same cost of a regular automobile tire. However, it is believed that the new tire will be more resistant to skidding.

Geography Department Established In A&S

The establishment of a geography department in the College of Arts and Science was approved by the board of trustees at a meeting last week.

Development of the department was recommended by President Donovan. He stated that "for several years the University had been considering the establishment of a geography department, but due to lack of sufficient funds, was unable to do so. The adoption of the recent budget by the governor of Kentucky and the general assembly has at last made it possible."

President Donovan pointed out that "the war has made everyone conscious of the need of a knowledge of geography, as never before realized." The army and navy require geography in curriculum in training men in the AST program, and in the training of other fields. It was absolutely essential that men know about the field of geography since they may soon be fighting all

Six Honor Students In Graduation Class

The graduation exercises for the men of Company A, of the Army Specialized Training Program stationed at the University, will be held at 3 p.m. today at Memorial Hall.

The graduation address will be given by Dr. William S. Webb, head of the Department of Physics at the University.

Granted Degrees

The men who will receive their degree in engineering, will be: Philip G. Bernier, Albert P. Marr, Bernard W. Mayberger, Sidney Rosenblatt, Sidney Vogel, David Albert, Peter B. Black, Brooks K. Blanchard, Murray Gensburg, Robert D. Harvey, Stephen I. McCaron, Donald H. Robey, Port Brannon, Jacob A. Bedenbaugh, Colin V. Dunbar, George J. Fagan, Martin L. Goldberg, Chapin Heumann, Harry M. Kiley, Ambrose A. Knapinski, John W. Cunningham, Joseph C. Lanman, Robert J. Remer, Elmer G. Roberts, James H. Snodgrass, Frederick W. Sudhoff, Robert G. Williams, and Edward W. Wilson.

Receive Awards

Graduates who have received the Blue Star Award for Scholastic Excellence are: William A. Hames, Harry H. Denby, Emanuel Lieberman, John R. Peterson, John D. Martin, and Adolph T. Molin.

Brewer To Retire From University

Col. B. E. Brewer, professor of military science and tactics, and commandant of the A.S.T.P. post at the University, will retire from his position in the early fall, and will be succeeded by Col. Guy Chipman, former commander at Camp Campbell, it has been announced.

Colonel Chipman, a cavalry officer, is a native of Falmouth and is a graduate of West Point. He and Colonel Brewer were classmates at the General Staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, in 1924-25.

After serving at the Armored Replacement Center at Fort Knox, Colonel Chipman became commander of Camp Campbell. In 1943, he was sent to the Southwest Pacific.

Dr. Ward Named Director Of Dorms

Two of the men's residence halls, Kinkead and Bradley, which have been leased by the Army for more than a year and a half, will house civilian men students in the fall. Dr. T. T. Jones, dean of men, has announced. Breckinridge hall will be retained by the Army.

Ward Named

The appointment of William Smith Ward, assistant professor of English at the University, as director of the men's residence halls was approved by the executive committee of the school's board of trustees at a meeting held in the offices of Dr. H. L. Donovan, University president, last week. Professor Ward will direct the residence halls in addition to his teaching duties, and Mrs. Ward will serve as housemother and hostess.

Any improvements on the men's residence halls that are necessary will be made before the opening of the fall quarter, Dean Jones said.

H. D. Palmore, Frankfort, a member of the board of trustees, was appointed to the Kentucky Council of Higher Education, succeeding Lee Kirkpatrick, Paris. Other University representatives on the Council include Mrs. Paul Blazer, Ashland; Judge Richard C. Stoll, Lexington; and board members, President Donovan and Dean W. S. Taylor.

Student Stricken With Paralysis

The latest case of poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis, in Lexington, bringing the total to six, is reported to be A. E. Funk, Jr., 22, Frankfort, a student in the College of Law at the University.

Epidemic Not Reached

Dr. Charles D. Cawood of the city-county health department, stated that he would not consider the disease to have reached epidemic proportions until more than 10 cases have been reported.

He urged that all persons take precautions to prevent the spread of the disease. Care should be taken to keep food and water pure. Swimming in polluted streams and lakes should be avoided. There is no particular danger in chlorinated pools, it was pointed out.

Primary symptoms of the disease are gastro-intestinal upsets, pains in the head, neck, and arms, and a cold accompanied by a sore throat.

By Martha Yates

Question: What is your favorite slogan for the coming presidential election?

Answers of the WEAK: Carl Walker, A&S, freshman: Fourth in '44!

Pat Evans, A&S, freshman: Roosevelt forever!!!

Virginia Brady, Ed., sophomore: Down with Dewey!

Bailey Smith, Commerce, freshman: Dewey and Depression!

Adele Denman, A&S, sophomore: Don't be goody with Dewey—be right with Roosevelt!

Betty Brooker, A&S, Junior: Don't cut corners with Dewey—get a square deal with Roosevelt!

'Purge To Hasten Close Of European War'

By Mary Jane Dorsey

Opinion was varied among the University students as to the effect the purge in Germany will have on bringing the European war to an end.

"I don't believe that it will have much effect," commented one student. "Hitler has had definite plans for this war, and the purge is merely an addition to these plans. If the Germans have been able to build up good inner defenses, they will be able to stave off the Allies as long as their supplies last. The end of the war in Europe will depend then, upon how long Germany can continue to supply her armies."

A contrary opinion to the one above was voiced by an ASTP

trainee on the campus. It is his opinion that the purge will definitely shorten the war. "This is an opportunity for which the German underground has been waiting. No doubt they will regard this as a most opportune time to rise in revolt against the tyranny of the Nazi regime."

A different trend of thought was advanced when one student suggested that the workers sent into Germany from conquered countries be armed to participate in an "all out" revolt against the atrocities of Hitler and his followers. After a revolt has led to the fall of Hitler then it will be possible for the generals to sue for peace.

Many students, when questioned, answered either yes or no, but did not supplement their statements with any reasons why they held such beliefs.

"If Hitler continues to purge all of his experienced generals and leaves the direction of the armies in the hands of men like Himmler, only disaster can result. These men are not tacticians of war. Thus an end to the war in the near future seems inevitable."

However, with the exception of only a few students who maintained the theory that the German people are still strongly in favor of Hitler, the majority opinion rampant on the campus is that the purge definitely will lead to the defeat of the German Army sooner than could be expected under normal conditions.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Kernel editor,
Our gripe of the week, month, or rather of the summer quarter, is the shortage of curtains, drapes, or any ole rags at the windows of Jewell hall. Now we are comparatively home-loving girls, but how can we love "home" if it more or less resembles a barn?
For a year and a half we lived three in a room, and although it was a little crowded, we enjoyed it. We had curtains! But now that we are living normally, with only two in a room, we find that our interior decorations have been taken from us.
And none of us can forget the beating the residents of Jewell took early last Spring when we were attacked by a columnist who said we were untidy, etc. Now we are trying to keep our abodes attractive, when we have been given more than a fair chance, but we would like to have some curtains. Can you help us, or do we have to see Mr. Anthony?

"Dear Diary—"

HAYES

The Fischer Bowl

By Billie Fischer

A few of us were gathered around a table in the Grill one morning when someone mentioned the word "antitransubstantiationism." Hiding the fact that we didn't know the meaning of the word, we nodded wisely and said, "It reminds me of 'antidiseestablishmentarianism.'" To which Denman, the third party who looked as if she had just come from her third party piped up with, "Of course! You mean 'restless!'"

Our English Lit class is really very interesting, but we get so very hungry sitting there. Very gradually, we're working our way to the back row. When we reach it, we'll be able to eat our lunch inconspicuously. We must have been hungrier than usual the other day. Glancing over the notes we had taken in class, we found that we had written not "heroic couplets," but "heroic cutlets."

It wasn't very nice of Mr. Roberts to pound the counter in the Grill and scream, "Hoarder! Hoarder!" when we bought three packs of cigarettes at one time. He was just upset because we took the last of his favorite brand. And any brand is everyone's favorite brand nowadays.

Have you heard the one about the absent-minded prof who went for a physical exam and was told to stick out his tongue and say

"Ah!" He complied with the doctor's wishes, and was told, "Your throat's all right—but why the postage stamp?" "A-ha!" said the professor. "So that's where I left it!"

We have a friend who was lucky enough to witness the Democratic Convention in Chicago last week. In a letter, he says, "Incidentally, the only way we got tickets was by running into a Kentucky representative, showing him my University of Kentucky shirt, putting on a slight 'yo-all,' and telling him that I was from U. of K."

Most progressive move of the week: We've been conducting experiments which, if they prove successful, will be a great boon to mankind. And womankind, too. So far, though, we've succeeded in only setting fire to a few tables. We pour beer over a dish of pretzels, and then light it with a match. Some day we will perfect our poor man's crepe suzette.

One of our freshman R.O.T.C. boys was stopped by a soldier and was asked why he was wearing the Medical Corps braid on his cap. It seems that it isn't allowed. When asked why he wore the braid, he answered, "It's my high school's colors!"

More students have joined the "palmistry clan." After gazing at someone's palm for a long time, and telling him the events of his past and future, one of our co-ed's looked at her victim with great wisdom, nodded her head, and said, "I see—I see that you have five fingers!"

Did You Say Moral??

By Billie Fischer

A certain campus character has been trying to rise from debauchery to—well, what else is there? Anyway, his attempts have all been in vain. In spite of all his endeavors, he is still drinking brew for breakfast.

We met him the other day when he was carrying a copy of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam in one hand, and was turning down empty glasses over the footsteps on the floor with the other hand. His third hand was in his pocket. We questioned him about the deplorable state of affairs. In his own words:

"The more we drank, the worse the situation became. And the more we became, the worse the situation drank. Then we drank the situation and became the worse. When we finally worse the situation and became the drunk, we finished the worse and situated the drunk and—"

At this point, the toper toppled under the table-top. Of course, there's a moral to this story. All stories should have morals. Well, there's an exception to every rule, and this must be it. We can't see any moral in it at all. Perhaps it could be: Don't drink. Or, don't drink brew for breakfast—you'll have no room for your lunch.

COLONEL Of The Week

PHYLLIS WATKINS

This Week's Colonel of the Week goes to Miss Phyllis Watkins, Arts and Science Sophomore from Cynthiana, Ky.

Miss Watkins is a member of Cwens, member of the Student Government Association, Panhellenic Representative for Alpha Gamma Delta, and she serves on the Student Union Board. She is also on the Forum Committee, a member of K-Dets and a member of Kampus Kousins.

For these achievements we invite Miss Watkins to enjoy any two of our delicious meals.

1. And then there is the case of Len Keith, he is now wrapped up in a package which reads: "Use No Hooks," girls. He was pinned two weeks ago to the gal back home, Margaret Carr, an old high school flame.

b. According to Francis Lawton, Richard Youngerman has been flying too high, so she has been considering grounding him. Francis, you are ruining our news material, but we love you anyway.

2. "Rate" Bowen made a "3 standing," and we also hear he stands pretty well with Ann Oldham. Before we go on to the b. part, we would like to announce the arrival of one swell "newie," B. J. Brooker of Jewell Hall.

b. Chemistry Prof Bill Gormley, has found the other ingredient for his ideal chemical compound—Ann Ricketts.

3. Those A. D. Pi's go from man to man, or at least Delphia Dunningan has made a switch, to Les Amos. Elementary, my dear Watson, seems like Ann Earle, KD, has solved your mystery.

b. Ensign Si Cramer has arrived in town, pant! pant! Plans for sinking the navy have been made by Mary Lu Sympon and Fay Maggard. Curses.

4. Why fool with Roosevelt and Dewey, Murray Ginsburg for president, while Lil Cook is going to New York to be with Bob Cantor.

b. Joe Gannon has been broadcasting with high frequency with Roseland Koutt.

5. Virginia Rainer is seen flashing an engagement ring, tuff, boys.

b. Will Louise Jewett and Bill Chambers please make up their minds!

6. There has been a nice little expression going around Jewell hall lately which we are forced to attribute to Mac Staton, it is Hi You! with the accent mark on the last syllable.

7. At 2:00 p.m. any night you can find the Triangles chopping down trees with razor blades and making tooth picks out of them, the end justifies the means, we suppose.

Weddings and Engagements

Buckner-Morrison

Miss Sarah Humphreys Buckner's engagement to Lieut. Robert Eugene Morrison, USAAC, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Morrison of Phoenix, Arizona, is announced by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Garrett Davis Buckner. The wedding will take place Sunday, August 13.

Miss Buckner attended the University where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Ginter-Ammerman

The marriage of Miss Thelma Ginter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Ginter of Lexington, and Clifton Edward Ammerman of Owensboro, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ammerman of Lexington, was solemnized at 4:30 o'clock, Saturday, July 22, at the Central Christian church.

The bride is a graduate of Lafayette high school and attended Fugazzi School of Business. Mr. Ammerman received his degree from the College of Agriculture at the University.

Dew-Brown

Miss Betty Dew's engagement to Robert Swann Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Brown of Norfolk, Virginia, is announced by her aunt, Dr. Gladys Smithwick. Miss Dew was graduated from the University in '43.

Dantzler Speaks At Vanderbilt

Dr. L. L. Dantzler, head of the English department at the University, told a conference at Vanderbilt University this week that the humanities in American colleges—literature, language, fine arts, classics, philosophy, and religion—"are designed to make the student sensitive to all phases of learning."

The meeting, conducted by Vanderbilt under a special grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, seeks to define the place and importance of the humanities in modern college curricula.

Dr. Dantzler asserted that knowledge of the subjects would give the student "a curiosity about the world around him" and would provide the "broad background needed for satisfactory living in any field."

Geology Department Continues Field Survey

Staff members of the University will conduct geological field work in two sections of the state during the next six weeks, Dr. A. C. McFarland, head of the geology department, announced this week.

Detailed study will be made of the geology and mineral resources of these sections, including the preparation of maps of all geological formations within the particular area.

Doctor McFarland will spend from August 1 to September 15 working in the quadrangle which includes parts of Bath, Menifee, and Rowan counties. Professor David Young, assistant professor of geology, will make a study of the coal resources of the Hyden quadrangle.

Doctor McFarland will be assisted by Richard Baker, geology student major. Their work will consist of an investigation of the Rose Run and Preston Ore banks of which the United States Bureau of Mines is at present making a quantitative survey.

University Graduate On Mission To Russia

Lt. James R. Marlowe, Lexington, a University graduate, was listed this week by headquarters for the 15th Army Air Force in Italy as a pilot of one of the B-17 Flying Fortresses that participated in the first American shuttle mission to Russia.

Leaving their Italian bases on June 2, the Forts attacked a railroad yard and junction at Debreczen, Hungary, and then continued on to an undisclosed American base in Russia.

Prior to his enlistment in the Army May 16, 1942, Marlowe was with the Phoenix Fuel company in Louisville. He won his wings and his commission at Albany, Ga., on July 28, 1943, and he now holds the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster.

Athletic Department Closes Baseball Season

A baseball team composed of University athletes has closed its season because of transportation difficulties, according to Athletic Director Bernie Shively, who coached the improvised team.

The team played two games this season, both with the American Legion Man-o'-War Post's team, the Colts. The University team was defeated 7 to 5 in the first game, but came back with an 8 to 3 win on July 14. Bill Chambers, University mound expert, was credited with saddling the Colts with their first loss of the current diamond season.

Former Students Meet In Pacific Zone

The meeting of Lt. Colonel Marjion M. Magruder, commanding officer of a Marine night-fighting outfit and 2nd Lieutenant John G. Meyer, quartermaster in the same squadron, proved a pleasant surprise to both. They attended the University together.

Colonel Magruder graduated in 1936. He was a member of Pershing Rifles and Scabbard and Blade, and upon his graduation he entered the Marines. Lieutenant Meyer was graduated from O.C.S. this March.

Appointments

Vera Briscoe, research assistant in the bureau of business research.

Austell Beaton and Juanita Warren were appointed order clerk and secretary, respectively, in the University library. In the residence halls for women appointments were made to Mrs. Gertrude M. Zemp, manager; Mrs. Ballard Luxon and Mrs. C. V. Morgan, house directors; Mrs. W. B. Turner, head resident, Patterson hall; Marguerite Arnold, acting director for the summer quarter, and Helen Crews, registered nurse. Jeannette Graves was appointed secretary in the alumni office to fill the vacancy caused by the absence of Mrs. Ethel Rix who is on leave.

New ASTRP Students To Train On Campus

One hundred and seven men enrolled in the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program are expected to arrive at the University August 2. The Military department has announced.

The men, who are eligible to remain at the University for three terms or more, will be housed in Breckinridge hall. Any overflow of men from Breckinridge will live in Kincaid hall.

Classes for the men will begin August 7. Their courses will include mathematics, chemistry, physics, English, and history.

In addition to the men of this program, 60 of the present group of engineers and 50 of the pre-medical students enrolled in the ASTP will remain on the campus, making a total of 217 service men training at the University.

6,000 Students Expected At UK After War

An enrollment of 6,000 students is expected for the University after the war, President H. L. Donovan stated Monday at a meeting of the Fayette Postwar Executive Committee. He also said that all accommodations will be prepared for the training of adults and ex-service men and women, as well as the regular students.

An extensive building program, including the construction of new dormitories is planned.

Dr. Donovan revealed that a 15-member committee has been working on post-war plans for the University for the last year and a half.

over the globe," he continued.

"This field of knowledge is necessary for intelligent citizens in the future to know the habits, customs, specialization, and codes of other peoples. It will prove most important in the part of preparing for world citizenship," he asserted.

Former Basketball Star Killed In Pacific Area

Lieut. James Goforth, former member of the University Wildcat five, has been reported killed in action in the Pacific area, where he was serving with the United States Marine Corps.

Lieutenant Goforth was a member of the squad of 1937, which was captained by Warfield Donohue. They entered the Southeastern Conference that year and clipped Tennessee for the second conference title since the conference had been organized.

Upon graduation, "Big Jim" became head basketball coach at Black Star high school. Under leave of absence, he entered the Marine Corps in 1941, receiving his commission at Quantico, Va.

He has been in the Pacific for over a year.

Coast to coast . . . they listen to Abbott ad lib between request recordings . . . from midnight on

BUD ABBOTT . . . Director and Conductor of WHAS midnight run, is known to listeners in every state, province, in Canada, the Caribbean area and on ships at sea as the man behind the mike when "Kentucky Calls America." From his ardent audience Bud counts fan letters by the thousands while other folks count sheep . . . and features reading fifty of them each night between request recordings.

As America awakened to the needs of war, night-shifters and up-late G.I.'s dialed WHAS to catch hourly government newscasts. Proof of Bud's popularity is the eating of it. Says he, "I live on the fan of the land." Between mouthfuls of cake, fudge, fried chicken, lemon meringue and orange cream pie, his colleagues agree. Two taxi drivers, hearing their nocturnal announcer express need of black coffee to keep awake, rushed in with steaming beakers. A farm listener in Pennsylvania sent fifty day-old chicks when Bud "aired" his ambition to become a gentleman farmer.

Female fans yearn to know Bud better . . . many write him nightly, beg for photographs, autographs, dates and personal mention on the air. If they could see their dream talking, they'd find he has deep brown eyes, hair and mustache to match. He's young, unmarried and talks with a Southern accent that came all the way from New Hampshire.

With 50,000 watts behind him, Bud Abbott and "Kentucky Calls America," clear-channel, nightly.
