H. L. Donovan Class '14 President UK

Prominent Educator, Is Kentuckian

Dr. Herman Lee Donovan, president of Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College at Richmond for the past 13 years and an alumnus of the University of Kentucky in the class of 1914, was elected the sixth president of the University of Kentucky at the April meeting of the Board of Trustees to succeed Acting President Thomas P. Cooper who has been serving in that capacity since the retirement of President Frank L. McVey July 1.

This is the first alumnus of the University of Kentucky to be named president of the state institution, and alumni look with pride to their leader chosen from the ranks of outstanding graduates.

Doctor Donovan will take office as soon as arrangements can be completed, probably about July 1. At the same meeting of the Board of Trustees Frank D. Peterson, Frankfort, director of accounts and control in the state finance department was named comptroller of the University to succeed Business Agent D. H. Peak who reaches the retirement age July 1.

The new University president was born March 17, 1887 in Mason county, and obtained his early education in the Mason county schools, graduating from Minerva High School in 1905. He was the first student enrolled in the Western Kentucky State Normal School at Bowling Green in 1906, receiving a diploma in 1908, and attended summer schools at the University of Kentucky from 1911 to 1913 completing his work for a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University in 1914. In 1909 he married Miss Nell Stuart of Pembroke, Ky.

Ph. D. 1925

Doctor Donovan did his graduate work at Teachers College, Columbia University, receiving his master's degree in 1920, and attended the

Message From President-Elect

Our Secretary, G. Lee McClain, has asked for a brief message to the alumni at this time. I am very glad to comply with this request. You will understand, of course, that it would be premature for me to announce any policies or plans I may have for the University before launching upon any new program. I must determine, in consultation with the trustees, deans, and faculty, the most important immediate needs of the University; and then plan a program to meet these needs. Therefore, in this message to you I can write only in very general terms.

First, may I take advantage of this opportunity to thank the many graduates of the University who have written me so enthusiastically about my appointment to this post. Your confidence and your wholehearted pledges of support are a positive inspiration to me. May I in turn promise you that I shall devote all my ability and energy to the building of a greater University for our Commonwealth.

Classes Ending In '1 and '6 To 'Reune' June 5 and 6

Alumni day will take on added interest this year for the eleven classes whose reunions have been scheduled for Thursday, June 5, because it will be the privilege of the former graduates to welcome to the campus Dr. H. L. Donovan, recently elected president; the comptroller Mr. Frank Peterson; a Dean of the University, whose name has not been announced.

Viewing the occasion from a consideration of its importance to all former students this year's Commencement season should be the most interesting in nearly a quarter of a century. The largest return of alumni in the records of the institution is expected this year.

Adhering to the custom of the past few years the five-year-plan of reunions will be followed and classes of years ending in "1" and "6" will gather for lunches, dinners, teas and talk fests to the heart's content. Eleven classes are listed in this year's schedule and the secretaries have been very active in planning for the day and in getting in touch with classmates. In case one's mail has been mis-carried or communication for any reason has been interrupted each member of the reuning classes is requested to write to the Alumni Office in the Union building of the University for any details, and information will be sent at once.

For the convenience of all concerned the list of classes and class secretaries is given here:

1886—Dr. Thomas Hunt Morgan, Pasadena Institute of Technology, Pasadena, California (only living member). 1891—William R. Wallis—Marks, Mississippi; Mrs. Joseph H. Kastle (Callie B. Warner) Hawaii, Hawaii, Territory of Hawaii. 1896—James W. Carnahan—2500 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Illinois; J. Irvine Lyle—Orchard Road, Syracuse, New York. 1901—Mrs. William S. Webb

My commission expires Sept. 13, 1943.

Tom Cutler Alumni President Urges Attendance

T. H. Cutler, President of the Alumni Association, University of Kentucky, in a recent statement at the regular monthly meeting of the Executive Committee, called upon the 1941 reunion committee to make every effort to contact the members of the classes that will return for their reunions this year, those classes ending in "1" and "6", and urge everyone to be present on June 5 and 6th.

Governor Keen Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, Dean Thomas P. Cooper and James Park, an alumni member of the Board of Trustees, were present as guests. All joined Tom Cutler in calling for as large an attendance as possible at this year's reunion.

The reunion committee, with Mrs. Ed Shinnick (Willy King) as Chairman, Mrs. Tom Underwood, Dr. G. Davis Buckner, Bernie Shively, Ed Wurtele and Miss Marguerite McLaughlin are planning a very elaborate program a part of which will not be announced at present. There should be an element of surprise of course to a part of it.

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president-elect, J. W. Carnahan and J. I. Lyle, both of the class of 1896, are among those who have been invited to speak at the Alumni banquet on the night of June 5, in the student union building. The committee will make its announcement of the complete program at a later date. You may be assured that you will have a very interesting evening.

President's Message

Our Alma Mater is already a great institution. It has had a splendid leadership for nearly a quarter of a century under Dr. Frank L. McVey. It will be my policy to take up where Dr. McVey and Dr. Cooper have left off and move slowly but steadily forward from that point, step by step, in the attainment of the goals which are the desirable objectives of a great University. I see no need for any great changes in the policies and program of the University. Changes will come about, but they will be made gradually. They will represent the normal changes that would take place under any administration. It has always been my practice in school administration to build any new program on the foundation already laid by my predecessors. This will be my policy at the University.

Support of Alumni

The University needs the active support of its alumni. To be effective, the alumni must be organized. I have been delighted to hear from the Secretary that he is now engaged in forming local alumni groups in various communities of the State. If the graduates of the University will organize for the purpose of promoting the interests of their Alma Mater, and thereby promote the general welfare of the State, they can contribute greatly to the growth and development of the University.

Men have certain basic needs. Faith in something is one of these; loyalty to a cause is another. A man's Alma Mater should merit his faith; it should claim his loyalty. To keep the University worthy of the faith of its graduates shall ever be one of the cardinal objectives of the new administration. Will the graduates covenant with me their devotion and loyalty?

One of the greatest services an alumnus can render the University is to interpret it to our people. Go tell your neighbor, who may not know as much about the University as you do, what this institution is doing to enrich the lives of the people of our State.

Future Hopes

Now may we outline a few hopes and ambitions which we may have for the future:

First, it is our desire to make the University more and more a service agency of the Commonwealth. Let us take the University to the people as well as bring the people to the University.

Second, the University should experience a great growth in the number of students it serves as soon as the present crisis passes. The attendance during the next decade should reach five or six thousand students during the academic year.

Third, the Graduate School should be on the verge of a great development. An ambitious program should be planned and developed. There are thousands in Kentucky ready for this work.

Fourth, the excellent professional schools of the University must be encouraged and adequately supported.

Fifth, the general education pro-

He has been a teacher and educator for 36 years, beginning as county teacher at Lewisburg in 1905. Since that time he has served as principal and superintendent of several Kentucky schools. Chosen dean of the faculty at Eastern in 1923, he later went to Peabody as professor of elementary education, but returned to Eastern as president in 1928.

Past activities include presidency of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the American Association of Teachers Colleges, the Kentucky Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and the Kentucky Mountain Laurel Festival. During the summer of 1936 he traveled in 10 European countries as a member of the Sherwood Eddy Seminar and during the World War was psychologist at Camp Greenleaf, Ga., and Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville.

Author

Having written numerous articles on the United States Constitution and on educational problems, Doctor Donovan also is author of "A State's Elementary Teacher-Training Problem" and co-author of "Supervision and Teaching of Reading," and "Learning to Spell," and more than sixty magazine articles.

Present activities and affiliations include chairmanship of the board of trustees of the Teacher Retirement System of Kentucky and membership in the following groups; Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Sons of the American Revolution, Masons, Rotary, state committee on education and defense, national sub-committee on education and defense, White House Conference on Children in a Democracy, board of directors of the Kentucky Education Association, executive committee of the American Council on Education since 1939 and board of trustees of George Peabody College. He is an elder in the First Christian Church, at Richmond.

DR. THOMAS HUNT MORGAN

Leading off the University of Kentucky's list of all-time famous men is the name of Dr. Thomas Hunt Morgan, illustrious member of a well-known Kentucky family, winner of the Nobel Prize in Medicine in 1933, and the only living member of the class of 1886, which is celebrating its 55th reunion this June.

Doctor Morgan holds three degrees from the University of Kentucky, his B.S. obtained from old State College in 1886, M.S. obtained in 1888, and Doctor of Laws conferred in 1916.

Thomas Hunt Morgan is a native of Lexington, Ky., the son of Charlton H. and Ellen Key (Howard) Morgan. He holds various degrees from other institutions, including a Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins, LL.D. from Johns Hopkins, and from McGill University, the University of Edinburgh, and the University of California; and the Doctor of Science degree from the University of Michigan. He also has a Ph.D. degree from Heidelberg University.

Doctor Morgan's wife was the former Miss Lillian V. Sampson of Germantown, Pa., and they have four children: Howard Key, Edith S., (Mrs. Douglas Whitaker,) Isabel, S., Lillian U., (Mrs. Harry Schenp.)

Early Career

Doctor Morgan's early career began at Bryn Mawr where he served as professor of biology from 1891 to 1904, later going to Columbia as professor of experimental zoology. He has been director of the William C. Kerckhoff Laboratories in the Biological Sciences at the California Institute of Technology since 1928.

He is listed in "Who's Who in America," and "American men of Science," and is a nephew of the famous Confederate leader General John Hunt Morgan. Of equal prominence are his maternal forebearers, having descended on that side, from Francis Scott Key, author of the national anthem.

gram of the University will be expanded and improved. The fine arts will be emphasized.

Sixth, we shall continue to encourage research and experimentation. It is the function of a university to advance the frontiers of knowledge.

Seventh, the fine athletic program will continue to have the support and cooperation of the administration. We believe in athletics, especially when there is also an adequate program of health and physical education geared in with the athletic program.

Finally, no college or university can attain distinction without the active, aggressive, intelligent support of its alumni. The new president will be calling on you for cooperation. He is one of you. He is confident that you will lend a hand.

James Shropshire Officer In Army

James S. Shropshire, affectionately known to the alumni and students as "Jimmie", has entered the military service as a reserve officer, with the rank of Captain, assigned to the 37th Division, Camp Shelby, Mississippi.

Jimmie was the treasurer of the Alumni Association until he received his orders to report for duty on April 19. After graduating in 1929, he became the secretary of the Alumni Association within a short time and continued in the dual capacity as alumni secretary and research assistant for several years. He resigned from this work to become Director of Publications on the campus. While a student at the University, Jimmie was very active in student activities, particularly those dealing with the publications on the campus. Much of the credit for the successful business management of the student publications goes to Jimmie Shropshire. When the Student Union Building was opened, Jimmie was appointed director, and in this capacity met with a similar success.

The student body and the alumni regret very much that they will be temporarily denied the association and guidance of Jimmie Shropshire, but all who know him want to compliment him on his new assignment, and to wish him the best of luck while performing the duties of an officer in the army of the United States.

Helen King Alumni Treasurer

Helen King, Class of 1925, assistant in the Publicity Bureau of the University of Kentucky, has been designated by the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association as the acting treasurer, during the absence of Jimmie Shropshire.

Miss King has also been added to the editorial staff of the Kentucky Alumnus as associate editor. It is with a great deal of pleasure that the alumni greet Helen as a member of the staff and look forward to some interesting alumni publicity work in both the Alumnus and the alumni news column of the Kernel.

MARGARET INGELS

One Of 100 Leaders

Miss Margaret Ingels, who was graduated in 1916 from the University of Kentucky, was honored at the 1940 meeting of the Woman's Continental Congress when that group assembled in New York City and included this well known Kentucky woman engineer in the 100 outstanding women of the Nation.

The distinction of being 'first' is not new to Miss Ingels who was the first woman to graduate from the College of Engineering in the University of Kentucky and she is the one and only woman listed as an engineer in the highly important field of air conditioning with the Carrier Conditioning Company in Syracuse, N. Y. During the 1940 World's Fair, Miss Ingels designed the famous "Igloo" a device for cooling feet which had become hot and inflamed from walking. The booth soon became one of the most popular spots at the Fair.

1916 Graduate

Miss Ingels was born in Paris, Ky., and was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1916, the first woman in the world to receive the degree of mechanical engineer. Known as "one of Dean Anderson's boys" at the University, she later obtained a master's degree in engineering after three years of practical experience.

Her first job was with the traffic engineering department of the Chicago Telephone Company, which position she left in 1917 to go with Carrier. From there she went to the research laboratories of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers at the U. S. Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh, where she stayed until 1926, going with the New York Commission on Ventilation at that time. Her study was to correlate health and attendance of school children to various types of ventilating systems.

Editor With Carrier

Since 1929 she has been with Carrier. At present she is engineering editor, and has written innumerable articles for such magazines and technical publications as Heating and Ventilating Magazine; Industrial and Engineering Chemistry; Refrigerating Engineering; Commercial American; Manufacturer's Record; Real Estate; Good Housekeeping; Showman's Trade, and many others.

Her lectures on air conditioning have been attended by more than 10,000 people all over the country.

In addition to these articles and lectures, Miss Ingels' work on air conditioning is cited in the current edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica. She is the only woman engineer in the world to be accorded this distinction. Her activities are legion, and her club memberships wide and varied.

Our Summer Session

Alumni of the University of Kentucky may well be proud of the Summer Session of their Alma Mater. The enrollment has grown from 1463 in 1932 to 2,884 in 1940, a 97 per cent increase. During this period the university summer sessions in America have shown a median increase of only 17.9 per cent. Both graduates and undergraduates attend our Summer Session from nearly every state in the Union.

A large number of visiting faculty members are brought to the Summer School from many of the leading universities of the country. This summer we shall have on our staff such noted persons as: Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia University, Dr. Harold F. Clark of Columbia University, Dr. Hamden L. Forkner of Columbia University, Dr. R. W. Gregory of the U. S. Office of Education, Dr. Heber Richards of Teachers College of Connecticut, and Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame University.

Carnahan, Lyle, Class Of '96

To Return In June

J. W. CARNAHAN

James William Carnahan, Chicago, Ill., educational publisher, prominent official in many civic and charitable organizations in Chicago, an outstanding alumnus of the University of Kentucky in the class of 1896, has signified his intention of returning to his 45th class reunion this June.

Mr. Carnahan has notified the alumni office that he has also written letters to members of his class, urging them to attend the class reunions June 5.

Mr. Carnahan is a native of Barbourville, Ky., the son of Robert Charles and Naomi Carnahan, and did his preparatory school work at the old Preparatory School of State College, later obtaining his A.B. degree from the University of Kentucky in 1896. In 1897 and 1898 he did graduate work at the University of Chicago.

Kentucky Teacher

He taught at Berea College and other Kentucky institutions before going to Chicago, where he is now president of Lyons and Carnahan, Publishers of school and college textbooks.

He has served as president of the Kentucky Society of Chicago, and as an official in various charitable organizations and the Chicago

Wallis, Class '91 Sends Greetings

An interesting letter has been received from W. R. Wallis, Marks, Miss., who, with Mrs. Joseph H. Kastle, (Callie B. Warner,) Honolulu, Hawaii, is one of the two surviving members of the class of 1891 which is scheduled for its reunion this June.

Mr. Wallis, who is a civil engineer in Marks, Miss., specializing as a consultant in drainage, hopes to return for the reunion, but will probably be the lone representative of his class, as Mrs. Kastle's residence is so far from home it seems improbable at this time that she will be able to return.

Mr. Wallis' Letter

Mr. Wallis' letter, follows:

Mr. G. Lee McClain, Secretary
University of Kentucky Alumni Association.

Dear Sir:

I have your kind letter suggesting that I be with you in June. It would certainly give me great pleasure to be there and I am going to try to do arrange. Too early as yet to say definitely. My last visit was in 1902.

Much will depend on whether or not my son can get away from his work to accompany me. Not that I am not able to travel alone, but we have long planned to make the trip together.

He is a graduate of Miss. State class of 1931. He is with the U. S. Engineers on airport construction and may not be able to get leave. I think I may be able to find a snap shot of myself, which I will send. I don't have pictures taken as a usual thing.

When I have had time to know definitely about coming, will advise either direct or through some of my family.

Very truly yours,

W. R. WALLIS

Hopes to Return

Mr. Wallis' interest in his Alma Mater and his hope to be present should be an inspiration to all homecoming alumni this year. He is a native of Fayette county, the son of J. W. and Lizzie Russell Wallis, and was married to Miss Corrie Hussey in 1901. He has one son, William R. Wallis, Jr.

Leaders In Their Fields

J. I. LYLE

J. Irvine Lyle, president of the Carrier Corporation, one of the nation's leaders in the field of heating and ventilating engineering, and standard-bred horse owner and enthusiast, is one of the prominent members of the class of 1896 at the University of Kentucky which holds its 45th reunion this June.

Mr. Lyle has written that he will return for the reunion of his class.

Mr. Lyle is a native of Fayette county, the son of Joel Irvine and Cornelia Bailey Lyle. His wife is also a native Lexingtonian, and was Miss Elizabeth May Biggerstaff. He has two children, Joel Irvine, III, and Cornelia Elizabeth, (Mrs. Martin E. Snyder.)

Early Career

Mr. Lyle began his career in the Pullman shops at Ludlow, Ky., progressing from there to the office of superintendent of motive power, Southern R.R.Co., at Ludlow, then to sales engineer, later becoming New York City branch manager of the Buffalo Forge Co., at Buffalo, N. Y. In 1899 he was made general manager of the Carrier Air Conditioning Company, progressing to treasurer and general manager of the Carrier Engineering Corp., in 1915.

Alumni Exec. Com. Commends Choice Of Dr. Donovan

The executive committee of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association, at a meeting held April 12 adopted a resolution commending the selection of Dr. H. L. Donovan, present head of Eastern Teachers College, as president of the University, effective July 1.

The committee also adopted a resolution commencing Dean Thomas Poe Cooper, acting president of the University since last fall, for his work in that capacity.

In approving the selection of Dr. Donovan, the committee's resolution, proposed by Dr. G. Davis Buckner, stated, "particularly do we view this selection as being wise and of sound judgment because we know that under his able leadership, which is a product of wide training, earnestness and vision, the value and future usefulness of our University is assured."

The resolution further stated: "We, who represent the alumni of the University, through the executive committee, feel that our primary function is to assist, to the limits of our ability, the building of, not only a great University of Kentucky, but one which sends forth products who are fitted to obtain the best out of life, instead of just the most, and who can radiate kindness and tolerance to others and do their share in building a better world in which to live. With this in mind, we wish to go on record as assuring President-Elect Donovan of our sincere determination to assist him, to the limit of our ability, in making his administration successful.

"We consider it a great privilege and pleasure to offer our services and loyalty to him as president of the University of Kentucky, and we assure him that when called upon we shall lend our aid in the furtherance of his program."

The resolution was signed by T. H. Cutler, president of the association.

Definite Program Organized, Alumni Clubs Underway

At an April meeting of the Alumni Executive Committee the announcement was made that a definite program for the organization of alumni clubs throughout the state had been decided upon. This program calls for the organization of alumni clubs in each of the 38 senatorial districts of the state and in the larger centers of population. In addition to these organized clubs, those which are in existence in cities out of the state will be contacted more closely and an effort will be made to build up the membership through such activities.

Campus Club

During the past few weeks the members of the University staff, who are alumni of the University, perfected an organization, electing Dean William S. Taylor of the College of Education as president; Professor H. H. Downing, Vice-president; and Dr. G. Davis Buckner as secretary and treasurer. Committees have been appointed by the president and they are now preparing a complete program of activities for the club. It is generally felt that this program will be one of the most productive that has yet been introduced in the Alumni Association.

Louisville Club

During the past week, plans were made for a meeting of the Kentucky alumni in Louisville and Jefferson County, which was held on Wednesday, April 30, 6:30 p.m., at the Canary Cottage.

Bernie Shively, Ab Kirwan and M. E. Potter, with his "U. K. Troupers" were on the program.

Dick Boyd, Dan Ewing, Reed Miller, Earle Grabfelder, Dr. R. C. Pearlman, Robert Bamber, Ralph Morgan, and several other alumni, held a preliminary meeting recently in Louisville and made the necessary plans for this organization meeting on April 30.

Kentucky's Four Hundred

More than 400 University of Kentucky boys and girls will be candidates for degrees at the June commencement exercises this year, and it is the thought of the alumni office that alumni should be particularly interested in these several hundred young Kentuckians, either by birth or by adoption, who will be faring forth into the world of business, in search of jobs.

There are many alumni of the University of Kentucky in executive positions who will be able to help these young people find their places, and it would seem that with your knowledge of the training obtainable here at the University, you would be more than anxious to have some of these young people in your business personnel.

More than 150 will be graduated with degrees in the arts and the sciences, including medical technology, bacteriology, industrial chemistry, music, journalism, art-law, social work, library science, geology, history, English, political science, zoology, psychology, sociology, physical education, anthropology and archaeology, romance languages, botany, art, foreign language, and philosophy.

In the College of Agriculture approximately 70 will receive degrees in that and in home economics; more than 50 are candidates for degrees in the College of Education; about 70 students will receive degrees in commerce; more than 40 are candidates for the various engineering degrees, and between 10 and 20 will receive degrees in law.

Surely, someplace in your organization there are openings for these young Kentuckians who may not have made contacts, and surely, with your love of your alma mater and your appreciation of the work the University of Kentucky is doing with these young people, you, above all other employers, will wish to get in touch with the 1941 crop of graduates. If you do, write to the Alumni Office and state your needs and we will refer your letter to the proper authorities.

Wallis Sends Greetings

He attended old Dudley School in Lexington, and received his C.E. in Engineering from the University of Kentucky in 1891. While an undergraduate he was a member of the Union Literary Society, there being no fraternities at the University while he was a student.

After leaving the University he entered private practice as an engineer, doing special work as a consultant in drainage and conservation. He has done levee construction, river work, and installation of drainage works.

Mr. Wallis is a member of the Mississippi Society of Professional Engineers. Before leaving Kentucky he was a member of the National Guard.

For the past two years Mr. Wallis has been on a statewide investigation of drainage districts of Mississippi under the state government and the U. S. Bureau of Soil Conservation, which investigation is now complete.

The University of Kentucky Summer Session, 1941

First Term: June 16 to July 19

Second Term: July 21 to August 23

A faculty of 225 members will offer more than 700 graduate and undergraduate courses for the 1941 Summer Session.

The tuition fee for the Summer Session is purposely kept low. The regular fee for a full term in all colleges, except Law, is $22.75. In the College of Law it is $27.50 per term.

Both the elementary and high schools will be open during the first term for observation and practice teaching.

Recreation and social events are a special attraction. Convocations, concerts, receptions, tours, and many other social events have been scheduled for this summer. Recreational activities under the supervision of the Department of Physical Education include golf, tennis, tap dancing, social dancing, archery, volley ball, modern dance, bowling, swimming, and recreational games. All these activities are free to summer students.

Spring Sports Swing Into Action

With only one more month to go many of the athletic activities on the campus are putting on extra steam to complete their schedules, some are calling it a day and closing the gates. Tennis, golf, swimming, and track have come into the limelight.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE ENDS

Spring football practice ended here last week with a Blue vs White inter-squad game on Stoll Field, won, surprisingly enough, by the less experienced Blues.

Both teams, however, made splendid showings . . . seemed almost equal. Playing for the "White" crew were such aces as Noah Mullins, Bob Herbert, Claude Hammond, Clark Wood, and Junie Jones, who has been converted by Coach Kirwan from blocking back to half-back.

On the "Blue" squad a number of prospective stars glittered. Most prominent in the spring game was an 185-lb. halfback named Phil Cutchin. The son of Carlyle Cutchin, retiring Murray coach, this boy spark-plugged his team's attack with his running, passing, and punting.

One of his punts traveled 90 yards, most of the distance in the air. According to Coach Bernie Shively it was the longest kick by a Kentuckian since Ralph Kercheval played for the Wildcats.

Also outstanding were Charlie Kuhn, an 185-pound Louisville back, and Carl Althaus, an end.

Spring statement by Kirwan: "Satisfactory!"—and he remarked that quite cheerfully.

HILLENMEYER TO CAPTAIN SWIMMERS

Henry Hillenmeyer of Lexington, veteran free-stroker, has been elected captain of Kentucky's pool-less swim team to succeed Gene Riddell, also of Lexington. Henry is the second Hillenmeyer to captain the Catfish; his brother Herb led the undefeated 1939-40 squad.

Jimmy Shropshire was re-elected coach of the team for next year.

At the Southeastern conference swim meet last month in Atlanta two U.K. divers, Letelle Stephenson and Houston Curtis, placed first and second respectively in the high diving board contest and second and third in the low board division. It was the first time Kentucky has ever had a conference winner. These two boys were the only university entries.

Track, always a favorite sport with the athletes themselves, is under the direction of Joe Rupert, '35.

Hit hard by graduation, the 1941 cinder squad will be made up of far less veterans than was last year's, but Coach Rupert expects to find enough replacements from his reserves and freshmen to fill the riddled ranks, giving Kentucky its usual excellent squad. At any rate, here is the schedule: April 12—Hanover, at Hanover. April 19—Vanderbilt, at Nashville. April 26—Southeastern Missouri Teachers College, at Lexington. May 3—Tennessee, at Lexington. May 10—U. of Cincinnati, at Cincinnati. May 16, 17—Southeastern Conference meet, at Birmingham.

Special emphasis is being placed on golf in the Bluegrass this year, for S. A. "Daddy" Boles feels that he will have one of the most potent club combination ever mustered at Kentucky.

The season was slated to start officially with a match with Cincinnati on April 25 and "Daddy" Boles sounded the beat for assembly at least a month earlier.

Following is the tentative schedule: April 25—Cincinnati, Lexington. April 26—Missouri State Teachers College, Lexington. May 2—Tennessee, Lexington. May 9—Cincinnati, in Cincinnati. May 16—Tennessee, Knoxville. May 17—Georgia Tech, in Atlanta.

STAKER HEADS BASKETEERS

Captain of the 1941-42 basketball team will be Carl Staker, a junior in the Engineering College. Besides playing basketball, this Maysville youth is the number one pitcher on the baseball team, is a member of Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary, and Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity.

TENNIS

Professor H. H. Downing, who this year starts his twentieth season as coach of the Tennis Team, is whipping his players into shape for an interesting season.

Professor Downing has acquired, to assist him in taking care of the freshmen squad, Earl Senff, '31. Earl has returned to the University to take graduate work and has consented to help Professor Downing on the courts. Earl played three years, here, one as freshman and three on the varsity. He was captain in 1931.

The necessary appropriations have been granted to send the squad on a four-day trip into the south. The Kentuckians will play Georgia Tech, Sewanee, Vanderbilt, and Western State Teachers College in Bowling Green. There are a number of other match dates on the schedule.
