

The Shop for Pappagallo

in the Lansdowne Shoppes

a friendly little place like home, where you can relax, have some great coffee, enjoy good company and find marvelous fashions

KENNEDY BOOK STORE

the no. 1 bookstore serving u.k. students

405 south lime

"we appreciate your patronage"

KYIAN

1974

The Kentuckian is published for the students at the University of Kentucky in Lexington.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor-in-Chief	Beth Ann Jewell
Photography	David Dolkart
Business Manager	Georgeann Rosenberg
Copy Editing	Mary Amidon
Curriculum	Linda Carroll
Portraits-Organizations	Patsy Cook
Index-Secretary	Elaine Evans
Sports	Alan Grogan
Special Features	Keith Muth
Adviser	Nancy Green

COVER STORY

Secretariat raced to a great achievement in '73 winning the Triple Crown. Now living at Claiborne Farms, he has become local color. Horses are Lexington's greatest attraction; horse farms, Keeneland, Red Mile, and UK's Agriculture College, stress the status of the horse. The designers, Beth Ann Jewell and Georgeann Rosenberg, chose Secretariat as a symbol for UK, Lexington, and the yearbook struggling to come out on top. The colors were chosen as a change from the past four black and navy blue Kentuckian covers. Magazine design for the logo, flag, and cover stories were considered. The photograph was furnished by the Keeneland Association.

Copyright by the 1974 University of Kentucky Board of Student Publications. All rights reserved. Volume 80; 1973-74. Printed by American Publishing Co., Clarksville, Tenn. Portrait photography by Root Photographers, Chicago, Ill. The Kentuckian is published yearly at an annual subscription rate of $7.50. The editors welcome any suggestions for articles or coverage in future editions. Offices are located in rooms 113-A and B in the Journalism Building, UK campus, Lexington, Ky., 40506.