Stay for Tea and More

Looking for that perfect Christmas gift? Well look no more! The University of Kentucky Women's Club has the perfect gift for only $8.35 (includes tax). Stay for Tea and More is a collection of recipes gathered by the UK Women's Club, tested for accuracy and then reviewed for inclusion in the publication. This cookbook is now in its third edition and the only repeated recipe from the second edition is Frances Jewell McVey's Maxwell Place Spiced Tea. The book is spiral bound and easy to use in the kitchen. If you would like to look at it before buying, the cookbook is on display at the Bank of Lexington in Turfland Mall and can be purchased at the Mall. If that is not convenient, contact Diane Brunn in the Agriculture Library and she will make arrangements to get you one. A sample recipe by one of our local stars is listed below. I have it from a good source that this is an excellent coffee cake. Proceeds from the cook book go to the Women's Club Scholarship Fund. (Toni Powell)

UK LIBRARY SYSTEM

The following is another in a series of descriptive articles on the UK Library System.

Education Library

The Education Library, located in Room 205 of Dickey Hall, houses over 61,000 volumes of monographs and journals and has over 346 journal titles. These holdings are greatly augmented by a collection of over 300,000 pieces of microfiche that is part of the Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) database.

The Education Library is also known for its excellent collection of children's literature and its K-12 textbook collection.

In October 1983, the Education Library began offering automated searching services with full access to all online databases such as ERIC, PSYCHOLOGICAL ABSTRACTS, SOCIOLOGICAL ABSTRACTS, and DISSERTATION ABSTRACTS.

While the Educational Collection is a specialized one, it does have a good collection in generic subject areas such as administration, psychology, sociology and philosophy.

For additional information concerning the Education Library and its collection and services, call Larry Greenwood at 257-7797.
