Dear Victor

I am terribly sorry to hear you are ill. I shall miss seeing you and Carolyn tomorrow, but that is not important, you can always come later. Any ~~time~~ time will be fine. The important thing is not for you to rush over here but for you to get well. So take a good rest. And take your time. There is no hurry at all. If you want me to sign the sheets, just send them over. And if there is anything else I can do, just let me know. Meanwhile I will be praying for your recovery. So have a vacation, take things quietly. It will be the best thing for you.

Besides it is likely to be unpleasantly hot these next few days, this is the worst part of the summer. Don't be in too much of a hurry to bind all those books.

God bless you. Let me soon have the pleasure of hearing that you are resting and feel much better.

Faithfully in Christ
