ADOLPH FREDERICK RUPP—When the sport of basketball is mentioned today, a direct chain of thought eventually brings out the name of one man who has become virtually synonymous with the game over the past quarter-century—Adolph Rupp of Kentucky.

Such unprecedented recognition for the fabulous cage mentor is only natural since his deeds in the past 27 years as head man of the famous Wildcats of the Bluegrass have resulted in phenomenal success as witnessed by the record of 561 victories out of 658 starts—a winning average of better than 85 percent.

Rupp is recognized by sports authorities as the nation's winningest basketball mentor and one of the game's most astute and colorful students. The amazing "Man in the Brown Suit" is credited in most quarters with doing more than any other modern tutor to make basketball a national spectator sport. From the very outset of his career at Kentucky, which began in 1930, he has introduced or popularized many new and revised trends in the game that have aided materially in making the country basketball-minded. One such innovation was the controlled fast break offensive pattern which has since become the crowd-pleasing trademark of Wildcat cage teams.

The colorful Kentucky Colonel has become, without a doubt, the best known and most widely quoted cage coach in America and his personal fame is equalled only by the success he has instilled in the highly-publicized Kentucky basketball powerhouses.

The record shows an unparalleled honor roll of 17½ Southeastern Conference titles (one was shared), three NCAA Tournament championships, and a National Invitation Tournament trophy. Added to this list of honors, Rupp's distinguished Wildcats own four titles from the Sugar Bowl Tournament and three triumphs in their own high calibre U.K. Invitational Tournament as well as Olympic Trials collegiate bracket laurels in 1948 and a nominal world's championship through participation as one half of the successful USA entry in the '48 Olympic Games.

Meet A Wildcat —

JOHN CRIGLER—Senior—Forward
Hebron, Ky.

When the nominations are in for the unsung hero of Kentucky's surprising basketball record of last season, the count is sure to give a lot of support to rugged John Crigler.

Actually John was never outstanding in any particular game and admittedly many fans would have difficulty trying to recall that he is the fourth man in the core of starters returning for another season of competition in 1957-58. But he possessed peculiar traits that made him a most valuable member of Baron Adolph Rupp's starting lineup last season and he is being counted on for another fine contribution this year. Although an erratic scorer, Crig has that great trait of being unruffled by pressure and often comes up with important points when they are needed the most or the going is the toughest for the Wildcats.

Crigler also supplies the steadying influence that every good team needs. Never emotional under the most trying conditions, he helps the club keep its poise.

He contributed 289 points to the Wildcat cause and hauled down 227 rebounds last season while seeing approximately 829 minutes of action in every one of UK's 28 games.

STUDENT MANAGERS—Rex Bailey and Dave McClelland

HARRY LANCASTER, Assistant Coach—When Harry Lancaster finds a spare moment to reflect on his days as an all-around star athlete at Georgetown (Ky.) College back in the early thirties, he can recall with a degree of dismay how close he came to never pursuing the "round ball" sport that in the days since has earned him a somewhat unique position in the basketball world.

An All-Conference halfback for three straight years and captain during his last two seasons, Lancaster's football career almost overshadowed his play on the basketball court. In the cage sport, he was equally successful—with three All-Conference nominations and two team captaincies to his credit—but considered himself a better football player than cager. Experience, however, proved him a good student and teacher of the sport of basketball as he began his coaching career.

Lancaster bosses a promising group of yearling cagers and holds down the position of assistant varsity basketball coach and general right hand man to the fabulous Adolph Rupp. When he was made a full-time assistant by Coach Rupp in 1948, Lancaster joined a very select group due to the general scarcity of such positions at major colleges and universities. He was born in Paris, Ky., in 1911, and attended Paris High School, participating for four years in all sports.

BILL WIREMAN, Assistant Coach—Newest member of the University of Kentucky coaching staff is a native Kentuckian with a background of participation in three sports and coaching experience in basketball and baseball. He was born in Jackson, Ky., 25 years ago and educated at Georgetown College and U.K. Wireman, appointed last July to assist in freshman basketball and baseball, becomes the second aide on the staff of Adolph Rupp and will handle not only coaching duties but also recruiting and scouting assignments.

Graduated from Valley High in Louisville, where he played as a guard in basketball, a quarterback in football and shortstop-second baseman in baseball, Coach Wireman went to Georgetown on a football scholarship in 1950. Sidelined by a knee injury, he was forced to concentrate on basketball and baseball and lettered in both prior to graduation in 1953.
