THE DERBY "They're off!" The race is on. Down the track they go. Thundering, panting, straining. They lean the stretch, and faster yet. Thundering, panting, straining, they come. Around the bend, and in the stretch. The roaring crowd is on its feet—Across the stretch, thundering, panting, straining— The race is won! —WYCUR

MOTHER'S DAY

Much has been said and written about Mother's Day since the establishment of a day in their honor. There has been a great deal of maudlin sentiment expressed in flowery phraseology, much of it hypocritical. Yet Mother's day grows in importance and significance each year because behind it lies a universal principle—the love and veneration in which every true American holds his mother.

The establishment of Mother's day does not mean, as some have charged, that this should be the only day in the year when children should express their feelings toward their mothers. It is only a very special day set apart and dedicated to these women, as throughout the ages days have been dedicated to saints, and to religious and political figures. Christmas is not meant to be the only day upon which we rejoice in the birth of a Christ-child.

Thanksgiving is not the only day on which we are to give thanks for the good things in life. These days are only symbols, giving us an opportunity to show by our observance of them the feeling which is ours throughout the year. On the university campus, the day should be, indeed, one of general and enthusiastic observance, for many students are still depending on those sources of all things, their mothers, for encouragement and guidance. House-mothers, as representatives of the real and absent ones, will come in for a full share of the attention and glorification, as their grateful charges attempt to express their appreciation of the patience and goodwill shown by them throughout the school year.

OUR REPRESENTATIVE TRACKMEN

The University of Kentucky is accustomed to having its teams perform in the fields of football and basketball, and now, the university track team is carrying on the tradition. By its outstanding performance last week, and similar successes thus far through the season, it has displayed a spirit and skill that should be a source of pride to the university.

These boys who have performed so creditably and labored so faithfully toward the same end, the furtherance of the interests of the university by means of favorable publicity and the completion on their own part, of a well-rounded education, deserve all of the encouragement and support that the student body can give them.

THE NIGHT Night, like a blanket of snow. Slowly and quietly covers the earth. Smooths its wrinkles. Then melts with the rising sun. —JAMES-WYLLIE CURTIS

Jest Among Us

Despite the fact that the government is making a new quarters, the Jester suspects that they'll be just as hard to get as the old ones. The Jester cannot help but wonder if the band playing during the twilight concert is a help or a hindrance to occupants of the botanical gardens. If this new instructor, Major Brewer, shoots himself without the slightest provocation. The Jester fears to think what he'll do to backward students.

gram—headline. The Jester don't blame them a bit—we'd get rid of it, too. So one of The Kernel sports reporters turned out to be a caddy. Well, The Jester always thought that they'd finally find some use for them.

And what's more, if the mugg who thinks it will rain on May day voices his opinion, there's going to be a first class murder committed around here.

The Jester would like to know what relation the observatory has to the Kaphas (Our pardon, Van Druten), and why a picture of it appeared on the same page as the gals who prefer quality to quantity.

We join with the student body in hoping that the campus animal trainers don't pull the gag they got off so well last May. While might get mad and "whele" you.

DOTES AND ANTI-DOTES

The Lexington fire department is getting hotter and hotter. Seven fire trucks answering a downtown call the other night found only a decrepit and smoke-emitting tourist car manned by college eds. It isn't the heat, it's the humidity.

Two Kadie ladies and their indiscreet escorts hiking toward town from an inconsiderable auto and an empty gasoline tank hailed a passing car. They were picked up. Finding the car loaded with bootleggers, they politely insisted on booting it back to town.

The Kaphas are at it again. Quoting from their Suky May day booklet history: "We not only take the pick of the freshmen, but we bring out the best in these freshmen and thus make our chapter of today." A pick is especially handy in the ice business.

Today's food for thought: FISH. I wonder what would happen to all the erstwhile senior incumbents of campus offices, political and otherwise, if some enterprising and ambitious campus politician called to the attention of university authorities the following interesting facts:

Today is May day. Today on university records all classes move up one grade; i. e. seniors are now graduate students, juniors, seniors; etc. And that university rules for bid graduate students to hold certain campus offices.

Scabbard and Blade held a rough-night initiation lately. Heading the pledges toward the calvary club with the sworn intention of meeting them there, the actives deserted homeward. Late one Pikap recovers a plaintive telephone call from police headquarters asking for bail. The ed rushed coolward only to find that the police, themselves, rarely call.

LOOKING BACK

20 Years Ago This Week This issue of The Idea (The Kernel) was known as High School edition and was published for students attending the high school week. Lawrenceburg High school was winner of the track and field meeting held on Stoll field. Male of Louisville was second.

15 Years Ago This Week Four hundred students have left the university since the World War started. Fifty more were expected to leave for training camps this week. Fifteen high schools were here to compete in debate and track meet.

10 Years Ago This Week Nine recruits were broken as Berea Academy won annual high school track and field meet. Drive for a memorial to war heroes progressed on campus and throughout the state. Wildcat thunders dominated the University of Cincinnati track men by 48 1-2 to 8 1-2 score.

5 Years Ago This Week The 1927 Kentuckian was off the press the earliest in the history of the university. Eta Sigma Phi, honorary scholastic fraternity for Latin and Greek students, was to be installed with 15 charter members. Student body celebrated many festivities in May Day. Martha Minihan was crowned as Queen of the May.

1 Year Ago This Week This issue of The Kernel was the May Day edition known as the May Queen and her attendants. Ren Allison, Nancy Serughian, and E. O. Robinson were given the annual Algonquin Sidney awards. "Holiday," a play in three acts, was given by the Guignol theater.

QUIS VADIT

By JOHNNIE CRADDOCK

As a special attraction on the dates mentioned above the Kentucky presents the "Varieties of 1932." It is a really entertaining revue with twenty-two persons and featuring Emmett Miller, Vernon Brothers (Sons of Rhythm), Lucille and Chet Robinson's Southern Syncopators.

Advice is a good thing if you don't listen to it. And he says that anyone who wantonly neglects to accept his advice need not blame anyone but himself if he falls in his life's work. He offers to tell, free, gratis, for nothing, how to save your money before you enter the portals of old age. He teaches his students that they should go out into the world and open up banks for themselves. But that isn't a very good policy, for some very respectable men have been caught in the act of opening up a bank.

This man tells you how to save and invest your money, but what we want to know is how to get it. You can't tell a good bank against playing the stock market. Who wants to play in the stock market anyhow? The stock are all a good smelling place.

No matter what kind of a bank you put your money in—a coal bank, clay bank, or sand bank, they will all fall down and go bust sooner or later. You can't tell a good bank president from a first class garbage man, for many a sly old fog gallant, passing around in sheep's haberdashery, things have come to such a pretty pass that a professional burglar has had to hold up three or four banks before he can get enough money for a week's room rent.

This man has written a little spasm called "The Old To A Miser" which should be enshrined in the nation's heart. For best results, it should be repeated before, after, and between meals. All of his students stand and repeat it three times every morning. He can get enough money for a week's room rent.

Who is this man? Snuggly wrapped in cellophane.

Grizzled Oldtimer Grants Interview To Kernel Scribe

Chadwick Bridgeway Can any of you fellows remember way back in '22 when May day began on the university campus? Can any of you fellows remember way back in 1975 when Lexington, the first settlement in Kentucky, was founded?

A difference of 147 years, stranger. Well, suit back in 1922, that was the year Lem Fuddy shot his wife for follin' with that city slicker, some young fellow named there at the University of Kentucky' up and decided they'd pick out the purtiest gal on that there campus. And listen, stranger, they done it, and they been doin' it ever since.

You know, stranger, there's a long tale behind those gons on 'a' course I don't expect you to remember as far back as 1975 but I heard many a time my old grand-ma, she lived to be a 102 and a right spry critter such as she was, tell about it.

Listen right pert, stranger, and I'll tell as much as I can collect. Well, suit John Maxwell and his crew came into Kentuck' and settled. Well, they brought their women in with them and purty soon they began to raise their families. All the time they wuz doin' this, the

Beauty Queens and Other Co-ed Notables of the Campus

Sylvia Zimmerman, Ft. Thomas, a freshman in the Education college, Alpha Gamma Delta pledge, was one of the eight co-eds chosen as the most beautiful at the university. She is a Stroller eligible and has served on the Guignol theater staff.

Eugenie Beck, Louisville, Delta Delta Delta, was chosen as one of the eight beauties in the 1932 contest. While a student at U. K. Miss Beck was dramatic editor of The Kernel and a member of Strollers. Her engagement to Thomas L. Riley, university alumnus, was announced last week.

Marjorie Weaver, Louisville, Kappa Delta, chosen as one of the eight beauties in the 1932 Kentuckian contest, is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences. She is a member of Strollers, and served on the 1932 Kentuckian staff.

Mrs. Joseph M. Ferguson, nee Margaret McAllister, Lexington, was chosen by George White, New York beauty expert and producer of the famed George White Scandals, as the most beautiful co-ed at the university in the annual contest conducted by the Kentuckian, university yearbook. A member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, while attending the university, Mrs. Ferguson was a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Floy Bowling, Lexington, Delta Delta Delta, sophomore in the Arts and Sciences college, was selected as one of the eight beauties in the 1932 Kentuckian contest. She is a member of SuKv, Cwens, and was battalion sponsor last year.

Jane Shelby, Danville, who was selected in the 1932 contest as one of the eight most beautiful co-eds at the university, is a senior in the College of Education and a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Carleen Grant, Winchester, Chi Omega, was one of the winners in the 1932 Kentuckian beauty contest. She is a member of the French and English clubs, the Young Woman's Christian association, and a senior in the College of Education.

Whehle To Tell Her She's May Queen

"Alpha Gamma Delta house?... Is Miss Ruth Whehle there?... She is but you don't want to disturb her?... Who is this I'm talking to?... Oh, you're a goat and you don't think it's right for you to disturb her.... If it is something that a very respectable fraternity man might know, would you mind telling me just what Miss Whehle is doing?... You don't mind telling me—she's in a huddle with—who? Oh, that's all right.... Well, you just tell her that a representative of the press wants to talk to her.... Yes, I'm a Kernel reporter."

There was a very audible gasp of awe from this freshman. She wouldn't have guessed had she known that I was the froth that sat next to her in geology lecture and copied her quizzes every Friday. It certainly sounded for a minute as if "Babe" Wright had made his place-kick good in that Tennessee game.... It was just the huddle breaking."

"Hello... Miss Whehle?... this is a representative of the press. Yes, I'm a Kentucky Kernel reporter.... I've got some very interesting news to tell you.... I'm sure that it will not only be interesting to yourself but to your entire sorority. It may cause a little friction in your organization. Things like that always do, but you'll get over it and everything will be all right in another day or so. Yes, I believe that there is hardly an honor.... yes, there is too. Well, never mind anyway.... as I was saying, I believe that the national offices of Alpha Gamma Delta, that is your sorority, isn't it?... Yes, of course it is.... I believe that they will be very interested, too. You see it only happens once a year and to be given such a distinction really shows, well, it may not show that you're a beauty like the Kentuckian contest, but then it shows that you're attractive and that you are very popular.... maybe not popular, but at least that you have enough fraternities in back of you to help you get it. It shows at least that you've got a certain position to maintain on the campus. You'll be looked-up to by all the freshman girls, and the freshman boys will bet quarters to see whether you will speak to them or not.

"Oh, you say that you know all about it? You know that you are May Queen.... Oh, the election was over last week."

Squelched! I slowly, methodically put the receiver back on its hook and tried to figure out who was the son-of-a-gun who told me to tell Ruth Whehle that she had been elected May Queen—a week after everyone knew about it.

KEYS ELECTS OFFICERS

Keys, honorary freshman society have elected the following officers for next year: Harry Walker, Kappa Sigma, will be the president; Jack Faunce, Triangle fraternity, is the newly elected vice-president, while William Dawson, Sigma Chi, is the secretary-treasurer. Ten students were recently initiated into the order.

Band Sponsor, Most Popular Co-ed, and Prom Queen

Elizabeth Jones, Lexington Kappa Delta, is sponsor of the "Best Band in Dixie." A freshman in the College of Education, Miss Jones is a member of Strollers, having played the lead in "Good News," the dramatic organization's spring production.

Jane Dyer, Morganfield, Alpha Gamma Delta, was winner of the 1932 Kentucky popularity contest and the W. S. G. A. prize given annually to the outstanding junior woman. Miss Dyer is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron and SuKv circle.

Anna Mae Lewis, Anchorage, a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, was chosen by men students of the junior class to reign as Queen of the 1932 Prom. She is Pan-Hellenic representative of Delta Delta Delta, her sorority.

REEVES WILL SPEAK AT BEREA

H. Clyde Reeves of the university will address the convention of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary fraternity which is meeting this week at Berea College. The address will be given at 11 o'clock a. m. today at Berea. The subject of his speech will be "Redeclaration of Independence." Reeves was invited to Berea by Dr. A. G. Weidner, dean of Labor at Berea.

Fencing Bouts Will Take Place In Alumni Gym

The semi-annual fencing tournament under the auspices of the intramural department and M. Appleton will take place at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, May 11, in the Alumni gym.

The usual number of bouts between the fraternities and the individual independents for the university championship will be run off. The rewards will consist of a cup for the winner and a cup for the runner-up, besides the usual points for fraternities who end in the top bracket.

The Sigma Chis under the leadership of Sam Kennedy won first during the year and will be this semester's defending champions. The Delta Tau Deltas will again make a bid for the title which they held semester before last. Due to the large number of experienced fencers on the campus, a number of other fraternities as well as independents will be in the running and "dark horses" will probably show up.

There will be no admission to the match; the public is invited.

TO THE MAY QUEEN

She was poor, but she was honest.
Eating her curds and whey,
When the role is called up yonder—
On the road to Manday.

Then up spoke brave Horatius,
"So her mother keeps the key."
So they all ran after the farmer's wife—
And called for fiddlers three.

God bless you, Mr. Copperfield,
Let nothing you dismay,
You can keep your Christmas pudding—
For I'm to be the Queen of May.

Fresh Tennis Team Surprises with Easy Victory over U-Hi

The university freshman tennis team opened their 1932 season with a surprising top-sided win over University High school by the score of five to one on the Rose street courts. St. John, playing in number one position, won from Charles Randall by the score of 6-1, 6-1, while the only University High match was won by Dave Randall who defeated Brown 3-6, 6-1, 6-0. Curtis, of Kentucky, won from Olney 6-3, 6-0.

The hardest match of the day to Rush of Kentucky by a score of 6-1, 5-7, 10-8 from Jacobie of University High. Miller defeated Mahoney, 6-0, 6-0, while Kentucky won the only doubles match, Gordon and Buckman defeating the team of Randall and Randall by the score of 1-6, 6-0, 6-3.

The freshman team will play University High a return match next Monday on the same courts. Matches have been tentatively arranged with Henry Clay High and Kentucky Military Institute.

ALPHA ZETA HAS LUNCHEON

Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, held their semi-weekly luncheon at noon Tuesday at the university commons. Members of the active chapter and faculty advisers were present.

Advisory Board Of Y. W. Meets

The advisory board of the Y. W. C. A. held its final meeting of the year at 4:15 p. m., Wednesday in the Y. W. C. A. rooms in the basement of the Administration building.

Miss Augusta Roberts, student secretary, gave a detailed report on the various projects, hobby groups, and other activities of the Y. W. C. A. during the year, and relating them to the purposes of the organization. Following the report the group made an analysis of the work in view of the formulating plans for the coming year.

Mrs. E. A. Bureau, chairman of the board, presided at the meeting. Other members of the board present were Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, Mrs. W. S. Webb, Mrs. George Smith, Miss Marie Barkley, and Miss Mary Margaret Tea was served by Miss Roberts.

The entire east was shocked last summer at the news that Eddie Warren captain-coach of the Yale baseball team, had had his arm amputated by the whirling propeller blade of a speedboat.

Yet, Wednesday afternoon, Captain Eddie Warren played a game of baseball, in which his team won. After several months he convinced physicians and coaches that he was healthy and able.

His record for the day was amazing. Twice he belted hot balls perfectly, twice he hit safely, once driving in a run, and one run he scored.

Spring sports have almost reached the halfway mark as Diamond ball, Tennis singles and doubles, golf, singles and two ball foursomes; horseshoes, singles and doubles go into the second round.

In the Diamond ball race seventeen frat teams and the Grand slams sole independent entry are divided into three divisions of six clubs each.

Mixed Doubles, a new tennis feature installed at the university for the first time, has proved very attractive, as evidenced by the entry of 17 couples.

The first round of both golf singles and two-ball foursomes is completed and the second round must be over by May 3.

Trials in the annual intramural track and field meet will be run off during the week of May 9. The finals will be Friday afternoon, May 13.

Is May Day Becoming Traditional? Convocation to Open May Festival

"Queen of the May"—what romance, what a wealth of human emotion lies behind that title. Tradition has woven about it a web of fanciful stories, and mysterious superstitions, until today, in the midst of all our modern sophistication, the customs and ceremonies attendant upon it emerge almost unchanged from the ages behind it.

In ancient England, the words held a sinister significance underlying the traditional merry-making of the day. On May day in that time, a king and queen of the May were elected from among the finest and most beautiful of the young people. For a year, they reigned as king and queen, indeed, their slightest wish granted, all the riches of the kingdom theirs to command. One glorious year—and then, May day again; and, their brief glory ended, the young king and queen were torn to pieces by their erstwhile loyal subjects, and a new pair chosen to reign in their stead. Many other stories have been told of the ceremonies attendant upon this day, for there is scarcely a people of our race that has not its May day traditions.

CHRISTINE JOHNSON

Tradition is that which clothes in romance any country, any people, any custom, that has become so beloved as to be of universal interest. Fortunate it is that the University of Kentucky has seen fit to begin thus dignifying its customs and ideals, that it may gather unto itself the respect and dignity that only tradition can bring. A school without traditions is like a green youth who has not yet garnered up the store of experiences and suffering and tribulation which are to form the most important foundation for his life to come.

May day, with its crowning of the queen, its ancient dances, its academic procession, its conferring of honors, is fast becoming a tradition on the university campus. It is to be hoped that the students of the university will do all in their power toward the continuance of such ceremonies and their enrichment in the years to come. By the respect, the support of the students themselves, and that only, will the traditions of this day be able to live.

TEARS

I love the rain.
It seems that then
I see release
For all these tears
Here in my heart
I watch the rain
And feel that it
Must be the tears
Of God above.
For all the love
And happiness,
Lost to me
Through you.

MAY QUEEN FOR 1932

Ruth Dowling Wehle, Lexington, will preside as queen at the annual May day festivities to be held today on Stoll field. She is a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, a member of Strollers, dramatic organization; has appeared in productions of the Guignol theater; a member of Cvens, honorary sophomore sorority; a member of Phi Beta, honorary music and dramatic sorority; a member of The Kentuckian staff, and a Pan-Hellenic representative. Last year she was one of the May Queen's attendants.

In many countries the first of May is celebrated. In some it is used as a day of demonstration against the government. In others it becomes one of rejoicing. The colleges of this country are coming to accept it as one of recognition, a day when students may recognize the accomplishments and good works of their fellows.

May day at the University of Kentucky was established a few years ago with no particular definite purpose in mind other than a parade and a party at the end of the day. It seemed desirable to make the day more important, so that the students of the university might confer honors that have been earned during the year. With that in mind a special meeting is held in the morning and the occasion used for the gathering of seniors, an address, and the announcement of honors. The seniors are the special sponsors of the meeting. The student body as a whole is expected to attend and by their presence accord their approval of the granting of awards of various kinds. It is hoped this year that the meeting will be unusually satisfactory and a large group of students, faculty, and friends will be present. Cooperation of students and organizations can make this day a really fine occasion and worthy of a place in the university calendar.

The meeting is in the Memorial hall at 10 o'clock this morning.

(The foregoing article was specially prepared by Pres. Frank L. McVey for use in the May day issue of The Kernel last year. Upon the celebration of like festivities this year, and as the cooperation of the student body is as much needed for the success of this May day as it was last, The Kernel has reprinted the article.)

SPRING DESIRES

Since spring is here, and I am human.

I, too, have foolish wishes.
But not those you would expect. Out
Where the spring wind swishes,
Fresh budding trees and flowers,
And caresses new blown petals fair,
I would be alone, and feel
The soul of summer awakening
there.

I would ride like a centaur wild,
With warm winds on my cheek—
With bright sun rays upon my head,
And soft green grass beneath my feet.

I would ride where no one else dares,
And end by the sighing sea—
I would laugh at the humdrum world.

And cry "I alone am free!"

COLLEGE SPRING

Sunshine, fresh buds, a frolicsome squirrel—
Green grass, soft wind, a boy and a girl—
Bright stars, full moon, love songs
to sing—
Lovers, sweet dreams—a college spring!
—JEAN

DO YOU INHALE?

Why bring that up? -the cigarette trade asks!

FOR years there has been generally a striking avoidance of the word "inhale" in cigarette advertising. Why? Goodness only knows! For everybody in-hales—knowingly or unknowingly! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke, he or she draws out of a cigarette.
