IT'S HERE! SUPER SUNDAY IS READY TO ROLL!!

● Will you answer the call?

On Sunday, Mar. 23, sometime during the day, chances are your phone will ring with the most important phone call you will receive in this young year. How you answer, what you tell the caller and how you respond along with others in the community will spell the difference between caring and not caring, between showing concern and turning a cold shoulder and between success and failure at a time when failure could cost in terms of human lives and living conditions.

The call will be part of the fourth annual Super Sunday phonathon planned by the 1986 CKJF/UJA Campaign Committee. Super Sunday co-chairs Vinnie Dubilier and Joe Rosenberg said, "Responses we get from the Central Kentucky Jewish community will be a significant part of our effort to serve our own local and American Jewish community as well as Jews around the world. We want everyone to consider their responses now and be ready when the call comes. This is the time for all of us to pull together."

● Gail Cohen, 1986 General Campaign chair added, "We are in the final stages of the 1986 campaign. Our final totals will influence our ability to support national and international needs along with local concerns. Think especially of the Jews still held prisoners in the Soviet Union and the Ethiopian Jews recently arrived in Israel who still need our help in becoming productive citizens of Israel."

Volunteers are still needed, Vinnie and Joe said. They urge anyone interested in helping to contact the CKJF office, 252-7622, and leave a message. The tape machine is always on when the staff is not there, so messages can be left at any time.

Shifts are open at all four time periods. The shifts run from 10 a.m. to noon, from noon to 2 p.m., from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Solicitors are asked to report 30 minutes early for training.

Refreshments...and a lot of support from fellow volunteers...will be available. "We want our volunteers to have a good time, but at the same time we want them to know that what they are doing is extremely important for them and for the whole community," said Vinnie and Joe.

Assisting in the planning and production of Super Sunday are: Charlotte Baer and Sheila DeKosky, solicitor training; Halley Faust, Terry Wilson and Bill Levy, records; and Gigi White, food. In addition, Alan Stein is arranging for visits by local celebrities, and Jim Mischner and Bill Milman are in charge of facilities.

Remember SUPER SUNDAY...MARCH 23. Be there to answer the call...or come and help make the calls. Help to make your phone line a lifeline!

Community Relations Committee Update

EXPLORES CONCERNS EXPRESSED FOLLOWING MARTIN LUTHER KING CEREMONY

Members of Lexington's Jewish community are looking for ways to improve communication with the black community in the wake of a Martin Luther King Jr. Day celebration that included a speech that offended many Jews.

The program prompted CKJF and Rabbi William Leffler to write letters expressing their displeasure to a program organizer, William Parker, vice chancellor of minority affairs at U.K. Rabbi Uri Smith held a meeting with Parker, and the CKJF's Community Relations Committee held a special meeting to discuss the program and what should be done about it.

The speech by the Rev. William Jones of Brooklyn included expressions of sympathy for Libya and a statement that terrorism would end if Palestinians were given what he said were their rights.

The Rev. Jones, a former Lexingtonian, also told the crowd at U.K.'s Memorial Coliseum on Jan. 19 that he couldn't understand why the Reagan administration had what he characterized as too little concern for Haitians while paying so much attention to the plight of Soviet Jews.

Some of the Jewish people who attended the observance -- which celebrated the birthday of the slain civil rights leader -- also expressed concern that the program was so Christian-oriented. Some of the prayers were offered in the name of Jesus.

In a letter to Parker on behalf of CKJF, Community Relations Committee co-chairs Marilyn Moosnick and Charlotte Baer said that while they believed the program to be successful "it is important to make you aware of portions of the program that troubled some of the more than 100 Jewish participants."

"After our series of black/Jewish dialogues in 1984, at which we attempted to meet the needs of all those present with a silent prayer, we have come to expect a more ecumenical flavor at programs in which we take part," the letter said.

"We urge next year's committee to explain to any invited speakers that remarks lauding the Palestinian cause and supporting terrorism on its behalf, without further discussion of the complexities of Middle Eastern politics, can appear anti-Semitic and can be very divisive when we are striving for unity."

Rabbi Leffler also wrote to Parker, saying he was "very much upset" by the Rev. Jones' remarks and that he was distressed by the invocation given by the Rev. Carl Belden.

"I believe he showed a great deal of insensitivity to those who were present and not Christians of his persuasion," the rabbi said.

The Rev. Paul Jones, dean of chapel at Transylvania University, also sent a letter to Parker saying: "The observance was not publicized as a Christian worship service. Consequently, I felt that the substance of some of the prayers and keynote addresses was an affront to our Jewish sisters and brothers."

Rabbi Uri Smith held a meeting with Parker to express his concerns.

Rabbi Smith said that Parker told him he would try to ensure that problems did not arise in next year's celebration. The meeting was also attended by the Rev. Paul Jones, the Rev. Willis Polk and the Rev. C.B. Akins.

At the Community Relations Committee meeting Feb. 9, Rabbi Smith said: "I felt needed all the time" during the program.

He noted that the names of two Jews killed in Meridian, Miss., during the civil rights movement, Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, were not included in a list of movement martyrs.

Ellie Goldman, who attended the program as a representative of the American Civil Liberties Union, said at the committee meeting she was "very concerned and afraid" because of the "rampant, deep-rooted anti-semitism in so many of the things that were said" at the program.

"Somewhere there has been a failure in the black leadership" to explain to the black community what King stood for, Mrs. Goldman said.

The committee meeting produced a number of suggestions for a response to the program. Among them were:

*Restoring the black-Jewish dialogue, in which members of the black and

ON SCHARANSKY'S RELEASE

There is no one who cannot be moved by Anatoly Scharansky's release from the Soviet Union after his imprisonment since 1977. This hero to all lovers of freedom is finally free himself. His release brings great joy to his long-suffering wife, Avital, who has wandered among the capitals of the world seeking freedom for the man she had not seen since just after their wedding day on July 4, 1974.

Avital Scharansky at CJF General Assembly, November, 1985.

His release will now give hope to the many others who remain behind, still trapped in the Soviet Union: to Jews for whom he became a symbol through nearly a decade of imprisonment, and to non-Jews, who were emboldened by Anatoly's advocacy of the idea that all Soviet citizens have rights assured them under the Helsinki Accords the Soviet Union signed in 1975.

While he is an important symbol, he is but one man. Moreover, if the emigration trends of the last few years hold true, then he was but one of a hundred or so Soviet Jews who were permitted to emigrate last month. From a high of more than 51,000 in 1979, the figure for last year dropped to just 1,140. In January, only 79 Jews were allowed to leave for Israel.

A real show of good faith by the Soviet Union cannot hinge on the release of one man, even a man of such symbolic importance and personal dignity as Anatoly Scharansky.

Even as he is freed from prison, and from the larger jail of the Soviet state, other Soviet Jews also guilty of the "crime" of wishing to live as Jews in the Soviet Union, or emigrate to Israel, are harassed, arrested, imprisoned. Until they are free, the world cannot be appeased by this gesture, as much as we rejoice at Scharansky's release.

Editor's Note: This statement was issued by the National Jewish Community Relations Advisory Council in connection with the release of Anatoly Scharansky from the Soviet Union.

See page 4 for announcement of Regional Conference on Soviet Jewry.

Released Refusenik To Address Conference on Soviet Jewry

Eliyahu Essas, refusenik, mathematician and widely proclaimed defacto chief rabbi of the Soviet Union will speak to participants of a regional conference on Soviet Jewry to be held in Cincinnati, MONDAY, MARCH 31.

Essas, who first applied to leave the Soviet Union in 1973, was released in January. Prior to his release, he and his wife Anya were considered to be among the foremost Jewish activist refuseniks in Moscow and the Soviet Union. He was known especially as a teacher of Hebrew and Jewish studies.

The program will focus on planning for ways to highlight the plight of Soviet Jewry during the visit by Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev to the United States later this year. It will also include discussion of "The Jewish Reawakening in the Soviet Union" as well as ways to publicize the issue of Soviet Jewry.

The meeting will include representatives of Jewish organizations in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and northern Tennessee.

Other speakers include Joshua Pratt of the Israel Embassy in Washington, D.C.; Albert D. Chernin, Executive Vice-Chairman of the National Jewish Community Relations Advisory Council; and Jerry Goodman, Executive Director, National Conference on Soviet Jewry.

Further information on the program to be held at Adath Israel Synagogue in Cincinnati is available from Gail Cohen, Chair of the Community Relations Committee sub-committee on Oppressed Jewry (272-1459), the CKJF office (252-7622), or the Cincinnati Jewish Community Relations Council (513-241-5620).

Carpools from Lexington are being arranged, leaving early Monday morning and returning Monday evening. Call the above Lexington numbers for information.

COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES IN THE NEWS

Carol Veal, Camp Shalom Committee Chair, announced recently that Mark Scarr will continue as director of the CKJF-sponsored day camp for a third season.

The 1986 session will begin (barring further school snow days!) on Monday, June 9 and continue through Friday, June 27. There will be a half-day program for pre-schoolers, 4 - 5 years old, and a full day program for 6 - 8 year olds.

The director, together with the Camp Committee, is currently exploring new site locations and developing exciting new program plans.

Members of the Camp Committee are: Carol Veal, Chair; Joyce Mischner, Co-chair; Janice Brock, Treasurer; and Liz Broudy, Janice Crane, Cindy Derer, Sue Ezrine, Paula Harrison, Ginny Luftman, Linda Ravvin, and Cheri Rose. Connie Loventhal is the immediate past chair and an ex-officio member of the committee.

Parents -- start planning now to enroll your children in this exciting Jewish summertime program.

SUSAN CANTOR TO HEAD CKJF FORUM

"For all those who thought the CKJF Forum had faded from the local Jewish scene, a pleasant surprise is in store," announced Nat Sandler, Community Activities Committee Chair, at CKJF's February board meeting.

He went on to explain that Susan Cantor has agreed to assume the chairmanship with some proposed changes for 1986.

Late spring 1986 will see the inaugural event of the recently endowed Elizabeth Rosenberg Memorial Program. This will be under Forum sponsorship with additional funding support provided from the Forum budget. As this is the only Forum program of the 1985-86 season, there will be no charge.

Fall 1986 is targeted for resumption of the regular series. The Elizabeth Rosenberg Memorial Program will be a part of the 1986-87 series and all future Forum series.

Susan Cantor says she is in the process of setting up the necessary sub-committees for the Forum. These include selection, tickets, publicity, hospitality and patrons. If you are interested in working on any of these committees call Susan at 269-9112 or the CKJF office at 252-7622.

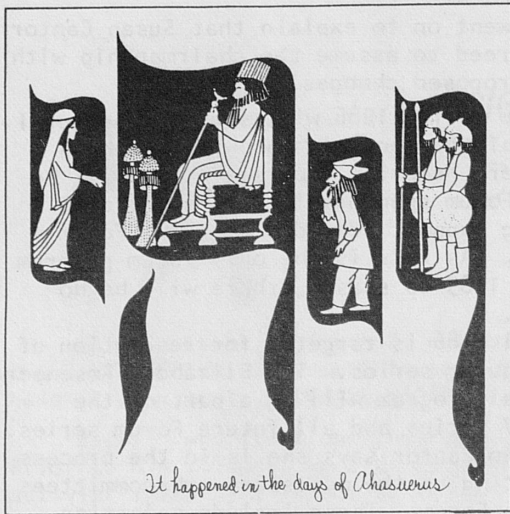

COMING...COMING...COMING "ANOTHER ISRAEL"

A special multi-media presentation showing Israel in all its variety of people, places, historical sites, and more, is coming to Lexington, one of several communities chosen to host this program in the United States. The program is sponsored by the Israel Embassy and offers a wonderful opportunity to share the breadth and depth of Israel with all of Lexington.

Slated for a grand opening on Saturday evening, April 19, it will run for three additional days at Victorian Square. A committee of representatives from Central Kentucky's major Jewish organizations chaired by Nat Sandler is putting together the publicity and support needed to make this a real Central Kentucky highlight.

Needed are volunteers to assist with publicity, scheduling and hosting. Interested? Call the CKJF office to sign up, or talk to your organizational representative:

Debbie Goldenberg, OZS; Lenny Lerner, TAI; Linda Ravvin, Hadassah; Steve Goldstein, FAJA & Hillel; Terry Wilson, Lexington Havurah; Lore Pappas, Mitzvah Corps; Austin Cantor, TAI Brotherhood; and Merle Wekstein, at-large.

A TIME FOR FUN

Purim is unique in the Jewish holiday cycle because it is a time for unadulterated joy! In spite of the suspenseful nature of the story of Esther (Megillat Esther), the ending is soul satisfying. The wicked Haman is punished, the noble Mordecai is rewarded, and the Jews lived happily ever after in Persia.

Purim is joyous -- but with a serious side as well. Perhaps this is the genius of Purim -- the ability to genuinely rejoice after a threat to life; the sense of a people able to outwit the hostile forces of history again and again.

Observance of the Purim holiday calls on us to listen to the megillah (the scroll of Esther) being read, to eat a festive meal, to send gifts of sweets to family and friends (Mishloach Manot) and to give gifts to the needy.

It is during the reading of the megillah that we are urged to literally "stamp out" Haman's name, using noisemakers (graggers) and feet. What fun for the kids!

It has become a tradition to dress in costumes representing the Purim characters and to present plays and other forms of entertainment to accompany the festive meal.

Gifts of sweets can take many forms, but the traditional Purim treat is Hamantaschen -- literally Haman's pockets. Following is a recipe for Hamantaschen reprinted from "The Spice and Spirit of Kosher-Jewish Cooking." Enjoy!

Hamantashcen, a traditional Purim delight, is a three-cornered pastry filled with mohn (poppy seed) or other sweet filling.

1 cup sugar	4 cups flour
1/2 cup oil	3 tsp. baking powder
1/2 cup shortening	1 tsp. salt
3 eggs	1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup orange juice	2 lbs. mohn filling (poppy seed or other fruit or nut)

Cream sugar, oil and shortening. Add eggs and juice and mix well. Blend with dry ingredients and roll into a ball. Divide into four parts.

Roll out each piece very thin (approx. 1/8 inch) on a floured board. With the rim of a cup or glass (depending on desired size) cut into the dough to make circles. Place 1/2 - 2/3 tsp. of filling in the middle of each circle.

To shape into a triangle, lift up right and left sides, leaving the bottom side down, and bring both sides to meet at the center, above the filling. Lift bottom side up to center to meet other two sides.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Brush dough with beaten egg before baking. Place on greased cookie sheet. Bake for approx. 20 min.

Yields 4 doz. Hamantaschen

ISRAEL BONDS TO HONOR "HAPPY" CHANDLER

Charles Stern, CKJF Israel Bonds Chair, announced that Israel Bonds will honor former Governor A.B. "Happy" Chandler on Sunday evening, May 18 at a gala dinner to be held at Temple Adath Israel.

Chandler's extraordinary career in public service has included two terms as Governor, a term in the U.S. Senate, and serving as the Commissioner of Baseball who first approved racial integration of the major leagues.

Chandler traveled to Israel in the early years of the State, met Ben Gurion and other Israeli leaders, and has always been a staunch supporter of Israel.

In making his announcement, Stern said, "We are indeed fortunate to be able to honor someone who has participated in so much of our recent history. Governor Chandler is truly unique. I hope the entire community will show its support for our honoree and for Israel Bonds.

"Israel Bonds has provided over $6.5 billion in development funds for Israel over the past 35 years. These funds have played a key role in Israel's economic growth. Israel Bonds will continue to stand by Israel as the nation plans and builds for the future."

MORE OPPORTUNITIES TO VISIT ISRAEL

NOW IS THE TIME

If you are among the 80% of American Jews who have never been to Israel, now is the time to go. If you are among the remaining 20% who have been there, now is the time to go again.

And the way to go is through the Israel Bond Organization, which has been assembling unique synagogue, industry and trade delegations to Israel for many years.

Bonds invites the special participation of synagogues offering congregation members and friends an opportunity to see an Israel that no other tour can offer.

The program is part of "Operation Independence", the effort by leaders of world Jewry to strengthen Israel's economy through increased investments, trade and tourism.

For more information on the variety of Israel Bond tour packages available, please contact the Israel Bond Office, 3411 Bardstown Rd., Suite 10, Louisville, KY 40218, (502-459-1896).

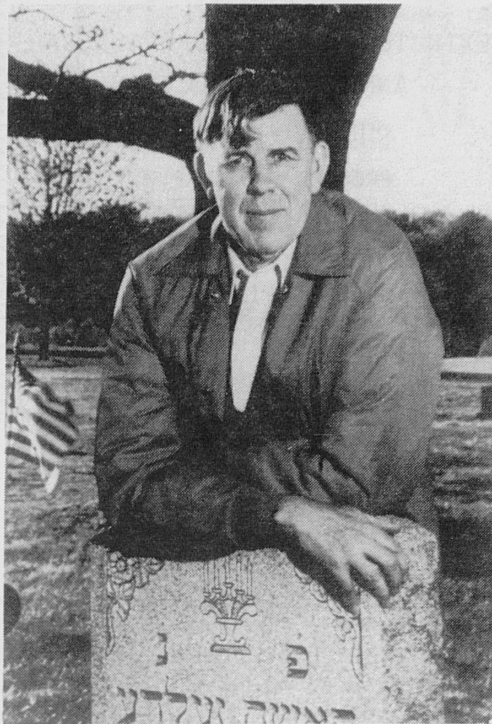

AMERICAN PROFESSOR FOR PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST SPONSORS STUDY MISSIONS

American Professors for Peace in the Middle East is an academic organization whose members represent varied opinions, approaches, and solutions to the problems and challenges confronting the Middle East. Membership derives its cohesiveness from the recognition that a greater understanding of the complex issues is essential to the process which is hoped will lead to a wider peace. APPME provides the academic community with a scholarly forum to investigate these issues.

During the past 17 years APPME has sponsored over 30 study missions to countries in the Middle East. More than 350 academicians have taken part in this program.

The sole requirement for eligibility to participate in a study mission is membership in APPME. Preference will be given to those who have never been to Israel. Each study mission group reflects a wide geographic representation and a variety of academic disciplines and personal political views. For this reason the missions are organized to provide numerous opportunities for in-depth analysis from the perspectives of various disciplines and to enable individuals to pursue personal spheres of interest within the established framework of the mission.

Anyone interested in participating in a future mission may contact the CKJF office for an application form.

DAVID WYMAN TO SPEAK

David Wyman, author of The Abandonment of the Jews, will be Temple Adath Israel's major speaker of the year on Sunday, March 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Temple on North Ashland Avenue.

A professor of history at the Univ. of Massachusetts, advisor to the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Council and a member of the Academic Advisory Board of the Simon Wiesenthal Center, Wyman will speak on the main themes of his current best seller which examines the response of the American people and the government to the Nazi extermination of the Jews in Europe in World War II.

The program is free of charge and open to the public.

CORRESPONDENT WANTED

The Kentucky Jewish Post and Opinion is looking for a Lexington correspondent to send in news about the Central Kentucky Jewish community on a weekly basis. A small fee will be paid for the articles.

To apply contact: Elliot A. Kopp, Editor; Kentucky Jewish Post & Opinion, Louisville, KY 40205; (502-459-1914).

BLUEGRASS REPRESENTED AT YOUNG LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

Six representatives of CKJF attended a UJA Young Leadership Conference in Washington March 2-4.

The conference which was attended by about 3,000 young Jewish leaders from around the United States, included discussions with government officials about the Middel East.

Speakers addressing the conference included Senators Gary Hart of Colorado and Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio and Rep. Jack Kemp of New York. Also scheduled to speak were Benjamin Netanyahu, Israel's ambassador to the United Nations, and Meir Rosenne, Israel's ambassador to the United States.

Also slated was a candlelight march past the Soviet embassy to demonstrate support for Soviet Jewry. A concert for conference participants by Mary Travers was broadcast to the Soviet Union by Voice of America.

Lexington participants, part of a 20-person Kentucky delegation, were: Joe and Ricki Rosenberg, Simone Salomon, Nancy Hoffman, Arlene Cohen and Terry Goldfarb.

CKJF BOARD NOTES

A committee of past CKJA presidents has been meeting since December to analyze and evaluate the position of administrator of CKJF. Appointed by President Gloria Katz were David Wekstein, Judy Levine and Jack Miller. The committee is expected to complete its assignment later this month and will report to the CKJF Executive Committee.

President Gloria Katz announced that Administrator Judy Saxe has submitted her resignation effective June 30, 1986. A search committee is being formed and will be announced in the near future.

SOCIAL SERVICES REPORTS

As this bulletin goes to press the Social Services Committee under the leadership of its new chair Evelyn Geller is preparing for a productive 1986.

The committee met at the CKJF office on March 6 to review ongoing responsibilities: Emergency Loans, Camp Scholarships, Israel Program Grants, and the Shari Eldot Fund.

The committee also heard a progress report on its newest project, the Sue Friedman Memorial Jewish Family Life Education Program. The planning committee for this program is co-chaired by Marilyn Gall and Judy Levine. They have been meeting with representatives of Ohavay Zion Synagogue, Temple Adath Israel, Lexington Havurah, Lexington Hadassah, B'nai B'rith, and the Faculty Association on Jewish Affairs.

Because Jewish Family Life Education is a program for community education, the committee has decided to sponsor a keynote presentation in the fall and to encourage all local Jewish organizations to develop and sponsor related programs that would meet the needs of and appeal to their members.

Marilyn and Judy will be presenting a more detailed report to the Social Services Committee and to the CKJF board next month.

IMPORTANT REMINDERS:

Applications for Camp Scholarships are due APRIL 1. For information, call Evelyn Geller at 272-8972 (after 10 p.m.) or the CKJF office at 252-7622.

Donations are still being accepted to the Shari Eldot Fund. Make checks payable to and send to: CKJF-Shari Eldot Fund, 333 Waller Ave., Suite 5, Lexington, KY 40504.
