It's the shoe "most likely to succeed"

Year after year . . . class after class . . . freshmen and grads agree Winthrop's Dirty Buck is a must in well-balanced campus wardrobes . . . it's truly a part of campus life. 'The Wildcat' is carefully styled in glove soft creamy buck with sturdy long-wearing red rubber soles and heels.

Today's Game . . .

It's an old axiom among the thoroughbred fraternity to never count even the lamest horse out of the race until the stretch drive is completed and the official result posted on the board. And that's exactly the "rule of thumb" that might easily be applied to today's Homecoming battle between the Kentucky Wildcats and Vanderbilt Commodores.

The 29th meeting in one of the South's oldest gridiron races comes again at the "stretch drive" point in the campaign and features 1956 editions that have been bothered all season long by injuries of varying degrees. And neither of the "darkhorses" can be figured to finish completely out of the money, so to speak, in the torrid race for the Southeastern Conference roses.

Both Kentucky and Vandy are well placed (currently tied for sixth in the SEC standings with .500 records in conference play) for finishes in the first division of the league, but winning today's encounter is a "must" to each team's future moves toward this goal and shapes up as an all-out battle. The Wildcats have only Tennessee to hurdle in loop competition after disposing of the Commodores while their opponents of the day have remaining SEC tilts after today with giant-killer Tulane and the Vols.

Injury-wise, both clubs should enter the ball game in improved physical condition. Coach Blanton Collier counts only a handful of his Kentuckians as definitely out or limited duty men while Vandy's capable Art Guepe hopes to improve his victory chances with the return of outstanding quarterback Don Orr, sidelined since the Mississippi game with a twisted knee.

The prospect of a guiding hand from Orr added to the sensational campaigning of fullback Phil King, the SEC's best scorer (46 points) and leading ball carrier (474 yards on 80 carries), is expected to give the visiting Gator Bowl champions somewhat of a definite edge in the thinking of the men who establish pre-game favorites.

But to Kentucky, who has shown tremendous comeback spirit in posting three straight wins after dropping three decisions in its first four starts, Vandy is just another tough team on a schedule that has included no less than five bowl-experienced elevens. That's not saying the Wildcats will be taking their visitors lightly. Rather it's a case of desire, determination and hope for revenge to offset last season's, 34-0 humiliation by Vandy in a homecoming at Nashville.

THE HONORABLE
Albert B. Chandler
 GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY

As Kentucky's Chief Executive, 1956

The nation's most sports-minded governor.

That is probably one of the most appropriate descriptions ever tagged on A. B. (Happy) Chandler, twice chief executive of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and holder of two degrees from the state university (LL.B. '24, LL.D. '37).

Governor Chandler is familiarly known throughout the world as the former commissioner of organized baseball in the United States, but comparatively few people know that his sports background goes back even further.

He played baseball for the Grafton (N. D.) team of the Red River Valley League, between terms at Transylvania College. Following graduation, Happy entered Harvard Law School and, even in these busy days, found time to tutor football and basketball teams at Wellsley Hills (Mass.) High School.

Later he enrolled at UK and, in between law classes, coached basketball at Versailles High. He was also coach of the 1922 UK girls' basketball team.

The energetic young man somehow found time to be a scout and assistant football coach at Centre

College, for 11 years. One of his unforgettable experiences of these days came when Centre upset then-mighty Harvard, 6-0, at Cambridge, Mass., back in 1921.

Many years later, after becoming Governor (1935) and U. S. Senator (1939), he served as Baseball Commissioner for six years and was extremely popular with the ballplayers.

Governor Chandler has been attending UK athletic events for nearly 40 years. His youngest son, Dan, now in the U. S. Army, was a recent member of the Kentucky basketball squad. Ben, his other son, is also an alumnus of UK.

In addition, he has backed the University in other ways. Spearheaded by Governor Chandler, the 1956 Assembly appropriated $5,000,000 to start construction of the new UK Medical Center. Another $6,000,000 is pledged.

Educational allotments throughout the Commonwealth are at an all-time high, largely through the efforts of the Governor, and the recent Legislative appropriations to schools.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Dear Alumni, Students and Friends of the University of Kentucky:

It is wonderful to have you here on the University of Kentucky campus for the 1956 Homecoming festivities. We are all proud of the University and its numerous achievements. You are the people who have made this institution what it is today, and you are the ones who can make it even greater in the days to come.

We are facing days in which we shall have greater numbers of students to be educated. We shall need additional buildings, more staff members, and larger appropriations. We shall need your help and support in these difficult situations, so we say to you that we hope that you will come to see us and think of us at many times other than just homecoming time. We shall always look forward to having you with us at any time.

Let's all work together to make the University of Kentucky the finest school in the whole world.

Very sincerely yours,

Frank G. Dickey
Frank G. Dickey
President

"The Kentucky Story"

JUST A SHORT 17 years ago, Frank Graves Dickey was a comparatively "obscure" teacher in the Lexington city school system who had little if any vision of attaining the enviable position he acceded to on September 1 of this year—fifth president of the State of Kentucky's largest institution of higher learning. Today, as the youngest chief executive in University of Kentucky's 91-year history, Dr. Dickey brings an outstanding and refreshing approach to the many challenging problems of one of the nation's fastest growing educational institutions. Born in Wagoner, Oklahoma, he received almost all of his education in Lexington and graduated from Henry Clay High School. His A.B. degree with highest honors came from Transylvania College while both the Master of Arts and Doctor of Education degrees were awarded by U. of K. in 1942 and 1947, respectively. He also has taken post-doctoral work at Harvard and served in the Army. In 1949, he was chosen to head U.K.'s Bureau of School Service and six months later was appointed as Dean of the College of Education, the post he held until his election to the presidency. Dr. Dickey claims little connection with athletics as a participant since junior high days, but classes himself as an avid sports enthusiast. He is on record as strongly favoring the continuance of University athletics on their current high plane and in balance with the academic program.

U.K. ALMA MATER

Hail Kentucky, Alma Mater!
Loyal sons and daughters sing;
Sound her praise with voice united;
To the breeze her colors fling,
To the blue and white be true;
Badge triumphant age on age;
Blue, the sky that o'er us bends;
White Kentucky's stainless page.

MY OLD KENTUCKY HOME

The sun shines bright in the old Kentucky Home,
'Tis summer, the darkies are gay;
The corn-top's ripe and the meadow's in the bloom,
While the birds make music all the day;
The young folks roll on the little cabin floor,
All merry, all happy and bright;
By'n by hard times comes a-knocking at the door,
Then my old Kentucky home, good night!

Weep no more, my lady, O weep no more today!
We will sing one song for the old Kentucky home,
For the old Kentucky home, far away.

"MYSTERY WILDCATS"

Best known to Kentucky fans by a nickname the same as the name of one of the greatest thoroughbreds . . . He was an elusive and speedy halfback, but the story he once raced against the horse he got his nickname from is untrue . . . Selected on the All-Southeastern Conference eleven in the second year of the league's organization . . . A son was a member of Kentucky's basketball team last year.

Second cousin and "namesake" of a former President of the United States who starred in the Wildcat backfield during the late forties . . . In high school in Western Kentucky, he played trumpet in the band until his junior year before trying the sport of football . . . Named All-State and All-Southern after scoring 20 TD's in senior year . . . Primarily a defensive back at Kentucky, but chalked up admirable record running ball as well.

For identification of today's "Mystery Wildcats," see footnote on page 48.

THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

Looks to the Future ...

The Margin of Excellence

A beautiful modern campus, a faculty including eminent scholars, students who meet high scholastic standards—all these are sources of special pride to UK Alumni but their very being places squarely upon us a responsibility which we can meet with equal pride. We share more than anyone else in the services and growing prestige of the University of Kentucky. Surely it is more than reasonable that we share worthily in the material support of her development.

Looking Ahead

The University is entering an era of great potential; a new medical school is being planned; other developments costing $18,000,000 over the next ten years are being projected. The new administration, headed by President Frank G. Dickey, faces the challenge—before its tenure ends—of a 15,000 enrollment and a development program costing more than $50,000,000. If the challenge is to be met, the staff and facilities will have to be doubled and tripled to accommodate increasing enrollment and expanding activities. How much of the potential becomes reality will depend much upon the vision, imagination, and devotion of the Alumni and friends of the University.

Put UK In Your Budget Now

You cannot have a great state without a great state university. . . . Support UK by an annual gift of at least five dollars. . . . The Alumni Association is dedicating its annual "Alumni Roll Call" to newly-elected President Frank G. Dickey. . . . Your active membership in the Alumni Association this year will be your way of welcoming President Dickey and evidence your faith in his vigorous leadership.

Already at the threshold of greatness, your university needs your help now as it strives for a better Kentucky!
