

Architect Frank Lloyd Wright Dies At 89

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 9 (AP)—Colorful Frank Lloyd Wright, 89, master architect who fashioned a world reputation for brilliant design, died in a Phoenix hospital Wednesday.

Known as the "rebellious old gentleman" of his profession, Wright entered the hospital last Saturday and underwent surgery Monday for removal of an intestinal obstruction.

He appeared to rest comfortably last night and physicians felt he was holding his own up to an hour before his death.

"He just sighed and died," said

Mrs. Jessie Baganno, nurse who was with him.

Wright was the center of controversy throughout his professional life. Many of his designs were unusual in appearance and radical in engineering.

Criticism of his plans drew stinging replies that earned him almost as much fame as the buildings themselves.

"Early in life I had to choose between honest arrogance and hypocritical humility," he said a few years ago. "I chose honest arrogance and have seen no occasion to change."

He designed more than 700 buildings around the world, including the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo, the Price Tower in Bartlesville, Okla., and the still unfinished Guggenheim Museum in New York.

Born June 8, 1869, in Richland Center, Wis., Wright began his career as an apprentice without waiting to graduate from college.

Some of his sharpest verbal blasts were at the American Institute of Architects and its members.

But in 1948, the Institute named him the 15th winner in 42 years of its gold medal "for distinguished service to the advancement of the art and the profession of architecture."

"The only thing wrong with architecture is architects," he once said.

Wright called cities "vampires . . . sterilizing humanity" and apartments "sanitary slums."

He once wondered why "so unethical an act" as a skyscraper could be allowed to exist. But in 1956 he proposed to build a 510-story, mile-high skyscraper on the Chicago Lake front.

Wright's open warfare with convention attracted the young to him and he established the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation to instruct his followers at Taliesin East, Spring Green, Wis., and Taliesin West near Phoenix.

Wright's personal life was marked by three marriages. His first, to the late Catherine Tobin, who died March 24 at Santa Barbara, Calif., produced six children before ending in divorce.

He then married Miriam Noel, a mature woman with three grown children. She died shortly after their divorce.

His third wife, Olgivanna Lazovich, was with him when he died.

Ballet Performers

Among the performers with the Chicago Opera Ballet, which will be here tomorrow night, are the two pictured above. The program is part of the Central Kentucky Concert and Lecture Series

Chicago Opera Ballet To Appear Tomorrow

Ruth Page's Chicago Opera Ballet will appear in Memorial Coliseum at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow. This program will be the last in the Central Kentucky Concert and Lecture Series for the 1958-59 season.

The program, consisting of "Revenge" and "The Merry Widow," will feature ballet artists Marjorie Tallchief, George Skibene, Veronika Mikar, Kenneth Johnson and Barbera Steele.

"Revenge," based on the opera "Il Trovatore," concerns a gypsy's revenge for the killing of her mother as a witch. A supreme love sacrifice leading to death is the outcome. Music for this ballet is by Giuseppe Verdi, adapted by Isaac Van Grove.

Based on the famous operetta, "The Merry Widow" combines love affairs and money to produce turmoil. Van Grove's adaptation of the music by Franz Lehár forms the background.

The Chicago Opera Ballet was founded five seasons ago to revive grand opera in Chicago. Ruth Page, dancer and choreographer, was and still is its director.

The company has appeared on Broadway, was presented on Ed Sullivan's TV show, and is presently engaged in its third trans-continental tour.

Arts And Sciences

A meeting of all arts and sciences seniors will be held at 4 p. m. Tuesday, April 14 in Room 111 of McVey Hall.

Class officers will be elected and Dean M. M. White will be among the speakers.

All arts and sciences seniors should attend this meeting.

Four Named To UK 'College Bowl' Team

Four undergraduates were named recently to represent UK May 10 on CBS television's "College Quiz Bowl."

Susan Darnell, Charlene Gaines, Max Harris and Richard Roberts will be coached by Dr. Holman Hamilton of the history department.

UK was recently asked to participate in the Quiz Bowl program, a question-answer session between two colleges, each with four-student teams.

The winning team receives $1,500 for its school's scholarship fund and the losing team, $500. A team stays on until it is defeated.

Quizmaster Allen Ludden fires out a "toss-up" question to the two teams. The first person who answers correctly, wins ten points plus a bonus question for his team. When a team fails to answer correctly, the question is passed to the other team.

Sample: Who was the German philosopher whose name rhymed with a doughnut-shaped coil?

(Answer: Hegel, rhymes with bagel.) If a hostess invited the named sons of Adam and Eve and the wives of Henry VIII to a party, how many guests would she have: (Answer: Nine—six wives and three sons: Cain, Abel, Seth.)

Colleges which are participating are Barnard Women's College, New York; Goucher Women's College, Baltimore; Davidson Presbyterian College, North Carolina; Air Force Academy, Denver and University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

SUB Election

Winners of the Student Union Board election held Tuesday are Philip Cox, Kay Evans, Judy Schrim, Kathy Songster and Warren Wheat.

There will be a meeting of the outgoing board Monday evening, to appoint five additional members to next year's 10-member board.

Brass Choir To Present 16th, 17th Century Music

Music of the 16th and 17th centuries will be featured by the University Brass Choir, 3:30 p. m. Sunday, in Memorial Hall.

The Brass Choir will be conducted by Jerold Gerbrecht of the UK Music Department.

Compositions to be performed will include a number of original works for brass choir and double choir.

The program will include two motets, "In Natus Tuus, Domine," by Thomas Tallis and "Ecce Quomodo Meritur," by Jacob Gallus.

Music Seniors Set Concert Monday Night

Sue Eleanor Judy, pianist, and Cassandra Tingue Anderson, soprano, will present a joint senior recital Monday evening at the Laboratory Theater in the Fine Arts Building.

The recital, which will be given at 8 p. m., will be presented by the UK Music Department in partial fulfillment of the students' bachelor of music degrees in music education. The concert will be open to the public.

Miss Judy is a student of Ford Montgomery, assistant professor of music in the UK Music Department. She is vice president of Phi Beta, women's national music fraternity, treasurer of Music Educators National Conference, and a member of University Choristers. The past four years has been a She has also been a member of the University Orchestra and Symphonic Band.

Mrs. Anderson is treasurer of Phi Beta, secretary of MENC, and a new member of Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary. She is choir director at Wesley Foundation and has taken part in Women's Glee Club, Chorus and Choristers. Mrs. Anderson has studied under Miss Phyllis Jenness, instructor in the UK Music Department, for the past four years. Her accompanist will be Miss Ann Huddleston.

Graduate Exams Set For Selected Seniors

Selected UK seniors will be given the Graduate Record Examination this semester.

Dr. Leon M. Chamberlain, UK vice president, explained the testing as "a part of the University self-evaluation study that is going on."

Dr. Chamberlain emphasized that while the results of the tests will not affect grades, an honest effort will have to be made by those tested in order for the tests to have real meaning.

The testing is a segment of the over-all effort to obtain an accurate scholastic profile of the University. It is being conducted in co-operation with the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Tests given will be designed to indicate the quality of the student's general or liberal education. A few students will take advanced seats in their major fields. This will be done where there are enough majors in a field and enough national norms for comparison.

The two groups which are scheduled to take the tests are seniors in arts and sciences and in education.

Seniors in arts and sciences will take parts of the regular Graduate Record Examination, those in education will take the Teacher Education Examination.

Tentative dates for the examination are May 5 for education seniors and May 7 for arts and sciences seniors. Testing will be in the Coliseum.

Students involved will be notified in ample time as plans are made definite.

To Buy Or Borrow

Groups entering Little Kentucky Derby Races may borrow or buy bicycles at the LKD office in the Bowman Hall lounge. Bicycles cost $22.50 and will be on sale at the office from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday and 9 to 12 a. m. on Saturday.

Borrowing may begin Monday and bicycles kept until after the derby. Practice starts at 3 p. m. Friday at Stoll Field.

Trillina To Speak To English Group

Lionel Trilling, literary critic, author, editor and professor, will speak in the UK English Department Lecture Series on Tuesday.

Prep Speakers To Talk At Festival Monday

Kentucky high school students will meet here Monday for the 39th annual state speech festival.

The festival, which continues through Wednesday, is sponsored by Extended Programs. Each school to be represented is a member of the Kentucky Interscholastic League.

This league is composed of various high schools in Kentucky who wish to compete in the speech festivals.

The state is divided into nine regions with each member school competing in the regionals to determine who is to come to the state speech festival.

In order to qualify for the state meet they must receive a rating of superior. Each participant may receive a rating of superior, excellent, good or fair.

The entire program for Monday will be devoted to debate, with the finals on Tuesday. The debate finals will be in the music room of the SUB at 4 p. m.

Dr. Gifford Blyton, UK professor of speech, and Paul Street, director of the UK Bureau of School Service, will be two of the debate judges.

Other activities beginning Tuesday will include discussion, poetry reading, interpretative reading and public speaking.

The festival will end Wednesday morning with extemporaneous speaking, oratorical declamation and radio speaking. Also on Wednesday morning will be more poetry and interpretative reading on the junior high level.

Judges, other than those on the University faculty, are from the College of the Bible, Georgetown College, Morehead, Western Kentucky, Transylvania and the Clark County School System.

Denver Sloan, coordinator for the Kentucky Interscholastic League, will be in charge of the speech activities of the festival.

Placement Interviews

The University Placement Service has released the following schedule of interviews for April 11-17:

April 11—Jefferson County (Col.) Schools, elementary grades and special fields, junior high and senior high teachers, special fields including library science, psychology and some administrative positions.

April 13—Charmin Distributing Co. (New division of Procter and Gamble) men in all fields interested in sales.

April 14—Harlan County Schools, all elementary grades, teachers of home economics, music, history, English, sciences, industrial arts, social studies and mathematics; Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., women with interest in accounting, personnel, advertising and display, for merchandising program.

April 15—Waterford Township (Mich.) Schools, elementary teachers.

April 16 — The Procter and Gamble Co., women graduates in secretarial science, market research and advertising; Atomic Energy Commission, accounting majors; G. C. Murphy Co., men in all fields interested in retail store management.

April 16-17—Kentucky Education Association, superintendents throughout the state will call at University Headquarters, Brown Hotel, Louisville, during the annual meeting for interviews with interested teacher candidates. Students planning to attend the meeting should notify the placement service at once.

April 17—R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., June or August graduates for training for supervisory positions in manufacturing and leaf departments.

Club For SCUBA Divers May Open

Dave Franta, UK track star, has announced plans are being made for the formation of skindivers club for men and women on campus.

The club will be trained to use SCUBA equipment (self contained underwater breathing device) and skindiving are often confused by those unfamiliar with the sport.

The skindiver is equipped with flippers, mask, snorkel and either a spear or camera. The SCUBA diver is equipped with a complete underwater breathing device.

New Sociology Course Proposed

A new course in sociology, social factors in medicine, has been recommended by the arts and sciences faculty for approval by the University Faculty.

If accepted by the University Faculty, the course will study "the significance of social and cultural factors to the etiology, course and management of health problems; the social change, medical practice and the role of the physician."

Help!

Track Coach Don Seaton has sent out a call for all men interested in joining the cinder squad in the capacity of a sprinter or hurdler to report to him at the Stoll Field track any afternoon. UK completed a perfect cross-country campaign last fall with a great array of distance-run talent, however, lack of men for the shorter distances may offset the marathon stars this spring.

Coal Association Trainers To Meet With UK Miners

Sixteen members of the Vocational Training and Education Committee for the National Coal Association will open a two-day meeting with UK students and faculty members in the mining department today.

The committee members, who make regular visits to the country's 27 mining schools, will acquaint the students with opportunities in the coal industry and discuss mutual problems and new advancements with the faculty members.

Dr. Frank D. Peterson, vice president for business administration, will address the group at a noon luncheon today. The keynote address of the conference will be given by Roland C. Luther, chairman of the committee, in the lounge of Bowman Hall.

Luther, vice president of the Pocahontas Fuel Company, will speak on the future of the coal industry.

The committee last visited UK in 1953. Mining engineering at the University is part of the Department of Mining and Metallurgical Engineering, headed by Dr. Richard S. Mateer.

UK Grad Elected By Editors Group

Woodson Knight, UK graduate and managing editor of The Atlantic Magazine, a publication of the Atlantic Refining Company of Philadelphia, was elected president of the American Association of Industrial Editors at the organization's annual convention in Syracuse Tuesday.

Knight, who has been with Atlantic since 1945, formerly was a reporter and editor with the Associated Press in Nashville, Tenn., and had served as a working newsman with the Dayton, Ohio, Journal, Cincinnati Post, Lexington Herald, and the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The IBM Company

The IBM Company engineers and manufactures the world's most complete line of data processing equipment. This equipment is marketed through over 190 Branch Offices in the United States. It is sold, installed, and serviced by a staff of experts highly trained in its use and application. Applied Science Representatives are those members of IBM's marketing organization primarily concerned with the application of the most advanced data processing machines to challenging problems in research, engineering and business management.

APPLIED SCIENCE REPRESENTATIVE

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The four primary functions of an Applied Science Representative are these:

1. CONSULTATION—The Applied Science Representative is called upon to bring his technical knowledge and computer knowhow to bear upon problems of IBM customers and prospective customers.
2. APPLICATIONS DEVELOPMENT—Applied Science Representatives are charged with the responsibility for discovering new scientific application areas for computers. It is on the new application development that the growth of IBM depends.
3. TEACHING—A considerable portion of a Representative's time is spent in teaching the use of IBM computing equipment to IBM and customer personnel.
4. SALES—The Representative spends considerable effort in developing the need for IBM computers in the organizations of prospective users. His knowledge of computers and their use is used to develop applications and to document the computers utility and worth to the prospective user.

TRAINING PROGRAM

A training program lasting 15-18 months, comprised of approximately equal parts of classroom instruction and "on the job" type training, equips the Applied Science Representative to perform effectively in the four areas above. It includes thorough training in the programming and operation of IBM's complete line of data processing equipment and an extensive orientation in its use in both scientific and record-keeping application areas.

EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS

B.S., M.S., or Ph.D. in Math, Engineering or one of the Physical Sciences. Course work in Matrices, Modern Algebra, Numerical Analysis and Statistics is desirable. Mathematics through Differential Equations is necessary. Experience with computers is NOT required.

PROMOTIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

For the persons who combine the technical knowledge of computers and their application, along with the experience of handling customer problems in the field, promotional opportunities are unlimited in all areas of IBM: Research, Engineering, Manufacturing, and Marketing.

Keeping The Three R's

Probably no one group is more acutely aware of the need to reach and then preserve the highest possible level of education than those persons affiliated with this, or any, university. And, while providing facilities to meet the need for educational expansion is a matter of dollars and cents, the ultimate results cannot be evaluated in merely budgetary terms.

Today Lexington's voters will decide whether to approve an additional tax levy to maintain present facilities and to provide funds for building sites, new school buildings and retiring bonds issued for such construction. The added tax has been estimated at approximately 25 cents for each $100 of taxable property, and in any case may not exceed, under present law, 50 cents.

The Kernel is aware that the majority of its readers are not involved in this tax issue, but we also realize that there are enough registered voters among the faculty, staff, married students and parents of Lexington residents to merit our commenting on the situation.

We cannot present here the mass of figures relevant to the school issue, but we can boil them down to one question: Will tax receipts, without the added levy, be enough to meet the demands of the local schools within the next few years?

The answer, we believe, must be an emphatic no. Without more funds, the local schools will be forced to close their kindergartens. They will probably have to start teaching split sessions in order to allow each child to go to school. Churches, already in use as school buildings, will not be able to handle the increased enrollments that local authorities know are forthcoming.

No parent would willingly deny his child a proper education simply because it would mean a few additional dollars per year in taxes, yet a veto of the school bill today will be doing just that. If the demands are not met now, what will they be in two years, or five? This is not a situation that can be evaded, and that is a fact that voters must realize.

We encourage every voter within the University community to support the program for better schools by voting "yes" in today's referendum.

Hopscotchers' Defense

To The Editor:

Your editorial of April 8 ("The Boisterous Barristers") was read with fervor by the students of the Law College who, mirabile dictu, find it difficult to endure the day without digesting your editorial page to detect any new cause that you may be championing.

I agree with your statement that the lovely coeds are causing a disturbance in front of the law school as they walk to their classes in spring attire. Under the seal of professional privilege, I can advise you that I have knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the reason for the reaction among the legalists who happen to avail themselves of the opportunity to obtain sunlight upon their pallid skin during the class break. You there, among your ink pads and Gutenberg presses, must realize that among 15 or more grueling hours spent daily wrestling with the world's legal problems there must be interspersed at least a few moments of relaxation. I admit, however, that some find themselves overcome by the "scenery" at times and their usual selves—to wit, videlicet—their introverted, backward and shy personalities, are overcome by the tension and anxiety that fills their autonomic nervous system. Have mercy on spontaneity!

Attempting to channel our quasi-energies into other directions, we took your suggestion that we play hopscotch. An engineering acquaintance, in conjunction with M&O, laid out a top-flight hopscotch court for us. But you forgot that due to our intensive study habits, our physical condition is below par. During the first game of this new sport, the captain of our Hopscotch Squad suffered an umbilical hernia while attempting a very difficult twosy-foursy. To the best of my knowledge, information and belief, the proximate cause of the malady aforesaid was due to, because of, and in consequence of your editorial.

We did consider instituting an action against you for creating and causing a nuisance dangerous to life and limb. But after an exhaustive search of the authorities there could be found no case that supported this contention, excepting the dissenting opinion of Judge Skipp in the case of Kinda Ruptured Jr., et al, vs. Hopscotch Enterprises, Inc., as noted in 27½ Virgin Island Law Review 721. Could this be like so much of your editorial work—damnum absque injuria?

We are in receipt of the Kernel staff's challenge for a championship playoff with the Law College squad.

I would suggest that you might advertise it as the Grand National Olympic Hopscotch-Off. However, because of the aforementioned grievous mental and bodily distress and anguish you caused our teammate, please allow healing time out for good behavior.

Party-Goers' Mockery

To The Editor:

It is one thing, bad enough in itself, when the partying class on campus demands official sanction for its alcoholic impulses (beer parlors), knowing full well that it is already hard enough to make the grade at UK without flaunting this additional distraction before the very door of learning.

It is a much graver matter, however, when one of these "open-minded" party-goers finds it necessary to publicly mock a religious group on campus, and, because he disagrees with their views on drinking, feels compelled to ridicule their religion in general ("Righteous Ravings," Wednesday's Readers' Forum). When religion is subjected to such abuse, completely unjustified and irrelevant to the issue involved, it is indeed time to question the open-mindedness of the same person who calls others, such as the Baptists, "narrow-minded exhibitionists."

And when the day comes which Mr. Rampion believes is already here, the day when any sincerely held religious view is "flagrantly misplaced" on campus, truly open-mindedness will have vanished there. Upon the arrival of such a day, I and many other "narrow-minded" people will also have vanished, seeking some secluded spot, as did the Pilgrims, where we can tolerate each other's divergent types of narrow-mindedness in peace.

On The Spot

Conventions, Past And Present

By DAN MILLOTT

The Students' Party convention is history and the ticket of Wainscott-McMullan must now wait for the Campus Party to name its top candidates Tuesday night.

The Campus Party picture is a little clearer than the SP preconvention show last week, but the CP outlook is not as sure as it was a week ago.

The CP convention is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in Memorial Hall. As of now, Taylor Jones appears to have the inside track for the nomination.

A number of developments have caused Jones' nomination not to be an absolute certainty. In the first place, Phil Cox, formerly seeking the vice presidency, has entered the presidential race against CP Chairman Jones.

Frank Schollett of the K-Club, who announced his candidacy for vice president Monday, is unofficially teamed up with Jones. Bob Perkins, an early vice presidential candidate, is running with Cox.

A reliable source in the Campus Party gave a pretty clear picture of how things stand now. The Jones-Schollett combination is claiming supporting convention votes from Phi Delta Theta, both football houses, Chi O, Theta, SAE, Sigma Nu, KA and ZBT.

The Cox-Perkins combination, according to the source, is also claiming Theta support, along with Triangle, TKE, Alpha Sig, DZ, and ZTA.

Two other Campus Party groups, Farmhouse and the Phi Sigs, are not being claimed for support by either side.

What is developing is a two way fight for both the presidency and the vice presidency.

Under the convention rules, a Campus

Party member organization may cast as many votes Tuesday night as it can get to the convention. For example, if Phi Delta Theta gets 60 men in Memorial Hall Tuesday, it will have 60 votes.

The Campus Party source said all the football players from the two football houses are expected to attend the convention. This would benefit Schollett, certainly, and, almost as certainly Taylor Jones.

The cards now seem to be stacked against the Cox-Perkins group. The CP convention rules state that to vote in the convention a delegate must belong to a Campus Party organization, or, if he is an Independent, he must have attended one party meeting and paid his semester dues.

Unless Cox, an Independent, can get an impossible number of Independents to the CP meeting Monday afternoon, he will have to get his support from the CP member groups only.

Since his support—or rumored support—is coming from mostly smaller groups, the odds are against Cox-Perkins success Tuesday night. Naturally this could change if the bigger CP organizations show up in small numbers Tuesday and the small organizations turn out in mass.

If the organization preferences listed earlier are correct, a glance at the make-up of the convention should be able to tell who the nominees will be. Odds still say Jones-Schollett.

Another interesting development has been the unofficial commitment of support given to Jones by Bill Kinkead, former IFC president and Students' Party SGA representative. Kinkead is a long-time friend of Jones's so this pledge of support has been in the cards for sometime.

Jam Session, Formals, Races To Fill Weekend

By BILLIE ROSE PAXTON
Hands down, the BMOC of the Week is Ole Sol who's been tanning hides like crazy. Happy days are here again. . . .

Keeneland opened yesterday afternoon, rain and all, with quite a cheering section from UK. It'll be going for another two weeks yet, so save your pennies.

At any rate, spring has returned, and, in its wake, another social season.

Tonight, the Kappas are throwing their annual spring formal at Lansdowne Country Club. The Four Sounds are the music men. . . . And the girls of Jewell Hall voted to buy a television rather than have their dance scheduled for tonight, according to Zee Tapp, president of the hall.

But, tomorrow morning, Rise 'n'

Shine! Grab your best Bermudas and follow the beat of the House Rockers down to 230 S. Lime where the SAEs are having a real, live jam session. Minerva and the Lion too will be rockin' and rollin' from 9 a.m. to noon. Any early riser is welcome, says Society Chairman Henry Pepper.

Following this will be a buffet for SAEs and their dates. Then, the races in the afternoon are optional.

The Deltas are starting a little later in the day, about 6:30, in fact. Most of them will be picnicking at Gentry-Land, Darby Dan farm. The rest will be here ushering for the Chicago Opera Ballet in Memorial Coliseum.

Then, tomorrow night, Lansdowne will be taken over by the KDs. The Thoroughbreds will play for their annual White Rose Formal.

Their partying will be continued Sunday afternoon when KDs and dates take off for Herrington.

On Sunday afternoon Keeneland Hall is being thrown open to all friends, relatives, etc. of the inhabitants thereof. Boys will be allowed in the Inner Sanctum.

On Wednesday night the girls will shine at the annual Stars in the Night.

On further cautious remark, please. While the UK set-up is being reformed, why can't something be done about rules affecting those fraternities on probation? Naive is the soul who thinks that their grades will improve if they schedule no parties.

With that thought, I leave thee, and thee, and thee, Mr. Cawood, a thousand apologies. And to thee, Mr. Anderson, a knife in the back.

AND A word of warning: THIS IS THE MATING SEASON!

The Dope Sheet

By SCOTTIE HELT

One has only to meander over to Memorial Coliseum, down that long hallway of champions to the last door on the left to find the person that gets the vote from this corner as the month's "Most Happy Fella."

Coach Blanton Collier is all aglow about the fine showing his squad made in the spring football drills concluded only last Tuesday.

After sending his boys through their 14th game-like scrimmage in the 20-day practice period, the head mentor had this to say: "This was probably the best spring practice I have ever seen a bunch of boys take part in. They all worked hard and gained much."

Biggest gain of the sessions was the chance to put into actual operation the three-platoon style of maneuverability that was so satisfactory to Coach Paul Dietzel and crew down at LSU. Collier formed the squad into a defensive, offensive and combination unit, and now he has practically every one on his 70-plus squad doing what he does best and what will benefit the team most.

With the Wildcats hitting the ball at a lofty .306 clip, here are the men who have combined for that impressive average:

Giving a preview of future Wildcat baseball fortunes, Coach Abe Shannon's Kitten clan will inaugurate its 1959 season tomorrow at 1 p.m. when it opposes Louisville Manual High school in a double-bill at the Transylvania field.

In defense of an 10-1 record a year back, Shannon lists an eleven-man group to battle the Crimson. Seven boys are homestate lads, and four of these are native Lexingtonians.

The complete squad consists of pitchers Bob Newsome, Joe Sullivan, Eddie Monroe and Joe Barber; infielders Dick Lowe, Bob Meyers, Ray Ruhl and Art West; and outfielder Tom Uley and catchers Alan Feldhaus and Pat Sullivan.

Vol Baseballers Here For Important Tilts

By SCOTTIE HELT

With a helping hand from the weather man, UK's baseball contingent jumps back into the thick of the Southeastern Conference, Eastern Division title chase with a pair of weekend meetings with arch-rival Tennessee at 2 p. m.

Game On Air

University's radio station WBKY will broadcast tomorrow afternoon's UK-Tennessee game direct from the Stoll Field diamond. It will be the second radio appearance for the Cats this year. An Athens, Ga. station took a teletype play-by-play last Friday and Saturday.

Live Up To Names

Jim Host and Jerry Sharp have been nominated to pitch against the invading Vols this weekend. Each has highly exemplified his name in early-season stints. Host has a "host" of bad luck being 1-3 despite giving up but three runs in 29 innings, and Sharpe has been nothing but "sharp" in pesting a perfect 2-0 mark.

The Vols are in town for single bouts today and tomorrow at Stoll Field at 3 p. m.

The Wildcats will throw an overall 7-4 record up against the visitors and a 2-1 league slate. Under a new coach, Cotton Hubbs, the Knoxville aggregation has a single win over Lincoln Memorial University and a pair of losses to Georgia in three outings.

On grounds of comparative scores, the Cats rate as district favorites as they downed the only similar opponent, Georgia, by 5-4 and 5-2 scores while losing to the Bulldogs, 4-2. Tennessee lost to the Georgians, 6-2 and 17-3.

After an improved 5-4 conference record last season, Coach Harry Lancaster's men are making a bid for the loop crown for the first time in eight seasons. Although exact standings are unavailable due to day-to-day changes, the UK entry can be no worse than third in its division at 2-1. Every Eastern loop club has already lost at least one game.

Baseball is one of the few sports in which Kentucky holds an edge over their rivals to the south. A three out of four record against the Vols last season gave the Cats a 45-38 all-time diamond standing against Tennessee.

The only man to give the Cats trouble last year was right-hander Jim Thomas, who recorded a 1-0 whitewashing for the lone UT victory. Thomas is a probable choice to take the mound for tomorrow's match with Randy Crowell, also a right-hander, slated to pitch today.

A diamond is a thing of joy and beauty forever - Select yours and hers with Care. See

Track Team Meets Miami, Bowling Green

By JOHN BAXTER
UK's track team will try for its first outdoor win Saturday when it travels to Oxford, Ohio, to meet Miami University and Bowling Green.

The meet will be the Wildcats' first against Bowling Green and its third against Miami. UK had its last track meet against Miami in 1921 and the Wildcats won, 65-52.

Although Kentucky received a trouncing last week from Ohio University, it won its share of the events. Coach Don Cash Seaton complains for lack of depth, especially in the dash and hurdle events.

Often weak in the weight events, UK this year has a good threat in the discus with Lowell Stevens, a sophomore. He set a new school record last Saturday against Ohio U. with a 134 foot, 7-inch throw. Stevens broke the old record of 131 feet, 6 1/2 inches set by Nevers in 1937. He hopes to better his record at Oxford Saturday.

Although the Wildcats are still without the services of ailing distance runner E. G. Plummer, Seaton thinks his runners will have their greatest showing of strength in the distance events.

He will have Press Whelan in the mile and two-mile events and Roger Gum for the 440 and 880. Whelan turned in a 4:23 mile and a 10:07 two mile for wins against Ohio U. Saturday.

Gum ran his season's best 440 in :49.1 to win and also ran an impressive 1:59.4 in the 880. He ran a :49.5 leg in the mile relay.

Alan Lips and Danny Jasper should give UK added strength in the distance events. Lips finished second in the mile and third in the two-mile race against Ohio U. Jasper was out with a pulled muscle.

But Miami has its greatest strength in the distance events. Its cross-country team last season was one of the stronger of the conference. Miami has several milers in the 4:18 class.

Although Ohio won both hurdle events Saturday, UK's Ken Somers was leading in the low hurdles when he tripped over the last hurdle and fell. He came in last.

Somers has been consistently improving in the broad jump, hurdles and sprints.

Jim Murphy will represent the Cats in the pole vault and high jump. Murphy tied for first last Saturday against Ohio U.

Coach Seaton thinks Bowling Green is the tougher of the two teams because it is strong in the hurdles and dashes where both Miami and Kentucky are weak.

Home Net Match Cancelled; Squad To Try Again In Ohio

UK's tennis team, the school's only spring sport squad yet to see action in '59, will have to wait until tomorrow before scheduled meeting with Tennessee on the Coliseum courts.

Coach Glenn Dorroh will head his six-man group to Dayton where it will take on the Flyers tomorrow.

Kentucky and Dayton tennis teams met for the first time in history last year, the Wildcats emerging victorious by an 8-1 count.

Dorroh will be directing a club that numbers only two lettermen, senior Bob Whalin and junior George Rupert. Byron Shelton, Dave Braun, Daniel Smith and Don Sebolt are expected to form the top six. Sebolt, a newcomer to UK tennis, is to play in the number one slot.

The racquet corps posted a creditable 9-6 slate last year, one of the best records in the sport here in several seasons.

Following their Dayton encounter, the tennis crew will move to Delaware, Ohio where it meets Ohio Wesleyan Monday.

An attempt to open the home season will be made again next Wednesday when Georgetown invades the University lot.

Cat Golfers Meet Vols After BG's

Having evened their record at 2-2 with a 19-11 win over Xavier Tuesday, UK's golfmen will try to move over to the winning side of the ledger as a pair of matches are on tap for the weekend.

Today, Coach Leslie Martin's men take on Bowling Green in a one o'clock Idle Hour Country Club meeting, and tomorrow, they engage arch-rival Tennessee at 9 a.m. on the same course.

Leading this year's Wildcat squad have been the surprising sophomore sensation from Maysville, John Kirk, and veteran senior squadman, Todd Livesay.

Reds, Nats Lead Majors

Cincinnati and Baltimore jumped to an early lead in the majors yesterday, the Redlegs gaining the senior circuit top spot with a 4-1 win over Pittsburgh and the Senators downing Baltimore, 9-2, in the junior loop.

The Reds were led by Frank Robinson, who drove in three runs with a home run and single, and Vada Pinson, who scored twice.

A full schedule of games are scheduled for both leagues today.

A Thinking UK Student Says . . .

"I am for Harry Lee Waterfield because he is running on his background of good, loyal service to Kentucky; whereas his opposition has nothing to stand on, so they must rely on past administrations to get at the goal they seek."

Pay Small For London Model

LONDON (AP) — Pam Curson-Hodson Dudley has been modeling for some of the best stores in London for five years. Her earnings lately have averaged $22.40 a week.

A New York beauty in the same profession might be inclined to chuck it at this point and go marry a rich uranium tycoon. But the British, including their models, are of the bulldog breed.

This is not to imply that Pam, who is 22, resembles a bulldog in any way, shape, manner, fashion or form apart from tenacity.

A blue-eyed blonde, she is cast more along greyhound lines, being 5-feet-8 with statistics of 35-23-35. Despite the modest financial returns from her career up to now, she is determined to stick it out and wait for the big break. There are hundreds of other London models in a similar income bracket and with similar hopes.

Pam comes from the hamlet of Ditchling, near Brighton, where her mother and father have a small farm.

Mrs. Curson-Hodson, herself a former model, thought Pam had possibilities. She introduced the girl to an old friend, photographer Norman Parkinson of Vogue magazine. He got Pam, then 17, a job with a West End couturier called

At Michael's, Pam worked a five-day week modeling gowns for customers. Her weekly pay was $11.20. She commuted a total of 60 miles morning and night to and from Ditchling.

After a year in this job, Pam caught on with a London wholesale dress house. There she did mainly showings for buyers. Her starting pay was $12.60 a week, she was able to take a little room in the city and quit the Ditchling shuttle.

Pam spent two years with the wholesale house. Her pay finally reached $26.60 a week, but fame and the big money seemed remote. So in December, 1956, she took the plunge and went free lance.

Pam Curson-Hodson poses for her husband John Dudley in their London flat. After five years of modeling for the best stores, Pam still earns only $22.40 a week. In Britain, the big money goes to billboard models. Pam is determined to hold out until she gets there.

WHO SAID IT FIRST?

A column of incidental intelligence
by Jockey brand

"TO HAVE AND HAVE NOT"

The privileged and the underprivileged, the rich and the poor—most of us have a tendency to divide mankind into two classes. The man who showed us how to do it was Cervantes. In "Don Quixote", he wrote:

"There are only two families in the world, the Haves and the Have Nots."

"WHEN IN ROME..."

...do as the Romans do, we say, thus misquoting a line from Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy". In this monumental book, the celebrated vicar stated it thusly:

"When they are in Rome, they do there as they see done."

"JACK SPRAT"

No, "Anon" didn't coin the famous quatrain concerning the thin man and his peculiar eating habits. Instead, it was a certain John Clark in something called, "Paramologia", written in 1639:

"Jack Sprat will eat no fat, And Jill doth love no lean, Yet betwixt them both They lick the dishes clean."
