

AMATEUR STROLLERS GIVE NOTABLE PROGRAM

Amateur Night, an annual event at the University of Kentucky, at which prospective members of the Strollers, a dramatic organization of the institution, are given opportunity to display their histrionic ability, was observed at the University chapel Halloween. Four individual and three original plays composed the program, as follows:

"The Prodigal Son," Lucile Moore, Marion.

"A Lesson in Hypnotism," John Head, Greenville, assisted by Albert Greaves, Bradfordsville.

"The Romance of a Hammock," Virginia Griffith, Ghent.

"The Pan-Hellenic Program," Jane Nichols, Nicholasville; Sara Metcalf, Clerksburg; Eugenius Young, Norfolk, Va.; Martha McClure, Lexington; Emma Lee Young, Lexington; Catherine Tucker, Lexington; Anna Hall, Maysville; Mona Saunders, Lexington; Elizabeth Cook, Marion; Elizabeth Allen, Maysville, and Kathleen Herring, Lexington.

"Who's Afraid," Louise Connell, Ghent.

"The Gazelle and the Swan," Catherine Reed, Marion.

"How Ham Saved the Homestead," Mrs. Gregory, Lexington; Claribel Gray, Springfield, Ohio; Brooks Jewell, Eminence; Frank Wedekemper, Louisville; George Oldham, Hopkinsville, and J. W. Selp, LaGrange.

UNLICENSED CREAM BUYERS PROSECUTED

A suit instituted last June in the circuit court at Mt. Sterling by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, through its counsel Mr. W. B. White, against the C. W. Jean Company, an Indiana firm, operating a number of cream buying stations throughout Kentucky, for failure to procure a license for their cream station in Mt. Sterling last spring, was successfully terminated last week.

Judge Robert Winn, attorney for the C. W. Jean Company, appeared in open court and agreed that a judgment should be entered against his client for the sum of $300.00 and costs.

This represents the first prosecution brought by Dean Thomas Cooper for violation of the Kentucky Creamery and Tester's License Law, the object of this law being to insure fair dealing between the producer of cream and the company buying it.

EXTENSION MEN HELP PLAN FARMERS' ORGANIZATION

Dean Thomas Cooper, of the Experiment Station, accompanied by eight other extension men, attended a meeting at the Hotel Henry Watterman, at which a State Farm Bureau of Kentucky, an association having as its objective the betterment of agricultural conditions in the State, was formed.

Between 200 and 300 farmers, representing thirty-one counties of Kentucky, were present.

The organization is non-political, non-sectarian and non-secret. This organization represents what is really the first attempt to organize farmers of Kentucky along this line and is in part more or less a temporary organization for the purpose of determining the permanent form of the organization. Another meeting is planned in January, at which details of permanent organization will be dealt with more extensively.

The first picture of the University of Kentucky and of the city of Lexington ever taken from the sky was taken November 8 by Todd Green, of LaGrange, senior in the College of Agriculture. Mr. Green holds the position of snap-shot editor for the University year book and this picture will appear in the annual.

Mr. Green asked for and was given the privilege to fly over the city in an aeroplane, being used here by the government aeronautic demonstration.

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT AT NOTABLE MEETING

President F. L. McVey, of the University of Kentucky, attended the National Convention of State Universities held in Chicago, Nov. 10 and 11. At this convention several important problems affecting state universities were discussed.

The problems of cooperation between American universities and exchange with foreign universities, the problem relative to military education, and changes in economical conditions as they affect both legislative programs and university salaries were discussed.

Doctor McVey is secretary and treasurer of this body and is on two important standing committees, those of Reorganization of Education and University Inter-Communication.

While in Chicago, Doctor McVey attended the meeting of the General Education Board of New York, meeting in Chicago at that time. He was also present at the meeting of the Association of Agricultural Colleges held in Chicago the same week. Other members of the faculty who attended this meeting were Thomas P. Cooper, Dean of the Agricultural College, Professors Thompson Bryan and George Roberts, and Miss McCheyne of the Women's Extension Division.

$1,521.50 PLEDGED FOR STUDENT Y. M. C. A. WORK

The annual Y. M. C. A. drive to procure funds to carry on the "Y" work for the forthcoming year at the University of Kentucky, resulted in the pledging of $1,521.50, by the faculty and students. The College of Agriculture stood first in the percentage of students pledging with 57%. The College of Law was next, followed by the College of Arts and Sciences, with the College of Engineering last. The drive was under the direction of Robert J. Raible, Louisville, student treasurer of the "Y," from the students and Professor W. E. Freeman, from the faculty.

UNIVERSITY MAY TEACH MEN AT NAVAL POSTS

Men at naval posts may receive educational training through correspondence offered by the Extension Division of the University of Kentucky, if full information on the course is satisfactory to officials of the Bureau of Navigation.

Wellington Patrick, Director of Extension, has received a letter from the bureau asking for details of work being done and indicating that it might be approved for men in the service. The courses, begun in September, have already proved popular in many parts of Kentucky, and the inquiry from Washington is taken as an indication that they are becoming favorably known outside of the state.

COOPERATIVE CONFERENCE GROUPS ANNOUNCED

The plan for a series of cooperative conferences to be held between correlated departments of the University of Kentucky, which was announced in a former bulletin, has been worked out and the following groupings have been made:

The dates for these meetings will be announced later. All groups will meet at the President's office, except in cases where groups are too large to be accommodated.

These cooperative conferences, it will be remembered, are an innovation introduced this year for the purpose of banding correlated departments together for mutual cooperation and benefit.

MOUNTAIN CRAFTS TO BE SHOWN IN EXHIBITION

The Art and Design Department, under the direction of Miss Minna Beck, will hold an exhibition and sale of Mountain Crafts, Nov. 20, 21, and 22 in the department studio at the University. The articles to be exhibited are from Berea, Hindman, Alanstand, and Tyrone. The exhibit will be held each day between the hours of 10 and 12 and 1:30 to 6.

Features of the exhibit will be mountain crafts, paintings by Mrs. James Hopkins, of Cincinnati Art Museum; books relating to mountain subjects, round table conferences, lectures, and a studio tea each day.

UNIVERSITY SENIORS DISCUSS HONOR SYSTEM

As a probable result of the establishing and successful working out of the honor system by the girls of the University of Kentucky in the government of their dormitories, a committee has been appointed at a recent meeting of the senior class, to investigate the working of the honor system in various universities throughout the country, with a view of establishing such system in the University.

This committee is to report to the next class meeting, at which time it will be determined whether definite steps shall be taken toward the organization of the system.

MODEL FARM FEATURE OF NOTABLE EXHIBITION

One of the striking features of the Style Show given under the direction of the Shriners, in Lexington, was the Experiment Station booth, of University of Kentucky. A model farm, showing in miniature the workings of an up-to-date Blue Grass establishment of 150 acres, with crops, cattle, poultry, from which a net annual income of $5,000 should be derived, was shown. Ten tons of soil were used in making the base and real crops appear, just beginning to shoot above the loam.

In another booth was demonstrated how poultry can make money, and the home economics department of the University had a unique display for the housewife.

KELLEY AND SELLARDS ARE MADE ALPHA ZETAS

At the annual fall pledging day held in the University of Kentucky chapel, E. E. Kelley, Whitesburg, and H. G. Sellards, Prestonburg, were pledged to the Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity. Because men pledged to this fraternity must have maintained throughout their academic careers a certain class standing, and must be of the highest character, this is the highest honor possible for an agricultural student. Mr. Kelley is a 1919 graduate of the College of Arts and Science who will receive his agricultural degree this year.

Mr. Sellards is a junior in the College of Agriculture.

CITIZENS VOTE BONDS FOR STATE MEMORIAL

In the election Tuesday, Nov. 4, the citizens of Lexington voted in favor of a bond issue of $75,000.00, the money to be applied as the city's quota in the erection of the Kentucky Memorial Building on the campus of the University of Kentucky. The Fayette County Fiscal Court had previously made an appropriation for the fund, of $25,000.00. In this way every person in Lexington and Fayette county, who pays taxes, will have a part in helping to erect this building.

Besides this about $55,000.00 has been procured to date, after deducting campaign expenses. Thus about $155,000.00 of the necessary $300,000.00 required to erect the building, has been pledged and Professor W. E. Freeman, chairman of the campaign committee, expresses confidence that the remainder will be procured in a short time.

UNIVERSITY SELECTS SIX MOST POPULAR CO-EDS.

In the annual popularity contest held at the University of Kentucky under the auspices of the Kentuckian, the University annual staff, the following co-eds were declared the most popular girls in the University: Misses Jane Gregory and Dorothy Middleton, of Lexington; Miss Isabelle Dickey, Walton; Miss Clara Blocker, Owensboro, and Miss Helen Taylor, Bowling Green. Pictures of these six girls will appear in the Feature Section of the Year Book.

UNIVERSITY BAND WINS DESERVED RECOGNITION

As a mark of interest in the University of Kentucky band, sufficient funds were collected on the occasion of the Vanderbilt game within ten minutes, between halves, to send twenty-five band members to support the team in the game played at Cincinnati the following Saturday.

The Athletic Association has hitherto sent the band men with the teams to the nearby towns, but this year, on account of unfavorable weather conditions and extra expenditure for maintenance, this was not possible.

The band has a peculiar status on the campus. Although having the scope of a student activity, it is a compulsory organization, being elective with drill for freshman and sophomore students, hence lacking the spontaneous support which is given to purely volunteer work of a student activity. This year, however, the men are taking a different attitude toward their work. Everyone is interested. Every one comes to band practice on time. In fact six junior and senior men for whom band practice is not compulsory, have been giving liberally of their time toward the making of this organization worth while. They are: E. G. Godbey, Middleburg; N. G. Sullivan, Elkton; Stubbins, Newport; Neville Moore, Marion; C. H. Heavrin, Hawesville, and C. R. Rouse, Butler.

Sophomore and freshmen members of the band are: E. W. Baughman, Stanford; W. E. Blake, Jackson; W. C. Boderick, Falmouth; Roy Bradley, Clarkesdale, Miss.; Robert Clay, Louisville; E. R. Gregg, Louisville; T. W. Gregg, Louisville; G. D. Hagan, Brandenburg; L. E. Hayslett, Typo; Norwood King, Lexington; Roy Kirk, Paintsville; H. G. Malone, Franklin; F. M. Pittman, Greenville; Oscar Locke, Newport; H. G. Malone, Franklin; S. Ridgeway, Shepherdsville; T. M. Riley, Burlington; R. L. Sanders, Covington; E. C. Sideboton, Somerset; J. J. Slomer, Covington; C. T. Sale, Beattyville; I. J. Taylor, Stone; W. L. Williams, R. O. Wilson, Robertson, Ill.; R. Woodward, London; C. C. Young, Paris; S. Harney, Paris; F. B. Richardson, Somerset.

Coming back strong after suffering defeats at the hands of Indiana and Ohio, the fast University of Kentucky Wildcats broke two records in the last two weeks by defeating the University of the South by the score of 6-0, Kentucky's first victory over Sewanee on the Tennessean's field; and the following week holding the heavy Vanderbilt eleven to a scoreless tie, the first time in history that teams of the two schools have met without Vanderbilt coming off victorious. Last Saturday, in a slow game on a muddy field, the Kentucky team, with a number of substitutes in the line-up, lost to the University of Cincinnati by a 0-7 score.

"WILDCATS" WIN, TIE AND LOSE A GAME
