

A black and white photograph showing a hillside with a road cut. The road cut is a series of vertical, parallel channels cut into the earth, likely for drainage. The hillside is covered with dense, scrubby vegetation. In the background, a few trees are visible against a cloudy sky. The foreground is dominated by thick brush and tall grasses.

16.9 W. SIDE LOOK E
10-2-15