DR. OTIS A. SINGLETARY
President, University of Kentucky

Dr. Otis A. Singletary came to Lexington in 1969 as the eighth president of the University of Kentucky, which was established in 1865 under provisions of the Morrill Act of 1862 as the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky University. In 1878, the school separated from KU and became an independent institution supported by the State. It has been known as the University of Kentucky since 1916.

Prior to assuming the UK presidency, Dr. Singletary was executive vice chancellor for academic affairs at the University of Texas, Austin. He earlier had been director of the Job Corps program for the Office of Economic Opportunity, and chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. His many honors include the UK Alumni Service Award—a recognition rarely bestowed upon a non-alumnus of the University.

CLIFFORD O. HAGAN
Director of Athletics

Cliff Hagan returned to his alma mater January 1, 1972, as assistant director of athletics and then was named athletics director July 1, 1975. One of the all-time great basketball players at UK, he played on teams that won 86 of 91 games and an NCAA championship (1951). The 1954 team, undefeated in 25 games, elected not to play in the national tournament. Hagan set a dozen SEC records and an NCAA record of 528 rebounds as a junior. He averaged 29 points a game, led the nation in rebounding, and scored a then-UK record 51 points against Temple in 1954.

He was All-American at UK, All-Pro with the St. Louis Hawks and player-coach of the Dallas Chaparrals. He was named the 1968 Texas "Professional Coach of the Year."

THE 2-VOLUME WEBSTER'S 9-POUND, 1,380 PAGE, 158,000-DEFINITION $39.95 DICTIONARY NOW ONLY $19.95!

Can you imagine The New Webster International Dictionary of the English Language as a victim of recession? It is true! And just as the automakers offered rebates to drastically improve sales, so does Webster announce an incredible half-price slash of the publishers list price of $39.95 to an unbelievable $19.95 on the 1,380-page, nine-pound, 158,000-definition, 196-page supplemented, 2-volume, 1976 edition of The New Webster International Dictionary of the English Language. Now Only $19.95.

Think of it! This 2-volume reference work for home, school or office library has never before been offered at such an extraordinarily low price. The many years of exhaustive research are clearly reflected in this supreme lexicographic effort. From this research and from suggestions, contributions and critical review by such notables and men of letters as Charles C. Collingwood, Chief Foreign Correspondent, CBS; Radio and Television Commentator and Mark Van Doren, PhD.; Author; Poet; Professor Emeritus of English, Columbia University, a most respected and distinguished permanent editorial staff labored unstintingly for additional arduous years to give you what has culminated in this priceless, non-pareil etymological endeavor. Everyday, literally hundreds of thousands of people refer to The New Webster International Dictionary of the English Language.

The work itself is a joy to peruse and is printed in large, easy-to-read type. It begins with A Historical Sketch of the English Language by Mario Pei, Professor Emeritus at Columbia University. The vocabulary, A-Z, is included in 1,185 pages, with even the most modern of colloquialisms well defined. This section is prefaced with A Guide to the Use of The Dictionary and tables for the pronunciation symbols and abbreviations used therein. Also included is a dictionary of Prefixes and Suffixes with etymologies and meanings.

Other supplements include:

- A phenomenal 51,000-word thesaurus of Synonyms and Antonyms with 4,000 precise cross references—an invaluable adjunct that no dictionary can be without.
- Idiomatic Foreign Words and Phrases—French, Latin, Greek, Spanish, Italian, etc., pronounced and translated into English—a must with our present day emphasis on multilingualism.
- Over 2,500 abbreviations set forth and defined—an acronymic treasure house.
- Musical signs, symbols and abbreviations set forth and explained for even the novice.

Noah Webster (1758-1843). Father of lexicography and inspiration for founding of our company.

- Your knowledge of popular and famous quotations lends credence to your literary background. Hundreds of these priceless comments on a myriad of people, places and things makes this section, in many ways, the crown jewel of supplements. "The wisdom of the wise, and the experience of the ages, may be preserved by quotations."—Disraeli.

- Seven sections comprise the Students' and Writers' Guide; truly a complete reference in itself for high school, college, home and office. The pen is still mightier than the sword!

- Do you want an exact date between 1901 and 2100 AD? This precise, simple, perpetual calendar will keep you ahead of the times, up to date or behind the times. You'll always have the right date.

- Metric or United States (Imperial)—we're here to convert you—and make it quick and easy—in our world of number systems such conversion tables are a necessity.

- Our Occupational Guide lists dozens of jobs and professions with appropriate explanations of necessary training, salary ranges and job availabilities, etc. PLUS an extensive listing of National organizations and addresses that can lead you to the job of your choice.

- The awe-inspiring adventures of both Greek and Roman mythology are detailed in abridged form with appropriate cross references. Constant literary reference to these immortal people and stories makes this section a storehouse of interpretive information.

- The Secretaries' Guide and Manual of Information is a commercial course in itself. It holds the key to being a successful secretary giving detailed and explicit information on the position, office routine, letter writing and filing with complete, accurate and up to date subdivisions for each.

- Multiplication and Compound Interest Tables will ease your way through our "buy it on the installment plan" life. Precise, simple and accurate—if you don't pay cash, know what your purchase costs really are.

- Keep track of your own wages and salary. Timekeepers do make mistakes. These simple, accurate tables permit you to swiftly discover errors of computation in time spans as small as 15 minute periods.

- Most of our lives we eat, sleep and work by the clock. Our magnificent charts will swiftly show you the exact time, on a comparison basis, anywhere in the world—all 24 time zones are at your fingertips.

- 8 pages of exciting, colored reproductions of the flags and banners of the world—a real history lesson.

And now all this can be yours. Two huge, handsome volumes that set on a library shelf will add a touch of grace, splendor, knowledge and erudition to your office or den. The New Webster International Dictionary of the English Language has never before been offered at such an astonishingly low $19.95.

THE NATION'S BEST IN OFFENSE

by Anson Mount

Pittsburgh coach Johnny Majors stands alongside his potential Heisman Trophy winner, the elusive, hard-running Tony Dorsett.

To its millions of avid followers, college football is the most colorful and exciting of spectator sports—not only for the wildly improbable occurrences on the playing field and the stunning upsets that happen somewhere each Saturday, but also because of the continual arrival and departure of superstars, the players who give the game so much of its flavor and romance. Last year's heroes may be this year's alumni; many of this season's household names thrilled the hearts of only their mothers and girlfriends barely a fortnight ago.

This is especially true of the offensive side of the line of scrimmage. Rocket-armed quarterbacks, sizzling halfbacks and elusive receivers can light up the landscape with their brilliance in their freshman year, while most defensive players must toil until their junior or senior year before gaining notoriety.

It's always comforting to know, of course, that your favorite team's All-America fullback will return this fall, but it's even more exciting to learn that a possible future O.J. Simpson or Joe Namath has enrolled during the off-season and is waiting in the wings for a chance to show his stuff.

Therefore, let's take a nation-wide look not only at this season's established offensive greats, but at those youngsters whose names will be set in bold type in the country's sports pages before the season is out.

Quarterbacks and runners get the lion's share of press and public attention, of course, because they're usually the guys who gain the yardage and score the touchdowns. A great quarterback can turn a just-average team into a perennial winner, but when an already excellent team is led by a superb passer and field general, national prominence for both seems inevitable. Such is the situation at California where wonderfully talented Joe Roth has made Bear fans forget Steve Bartkowski. Roth is the prototype of a top quarterback: 6'-4", 205 lbs., a deadly accurate passer, cool, intelligent, and a quietly articulate leader.

While Roth is a classic drop-back passer, Nolan Cromwell of Kansas could well be the nation's premier option quarterback. Emerging from obscurity last season, he led the Jayhawks to a stunning upset victory over national champion Oklahoma. He should be even more impressive this season.

The Big Eight has two other quarterbacks with claims to national honors—Vince Ferragamo of Nebraska and Steve Pisarkiewicz of Missouri.

Minnesota's Tony Dungy will get a lot of national attention if the Gophers, a legitimate dark horse in the Big Ten, have a big season. Few quarterbacks have treated fans to such impromptu heroics as did Harvard's Jim Kubacki last season, rising from a substitute on the junior varsity to become the nation's fourth-ranking player in total offense. Harvard coach Joe Restic loudly insists Kubacki is the nation's best. Another Ivy League quarterback who will garner laurels this season is Pennsylvania's Bob Graustein.

There are at least two quarterbacks of the game-breaker variety who, though relatively unknown, have the talent to skyrocket to fame this fall if fortune smiles: Jack Henderson of Oregon and Ricky Wesson of SMU.

Keep an eye on Michigan State's incoming freshman quarterback Mike Marshall. One of the most intensely recruited prep players in the country last winter (250 colleges tried to get him), he could be a freshman flash of major magnitude if he gets a chance to play. The same is true of Georgia Tech freshman Mike Jolley.

This year, like last, will produce a bumper crop of runners. As always, those who have the fortune to play on highly-ranked teams will get most of the honors, while many equally good ball carriers on lesser teams will bask in obscurity. As the season opens, the best chances for national prominence belong to Ricky Bell of Southern California, Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh, Rob Lytle of Michigan, Earl Campbell of Texas, Wendell Tyler of UCLA, and Mike Voight of North Carolina. Bell and Lytle, both remarkably clean-cut, intelligent and mature young men, may face off in the Rose Bowl next January 1. Dorsett could well be remembered years from now as one of the half dozen greatest runners in the history of college football.

Other runners who have an excellent chance to win national honors this season are: Pete Johnson, a thunderous fullback in the best Ohio State tradition; Fast Freddie Williams of Arizona State (a team that could go undefeated); Jerry Eckwood of Arkansas; Kent State's Art Best (a transfer from Notre Dame); Rob Carpenter of Miami (Ohio); Walter Packer of Mississippi State; Terry Miller of Oklahoma State; Glen Capriola of Boston College; Terry Robiskie of LSU; Tony Benjamin of Duke; and Kevin McLee of Georgia.

There is one great runner that deserves special mention because he will likely be this year's prime unsung hero—a fate that often befalls superb players on teams with lean won-lost records. Last season Indiana's Courtney Snyder carried the ball an incredible 291 times, but still managed a 4.3 yard average. Defenses are always rigged to stop him because everyone in the park knows he's going to get the ball. He isn't big (197 lbs.) and he isn't the fastest, but he has an amazing ability to stay on his feet and a knack for running over tacklers nearly twice his size.

Each fall a few young running backs (freshmen, suddenly mature sophomores, or junior college transfers) leap to national attention. This year, as always, there are a score of youngsters whose advance notices suggest they may be the next O.J. Simpson or Tony Dorsett, but the best chances for sudden stardom belong to freshman halfback Curtis Dickey of Texas A&M, sophomores Ted Brown of North Carolina State and William Andrews of Auburn, and junior college transfers Gary Nair of Oregon and David (Deacon) Turner of San Diego State. The University of Florida seems to have hit the jackpot in the super-rookie sweepstakes—the Gators have a newcomer who may be the fastest football player in the nation: Willie Wilder who runs a 5.9 60-yard dash. Notre Dame also has a pair of gem-quality freshman runners—Vegas Ferguson and Ty Dickerson—though one or both of them could be assigned to the defensive backfield if help is needed there.

Receiver Larry Seivers has the hands, speed and moves to give him national honors and add to the strength of the Tennessee Vols.

Ricky Bell led the country in rushing in 1975, and will be a certain contender for the highest honors this season.

If any column space is left over after sportswriters have finished eulogizing quarterbacks and halfbacks, it usually goes to the receivers of which there are two sub-species, wide receivers and tight ends. Of the former group, Larry Seivers of Tennessee, Mike Renfro of Texas Christian, John Jefferson of Arizona State, Tony Hill of Stanford, Jim Smith of Michigan, Preston Denard of New Mexico and John Mastronardo of Villanova have already proven their excellence. If given a choice of any two of this group, most coaches would likely choose Seivers and Renfro, but for different reasons. Seivers has a seemingly magical ability to catch any pass, however erratic or off-target, thrown anywhere in his vicinity. Renfro, son of all-pro Ray, has

by Jack Hairston, Gainesville SUN

MSU's Walter Packer is already the school career rushing leader.

High scores and gobs of yardage, particularly of the ground variety, have been the pattern in the Southeastern Conference since the coming of the option offenses—the veer and the wishbone.

The biggest argument among the league's fans this fall probably concerns this question: Who is the conference's finest ball carrier?

Here are some of the nominees:

WALTER PACKER, Mississippi State, senior, 6'-0", 175 lbs., Leaksville, Miss.

A Heisman Trophy nominee, Packer rushed for 2,006 yards as a sophomore and junior. Already Mississippi State's career rushing leader, he ran 157 times for 994 yards and a 6.3 average in '74 and 180 times for 1,012 yards and a 5.6 average in '75. One of his carries was 85 yards for a touchdown against Louisiana State University. In those two seasons he rushed for over 100 yards in nine different games.

Blessed with 4.4 speed in the 40-yard dash, Packer set the Sun Bowl rushing record as a sophomore when he ripped North Carolina for 183 yards.

Coach Bob Tyler says of him: "Among Walter's many outstanding attributes and abilities, I would have to point to his tremendous speed, his poise, self control and command of all situations."

Big (215 lbs.) Terry Robiskie carried the ball 214 times for the Tigers in 1975.

JOHNNY DAVIS, Alabama, junior, 6'-1", 228 lbs., Montgomery, Ala.

Davis beat out incumbent Calvin Culliver for the Alabama fullback job last year as an 18-year-old sophomore. He netted 820 yards in 123 carries for a 6.7 average and wasn't tackled for a single loss.

One of his seven touchdowns was a 66-yard sprint against Texas Christian. On his biggest day, against the University of Washington, he rushed for 155 yards and scored three touchdowns.

KEVIN MCLEE, Georgia, junior, 6'-0", 188 lbs., Uniontown, Pa.

Although he missed the last two games with a broken ankle, McLee was the SEC's Sophomore of the Year last season, rushing 166 times for 806 yards and a 4.9 average.

A 9.9 sprinter, he scored twice as many points as any other Bulldog, putting 60 points on the scoreboard via 10 touchdowns. He wrecked Clemson with four.

McLee's father played at Penn State and a brother at Michigan State, but Kevin said, "I always thought I'd like to play in the South. I like the emphasis on speed that you have down here. Most of the Big Ten schools which recruited me play a power type game, and I wanted to be with a team which didn't have the power attack."

TERRY ROBISKIE, LSU, senior, 6'-2", 215 lbs., Lucy, La.

Robiskie is a big, sub-10-flat workhorse who carried the ball 214 times last year for 764 yards, for a 3.6 average and 10 touchdowns. He also caught 13 passes.

Beginning this season he's within 766 yards of becoming LSU's leading career ground gainer, surpassing such former Bayou Bengal stars as Billy Cannon, Jim Taylor and Brad Davis.

Coach Charlie McClendon said, "This young man has that innate sense of football which makes him an extremely coachable player. Although he came from Class A high school football (the smallest group of high schools in Louisiana), Terry stepped right in and lettered as a freshman.

STANLEY MORGAN, Tennessee senior, 5'-11", 171 lbs., Easley, S.C.

Morgan averaged 9.6 yards for the Vols every time he touched the football his freshman, sophomore and junior seasons, and he touched it 377 times for 3,608 yards!

Rushing, he's scored 19 touchdowns, and he ran 128 times for 723 yards and a 5.6 average as a sophomore, 133 times for 809 yards and a 6.1 average as a junior.

He's caught six touchdown passes, and as a freshman he latched on to 22 throws for 511 yards. He's returned three punts all the way and has totaled 659 yards and a 13.4 average on 49 returns the last two seasons.

Introducing the dollar stretchers.

Your SAFECO agent is a good person to know. Because he can show you more than 136 ways to stretch your insurance dollar. Here are some examples.

1. Cut costs on disability insurance by increasing the elimination period. The longer the elimination period (time lag between the beginning of a disability and the first income payment), the lower the premiums.

2. Keep your valuables in a safe place. You may be able to lower fine arts, stamp and coin collection insurance rates if you store the items in bank vaults, home vaults or fire-proof safes.

3. Go for a bigger hunk of life. Many insurance companies offer discounts for larger policies. So avoid buying a bundle of small policies when one might do.

4. Don't make the wrong move with moving insurance. Before you buy a special, and often expensive, policy sold by moving companies, check your homeowners. You may already be covered.

5. Check your life policy before you fly. If you have adequate life insurance coverage, you won't have to buy expensive airline trip transit policies.

6. Unless you own an oil well, don't invest in endowment policies. For most people, endowment policy premiums are too high for the value received. Many would be better off with a straight life policy.

7. Be a boating expert. Some companies will give you up to a 10% discount if you complete an approved power-boat handling course.

8. Increase deductibles on your business insurance. You could save up to 18% on your building insurance premium by carrying a $1,000 deductible.

9. Keep an extra set of accounts receivable. If you keep a duplicate set at another location, you could save up to 50% on the accounts receivable premium.

10. Check into I.R.A. retirement plans. They provide a good way to buy your life insurance through tax-deductible dollars.

11. Don't get stranded by your auto insurance. Check to see if your comprehensive provides transportation expenses if your car is stolen. You may be able to save yourself some car fare.

12. Go for the big deductibles. You could save a lot on your premiums if you carry a $200 collision deductible rather than a $100 deductible—and take a $50 deductible on comprehensive. And any loss over $100 is deductible from your income tax.

13. Lock the barn door before the horse gets away. Do everything you can to avoid losses to your home. Check for hazards. Install alarms. Buy good locks, and use them. Keep fire department, police and emergency medical aid numbers handy. It's the best way in the world to fight rising insurance costs.

14. Don't look for bargains in health insurance. A cheap policy just may not be adequate. And this is one place where it's better to have too much than too little.

15. Buy insurance from an agent who's not just a company man. A local independent agent, who represents many companies and sells many different insurance plans, may be able to get you a better deal. Because independents are free to sell you what's best for you. And get you the best value to boot.

If you think these tips make sense, see the people who wrote the book. SAFECO has put together a handy, 36-page consumer guide that tells you how to get more for your insurance dollar. It contains the 15 tips you've just read. Plus 121 more. For this handy guide, write to SAFECO at SAFECO Plaza, Seattle 98185.

NATION'S BEST IN OFFENSE

Highly touted after a very successful junior year, Cal's Joe Roth may just be the best at quarterback in 1976.

been running pass patterns since he was in diapers, and his elusiveness makes him almost impossible to cover.

Wesley Walker of California should be one of the leading catchers in the country this year, at least partly because he will be catching quarterback Joe Roth's on-target passes. Both John Filliez of Marshall and Elijah Marshall of North Carolina State could win wide acclaim if dependable quarterbacks can be found to get the ball to them.

Gordon Jones appears to be this year's premier sophomore receiver, though Mike Quintela of Louisiana State, Keith Ellis of New Mexico and Artie Pulsinelli of Columbia could get a lot of attention if their teams do well. Sophomore split end Tim Smith of Nebraska has the talent to make it big if the Cornhuskers bother to throw the ball more than a few times each season.

Tight ends Don Hasselbeck of Colorado, Ken MacAfee of Notre Dame, and Ozzie Newsome of Alabama are this year's most obvious candidates for All-America honors, although either of two sophs, Ron Lee of Baylor and Gene Johnson of Michigan, could steal the laurels.

And now we come to that most neglected and undeservedly anonymous of football players, the offensive lineman. His job requires the brawn of a defensive tackle and the mental quickness of a quarterback, yet there are no statistics to record the excellence of his performance. "Blocks executed" and "passers protected" aren't included in game records. The futility of their plight has led the offensive linemen at Purdue University to form their own organization for mutual comfort and support, the Fraternal Order of Offensive Linemen. They proudly wear T-shirts emblazoned with the letters FOOL.

The offensive linemen with the best chance to escape obscurity this season are tackles Marvin Powell of Southern California, Mike Vaughan of Oklahoma, Bob Lingenfelter of Nebraska, Warren Bryant of Kentucky, Chris Ward of Ohio State, Mike Fagan of North Carolina State, Dennis Swilley of Texas A&M, Val Belcher of Houston, and Ted Albrecht of California, plus guards Joel Parrish of Georgia, Ernie Hughes of Notre Dame, David Gerasimchuk of Alabama, Leon White of Colorado, Tom Brzoza of Pittsburgh, Dave Ostrowski of Auburn, Carl Dean of New Mexico State and Vic Staffieri of Yale.

Oklahoma's Mike Vaughan is the prototype of a great offensive lineman. He stands 6'-5" and weighs 282 pounds. He's a remarkably stable, intelligent and polite young man, with the pink-cheeked and curly-haired good looks of a little boy. He also possesses an olympian appetite. On a recent afternoon we watched as he enjoyed a between-meals snack of four half-pound cheeseburgers, a half gallon of milk and two bowls of pretzels.

Southern Cal's Marvin Powell, probably the greatest offensive lineman in that school's history, is the sort of clean-cut young man fathers hope their daughters will marry. Nebraska's Bob Lingenfelter, whose 6'-7", 282 pounds are topped by a luxuriant beard, could play the role of Paul Bunyan without makeup.

Georgia coach Vince Dooley says that Joel Parrish is the most gifted offensive lineman he has ever coached, which is rather like Paul Bryant saying someone is the best quarterback he's ever had.

In an average year, there are only one or two All-America calibre centers in the country. This season there's a bumper crop; at least five centers are competing for top honors, any one of whom in some other years would be consensus All-America choices. They are: Georgia Tech's Leo Tierney, Mark Cantrell of North Carolina, Robbie Moore of Florida, Billy Bryan of Duke, and Bob Rush of Memphis State. You've probably noticed an ironic coincidence—they're all from the Southeast.

Which brings us, finally, to that pampered dilettante, the player who never works up a plebian sweat, who rarely gets his knickers soiled in crass physical contact, but who provides the winning margin in many, many games—the field goal kicker. The better ones this season are Dan Beaver of Illinois, Ohio State's Tom Skladany, Dave Jacobs of Syracuse, David Posey of Florida, Steve LaPlant of San Diego State, and Neil O'Donoghue of Auburn. O'Donoghue, a recent emigrant from the Emerald Isle, is a winsome young man who has captured the hearts of his deep south teammates. He says, "Pass the turnip greens and sow-belly, y'all" in the most charming Irish brogue.

Florida's Robbie Moore is a standout center in a league featuring many fine samples of the same.

No water boy in this starting lineup.

This is the Delco Freedom Battery, the maintenance-free, power-full advance in battery technology from AC-Delco. There are no filler caps; you'll never have to add water. In fact, once it's installed you can virtually ignore it. That's why we named it "Freedom."

Features include a sealed top and Delco-Remy pioneered changes in cell material and design to promote continuing reliable power. The results are dramatic, even when compared to our best conventional battery: superior ability to hold a charge, resistance to damage from overcharging, superior ability to withstand today's higher under-the-hood temperatures. It should not require servicing for the entire life of the battery.

With the miseries of cold weather coming on, it's time to think about getting the Delco Freedom Battery on your team. See your neighborhood AC-Delco serviceman soon.

TONY GREEN, Florida, junior, 5'-8", 180 lbs., Sarasota Fla.

Tony set the Gators' one-season rushing record as a freshman, netting 856 yards on 133 carries for a 6.4 average, including one 74-yard touchdown run. Last year Jimmy DuBose, since graduated, broke Green's record, while Tony suffered through—for him—a sub-par year (103 carries for 471 yards and a 4.6 average).

Green still piled up 1,059 yards last year, figuring in his pass receptions (79 yards), kickoff returns (290 yards for a 22.3 average), his punt returns (154 yards for an 11.8 average) and one pass completion (65 yards for a touchdown).

MICHAEL SWEET, Mississippi, junior, 5'-9", 184, lbs., Vicksburg, Miss.

Sweet netted 653 rushing yards on 146 carries last year for a 4.5 average, sweeping through Southern Mississippi for 147 yards, Georgia for 112, South Carolina for 129 and Tennessee for 103. He scored on a 40-yard burst against Tennessee, and against LSU he caught five passes for 80 yards, including a 16-yard touchdown play in the final minute for a 17-13 Ole Miss victory.

As a freshman, he rushed for 210 yards and averaged 32.8 yards on eight kickoff returns for 262 yards. He's rated one of the finest open field runners in Rebel history.

While the SEC doesn't have as many great pass receivers as it does runners, the quality at the top is just as great.

LARRY SEIVERS, Tennessee, senior, 6'-4", 205 lbs., Clinton, Tenn.

Seivers was the consensus All-America split end last year, leading the SEC with 41 catches for 840 yards and an average of 20.5 yards per reception.

Coach Bill Battle said, "The consistency with which Larry does the seemingly impossible never ceases to amaze me. His success as a receiver is uncanny, and it seems his next catch is always the most sensational."

WES CHANDLER, Florida, junior, 6'-0", 184 lbs., New Smyrna Beach, Fla.

Although the Gators didn't throw often in their wishbone attack, the speedy sophomore split end was No. 2 in the SEC last year in reception yardage, grabbing 20 passes for 457 yards, a 22.9 average and five touchdowns.

Coach Doug Dickey said, "There isn't a player on our squad who works harder day-by-day in practice, or is more of a competitor, than Wes. He surely deserves all the good things that happen to him on game day. He has excellent moves, exceptional concentration and good hands. His down-field blocking is a key factor in our ability to break long runs."

MARTIN COX, Vanderbilt, junior, 6'-0", 179 lbs., Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

A 10-flat sprinter, Cox was No. 10 in the nation in kickoff returns last year, running back 19 for 462 yards and a 24.3 average, including a 65-yarder against Alabama. He moved into the starting lineup at midseason and caught six passes for 80 yards.

Coach Fred Pancoast said, "Cox is, first of all, a very gifted athlete. But, more than that, he is also a big-play athlete. He is one of the fastest players on our team. He caught a 20-yard pass from Mike Wright in our varsity-alumni spring game and turned it into a 91-yard touchdown play."

While the SEC hasn't been a "quarterback league" the last year or so, 1976 should witness a fresh crop of field generals and a few old hands certainly making the headlines. Among the latter are PHIL GARGIS, Auburn; RANDY WALLACE, Tennessee; and RAY GOFF, Georgia.

As a sophomore in '74, Gargis, 6'-0", 188 lbs., led the War Eagles to a 10-2 record, including a 27-3 Gator Bowl victory over Texas. He ran 151 times for 687 yards and a 4.5 year average, and completed 35 of 81 passes for 518 yards (1,205 yards total offense).

After a year off as a junior, how well Gargis bounces back as a senior will probably have a lot to do with how well Auburn moves the ball in Doug Barfield's first season as head coach.

A consistent performer, Randy Wallace figures to play a prominent part in improving Tennessee's record of a year ago. He was the SEC leader in passing yards (1,318) and total yards (1,529) in 1975.

Ray Goff displayed his balanced talents last season in leading the Bulldogs to the Cotton Bowl. He rushed for a 4.3 yard average and totaled 720 yards overall.

The coaches and fans in the SEC also have great appreciation for the many fine linemen who open the holes for the running backs and who give the quarterbacks and receivers time to perform their magic.

One team is quick to point to an offensive tackle as its best offensive player: WARREN BRYANT, Kentucky, senior, 6'-5", 250 lbs., Miami, Fla.

Bryant has been a starter since early in his freshman season, and he was an All-SEC first team selection as a sophomore and a junior. Coach Fran Curci said, "Warren has been the bulwark of our offensive line for three years now. He has consistently graded highest on the team."

Several other offensive linemen to make note of, who will make their names known in the SEC this fall, are: Center RICHARD KEYS, Mississippi State, 6'-3", 240 lbs.; Guard DAVID GERASIMCHUK, Alabama, 6'-2", 260 lbs.; Guard DAVE OSTROWSKI, Auburn, 6'-2", 250 lbs.; Guard MICKEY MARVIN, Tennessee, 6'-5", 275 lbs.; Guard JOE PUEPPELO, Florida, 6'-3", 245 lbs.

With the Packers and McLees running the ball behind the Bryants, and with the Seiverses catching it, the chains in the SEC will be moving plenty again this fall.

THE 2 MINUTE OFFENSE

by Mal Florence, Los Angeles TIMES

How often have you seen a football team stumble aimlessly around on offense and then suddenly come to life the final two minutes before halftime, or the end of the game?

It's a minor phenomena, but it happens.

The two-minute or fast offense is a drill designed to move the ball quickly down field for a field goal or touchdown while making judicious use of the clock.

There is, naturally, a sense of urgency in this situation, but attacking teams would be wise to remember a motto of John Wooden, the retired UCLA basketball coach: "Be quick, but don't hurry."

Quarterbacks have two game plans: one for the regular portion of the game and the other for the two-minute offense.

In the two-minute offense, the quarterback is provided with what coaches call high percentage running or passing plays.

Because the opposition sometimes figures a trailing team will resort mainly to passes in the two-minute drill, the draw play is often used as the basic running play.

As for pass plays, coaches usually depend on a quick, inside pattern or one breaking toward the sidelines. Thus, if the pass is complete, the receiver can step out of bounds to stop the clock.

Because a team is fighting the clock as much as it is a rival defense, there's one play that is a staple of the two-minute offense: deliberately throwing the ball out of bounds to stop the clock.

This is a play that is often used in the two-minute offense when a team has only a few or no time outs left or there isn't much time on the game clock.

2 minute offense

Or a quarterback will often throw the ball away on first down when he is close to a touchdown or field goal in order to give him time to regroup against a defensive alignment that has suddenly changed.

In a two-minute offense, a quarterback often resorts to audibles: changing the play at the line of scrimmage.

For instance, let's say the quarterback calls right 96 in the huddle—a sideline pass pattern to his split end. But, when he gets to the line of scrimmage, he notices that the defense has taken this play "away" from him because of the way the secondary is positioned.

So, as he calls signals, he'll say, "blue, blue." This is the pre-conceived audible that changes the play to say, 82—a crossing, pass pattern to the tight end. To the quarterback's teammates, the code word blue means that the original play is scratched and 82, as pre-designed, is the new play.

In college football, the clock stops whenever a team makes a first down and doesn't start again until the chains are moved.

Thus, in the two-minute offense, receivers are instructed to run a pass pattern deep enough to get a first down.

If it's second and seven, a receiver should go eight yards on his square out pattern—especially if the clock is winding down.

Sometimes a team accomplishes more offensively in 2 minutes than it does the rest of the game. Why?

The opposition often abandons its standard defense for a prevent defense that usually consists of five defensive backs and only two linebackers.

The prevent is just what its name implies: to prevent the long passing gain.

But, a patient offensive team can often nibble away at the prevent provided that it has enough time. A draw here, a screen there and a team is moving down field in 10- to 15-yard spurts.

The prevent has taken away the bomb, but is steadily yielding yardage.

Because of this, coaching thinking has changed. A standard defense is now being retained against the two-minute offense instead of a gimmick defense.

Of course, field position dictates a defense. If there's less than one minute to play and the offensive team is on its own 20-yard line, the opposition would be more disposed to use the prevent because the offense doesn't have enough time to march down the field. It has to get there in a hurry with the bomb.

The two minute offense—one of the most exacting and exciting aspects of football.

It's a shame we can't see it for 60 minutes.

Alumni Activity Line

There won't be a dull moment around the University of Kentucky Alumni House this fall and some of the activity is spilling over into other parts of the state and the country.

More than 25 events are slated during the 11-week football season. Most are restricted to dues-paying members of the Alumni Association. All require reservations.

Capacity crowds of 200 are signing up for pre-game meals and the bus caravan to Commonwealth Stadium preceding each home game. Alumni clubs planning to journey to Lexington to witness various Wildcat encounters this year are Detroit, Knoxville, Nashville, Jefferson County, Mason County, Christian County and Trigg County.

Clubs joining the Wildcats on the road include Memphis traveling to Jackson, Miss.; Washington, D.C. at the Maryland contest, and Atlanta, Christian County and Cumberland Valley alumni at the game with Tennessee in Knoxville.

Reunion classes who will be the special guests of the Alumni Association include the class of 1961 celebrating its 15th anniversary of graduation at today's game; the class of 1951 celebrating the 25th anniversary at the West Virginia game, September 25, the classes of 1943-44-45-46 gathering for the October 2 game with Penn State, and the class of 1956 at the Florida game November 13. Each class will hold a separate reunion function in addition to attending the football games. Reunions are open to all graduates, former members of the class and friends of classmates in the reunion class. Information and reservations can be obtained by calling Linda Brumfield at 258-8905.

Out-of-town functions include a reception at the Key Bridge Marriott Inn near Washington, D.C. on Friday, October 29. Prior to the afternoon game with Maryland, there will be a brunch at the University of Maryland's Continuing Education Center. The Knoxville alumni club will co-host a dance at the Hyatt-Regency Hotel on November 19. The following day there will be a pre-game brunch, also at the Hyatt-Regency.

introducing UK's...

'GO BIG BLUE' TEAM

They like people and travel. They are good at sports and classwork. They know where they are going and how to get there. And, since they were small children in various small towns around the state, they have wanted to attend the University of Kentucky.

Such is more or less the background of the 10 UK cheerleaders chosen last spring in competitive tryouts.

Five are veterans of past years; five are new to the squad; all are vital, energetic young people who seem to be enthusiastic in all their many endeavors.

The captains are veterans Darlene Silvestri, of Lexington, and Paul Haire, of Owensboro—both seniors, both 21.

Darlene, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Silvestri of Lexington, has been a cheerleader and gymnast since junior high school days. She has worked as a sales clerk for four pleasant years, and hopes upon her graduation next May to be a sales marketing representative for "some big company."

A member of Kappa Alpha Theta, Darlene is pleased at the "potential of the three new girls" all of whom also have experience in gymnastics.

Men's captain Paul Haire is one of the nine children of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Haire, of Owensboro. A major in agricultural economics, Paul spent the summer working on a solar energy barn for the UK Department of Agricultural Engineering.

Cheerleading, says Paul, enabled him to travel quite a bit last year. "When I was little, I never traveled much."

UK's cheerleaders are energetic young people with a variety of interests

Greek Activities Steering Committee. He's a member of the senior men's honor society Lamp and Cross.

Some are veterans

Among the veteran UK cheerleaders is 20-year-old Cheri Davis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Davis of Sturgis in Union County. After finding UK and Lexington comfortable, Cheri wants to settle down to her teaching career in a "bigger city" than home after graduation.

This past summer she worked as a hostess in a Lexington inn and now as a junior continues to prepare herself for both elementary and secondary teaching. It takes one extra semester, but it's "good insurance" and makes her "better qualified" for more jobs.

Among the men are two old-timers, Steve Greene of Harlan and Jim Winburn of Lexington, both 20 and both UK juniors.

Steve, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Greene, Jr., wants to be a lawyer like his father, a UK graduate. A lifeguard two summers ago, Steve this past summer attended summer school at UK, and practiced for cheerleading. It's "supercompetitive," he says.

He has played basketball and football and sung in the church choir. In fact, says Steve, "my family nearly makes up the church choir." At UK he belongs to Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Cheerleading, Steve sums up, "opened a lot of doors for me."

Jim Winburn, a 20-year-old junior, has been a part-time salesman through college. He spent part of the summer at Air Force summer camp as a scholarship student in the Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC). A member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, Jim is also on the executive council of the UK Interfraternity Council.

"I've enjoyed traveling and meeting new people," Jim says. "Cheerleading gave me my first opportunity to travel extensively."

Jim is the son of Garfield Winburn, Lexington, and Mrs. Wanda Rawlings Curtis of Georgetown.

High school drum major

Darrell Fisher, 19, is a sophomore and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Fisher of Lexington. He's worked all summer at UK's sports camp for low-income youngsters, teaching his specialty, gymnastics.

He was for four years drum major for Henry Clay High School's impressive marching band, and plays everything from baritone horn to flute to piano to trumpet.

But dance, especially modern dance, is the first love of this physical education major. He also sings in the Green Singers Gospel Group, which tours Lexington-area churches.

Darrell's partner on the UK cheerleading squad is another 19-year-old physical education major and dancer from Lexington. June Madden, a graduate of Lexington's Bryan Station High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McElroy Madden and she wants to be a "coach of some kind."

This summer as a professional teacher with the National Cheerleaders Association she learned much of leadership, poise and crowd control, all of which enable her to look calmly upon her debut as a UK cheerleader.

As a "small fry" she always wanted to attend UK and to be a cheerleader here. One dream of the exuberant June is to be a professional dancer and choreographer.

Aspires to be a doctor

Kirby Norris, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manford Norris of Middletown, Ohio, is the squad's only out-of-stater. He likes "Southern people" and "fell in love" with UK.

Kirby, who aspires to be a doctor, is an ace baseball pitcher who the Philadelphia Phillies have taken seriously enough to talk with about a tryout.

He spent the summer mowing grass, pumping gas and baling hay, after a broken arm interrupted, perhaps only temporarily, his baseball playing.

Kirby was, like most of his teammates, a high school cheerleader.

Joie (whose given name is Josef) Burkley is one of three women new to the squad. Joie, 20, is the daughter of Mrs. Jimmie Fouts Burkley of Louisville and George A. Burkley of Valley Station.

This past summer she worked on the Fitness Mobile, a part of the Summer Scene Program operated by the City of Louisville for inner-city youngsters and last spring semester worked part-time in a UK cafeteria.

She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and majors in business education. As "insurance" she's also working toward a teaching certificate.

As for UK: "I love it."

Renee Mussetter, an 18-year-old sophomore from Russell, wants to be an architect. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Mussetter, Renee "always wanted to attend UK" and has her 17-year-old brother, David, as a fellow UK sophomore.

She is a swimmer and gymnast who hopes to go back home to live once she graduates from the University of Kentucky.

Fran Curci

HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

Fran Curci enters his fourth season as head football coach at the University of Kentucky, where the program still is in a rebuilding stage, as evidenced by the large number of freshmen and sophomores who have earned varsity letters during the past three years.

Curci's best year with the Wildcats was 1974, when he gave UK fans their first winning season (6-5) in nine years. Plagued by injuries, failure to find a suitable replacement for Mike Fanuzzi at quarterback and some unfortunate extemporaneous factors, the Wildcats fell to 2-8-1 last season.

Reputed as one of the nation's finest recruiters, Curci has worked long and hard to attract fine talent to Lexington and his first three Wildcat squads have featured a host of freshmen and sophomores playing prominent roles.

Curci came to the University from the University of Miami, Fla., where he was head coach two years. He started his career as freshman coach at Miami in 1962 after making All-American there in 1959 and playing as a 5-foot-9, 152 lb. quarterback for the old Dallas Texans of the AFL. In four years his Hurricane frosh teams won 12 and lost two. He later served as varsity offensive assistant at Miami (1966-67) and in both of those years Miami wound up in bowl games.

He was tapped by the University of Tampa in 1968 to see what he could do about a faltering football program; in three campaigns, he wrote one of the most amazing success stories in college football.

In his first year at Tampa, he put together a 7-3 season, which included victories over Mississippi State and Tulane. That earned for him the Florida Sports Writers Association "Coach of the Year" award, a recognition repeated in 1970. Curci's 1969 season was a brilliant 8-2 affair. His 10-1 record in 1970 also included a 31-14 triumph over Miami and brought the Tampans the nation's No. 1 College Division ranking as well as bringing Curci College Division "Coach of the Year" runner-up honors.

He took over as Miami grid boss Dec. 19, 1970, and left the program there in good shape for his successor.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., he played his high school ball in Miami, where he lettered three years as a quarterback at Archbishop Curley High and was All-City, All-Conference, Catholic All-State and his team's Most Valuable Player.

At the University of Miami, he was known as the "Mite-y Magician." Playing at 152 pounds, he parlayed intelligence and desire to become All-America as a senior in 1959 after receiving honorable mention All-America and winning acclaim as one of the foremost sophomore football stars in the country in 1957.

His record-shattering feats at Miami included breaking of seasonal and career marks for total offense, most passes thrown, most passes completed and most yards gained on passing. He also was co-holder of the record for most TD passes thrown.

He rolled up 2,767 yards rushing and passing during his varsity career, breaking a total offense record that had stood for more than two decades.

As a senior, he captained Miami and climaxed his career by engineering a stunning upset (18-23) over Michigan State.

After graduation in 1960 with a degree in marketing, he played one year with the Dallas Texans and then served as a lieutenant in the Army, coaching and playing football for the Fort Eustis team, which won the National Service championship in the Missile Bowl.

Curci has been selected five times to coach in all-star games. He assisted Bear Bryant with the South team in Tampa's first annual American Bowl game three years ago, then served as South head coach the next year. He helped Charlie McClendon of LSU and Alex Agase of Northwestern direct the East in the Coaches All-America football game at Lubbock, Texas, two summers ago, was co-South coach with Bill Battle of Tennessee in Miami's Shrine North-South game in 1975 and assisted Lou Holtz with the East squad in the first Japan Bowl held this year in Tokyo.

Throughout the fall of 1975, as one set of heavy statistics heaped upon another, the sportswriters began guessing about the following year's draft. How fortunate for the expansion teams, Tampa Bay and Seattle, to have their choice of the dashing runners and the dart throwers. Surely one of the big backs or even a quarterback would be first-picked to help frame an awesome attack for the future.

Surprise for the press boxers. No surprise for the scouts. Two defensive giants, Leroy Selmon of Oklahoma and Steve Niehaus of Notre Dame, were the 1-2 selections. Ron Wolf, longtime scout and now operations director at Tampa, explained why his team passed up a running back or a quarterback.

"The foundation for building a team of quality must start with defense. In today's highly specialized game, it starts with the front four, then the linebackers, then the defensive backs. The old clichés are still good—you know, you can't score unless you get the ball, you must hold 'em to beat 'em, before you can win you have to keep from losing, the best offense is a good defense, if you keep them on THEIR half of the field, your offense will be there faster. Want more?"

In the jargon of the scouts Wolf added, "We can't make a living by drafting running backs. They don't last as long."

College football, like the pro brand, demands controlled aggression. Interior linemen get hurt, too, but they are not as vulnerable as the man with the ball, especially when that man is on a tear upfield. Coaches gulp with fear when watching their speedsters challenge a moving wall; they close their eyes and pray when that wall includes a 6 foot 7½ inch and 275 pound Selmon or a trimmer 6'5" and 268 pound Niehaus.

Of course, there are other factors especially in college. Though defenses are becoming more sophisticated, the offense is still harder to teach and learn. Offensive players must drill more closely. There is a lot of togetherness in the get-off after the snap. Defense allows more individuality, over 11 positions, because each defensive player must react in his own way to THEIR snap.

Terminology in football sometimes creates amusing oddities. (We're not talking about tight ends. Jokes about that position were milked dead years ago.) Coaches now refer to "skill positions"—quarterback, wide receiver, running back—which would imply that some others, including all defensive players, are without feet, hands or head. It's amusing because the first thing a college coach thinks of is how to change a highly gifted offensive athlete to the defense. Considering weight for size, linebackers and members of the outer secondary as a group must be more versatile and adaptive than the so-called skilled position players on the offense.

No wonder the crowd demands DEE-FENSE! DEE-FENSE! (a modern version of "Hold That Line!"). Touchdowns rate the headlines, but tackles win the game. So, let us consider the consensus defensive All-America for 1976:

Nation's Best in Defense

Big linemen abound this year. At least a dozen are the prototypes to make coaches drool.

Mike Fultz of Nebraska, 6'5" and 275 lbs., could be the strongest man in football. As a high schooler, he played fullback, but the little boy was only 240 pounds then. He was also Nebraska state champ in the shotput. A. J. Duhe of Louisiana State, 6'3" and 245 lbs., is another watch for. Look to his height and weight. He's only 20 and still growing. And don't mistake his baby face for gentility; he is a ferocious inside tackle. Dennis Boyd of Oregon State, 6'6" and 241 lbs., has the Marine squad leader attitude—all out, all the time. A certainty for the top five in the country is Notre Dame's Russ Bowner, another great in a long line of fine Irish defensemen.

Gary Jeter of USC, a star for two years, may emerge as one of the best seniors. He is one example that Coach McKay didn't leave the cupboard bare. At 6'4" and 236 lbs., Gary has played inside at USC, but later he may be better suited to defensive end with his 4.75 speed for 40 yards. At USC Jeter helped force the ball carriers toward others. This year he may be allowed to pick and choose the ball packers he wants to squeeze.

Those five may well be All-America, yet they could drop back to mere honorable mention against the charge of such as Wilson Faumuina, San Jose State, 6'5" and 265 lbs., (he was formerly 290); Wilson Whitley, Houston, 6'2" and 275 lbs., an all-around prober who is track coordinated; Phil Dokes, Oklahoma State, 6'5" and 275 lbs., in the mold of this school's fine defensive linemen and a young fellow just realizing he is made of super stuff; Mike Butler, Kansas, 6'5" and 250 lbs., a reckless, aggressive guy who was "discovered" last year by attentive pro scouts at bowl time though he had playing time from freshman to senior, or Joe Campbell, Maryland, 6'6", 225 lbs., a virtual giant in the East.

Miami's coach, Carl Selmer, states positively that 6'5", 250 lb. Eddie Edwards is the best defensive player to wear a Hurricane uniform since Ted Hendricks, and that's quite a reference.

The Bear says nobody should overlook a tremendous Alabama standout certain to make the news, tackle Bob Baumhower.

Then there's Eary Jones from down Memphis way. At 6'5" and 265 lbs., this youngster has already made his mark on opposing quarterbacks that have tested the Memphis State defense.

To repeat, the linemen make up the best defensive players in college this year. So it is possible Charley Johnson, Colorado, 6'2" and 265; Walter Chapman, North Texas State, 5'10" and 245 lbs.; Nick Buonamici, Ohio State, 6'1" and 247 lbs.; Dave Lindstrom, Boston U., 6'6" and 237 lbs.; or Duncan McColl, Stanford, 6'4" and 235 lbs., may be the "Alls" of 1976 instead of those previously mentioned. McColl, in particular, is a comer. One scout noted, "McColl's father was an All-America and his sister is a pom-pom girl. You watch McColl and I'll watch his sister."

This year, it is said, collegelinebackers and the outer secondary are not in a class with linemen. But that could be a deception. Football is a team game and most knowledgeable critics deplore the notion that an All-America player got to that exalted station all by himself. No passer ever made it big without a superior catcher, and no ballparker gained 1000 yards a season without strong blocking. So it may be with many linebackers; they could become the stars back of other stars up front, or vice versa.

Receiving much praise is a player from the Citadel who may be the nation's best linebacker in 1976. His size may limit his value in the draft, but he can hit as hard as anybody and collegiately he will be a star. Presenting . . . Brian Ruff.

At Penn State Joe Paterno points proudly to two linebackers in the Nittany Lion mold who just may be the best two in the East. They are Kurt Alderman and Ron Hosteller.

Some scouts won't even nominate a sure-fire linebacker. They talk of shifting Bob Bruzinski, Ohio State end; Harvey Hull, the Mississippi State nose guard, and Lester Hayes, the Texas A & M strong safety. All have the solid frame and the 4.7 speed, plus the inclination to hug anybody carrying a football. One outstanding outside linebacker is David Lewis of USC, who has the dimensions at 6'4" and 227 lbs., and is a former basketball ace with quick lateral movement and loves a collision. He was not consistent in 1975, but if he realizes how good he really is, prepare to retreat.

Try some cornerbacks. Gary Green of Baylor, a starter since freshman year and the best athlete on his squad, is very sound after recovering quickly from a sophomore knee injury; Raymond Clayborn of Texas is the game breaker type and could play wide receiver, but is more valuable to his team in the corner; Ralph Stringer, North Carolina State, had some All-America recognition as a junior, was a starter for four seasons, could play any of five positions and is a beautiful runner; Sidney Brown, Oklahoma, is a tough guy whose jaw was broken in the first game of 1974, had it wired and though able to eat only through a straw, still led the secondary in interceptions and tackles, and Oscar Williams, Oregon State all-rounder with great speed, is the best on the Pacific Coast, although challenged for that honor by safeties Oscar Edwards, the "Doctor Death" of UCLA and Mark Patterson, Washington State.

Gary Jeter, USC tackle supreme, is on the prospect list of many a pro team.

The Citadel's Brian Ruff is a linebacker sure to make the headlines.

An assistant football coach at a Southeastern Conference school was once upon a time asked to describe a certain player, and after pausing for a moment, he spit in the dust at the side of a practice field and said in a syrupy South Alabama brogue, "He is an outstanding citizen. You can count on him to go to the polls on election day and cast a vote."

But in the distinctive parlance of SEC football, those who come from those sleepy South Georgia towns, black-with-coal-dust Kentucky villages and flat stretches in Florida know "election day" is on a Saturday afternoon in autumn and that "cast a vote" means to hit an opponent with so much savvy a loose football—or tooth—will be in the offing.

"Yeah, football is tougher nowadays," says Alabama's legendary Paul "Bear" Bryant. "It has become more specialized."

And Bryant, whose defense allowed only an average of six points per game last year, will readily admit it is those "outstanding citizens" who make defenses work.

Here is a look at the top defensive "citizens" by teams:

ALABAMA

He was in Nashville waiting to sign a football grant-in-aid with the Commodores when the telephone call finally came. Only Vandy and Florence, a small school in North Alabama, had been interested and now he was being called to come back to Tuscaloosa, his home and that of a team called the Crimson Tide.

"I politely excused myself and caught the first plane," huge Bob Baumhower explained later. Now a pre-season All-America, the 6'-5", 251-pound Baumhower will have more on his mind than a telephone call when he and two other veterans try to anchor a graduation-riddled defense for the devastating Alabama.

"All three are winners," Bryant will tell you, but unless Baumhower, defensive tackle Charlie Hannah and noseguard Gus White can get some help, times could soon be tough.

AUBURN

The defense is the No. 1 priority for new coach Doug Barfield, but getting his best out of the hospital might be a stiffer challenge.

Defensive end Jeff McCollum, defensive back Lance Hill, and freshman linebacker Mike McQuaig are said to be the most able on "the Plains," but ironically all were injured and "out" this spring.

Alabama's Bob Baumhower was a pre-season All-America pick.

McCollum, a 6'-1", 204-pound lineman from Florence, is the 'big play' man, but keep McQuaig, who broke into the line-up with a flourish until the fourth quarter against Florida last year when a knee gave way, in mind.

John Smith, a 241-pounder, has been moved to middle guard from tackle as Auburn tries on the 5-2 defense for size and could be a comer.

FLORIDA

The Gators could well have the best returning defensive crew in the league this year and, with a pair of ball-hawking bandits in the secondary, things will work out if Doug Dickey can replace his five missing starters.

Cornerback Alvin Cowans and his sidekick, Henry Davis, both snared five interceptions each last year for Florida, yet the true strength of the club could be up front.

Darrell Carpenter is a three-year letterman at tackle and his 6'-3", 251-pound frame makes him a true pro prospect. Scott Hutchison, 6'-4", 243, has been moved to middle linebacker along with proven tight end Jimmy Stephens.

While Carpenter is the most prolific tackler coming back, keep an eye on linebacker Charlie Williams and defensive end Mark Maynor.

THE SEC DEFENSIVELY IN 1976

by Roy Exum, Chattanooga NEWS FREE PRESS

A.J. Duhe of LSU just may be the quickest down lineman in college football.

GEORGIA

Most were ready to write-off Georgia and its "Junkyard Dogs" last year, but defensive coordinator Erk Russell slapped some pride into his unit and, until the final moments of the first half in last year's Cotton Bowl, they proved their mettle to the world.

This year's version, now tested and found as solid as blue twisted steel, boasts such dandies as rover Bill Krug, defensive end Lawrence Craft and linebacker Ben Zambiasi.

Krug, a Washington D.C. transplant, was a first-team Sophomore All-America last year and has started for two years while Craft, teaming excellently with ex-quarterback Dicky Clark on the other side of the line, was twice the 'Most Outstanding Player' on TV. Zambiasi is just plain mean.

Ronnie Swoopes, quick, strong, and tough, is a good one at tackle, but the best may be hidden in the pack as Sylvester Boler, the Bulldogs' awesome middle guard, is back.

KENTUCKY

Wildcat football fortunes in recent years have been the same hue as the famed bluegrass, but things could change if everyone stays healthy.

The best athlete on the club, and the smartest, is linebacker Jim Kovach, a respected hard-hitter from Ohio.

But the biggest in the Kentucky stable has to be defensive end Art Still, a towering 6'-7", 230-pounder who missed spring drills due to foot problems.

QUALITY.

Quality in a small car. What does this mean to you? To Toyota it means an automobile that's inexpensive, not cheap. The new generation of Toyota Corollas are built with quality. The proof? 9 out of 10 Toyota cars sold in this country since 1958 are still on the road today. Quality. You asked for it. You got it. Toyota.

Quality is durability and how a car handles the road.

Power assisted front disc brakes help you maintain control. MacPherson strut front suspension helps keep the ride smooth and unit body welded construction helps keep the Corolla tight and virtually rattle free.

Toyota's quality is in a line, not one car. No matter what your space needs you'll find it in one of ten Corollas:

the Hardtop, 2-Door Sedan, 2- or 4-Door Deluxe Sedan, 5-Door Wagon, the new Sport Coupe or the new Liftback™ with a split, fold down rear seat. And there's a sporty equipped SR-5 model of the Hardtop, Sport Coupe and Liftback.

A quality car can be economical. The Toyota Corolla gets great gas mileage. Note: 1976 EPA tests, with 5-speed overdrive transmission, 39 mpg on highway, 24 city. These EPA results are estimates.

The actual mileage you get will vary depending on your driving habits and your car's condition and equipment. California EPA ratings will differ. An automatic transmission is available on Deluxe models.

Quality. You asked for it. You got it at nearly 1,000 authorized dealers across the U.S. These same dealers comprise a network of service departments with Toyota trained mechanics. The new generation of Toyota Corollas. If you can find a better built small car than a Toyota... buy it.

YOU ASKED FOR IT.

YOU GOT IT.

Nation's Best

Larry King of Syracuse has been outstanding in leading the Orangemen defense.

Sometimes it is difficult to place a player. Nolan Cromwell, Kansas, was a safety in his first two seasons, but now is a cornerback. His Bowl performance brought rave reviews and, when drafted, will be considered pre-trained as the pros shift him back to safety. Cromwell is also an academic All-America, a 4.5 speedster, and in high school was a basketball and track all-state. Those credentials and a dozen interceptions will surely bring out the All-America vote.

Larry King from Penn State is a dream come true for any team. A defensive back with all the determination and credentials it takes to be a star, Larry, for sure, will be in demand at the end of the season.

Notre Dame's Luther Bradley is another superb back to watch. His pass coverage is outstanding due to his great lateral speed and cat-quick reactions.

Martin Mitchell of Tulane plays corner and free safety in All America style. Stan Black of Mississippi State was a starter for three years, but when needed as a strong safety, was switched from wide receiver. And at free safety, USC offers Clint Strozzer, a kid with the smarts who is especially effective reading the run or pass, and coming up to support on the run. One not to be overlooked is Lester Hayes, Texas A & M, an outside linebacker who was shifted to strong safety, and with his build, 6'1" and 205 lbs., could be in one place or another as needed.

If one lists the punter on the defensive team, we can make note that the battle for the lead statistic will be between Washington State's Gavin Hedrick and Tom Skaldany of Ohio State.

And there you have the early line on college All America, defense 1976. Problem, name only eleven.

Cat-quick Jerry Blanton, a tackle for two solid years before finding himself at noseguard this spring, is a 6'-2", 220-pound workhorse while defensive back Mike Siganos is the speed merchant in the secondary. He'll be complimented by Ray Carr back there while Jamey Ramey, a 6'-4", 225-pound sophomore, starts for his second straight year under Fran Curci.

LOUISIANA STATE (LSU)

When he turned 18, A. J. Duhe had already started in eight collegiate football games. Now a 6'-4", 249-pound defensive standout, A.J. is perhaps the quickest down lineman in college football today.

But giving him a race for quickness is a Longview, Texas, defensive end named Lew Sibley that "tatoo'ed" enemy runners a whopping 72 times last fall, including seven times behind the line of scrimmage.

Clinton Burrell, a tough-hand at cornerback, is a junior starting for the third year in the experience-filled world of the Bayou Tiger and he provided the speed for coach 'Cholly Mac' McClendon.

Coach McClendon has seven lettered linebackers who are returning and several defensive backs.

MISSISSIPPI

With premier defensive lineman "Gentle Ben" Williams now gone from the school of Rebel flags, muddled conversation and beautiful women, there are two that feel their time has drawn nigh.

Gary Turner, a 6'4", 218-pound defensive end, is already a familiar name on pre-season All-America squads while Pete Robertson, a tackle who plays on the other side of the line, will make the Ole Miss front line a solid one.

Robertson, a sturdy 6'-0", 257-pounder, could well see duty at middle guard under the Rebs' rejuvenated defensive attack and another to watch will be quarterback-transfer George Plasketes at the end opposite Turner if his knee operation holds true.

Lawrence Johnson is a two-year veteran at defensive tackle while George Stuart heads the linebacker squad with two years of experience.

MISSISSIPPI STATE

"If there is a better middle guard in the country than Harvey Hull, I want to at least shake his hand," says head coach Bob Tyler, and it is plain to see

Three-year letterman Darrell Carpenter will star at tackle for the Gators.

Tyler isn't fixing to "press any flesh."

Hull, a three-year-letterman for the Bulldogs, is a 6'-2", 230-pounder from Walnut Grove, Miss., and was State's leading tackler last year with 147 stops.

Helping him will be pre-season All-American Stan Black, a safety who played flanker for the Bulldogs as a sophomore before finding a natural position in the secondary, where he plucked three enemy passes out of the sky.

Next to Hull "in front" will be 6'-5", 250-pound tackle Larry Gillard, a mere junior some scouts are already calling the No. 1 draft pick in 1978.

Senior Ray Costict and junior Jerald Porter are capable linebackers while Bill Lee and Mike Lawrence will help matters in the backfield.

TENNESSEE

Tennessee, a haven for top linebackers, appears to have another crop growing on its 'Big Orange' tree as Andy Spiva, Russ Williams and Craig Puki give Bill Battle a top-notch threesome.

Spiva is in his third year and is being touted for All-American honors while Williams, lightning-quick, compliments UT's rugged defensive game. Puki is a new-comer, but promising.

Mike Mauck heads the secondary and is a two-year starter, in which time he has probably participated in more tackles than any other UT defensive back.

Jim Woofter anchors the line and, at 6'-2", 236, makes up for size with quickness and technique.

One workhorse of the Kentucky defense in noseguard Jerry Blanton.

Gary Hardeman, only a sophomore, should figure into the UT secondary plan and also keep an eye on Thomas Rowsey, David Parsons and punt return specialist Stanley Morgan.

VANDERBILT

One look at Dennis Harrison and you know he has been growing for a long time.

But Vanderbilt football followers say Harrison grew up the fastest in Atlanta one rain-swept December day when he alone, a mere freshman, stopped Texas Tech from scoring in the Peach Bowl with three straight tackles from the one.

Harrison, 6'-6", 260, looks like an oak tree in the midst of the Commodore defensive line and, thus far, no one has been able to contain him save a badly-sprained ankle.

Kimmie Weaver, a head-hunting linebacker from nearby Clinton, can bench-press over 300 and was the team's second-leading tackler last season as a sophomore.

But minus Harrison and Weaver, the defensive side of Vandy's football team is inexperienced. Mitch Lilly shows signs at tackle while Bill Blair and David Hale will try to anchor middle guard.

Vanderbilt, however, did beat arch-rival Tennessee last year and Fred Pancoast hopes his younger players will ride the crest of that wave for a long time . . . long enough to see Vandy do it once or twice or . . .

Pete Depends On Us

When Pete graduates and goes to work, he's going to need more than determination and ability. Good jobs depend on even more basic things, one of which is a reliable source of electricity.

Electricity is essential to power the motors that drive the industries that employ the people who make the parts that go into the things we all buy.

When the industries we serve run on electricity, we can't afford to run short of it, for Pete's sake.

WILDCAT FACTS BOOKS

The Wildcat Facts Books, designed originally for Press-Radio-TV, received such a huge response when first offered to the public that they are being offered again this year. Winners and pace-setters in the sports brochure field, the Wildcat Facts Books in both football and basketball contain approximately 140 pages of statistics, facts, figures and records, along with rosters, outlooks, personal sketches of players and coaches and various other items of interest. There are also extensive scouting reports on future foes and advance schedules (in football) of future Wildcat teams, as well as a complete list of lettermen and All-American and All-Conference performers. Basketball Facts will be ready in early November.

Once again, TV service technicians give these opinions about Zenith:

We're proud of our record of building dependable quality products. But if it should ever happen that a Zenith product doesn't live up to your expectations—or if you want details of the service technicians' survey—write to the Vice President, Consumer Affairs, Zenith Radio Corporation, 1900 N. Austin Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60639.

The Panorama IV. Sophisticated 25" diagonal console. A rich blend of soft Silver coloring and simulated Rosewood cabinetry. Model SH2541X. Simulated TV picture.

I. Best Picture.

Again this year, in a nationwide survey of the opinions of independent TV service technicians, Zenith was selected, more than any other brand, as the color TV with the best picture.

Question: In general, of all the color TV brands you are familiar with, which one would you say has the best overall picture?
