Graduation Ceremony To Be In Field House

Formal Dedication Scheduled May 30

More than 1600 students, 300 over the previous mark, will be graduated June 2 during ceremonies held in Memorial Coliseum. Another feature of graduation week events will be the formal dedication of the newly constructed Coliseum May 30.

Principal speaker for the commencement program will be John Sherman Cooper, former U.S. Senator and now special consultant to the Secretary of State. Also on the list of speakers are Dr. Daniel A. Politz, president and editor of the Christian Herald. His will be the benediction message.

Thomas A. Ballentine, president of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce will speak at the alumni banquet June 1. Dr. J. D. Williams, chancellor of the University of Mississippi, and Dr. Henry H. Hill, president of Peabody College of Nashville, will be commencement lunch speakers.

Forty-four Class Reunions

The commencement program also sees the reunions of 14 separate classes of the alumni. Most outstanding of the classes will be that of 1900. Most of these groups are planning to meet in the Coliseum and at least one informal party.

Memorial Coliseum will be dedicated in honor of the 9268 Kentuckians who lost their lives during the last war. Their names have been

New Kentuckian Schedule Announced

Kentuckians will be distributed to undergraduates who have subscriptions on May 24-25 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Room 55, McVey Hall. Students should bring their receipts.

Distribution to graduating seniors will begin on May 26. Subscription receipts will not be needed. Seniors want to begin signing with A through H may get the Kentuckian on May 26, I through P on May 27, and Q through Z on May 31.

On Wednesday, May 31, anyone who did not get the Kentuckian the scheduled time may pick them up. Students who do not have subscriptions may sign for them. They will be distributed if there are any remaining copies.

A distribution date for seniors graduating in August will be announced later.

Yearsbooks MUST be claimed by Jan. 1, 1951, or the claim will be null.

Best Students In Law Study To Get Books

Prizes of law books ranging in value from five to fifty dollars will be awarded to outstanding students in the College of Law. The cooperation of law book publishers will make it possible for these to be awarded annually beginning this year.

Prizes will be given to the winners and runners-up in the Law Club competition. Books will be awarded for the best performance in practice court and to the three students who make the best contributions to the Law Journal.

Books for outstanding scholastic achievement will go to the students having the highest standings in their first, second, and third year, to the student making the greatest improvement between the first and second years and to the one making the best scholastic progress in the senior year.

The student having the highest cumulative standing at graduation will receive an award along with those having the highest grade in each of the required courses.

4 UK Coeds Accept Social Welfare Jobs

Positions in Girl Scout and welfare work have been accepted by four UK girls. The appointments will become effective immediately following the student's graduation.

The girls, all of the Department of Social Work, are Sara Mae Green who will go to Cleveland as district director of Girl Scouts of Cleveland; Haskell Boyer, Atlanta City school system; and Charles F. Bryan, Peabody College.

Speech Ends Language Meet

Editors from 23 states, Canada, and England participated in the third annual Foreign Language Conference which was held on campus last week. Theme of the conference and keynote of many of the lectures and papers presented was "Ways to an International Understanding."

Dr. Irvin T. Sanders, "Distinguished Professor of the Year," gave the opening address. His topic was "A Study of Social Change: The Peasant in Eastern Europe."

Speeches Praises Goethe

Earlier, the conference delegates had heard an address by Dr. Edmond Schlessinger of the University of Louisville in which he called the German author a man "whose greatness illuminates the ways to international understanding."

Dr. A. J. Dickman, head of the Department of Modern and Classical Languages at the University of Wyoming, warned that the United States must continue its European aid program or risk all that has been gained by the millions of postwar assistance dollars.

Dr. Dickman, a native of Belgium but now an American citizen, stated in an address at the conference's closing session, that Western Europeans still fear Germany more than they do Russia.

Interfraternity Men Name McCann Leader

Bill McCann, student in the College of Law and a member of Phi Delta Theta, has been elected president of the Interfraternity Council for the coming year.

Delegates heard a description of the Yale University Goethe collection.

Veterans Changing Colleges Must Get VA Approval

Any veteran planning to change colleges within the University must apply at the Veterans Administration between May 22-June 10 for permission to do so. Such changes must have prior approval by the VA in order to be effective.

Also any veterans who wish to transfer from the University of Kentucky to another institution may file a Supplemental Certificate of Eligibility beginning on Monday.

28th ROTC Field Day Will Take Place Monday

The twenty-eighth annual ROTC Field Day will be held on Stoll Field, Monday at 2 p.m.

The program will include company and squadron competitive drill, individual competitive drill, exhibition drill by Pershing Rifles, and an exhibition drill by the Confederate drill squad.

Companies A and D, commanded by Cadet Capt. D. C. Stamer, and Cadet Capt. D. C. Newberry, representing the army, and squadrons B and E representing the Air Force, and commanded by Cadet Capt. Eugene Spencer and Cadet Capt. C. A. McLean, drill for the Col. George D. Freeman Trophy.

Waivers To Be Presented

At the close of the program the Cadet Captain Mack J. Morgan will command the Pershing Rifles exhibition drill and Cadet, William F. Lawson, the Confederate drill squad.

Judges for all competitive drill are Lieutenant Colonel Ralph L. Dalton, Jr., Ft. Knox; Major James R. Sykes, Inf., Ft. Knox; Major Verdie E. Moore, USAF, Godman Air Force Base; and Capt. John F. Turnbull, USAF, Godman Air Force Base.

Messrs. Guthrie, Travelstead Were Innocent Victims

The Kernel regrets that somewhere along the line of transforming raw copy into last week's BookKernels feature, the name of the book reviewed, "The Way West," was omitted, leaving the impression that Mr. Guthrie wrote it himself. Actually, the review was written by Bob Cox, whose by-line should have appeared at the end.

Also, in the same vein, the article in the previous week's Kernel about the concert series to be held at the Coliseum was misleading. It was inadvertently retrieved from an old galley of type, and was outdated. No tickets remain on sale for the series—in fact, more than 1000 people are already on the waiting list. To Mr. Chester Travelstead we offer our apologies for any inconvenience it might have caused him.

Pity The Poor Senior

Many whole-hearted complaints have drifted into the Kernel office since the recent mandate requiring graduating seniors to attend classes even after examinations have been completed.

Most of the offended have demanded an editorial attack on the edict, none has ventured an argument which sounds authoritative enough. The truth remains that although a long and honored tradition was suddenly discarded, it was done within the framework of the laws of the powers that be. One doesn't argue with the sergeant.

But since no emphatic decree stated that seniors must be attentive as well as in attendance, we're sure that any number of recreational devices discovered during four years of lectures can be brought into play. But to mention them here would be sheer folly—we hope to graduate, too.

LETTERS to the Editor

Editor, The Kernel:

Centra "True Or False" In bringing up the matter of "true or false questions" and supporting this method of grading, I realize I am criticizing a device of the American system of education—a criticism which may be considered improper, when coming from an "exchange student"; however, the exchange of students should be supplemented by the exchange of critical (and constructive) ideas. So here I go. I am opposed to the true-or-false questions. These are my reasons: 1. They do not respect an academic mentality. Studying any subject, and especially in the man-made, talkative social sciences we find that matters are never either black or white, true or false. To illustrate the educational statements simplifying devices may be used. The teacher may say, "The sky is blue." But it is childishly unrealistic to stick to these simplifications once an insight in the matter at hand has been reached, because the statement that "this law is good" might refer to its ethical purpose, its virtues in application

SO WHAT!—Charles Fentress snapped this shot just as the last of the May Queen's attendants swept by in the recessional at Stoll Field. He didn't get the girl's names, but it wasn't because they were veiled by the proceedings—they're definitely not interested.

and even to the comparative "betterness" or "less worse-ness" in regard to other laws. Moreover, these simplifications confuse cause and result, because the statement "the profits of the company are high" may not be the originally distinguishing feature of that company as its profits can be the rightly deserved yield of great efforts in service and skill under given circumstances. These simplified wordings are not clear, and mostly not exhaustive. Especially for foreign students the simplified true or false statements are apt to be confused with the figures of good old American speech. Some instructors might seek defense against these arguments on the moral grounds that they do not intend to give "trick questions." But a moral defense against a scientific argument is inadequate. 2. To answer a true or false question, a rough unco-operative mentality is required. Instead of developing men who are willing to use a scientific approach to problems and seek team spirit and co-operation for a common cause, the system of true and false questions leads to men who answer problems with a short "yes" or "no," thus cutting off all possibilities of debate, and discussion. When it is generally recognized that especially international problems should be solved in consultation of the involved authorities, true and false questions harm international development. These consequences are inescapable. Concluding, we find that true and false questions are of unacademic character and do damage to the mind of international team spirit. I suggest that such a method of examination be dropped.

Madrigal Group To Present Concert At Lebanon Today

The University Madrigal singers will present their second off-campus concert today when they perform at the auditorium of the Lebanon High School.

The first of the two request programs was given yesterday in the auditorium of the Ashland High School. Mr. Almo Kivimani, voice instructor in the Department of Music, is director of the group.

The singers were accompanied to Ashland by Miss Mary Carolyn Carter, graduate music major; Mr. Nathaniel Patch, associate professor of music; and Mr. Warren Lutz, graduate assistant in band. Miss Carter accompanied Mr. Lutz in his clarinet solo. Mr. Patch is accompanied by Miss Helen Houlder, soprano, and presents several piano solos as part of the program.

The students who compose the Madrigal singers are Joyce Davis and Phyllis Dean, sopranos; Ann Huddlestone and Anne Eschsch, contralto assistant in voice; soprano; Ronald Anderson, tenor; Joseph Denny and Don Hartford, baritone.

The personnel for today's concert will be the same as yesterday's concert with the exception of Miss Carter and Mr. Lutz. These programs are being given in accordance with the policy of the Department of Music in cooperation with music education programs throughout the state.

Pi Kappa Alpha Plans Dream Girl Formal

The new officers include Elliot Jones, president; Wyman Stephens, vice president; Norval Copeland, secretary; Bob Linbath, treasurer; Paul Adams, sentinel; Fred Johnson, inductor; and Dick Jones, representative to the IFC.

UK Pershing Riflemen Host Buckeye Schools

The University Pershing Rifle Team is acting as host to seven Ohio rifle teams at the annual First Regiment drill meet being held on campus today and tomorrow.

The University team, Company C-1, is trying for its seventh consecutive win and its thirteenth crown in 15 years.

Rifle Match Is Today

The meet, which started last night with a banquet at the Phoenix Hotel, will include an eight company rifle watch at 8 a.m. today. This afternoon at 1 o'clock exhibition platoon and squad drill will be held and individual drill will be judged tonight at 7:30 on Stoll Field.

The letter program will also include an exhibition between the UK Confederate squad and a Yankee squad from Ohio State University. Each group will be dressed in its respective Civil War uniforms and will execute its movements according to the 1865 manual of arms.

All eight companies will participate in Saturday's Armed Forces Day parade, and the visiting companies will be taken on an afternoon tour of Central Kentucky farms.

Ends With Regimental Ball

The annual Regimental Ball, scheduled for Saturday night in the SUB, will conclude the three-day meet.

Insured in 1931, the First Regiment drill meet was won by the University of Illinois. Since then the UK team has won every year.

Women Seniors Are Given Breakfast

Dean Sarah B. Holmes will be guest speaker at the annual Junior-Senior breakfast to be held in the Jewell Hall dining room Sunday morning, May 21, at 8:45.

The breakfast will be given in honor of all graduating senior girls in the women's residence halls.

Special guests will include Mrs. Holmes, Dean of women; Miss Jane Haselden, Assistant Dean of women; Miss Margaret Storey, director of Residence Halls; and head residents and housemothers of the other residence halls.

Elaine Shaffer is in charge of arrangements for the breakfast. Winny Adams is in charge of the music.

Faculty Ruling Is Protested

A recommendation to the faculty that they reverse their decision to compel seniors to attend classes after senior grades are given to the registrar was made by SGA at its final meeting of the year Monday night.

The faculty was asked to reconsider their ruling because according to SGA "seniors are so busy attending to the many duties connected with graduation during the last two weeks and the value of the classes attended would not compensate for the resulting inconveniences placed upon the seniors."

Dr. Lee Sprout, University registrar and faculty secretary, said, "The faculty committee on rules placed the recommendation before the faculty May 8, and, after some discussion, it was passed."

The rule states that a professor shall penalize any senior who fails to attend the classes by lowering his grade or by giving him an incomplete. It also asks the cooperation of all the faculty members in the enforcement of the rule.

UK Classes To Hear Dr. Thompson Speak

Dr. J. Leroy Thompson, director of Educational Services, Wall Street Journal and Barrons Magazine, will speak before classes in investments and retail merchandising at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Room 303 of White Hall. At 4 p.m. Dr. Thompson will speak before the Journalism Feature Writing class.

Dr. Thompson has held various positions in educational branches and is listed in "Who's Who in American Education" and "Leaders in American Education."

Franklin Coats, secretary; Fred Davis, treasurer; Charles Beauchamp, correspondent; George Cleveland, chronicler; Andrew Pulley, Harold; John A. Rodgers, word; Irvine Scribner, proctor; Bill Brown, rush chairman, and Bob Miller, pledge master.

THE Blue PRINT

By Bob Gorham

Prof. Vic Portmann of the Journalism Department was an interested spectator at last week's Tennessee-Kentucky games. Prof. Portmann is an old-time ball player himself, and has the scars to prove it. During the course of the games, he related how he had played for ten years in the Minnesota-Iowa Class D League and showed a spike near ten inches long he got it covering second base in the days when the runner really took out the middle man of a double-play.

Mr. Portmann also told of a game in which he scored the winning run. It was a pitcher's battle and going into the 18th inning, it was almost dark. He led off the inning with a scratch hit off the pitcher's glove and the next batter followed suit. The third man up hit a low outside pitch and sent a little blooper out over first. Mr. Portmann said he rounded third and never stopped. When he slid across the plate with the winning tally, the fans came down out of the stands and grabbed him and threw him into the air. When he came down, he found a twenty-dollar bill in each hand!

Prof. Portmann said that in his ten years in pro ball, he had a batting average of .276. He was due to try out with the Minneapolis Millers, but pulled a muscle sliding into a base in a game early in the season, and it cost him his chance. He never played a game after that.

The old pro was treated to some pretty fancy modern-day baseball by the slugging, hard-running Cats as they won their fourth straight game in the series. It's just about a inch that when Wall Hirsch or any Zaranaka get on base the steal is given to them. Zaranaka sniped five sacks in the 10 games and Dom Fucci stole one in the first tilt. Hirsch and Zaranaka leads the club in this department with 14 each. As usual, nothing was left to be desired; the team cracked out five home runs and six doubles in the two games. Bob Hatchett hit the longest homer—about 400 feet over the left-centerfield fence. Dom Fucci, Bill Smithers, Doug Mowley, and Allen Hamilton also hit for the circuit.

That isn't a bad average—11 extra-base blows out of a total of 25 hits. Georgia kicked away what chance it had to dispute Kentucky's bid for its second straight title. The Bulldogs were leading 4-2 in their game with Tech last week, but let the Engineers score three times to take the game away from them. The winning run came on an overthrow of third base from an outfielder. The ball went through the third baseman, through the pitcher who was backing him up, and through the catcher who was backing up the pitcher. It rolled into the dugout and the Engineers rolled around the bases to take the game. Thank you, Georgia!!

Cats Clinch SEC Eastern Title Against Vols

Newton Slated For Hill Chores In Opening Tilt

BULLETIN: Kentucky has already clinched the Eastern Division baseball title, according to Athletic Director Bernie Shively, who is attending an SEC meet in Birmingham, Ala. Shively called his office Thursday at noon and made this statement but did not give any further explanation.

It is believed, however, that he based his statement on a probable ruling by SEC Commissioner Bernie Shively that all games played in the SEC count toward the division standings. It was thought that only the games in the division would determine the winner, but that evidently has been changed.

Hence, Georgia has been eliminated mathematically, since their record now includes two defeats at the hands of the Florida Gators earlier in the season.

The Kentucky Wildcats will be out after their second consecutive Eastern Division SEC crown when they take on the Tennessee Vols today and tomorrow in single games in Knoxville.

The Cats are only a half-game away from clinching the title. They swept a doubleheader here last weekend from the Vols while Georgia was losing to Georgia Tech in Athens. Thus, the Bulldogs need to win all their three remaining games with the Engineers while Tennessee must defeat Kentucky twice in order for Georgia to take the crown. A Kentucky win or a Georgia loss would eliminate the Peach State and give the halo to the Bluegrass boys.

Kentucky had to do it the hard way in the two tilts with Tennessee. The Friday game was rained out, and had to be played as part of a double header Saturday. Even then about 50 gallons of gasoline had to be burned on the field in order for it to be dry enough to play on.

If that wasn't enough, the Cats had to go on an extra inning to salvage an 11-10 verdict in the first game, and then had to put up a home-run barrage to take the second contest, 7-6.

They appeared to have the first one tucked away with an 8-2 lead going into the eighth, but a home run by Dick Bowers with the sacks full pulled the Vols up to 8-6 coming out.

Kentucky upped the count to 9-6 with a single counter in the eighth, and had to score twice in the bottom of the tenth to edge the boisterous Tennesseans who counted three times in the ninth and once in the tenth.

Guy Strong was the fair-haired lad in the opener. His hard hit ball to deep third got the tying run across after two were out, and the winning tally came in when the Tennessee third-sacker committed a throwing error after knocking down Strong's hit.

Strong not only drove in the winning runs, but snuffed out a big hit by Dick Bowers in the ninth after he had hopped on starter C. M. Newton and (Continued to Page 6)

Cat Golfers Take Tech Twice; Runs Winning Streak To Five

By Fred Lawson

Kentucky's golfers won two straight victories from Georgia Tech over the weekend to run their winning streak to five. Friday the Wildcats defeated Tech 11-7 and Saturday the Cats blazed out a 14-13 1/2 victory.

It was their 11th and 12th wins of the season. It was the sixth Southeastern Conference win against two losses and a tie.

These games closed the linksmen's home schedule for the season. At 71 strokes, one-under-par, and on Saturday he shot a 35-35-70, two-under-par for the Country Club course. This gave him a total of five strokes under par for his last seven matches.

Johnny Owens, the Wildcat No. 1 man, had a bad day as he shot a 79. Owens lost three points to the Tech No. 1 man, Charles Harrison, who shot a 74.

Craig Wright won three points from Tech's Tom Bachman, who carded a 78.

Cats' SEC Track Chances Dimmed As Dallas Pulls Muscle In Preps UK Defeats UL In Last Meet

By Don Armstrong

Kentucky's chances for a victory in the SEC track meet which starts today in Birmingham, Ala., were dimmed when their star track man, Tony Dallas, was injured in practice. Dallas pulled a leg muscle Monday in practice and will be a doubtful starter for the Wildcats.

Leading the list of Wildcat hopefuls is Guy Weeks, who will enter the high and low hurdles. Cliff Lawson and Charles Willis round out the track entrants. Lawson running the 100 and 200 and Willis the two-mile run.

In the field events, John Isanski will throw the shot. Al Bruno the discus, and John Netoskie the javelin.

Wildcats Defeat UL 66-56
Captain Tony Dallas led the Wildcats to a 66-56 road victory over the University of Louisville last Saturday as he broke one Belknap track record and tied another.

Dallas bettered the mark for the high hurdles as he covered the 100-yard distance in 1:5.9 and tied the low hurdle record of 24.7 seconds. He also posted wins in the high and broad jumps.

UL's Charles Jett turned in the best performance for the Cards with a record tying 51 seconds in the 400 and a win in the 200-yard dash.

The summaries:
100-yard dash — 1. Lawson (K); 2. G. Jett (UL); 3. Parley (K); Time 1:5.9.
200-yard dash — 1. Jett (UL); 2. Lawson (K); 3. George (UL); Time 2:3.5.
400-yard dash — 1. Jett (UL); 2. Wilkinson (UL); 3. Bell (UL); Time 1:12.2.
500-yard run — 1. Ketchum (UL); 2. Bruce (UL); 3. Neuharth (UL); Time 2:1.5.
1-mile run — 1. Handberg (UL); 2. Ketchum (UL); 3. Neuharth (UL); Time 4:5.6.
2-mile run — 1. Willis (K); 2. Jimmons (UL); and Stead (UL); Time 11:2.2.
Shotput — 1. Isanski (K); 2. Karna (UL); 3. Gonzalez (UL); Distance 41 feet.
Discus — 1. Bruno (K); 2. Gutterman (K); 3. Isanski (K); Distance 127 feet, 6 inches.
High hurdles — 1. Dallas (K); 2. Korfhaug (UL); 3. Weeks (K); Time 1:5.9.
Low hurdles — 1. Dallas (K); 2. Korfhaug (UL); 3. Weeks (K); Time 24.7.

SPORTS BOOK REVIEW

BASEBALL'S GREATEST HITTERS

By Tom Meany. Published by A. S. Barnes and Company, New York. $3.00.

Here is one of the best baseball books to hit the market in many a year. Presented in interesting individual stories are portraits of the top 20 hitters that the game has ever known.

The stories cover the major league careers and enlightening sidelights about some of the greatest figures the game has ever known including Lou Gehrig, Roger Hornsby, Mel Ott, Joe Jackson, Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Teddy Williams, Al Simmons, and 12 other of the outstanding hitters of the century.

The lead-off story concerns Ty Cobb and in this story Ty himself talks about how and why he "came in with his spikes high" and batting tips that he learned during his 25-year major league career.

Some of the tremendous home runs slugged by Jimmy Fox are described by the author and there is an interesting story about the "Her Apparat" — Ralph Kiner.

Each individual story is accompanied by a photograph of the player and the last pages of the 272-page book are filled with complete playing records of the 20 men who make up "baseball's greatest hitters."

awards which had been won throughout the year were presented by Phyllis Kloesker, former president of WAA. Miss Kloesker also presented the new officers of WAA, as follows: President — Dot Honaker; Vice-President — Eula West; Treasurer — Louise Boric; and Secretary — Marilyn McDonald. The new council members also were named.

The much prized WAA letters were presented by Billie Moore. Appropriate two years of diligent WAA participation is needed to qualify for this award. Up until Tuesday night Dot Honaker wore the only WAA letter on the campus. Seven people were honored by this award at the banquet. They were: Chris Morris, Bonnie Sharp, Billie Moore, Phyllis Kloesker, Phyl Warren, Eula West and Annie Boyd.

These girls are a mighty proud of that big white Kentucky "K" they're wearing now. All in all the get-together was a huge success and everyone had a fine time. The main thought that was expressed by all was that next year will be a better and bigger year for WAA in that it will be able to serve the needs of more people.

Field Narrowed To Five In I-M Softball Tourney

By Lewis Dunaway

The new softball championship of the University of Kentucky was only a couple of strides from his crown as the Kernel went to press this week.

Only five teams were left in the running for the championship and three of these were one-beaten teams. Delta Tau Delta in the fraternity division and Break Hall in the independent league were the only contenders holding perfect records in the two-losses-and-out tournament.

Lambda Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon are scheduled to meet this afternoon on Alumni Field to decide who gets a shot at the Delta in the finals of the fraternity tourney.

Break Hall and Tavern Boys were slated for a clash yesterday afternoon in the finals of the independent tourney.

The winners of the respective tournaments are to meet next week for the school championship.
