BLUE AND WHITE WARRIORS ACHIEVE NOTABLE VICTORY OVER BOILERMAKER

Western Conference Team Is Defeated By a Southern University For the First Time In History of the Sport.

WILDCATS' SCRAPPY FIGHT "DOES PURDUE"

Heralded as 3-to-1 favorites against the Wildcat football machine, the Boilermakers of Purdue University, returned to their home in Lafayette, Ind., early last Sunday morning a sadder and a wiser team. The humiliation of a 7-to-0 defeat rankles in the hearts of the great Western Conference eleven, which this Saturday will face the University of Indiana eleven to decide the supremacy of that State. The large squad accompanied by Physical Director Cutts, said before the game that they expected a hard game. They got it.

To Kinne, the agile end and substitute quarterback, fell the honor of scoring the solitary touchdown. It was near the beginning of the second quarter. State had received the ball. Rodes made 8 yards on the first play. Grabfelder made the necessary two yards for a first down. "Grabby" was again given the ball and advanced it 8 yards. Rodes took it on the next play, but at this juncture State was penalized 15 yards for holding. Schrader then kicked to the famous Pultz, who returned the ball to his own 42-yard line. Then it was that the Purdue backfield evidently got "all balled up" on a misunderstood signal, and when Olmstead passed the coveted oval back no one was there to receive it, as all the backfield men were charging into the line. As the ball rolled into an untenanted section of Stoll Field, Kinne ever on the alert, had it almost immediately, and a few seconds later had firmly placed the ball between the goal posts, while three thousand throats were tearing themselves to pieces with wild yells. Schrader kicked an easy goal for the extra point and all scoring in this-to-be-remembered game was ended.

The remainder of the game, as had been the first quarter, was one breathless and beautiful exhibition of the great American college game. State not only offset the 8 or 10 pounds to the man asset which Purdue had, by her matchless fighting spirit, but went further and outplayed the visitors in every department of the game. A summary obtained from a chart of the plays, published in a local paper reveals such facts as these:

"The Wildcats advanced the ball a total of 375 yards in 54 plays, or an average of 6.9 yards each play. Purdue carried the ball 290 yards in 71 plays, an average of 4.08 per play. This big excess in favor of the Blues resulted from the failure of Purdue's forward pass game. Nine were incomplete, and the 5 that were intercepted by the Blue secondary defense were returned in each case for from ten to forty-five yards netting heavy gains, and boosting the average.

"Not only did the Cats outrush the Boilermakers, but they returned punts and kicks farther. State brought the ball back 87 yards in 9 attempts, averaging 9.6 yards and Purdue returned it 96 yards in 12 attempts, an average of 8 yards.

"State was thrown for losses totaling 7 yards in 5 plays, and Purdue was thrown for 12 yards in 3 plays. State was penalized a total of 85 yards and Purdue suffered only 5 marks for misplays. This boosts the Wildcat record of actual advances to a fat figure.

"Purdue, however, made one more first down than did the Wildcats; the count was 7 to 6 in this respect. The first downs by quarters were as follows: State: 0, 3, 2, 1-6; Purdue: 2, 1, 0, 4-7. The heavy offensive strength of the Boilermakers was shown in the last period when they took the pill 60 yards in 11 plays aided by a five-yard penalty inflicted on State.

"Schrader, of State, punted 11 times for an average of 42 yards, and Pultz, of Purdue, punted 7 times for 45 yards."

The big surprise of the day, to the student body and spectators as well as the player in question, himself, came shortly after the game had been

SEVEN BASKETBALL GAMES ARRANGED FOR SEASON

Other Contracts Will Be Signed Within a Few Weeks

PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

A glance at State's 1916 basketball schedule will convince University and Lexington lovers of the winter sport, that some rare treats are in store for them this season.

Seven games have already been scheduled as follows:

- January 14—Cincinnati at Cincinnati.
- February 1—Gallaudet College at Lexington.
- February 5—University of Louisville at Louisville.
- February 15—Centre College at Danville.
- February 19—Cincinnati at Lexington.
- February 26—Louisville at Lexington.
- February 29—Centre College at Lexington.

Of the other five games two will be played with Georgetown College, two with the University of Tennessee, and another probably with Vanderbilt, if Coach Tigert can induce them to stop off in Lexington on their way to or from Charlottesville, Virginia. If this can not be arranged, the date will be filled by the Nashville Ramblers, a strong amateur team of the Tennessee capital, who have within the past had very little trouble in defeating the Commodores every year.

Alumni and the student bodies of the three Kentucky institutions will welcome the resumption of athletic relations with Central and Georgetown after a lapse of several years.

The outlook for a strong quintet this season is very bright, in spite of the fact that Captain Ralph Morgan, forward, "Squirrelly" Tuttle and Scott, guards, will be missing. The veterans left are Captain Karl Zerfoss, Schrader, Gumbert and Server. Derral Hart, Varsity forward in 1911 and '12, will be out for a position again. Prominent among the second string men are Ireland, Sauer, Simpson, Peak and Swantz. "Doc" Rodes is expected to try for a position. From his work at guard on the Lexington High

STATE FRESHMEN DOWN GEORGETOWN "SCRUBS"

Kittens Hang up 38-to-0 Score With Little Difficulty

State's Freshman team found little difficulty in downing the second team of Georgetown College at Georgetown Tuesday afternoon by a score of 38 to 0. The game was loosely played and was a walk-over for the Kittens, who outclassed their opponents in training, weight and knowledge of the game.

Georgetown plays Transylvania Friday for championship of the Kentucky association, and for this reason Coach Hinton used none of his best men.

Although this year's Freshman team is not attracting the attention that last year's point-a-minute aggregation did, because a full schedule was not arranged for them, they have displayed a superior line of football in the games that have been played, and several members of the team will be strong contenders for Varsity positions next year. The work of Poindexter and Davidson featured in Tuesday's game.

TENNESSEE VOLTS WILL PUT UP A HARD GAME

12-0 Defeat by Mississippi A. and M. With Good Men Out

"HOME-COMING" DAY

Coach Clevenger's team of Volunteers, down in Knoxville, Tennessee, is gradually returning to its pre-Vanderbilt game form and by Turkey day, those people and students down there will be thinking that they can beat the Blue and White team as they have done in the past two years.

Tennessee held Mississippi A. and M. to a 14-to-0 score last Saturday, which by comparison is little worse than the 12-0 defeat given the Wildcats by this team back in October. Then, too, G. Vowell, one of their best men, was out of this game and he will be ready for the Thanksgiving battle. On paper it doesn't seem that State has much on them, however, since the Purdue game the consensus of opinion around the campus is that Kentucky should win the game.

Tennessee's team, like State's, is practically a new machine this year. Five of their best men, Kelley, captain last year, "Red" Rainey, Kerr, Lindsay and Carrol are missing from the ranks.

State's Freshman team defeated theirs in handy fashion here last year, and since the personnel of the two new teams is not much changed, it seems reasonable to believe that we will repeat the dose.

State's coaches, however, nor the team, are confident of winning the contest. The Blues were trained to the very minute for the Purdue game. This and a three-day rest following the game, has put the most of them on the "stale" list. Practice began in

ADA MEADE.

Ever hear Gene Green? He's the bird that invented ragtime, and when it comes to putting "pep" in a song number, he's the real tabasco boy. Starting Monday, November 22, he will be a special feature of the Ada Meade show, singing his own songs in his own inimitable way. Incidentally, he has made a bunch of records for the Victor people.

You've all read a lot about the war and probably seen several alleged war films, but nothing like these have ever been shown here before. They were taken under the personal direction of the German throne, and, of course, reflect the Teuton side of the fighting. Don't miss this chance to get a real, close range, personal view of conditions, just as they are abroad at present. —(Adv.)

COLONIAL.

The program for the week is very interesting. Jackie Saunders in the adventures of a Madcapa Pathe colored picture is said to be the most beautiful picture ever made in colors, to be shown Friday, November 19th, Saturday, November 21, we have three lovely pictures, "Friend Wilson's Daughter," "Beautiful Thoughts" and "Fables of Escape of Anthony." —(Adv.)

APPLE-JUDGING PRIZE OPEN TO JUNIOR AGS.

On one day during Farmers' Week, January 1 to 6, 1915, there will be a Junior Apple-Judging Contest held at the Experiment Station under the auspices of Professor N. R. Elliott. All Juniors in the Agricultural College are eligible to this contest and at present there are about twelve men working two afternoons each week preparing for this contest. The first prize will be five dollars in gold and the second a subscription to "Better Fruit."

TWO SONGS DONATED

A short time before the Kentucky-Purdue battle two Kentucky songs sprang into the limelight.

The first was donated by Frank Battelle, '08, who sent out several thousand copies for the use of the student body. Mr. Battelle refused to divulge the name of the composer.

The second song was printed and distributed as compliments of the "T. K. B." and was composed by Messrs. O. M. Edwards, James Moore and C. L. Taylor, prominent members of the organization.

FOOTBALL REVIEW.

The championship of the South was practically decided by last Saturday's games when Vanderbilt hung up a 17-to-0 score on Auburn, for two years undefeated, and Georgia held Georgia Tech, strong contenders for the honors to a scoreless tie. Vandy's vaunted offense which fell down against Virginia on the preceding Saturday, was again working right and hung up the above convincing score against the Auburnites. The Tech team which defeated Transylvania 57 to 0 earlier in the season, could do nothing against Georgia, much to the surprise of its backers and dopsters in general. Mississippi A. and M. defeated Tennessee 14 to 0 which puts it up to State to defeat the Volunteer team by several touchdowns on Thanksgiving day in order to get the edge on Mississippi team which defeated the Wildcats earlier in the season. If we can't beat them in the games we will have to do it by the "comparative scores" route. Sewanee couldn't score against the Chattanooga team, the game proving to be a double 0 proposition. The first important game for Kentucky championship outside of the State University was a victory of Transylvania over Centre, 39 to 0.

Verily, verily he that starteth strong at the beginning should beware lest his despised adversary fly up and sting him in the end, which is our text this morning in regard to the fate of the Princeton Tigers. Picked after the first few games for eastern champions, Princeton has been successively and successfully defeated in her last two games by Harvard and Yale, both of whom had suffered ignominious defeat at the hands of smaller schools in their earlier games, and were thought to be out of the running completely. Kentucky State fans derive a great deal of satisfaction from the attitude toward the Princeton-Yale score. Although Yale won on a fluke play, a fumble of a punt, and every one admits that Princeton put up a good game that should have won, yet it seems to be generally admitted that Yale did win the game. While some critics may attempt to detract from the glory of State's victory over Purdue Saturday because of the way in which the score was made, the fact remains that Kentucky State did defeat Purdue by a score of 7 to 0, the first time a Western Conference team was ever defeated by a southern team.

Cornell preserved her 'scutcheon yet unblotted, as friend Bobby Browning would have it, and defeated Washington and Lee 49 to 0. Cornell and Pittsburg are the strongest teams in the East this season, judging from the fact that they have not lost a game this season and the eastern championship will probably be awarded to one of these teams. Colgate, who lost to Syracuse by the surprising score of 38 to 0, had not been scored on before Saturday's game and was being ranked among the championship contenders.

Cincinnati has evidently managed to get its machine to working by this time and defeated Wittenberg 27 to 16. One of the unfortunate incidents of the game was the serious injury of whose skull was fractured, and who is at present in a hospital in a serious condition.

Indiana, with whom Purdue will battle next Saturday, defeated the strong Northwestern aggregation by a score of 14 to 6.

By her defeat of Wisconsin, 17 to 3, Illinois made stronger her claim to the championship of the West. Other scores were: Minneapolis 20, Chicago 7; Harvard 16, Brown 7; Pennsylvania 0, Michigan 0; W. and J. 7, W. Va. Wesleyan 3.

The most important contest next Saturday is that between Yale and Harvard, which will be witnessed by thousands of enthusiasts. Dope doesn't favor either team after Yale's defeat of Princeton.

STATE'S ORCHESTRA BEST IN MANY YEARS

Performances of Musicians Attract Much Attention For its Creditable Work.

The University orchestra which has played at a number of student functions recently has attracted a great deal of attention and caused favorable comment by its creditable work. This is the first time in a number of years that an organization of this sort has been developed at Kentucky, although there has always been much talent and ability in this line. At the beginning of the present year the management of the University took steps to encourage this kind of music and their efforts have proven successful. Herbert J. Jenny, of the Lexington College of Music, is director of the orchestra and much of its success is due to his training. This organization is open to all students who have musical ability and all are urged to join the orchestra. The meetings are held each week on Tuesday afternoon in chapel. The members of the orchestra are: Violins—G. S. Sprague, R. Pearman, G. Hume, G. R. Orme, M. Condit, E. M. Cobb, W. Loenthal, L. Isch. Piano—C. Bernhardt. Drums and Bells—W. F. Cody. Cornets—H. Fried, L. F. Rush, H. Williams.

Trombone—J. S. Sherwood. Baritone—D. Glickman. Oboe—H. E. Robertson. Saxophones—T. Boston, R. M. Horton.

gun, when "Doc" Rodes, star quarterback, was sent in. Kinne went back to his first love, and the fair-haired Kelley was withdrawn. The work of this promising youngster was all that could be expected, although the lightest man on the field, the manner in which he upset the big Purdue backs the few times they came his way is certainly worthy of special mention.

On the second play after going in, Rodes made an unsuccessful attempt at a field goal from the forty-five-yard line. In the middle of the third quarter Rodes made a hard tackle and again hurt his already injured shoulder. Zerfoss went in at end and Kinne back to quarter.

To speak of all State's players individually and do them even meager justice would require all the space in The Kernel. Outstanding, perhaps, were Haydon and Grabfelder, with their wonderful defensive playing in breaking up many of the numerous forward passes attempted by Purdue; Schrader's punting, and the work of Brittain and Thompson, both offensively and defensively. The entire team played as a unit, and when such is the case perhaps no man should be given extra credit. Every man on the team was right "there" all the time.

As for Purdue they were somewhat handicapped by the absence of Captain Blocker, one of their best players. Pultz, mentioned for all-American last year, failed to materialize. His kicking was truly remarkable, when he was not downed in his tracks by the State ends he showed a tendency to run back punts. In the last quarter it looked for a while, as if he was beginning to display some all-American "stuff" as he, apparently with ease, gained through State's line. However, when Purdue got within twenty yards of our goal they began a series of forward passes which proved unsuccessful. Every State adherent held his breath while one after another they were either knocked to the ground or intercepted by a blue-jerseyed man. Finn, at quarter, and Landis and Walters playing backfield positions, are others who showed signs of being in a class with their reputation. Fullback Bishop was not dangerous nor was Oxer, who supplanted him in the final quarter.

Too much of the credit for the victory can not be given to Dr. John J. Tigert, head coach, former "Vandy" star end, ex-college president, master of logic, and other honors too numerous to mention, who, in spite of the fact that a dubious student body were refusing 3-to-1 bets, stoutly maintained until the hour of battle that his team could "Do Purdue," and they have in the words of a poet, "Done Did Purdue." Now for Tennessee. Kentucky Position. Purdue. Dempsey C. Olmstead Simpson R. G. L. Mason Brittain L. G. R. Proud Thompson R. T. L. Berns Server L. T. R. Buechner Kelly R. E. L. earnest again yesterday, and it is hoped that no trace of this staleness will be noticeable when the referee's whistle calls the Volunteers and Wildcats to attention for the final game of the season.

From the standpoint of attendance there should be the biggest game of the year. Its occasion has been made one for "Home-Coming Day" of the University alumni, and members of former classes expect to come in large numbers. A section of the grandstand will be reserved for the old grads, and these expect to have their own yell leader and yells to show the younger generation that they have not lost their pep. Each class will have a program of its own; however, all will commingle in a general "get-together" to celebrate the "Home-Coming Day."

A big "K" parade is being arranged by J. D. Turner, who is in charge of the home-coming, and every man in the University who has won the coveted letter in any branch of athletics will participate. Many former stars will doubtless join in.

State will, in all probability, present the same line-up against the Vols. as that which played against the Bollermakers during the major portion of the game.

CAMPUS AND ATHLETIC FIELD ARE POSTED

The University campus and athletic field have been posted to keep outsiders from using them as parks on Sundays as has been the custom for several years, and all trespassers will be duly prosecuted. "Large" posted signs have been printed and will be put up within the next few days.

On Sundays during suitable weather the athletic field has been the scene of many struggles between various outside teams and it is to prevent this that action has been taken.

BOARD OF COMMERCE HOLDS MEETING

State and T. U. Were Represented at Weekly Luncheon

"College Activities" was the subject of discussion at the regular weekly noon-luncheon of the Board of Commerce last Wednesday. Interesting talks were made by President Barker, Registrar E. L. Gillis, and Professor J. J. Tigert, of State; Professor R. E. Monroe and Willis T. Stewart, of Transylvania, and Mayor-elect James C. Rogers.

President Barker, who was the first speaker, declared that soundness of body and cleanness of living were as important to the college student as education; that the football activities of the colleges were powerful moral influences, but that in order to reach their highest usefulness it was necessary for athletics to have that popular support which would insure successful seasons.

Professor Tigert said that textbooks on Economics taught that success was due to two elements—individual effort and co-operative enterprise. He said that football players had adopted the principle but had improved on the terms by calling them starring and team play. He discussed many phases of baseball and football in their relation to business efficiency and drew some very interesting conclusions.

Professor R. E. Monroe, of Transylvania, discussed the beneficial effects of athletics in college life and spoke of the satisfactory relations existing between State and Transylvania. He said the two institutions were now on a footing of close friendship and were getting together to arrange their dates so as not to have conflicting games in the future. He said Transylvania would have a Thanksgiving game with Louisville here next year.

Registrar Gillis said State would make no home date for next Thanksgiving.

Coch Willis T. Stewart, of Transylvania, spoke of the friendly feeling between the two institutions and said that he did not deem it advisable to risk this cordiality by games between State and Transylvania.

Mayor-elect James C. Rogers made a most interesting talk, in which he promised to complete the construction of Winslow Street which leads from South Limestone and Rose Streets to Stoll Field, immediately after his inauguration.

A Great Victory.

It was a great game and a great victory. By defeating Purdue in such a game as was last Saturday's, Kentucky State accomplished that which no other southern team has ever brought about in the history of football...

As the tumult and the shouting die, but one regret remains, and that is the reputed-unsportsmanlike manner with which Purdue accepted defeat. This impression was caused largely by the apparently surly attitude of the members of the Purdue team when the students attempted to carry them from the field after the game...

However, let us not too hastily form the opinion, as we regret many already have done, that the representatives of the northern school have no appreciation of Kentucky hospitality and chivalry. Let us rather believe that there is some explanation of their action. Quite possibly the tired Purdue warriors did not at first realize what were the intentions of the students toward them. Quite possibly when the howling mob of some 500 students of a school against whose team they had been fighting, swarmed down upon them, they thought their purpose was to do them bodily harm.

It was a great victory and a great game.

A Contrast.

A striking contrast to newspaper comment of the past upon The University of Kentucky appears by the following editorial, taken in substance, from The Lexington Herald of November 15:

Congratulations to State University.

The victory Saturday over Purdue puts State University athletics in the all-Western class. It was a green team that Coach Tigert had to start with, and the game with Mississippi was no criterion of the present strength of the team.

The athletic field at State is now the best in the South. This year's team and the athletic field are concrete demonstrations of accomplishment by President Barker. He pledged his own credit for the erection of the extensive stands and he is seeing them paid for by increased attendance.

Such games by the home teams mean that the Universities are moving towards greater development. A dead football team generally goes with an unprogressive institution. College spirit, athletics on a proper basis and a thoroughly live campus make such teams as that which wrested the glory from Purdue.

While on the subject also, The Herald desires to congratulate the University and President Barker, the faculty and the students upon the orderliness and characteristic gentlemanly conduct of the so-called "night shirt" parade which followed the big victory of the Wild Cat team.

The Herald has heard repeatedly recently the commendation that State University's student body is becoming better every year, both in scholarship and morals, and those qualities that enter into the personal equations of correct University life.

STUDENTS' FORUM

FOOTBALL IN STATE UNIVERSITY, 1915.

As President of State University, I desire to express my appreciation of the magnificent efforts of the football team, not only to play successful games and win victories, but to play manly and generous football.

I think Dr. Tigert and his assistants deserve high commendation for the way they have coached and managed the team and especially for the generous spirit they have built up in the members. I sincerely believe there is no team of football in the country made up of higher class material than ours. These young men, by their courage, endurance, patience and self-sacrifice, have put State University in the very forefront of football athletics in this section of the country.

It gives me great pleasure also to recall that the conduct of the students has been especially fine and generous towards the visiting teams and anything like roughness or ruffianism has passed from State University campus, I believe, forever. Our students have learned how splendid it is to act magnanimously towards visitors. I have said to the students many times and I repeat it here, that the reputation of State University is in their hands and it will be estimated by their conduct.

Those who love athletics as an adjunct to building up the institution and in developing the physical and moral side of the student body, have great cause to congratulate themselves on the outlook which athletics presents today, on the campus of State University.

I think great credit is due the student manager and the cheer leaders who, this year, have done their work so splendidly, and who, by their action, have always pointed the way towards higher things in the management of the games, the cheers and parades of the students. A great deal depends upon these leaders, and I am especially proud of the three young men who have so efficiently performed their duties in our football exhibitions.

In conclusion, I desire to thank Dr. Tigert, his assistants and all the members of the team, the manager and the cheer leaders and the students for, perhaps, the most successful and glorious season of football which we have had on our campus within my remembrance.

HENRY S. BARKER, President.

November 17, 1910.

St. Louis defeats the Wildcats at St. Louis by a score of 9 to 0, in a hard-fought game in which the Kentucky team is outweighed several pounds to the man.

The fat stock and saddle horse-judging teams prepare to leave for Chicago to enter in the national judging contests for the first time in the history of the school.

Notice is served on the students to keep their eyes open for wooden boxes, signs, gates, fences and "anything that will burn" to be used in the bonfire rally to be held on Stoll Field on the night before the Thanksgiving game with Central.

The University Book Store announces a contest in which a large Kentucky wall banner will be awarded to the student who can come closest to guessing the score of the Thanksgiving game.

HERE AND THERE

Reductio Ad Absurdum.

A recent number of the Crimson Rambler (Transylvania), contains in the editorial columns a lament because someone had attempted by comparative scores to prove State's superiority over T. U.

Lest the Rambler should be troubled over this "comparative scores" proposition, which is the least convincing method of proof, we refer her to dope published in a local paper by their own Professor Monroe, which shows that T. U. outclasses Yale, Princeton, and the rest of the world. Why was Cornell spared?

MARINE ENGINEER IS GRADUATE OF STATE

Lieut. Martin A. Doyle, class 1914, is visiting his family in Paris, Kentucky. Doyle is now assistant chief-engineer of the Revenue Cutter "Mohawk," with its base of operation at New York. He has had a varied experience since entering the engineering department of the Coast Guard Service, and has had charge of the boilers and engines of ships along both the Atlantic and Pacific coast, and also in the Philippines.

Doyle is now second lieutenant, equivalent to first lieutenant in the army, and hopes to receive his commission as first lieutenant in the near future. He is very enthusiastic over marine engineering, and a follower of "McAndrew's Hymn."

Personal Characteristics.

A student "Personal Characteristic" system is a unique method of securing and filing data that will permit of comparative analysis of each student in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. So far as is known this college of the State University is the only one in America to use such a mental and moral "Bertillon System." The idea was obtained from the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, which uses this system in studying and grading its college graduate apprentices. Several other large industrial companies use modified forms of this system for the same purpose.

In keeping this record a loose-leaf book is kept, containing a-sheet for each student in the College. This one sheet will hold complete data for the four year's work of the student. On one side are spaces for the name, local address, telephone number, date of birth, height, weight, father's name and address, father's business, data in regard to High School training, student activities entered in at High School, and practical experiences of all kinds before entering college. There is also space for a small photograph of the student cut from a group picture of each class.

On the reverse is a complete record of student activities, societies, fraternities, athletics, etc., for each year in college; a table having spaces for the grades in the following personal characteristics; physique, personality, knowledge, common sense, reliability, open-mindedness, tact, initiative, originality, industry, enthusiasm, thoroughness, system, analysis, decision, English. An average of these grades for four years is registered.

By keeping this record it is possible to study the weak points in a student early in his college career, and thus permit of special consideration of these subnormal traits. It is possible in this way to determine the progress of each student from year to year and to study his development.

The system also furnishes data to determine the relative value of each man who will graduate from the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, and will permit of placing him in a position for which he is best qualified. The system eliminates the objections to the mere use of class grades in determining the probable value a student will be to the mechanical and electrical engineering profession after graduation.

Westinghouse Society.

A meeting of the Westinghouse Society will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Julius Wolf will talk on the advantages of a college education.

Visit Mechanical Hall.

The Purdue football team, accompanied by their rooters and physical director, Mr. Cutts, visited Mechanical Hall Saturday morning, where they were introduced to the Seniors of the college.

The Get-Together.

Jas. W. Thompson will preside as toastmaster.

If plans materialize this will prove the best "Get-Together" that the Mechanicals have yet given and all members of that college are urged to secure their tickets as soon as possible from the Society Treasurer.

WOLF WINS CRUM MEDAL IN CONTEST

Julius Wolf won the gold medal offered by the late George Crum, of Louisville, in the annual declamatory contest of the Patterson Literary Society, held in the chapel last Friday evening. His subject was "Regulus of the Carthaginians."

Besides Mr. Wolf, F. O. Mayes, William Shinick, M. U. Conditt, Walter Piper, and R. A. Foster also competed and it was with difficulty that the judges reached a decision. The judges were Dr. Edward Tuthill, Professor L. L. Dantzler, and Professor T. T. Jones.

Y. M. C. A.

W. D. Uphaw, "The Georgia Cyclone," addressed the students of the University Friday at the regular chapel hour. Mr. Uphaw, although a cripple, is usually humorous, and his talk was one of the best heard in the chapel this year.

The Y. M. C. A. will have charge of the chapel services next Friday and several of the students who are interested in this work, will speak. This will be a meeting for and by the students.

Sunday evening at 6:30 the regular meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms and Bob Russell, of Princeton University, made an earnest appeal to those present in behalf of the missionary work in foreign fields. There were about thirty present at this meeting. The meetings are growing more interesting as is being shown by the students each week.

The cabinet held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. About ten visitors were present with the fourteen cabinet members and the work of the Y. M. C. A. was discussed.

MINERS TO HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Fourteen hundred announcements of the winter meeting of the Kentucky Mining Institute to be held with headquarters at the Phoenix Hotel, December 3 and 4, are being mailed out over the State to the mining companies, mining engineers, mine superintendents and mine operators by Ivan P. Tashof, secretary of the organization.

The association extends a cordial welcome to everybody interested in any phase of mining to be present at the meeting.

APPLE-JUDGING TEAM GOES TO BALTIMORE

W. C. Johnstone, C. L. Bernhard and Arnell Carmen, Seniors in the Agricultural College, left Wednesday for Baltimore, where they will represent the University at the annual inter-collegiate apple-judging contest November 19.

The team, accompanied by Professors C. W. Mathews and N. R. Elliot, of the department, will stop in Washington before returning.

WHAT IS LIFE TO YOU?

To the preacher life's a sermon,
To the joker it's a jest;
To the miser life is money,
To the loafer life is rest.

To the lawyer life's a trial;
To the poet life's a song;
To the doctor life's a patient
That needs treatment all along.

To the soldier life's a battle,
To the teacher life's a school;
Life's a good thing to the grafter,
It's a failure to the fool.

To the man upon the engine
Life's a long and heavy grade;
It's a gamble to the gambler;
To the merchant life is trade.

Life's a picture to the artist,
To the rascal life's a fraud;
Life, perhaps, is but a burden
To the man beneath the hod.

Life is lovely to the lover;
To the player life's a play
Life may be a load of trouble
To the man upon the dray.

Life is but a long vacation
To the man who loves his work;
Life's an everlasting effort
To hun duty, for the shirk.

To the heaven-blest romancer
Life's a story ever new;
Life is what we try to make it,
Comrade, what is life to you?

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. held its regular meeting Sunday evening at Patterson Hall. This week has been set apart as a week of prayer for all the Y. W. C. A.'s over the country. The first meeting was conducted by Miss Politt, our resident secretary, and there was a very large attendance. Each girl is urged to be present at each meeting during this week.

Philosophian.

The Philosophian Literary Society held its weekly meeting at Patterson Hall Wednesday evening, November 12. The program was a most interesting one and the attendance was exceedingly good. Each one on the program carried out her part admirably well.

The program was as follows: "Life of Edmond Rostand," Edith Sachs. "Chanticleer," Carrie Blair. "Cyran de Bergerac," Nell Crawford.

Horace Mann.

The Horace Mann Literary Society met Thursday evening, November 11, at 7 o'clock.

Miss Ina Darnall gave the soliloquy of Esther from Professor Noe's drama, "The Call of the Blood," which was presented last spring.

Professor Noe related the story of Verdi's opera, "Il Trovatore," illustrating it with selections from the opera on the Victrola. The critic's report concluded the program.

Y. W. C. A. Tea.

The cabinet of Y. W. C. A. entertained its new advisory board, consisting of Mrs. J. J. Tigert, Miss Frances Jewell, Miss Anna J. Hamilton, Mrs. C. H. Berryman, Mrs. Charles J. Smith, Mrs. Alfred Embrod and Mrs. Robert K. Massie, with a tea at Patterson Hall Wednesday afternoon from 4:30 to 6:00.

This is the first year that the cabinet has had such an advisory board, and it is hoped that the guidance of these representative women will exercise a salutary influence on the future work of the association.
