PORTRAITS, PICTURES, GIFTS, EXCHANGE LIST, AND BOOKS, PAMPHLETS, MAGAZINES, NEWSPAPERS, ETC.

Received by the Kentucky State Historical Society.

February 22nd, 1915.—The magnificent portrait of George Washington was unveiled in the Hall of Fame before a large audience, gathered there to see and pay tribute to this portrait restored by the famous artist, Prof. Pasquale Farina, of the Art Gallery of Philadelphia. It was originally painted from Stuart's Landsdown portrait of Washington, in Philadelphia, by Oliver Frazer, of Lexington, Ky., in 1834. It was bought by the State at that time, and until the Old Capitol was abandoned by the State as a Capitol, hung above and behind the Speaker's chair of the House of Representatives. There it was left, broken and marred, and ruined by dust, time and neglect, as were the portraits of Boone, a fancy sketch, General LaFayette's portrait, Governor Isaac Shelby, President

William Henry Harrison, and the magnificent portrait of Henry Clay. The State Historical Society, through the kindness of George A. Lewis, was able to secure these treasureful works of art from the State Board of Control. The society had the portraits cleaned, regilded and put in the present order, in the Hall of Fame; except Washington's, which was sent to Philadelphia to be restored. It is now one of the classics in painting and is regarded as one of, if not the most splendid portraits of Washington in America.

Putnam's Hand Book of Universal Aid in expressing ideas through the use of an exact and varied vocabulary.

This is a book of inestimable value to writers.

Putnam's Hand Book of Universal History is the companion of the above in usefulness. It is convenient in size to keep at one's right hand on writing desk or reading table—an ever present help to memory and quest for information of the events of the World's History from 5,000 years before Christ to 1914.

This is the initial number and gives promise of a very valuable and interesting addition to the historical libraries of the country, with that able scholar and elegant writer, St. George L. Sioussat, for the editor. This magazine should have the utmost aid from the State of Tennessee, as well as from subscribers and exchanges. May the Tennessee Historical Magazine live and prosper as the representative of the history and interests of its splendid State.

A Gift—The Brochure of the 125th Anniversary of Masonry in Lexington, Ky. (This is very valuable, a paper that should be prized by all Kentuckians, whether Masons or not. It is handsomely printed and illustrated with portraits of the Masons, many of them the famous men of Kentucky.)

An announcement—Congresses, Conventions, Panama Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, California, 1915.

Annals of Iowa.

A Loan—Mrs. Simon Bolivar Buckner, now in the Philippines with her son, who is in the U. S. Army, before leaving Kentucky placed in care of the State Historical Society the magnificent portraits of Governor Buckner in his Confederate uniform, and of herself, painted by William Card Browne in 1891-1892, in Richmond, Va. These splendid portraits are loaned indefinitely to the society, and add another attraction to its grand department in the Capitol. Mrs. Buckner expressed her pleasure in the fine and last portrait of Governor Buckner, by Ferdinand Walker, in the Hall of Fame since 1913.

September—The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government, by Jefferson Davis. (This remarkable history of the South and career of the President of the Confederate Government (one of the greatest men America has produced) should be in every library, North and South, in this country. The tragic events connected with the career of Jefferson Davis have obscured the history of his ancestry, and the surroundings of his early life. Jefferson Davis is of Welsh ancestry. We learn from the published history of his family that three Davis brothers left their homes in Wales, in the beginning of the 18th century, at the time William and Mary were on the throne of Great Britain. These brothers came to America and settled in Philadelphia. The youngest of these brothers (Evan) removed to Georgia; there he married a widow (Mrs. Emory) and their only son was named Samuel. The Revolutionary War came on; Samuel joined the army and remained until the close of the war. In South Carolina he married beautiful Jane Cook, of Scotch-Irish descent. About 1800 he removed to Kentucky, and settled in Todd County. It was in this new home in Kentucky that Jefferson Davis was born on the 3rd of June, 1808. He was the youngest of ten children. He was educated and graduated from Transylvania University, Lexington, Ky. From there he was appointed a student to West Point. His subsequent career the world knows, as one of the most remarkable men in the United States at that time.)

THE D. A. R. NATIONAL MAGAZINE.

The beautiful magazine of the D. A. R. Society in Washington comes a welcome guest always to us. Every member of the society should subscribe for it and read its interesting pages from cover to cover.

Mrs. Amos Draper conducts the Genealogical Reference pages of the D. A. R. magazine, questions and answers. These pages are especially valuable to those applicants for membership that have lost connection with their Eastern kindred. The South lost so much of its history during the Civil War that many women of the South have ceased to make an effort to find their Revolutionary ancestors because of the loss of records the society requires to be eligible to membership.

We regret it came too late for a review of its many sweet verses, though where all is so good it would be difficult to separate the verses. One, however, must be noticed, a poem for the hour, "Our Flag." This was read on Flag Day at a meeting of the Deborah Avery Chapter, D. A. R., by Mrs. Jackson, who is the widow of the late General James Jackson, of Kentucky. She is now a resident of McCook, Nebraska.)*
