Rousing Send-off Is Given Wildcats At Union Station

Suky Plans Welcome For Big Blue Upon Return of Team Sunday Afternoon

A rousing send-off for the "lightest team in the South" was given the Wildcats at the Union Station last night when they left for Durham for their annual football game with Duke University tomorrow at 2 p. m.

The committee which was in charge of the send-off last night will sponsor a pep meeting which is planned for Saturday night, preceding the homecoming game with Tulane on Saturday. The committee will attempt to get permission for a bonfire and a torch-light parade at this rally.

The winner will be selected as the man having the longest and heaviest beard. The contest will be held between 8 and 10 o'clock on Saturday night. The contest is closed.

Social Calendar To Be Released

Several Fraternities Fail to Petition For Dance Dates

Deans will release the social calendar for this year as soon as the various committees and councils can pass on it. Approximate release date will be about November 15. According to Dean C. R. Melcher, all the dates should have been granted by the general office, but a few fraternities on the campus failed to petition for dates before the last day and so they will not be granted a dance unless other arrangements are made.

200 HEAR-SPENCE COMPARE 'WET' CONTROL FOR U.S. AND CANADA

By SYLVESTER FORD Has Canada a system of liquor control that the United States should emulate for prohibition? It has not, according to Ben Spence former Canadian official since Canada's system of liquor control is not a system in fact but only in name.

These were some of the startling statements made by Mr. Ben H. Spence, noted journalist and author, at a luncheon given at the University of Kentucky last night. Spence pointed out that the amount of alcohol contained in the liquor increased from 2,000,000 gallons in 1923 to 5,300,000 gallons in 1931. Such a triangle is not just a coincidence but the result of the fallacy of the belief that government control is the solution for the liquor problem, according to Mr. Spence.

Mr. Spence stated that instead of solving Canada's liquor problem and reducing the consumption of the saloon, Canada's system of liquor control had only succeeded in adding a touch of respectability to the traffic in alcoholic beverages, and in greatly increasing the number of bootleggers. He offered this as almost conclusive proof that the repeal of the eighteenth amendment will not solve the liquor problem, but bootlegger problem. In fact, he upheld the eighteenth amendment as the only means of keeping the American people away from the use of liquor by the process of outlawing all persons transporting and selling such beverages, and stated that in this respect it was greatly superior to the Canadian government which had lost all such educational measures by its partnership with the bootlegger.

Y. M. C. A. BEGINS FALL DISCUSSION

Seventeen Fraternities Hold Regular Weekly Meetings Under Auspices of Y-Leaders

FOOTBALL TEAMS ENTER

University Y. M. C. A. discussion groups were organized this week at the various fraternity and working houses. The meetings, which are annual affairs, are sponsored by the "Y," and will continue for six weeks. The university has led the southern schools in having the largest number of such groups for many years. Purposes of the "Y" discussion groups are to talk over with the students the diversified problems arising from social and personal sources and the quandaries faced in every-day life. The gatherings are under the leadership of members of the faculty and students. Seventeen out of the 19 fraternities are conducting groups. Sigma Beta Xi plans to start next week. The groups and their leaders are as follows: Alpha Gamma Epsilon, Prof. J. S. Wolfe; Alpha Lambda Tau, Prof. J. S. Horne; Alpha Sigma Phi, Dr. Henri Beaumont; Alpha Xi, Dr. H. H. The Return Of The Apple

Remember the time when was customary to bring a red apple to school each morning for the teacher? The custom is still prevalent even in college circles.

Dr. Esther Cole is conducting a class in political parties. Yesterday morning when the good teacher stroked into the class room she found a nice juicy Baldwin apple on her desk. And who do you believe presented the good teacher with the toothsome morsel? Well, we won't tell tales out of the class room, but little "Hoss" Seale, the Wildcat center, was seen slipping away from the desk just before teacher entered the room. Teacher's pet!

GRAFT CHARGES ARE TARGET OF COUNCIL'S RULE

Class Committee Members of Current Year Are Cleared by Move

CONTRACT APPROVAL DECREE IN ORDER

Presidents Will Keep Approval Power Under Terms of Resolution

"Unfounded accusations," of graft and corruption among members of student committees were the target of a resolution passed by the Men's Student council late Thursday. The resolution, introduced by James Curtis, sophomore councilman, commends the college, set out that charges of dishonesty have been lodged maliciously against members of student committees "by those persons who have been disappointed in campus political affairs."

In order to exonerate members of undergraduate committees of the current year similar charges, all contracts let by class committees in the future will be submitted to the council for approval. Under terms of the resolution, no contract made by class committees will be valid until it is signed by the council. The resolution also provides that the council will have the right to operate in restricting powers allocated to presidents of various departments by class committees under their control. The council can take no part in actual negotiations with the student body. Complete text of the resolutions: WHEREAS: Charges of graft and corruption have been lodged against various university undergraduate committees, and WHEREAS: Members of the Men's Student council are convinced that the resolutions have been passed without foundation and have been lodged maliciously by those persons (Continued on page Four)

Major Asks Cadets To Form Special Cheering Section

Call has been issued by Major Brewer for 250 boys to form an organized cheering section for the football game at Durham, the boys will be seated in one section before the game, forming the letters "UK," with the background being furnished by the remainder of the student body. This attempt to form an organized cheering section is the first of its kind in the south. A few years ago the R.O.T.C. members came to the game in uniform and filled a reputation for the cheering. The cheering was the best that the university has ever had. It is Major Brewer's plan to restore the cheering to its former glory and to measure at least partly equal to that in other years.

RURAL SCHOOL TOURNEY

University extends a welcome to the 800 boys and girls representing 24 counties of Kentucky at the eighth annual rural school tournament being held today and Saturday.

Many of these children have never been on the campus before. They are interested, naturally, in the machinations of the university, although they are here, primarily, to engage in competition among themselves.

Friendliness of university students will help make their two days' sojourn a happy one. It is not difficult to go out of one's way to give directions or brief explanations to these grade school children who someday may be matriculants at the university. In adopting an attitude of good will, students will be cooperating with the university extension department in sponsoring the tournament.

FRESHMAN CAPS

With the opening of this semester there was much agitation because freshmen were not ordered to wear the traditional blue cap designating their class standing on the campus. Inquiries resulted in the explanation from the Men's Student Council that they had decided to do away with the custom this year. But criticism was so rife that the council withdrew its objections and ordered freshmen not only to purchase caps, but to wear them.

Freshmen, obviously, are not impressed by the order. There is a majority obeying the decree; the large majority goes headless. The council cannot expect freshmen to conform to its ruling unless it rigidly enforces it. Naturally, enforcement in this case is difficult because the law did not go into effect at the beginning of school. This is not an excuse for the noticeable lack of freshmen caps. Dependence upon sophomores to carry out enforcement is a haphazard method of execution. The Student Council should take immediate steps to see that every freshman on the campus is wearing his cap.

HOUSE DECORATION

Fraternities and sororities will soon begin decorating their houses for the homecoming festivities. A touch of the mardi gras is lent to the welcoming of the old students and graduates by this gala background. Bright colored streamers in a holiday spirit deck the houses and catch the eye of the visitors.

This year, because of the economic chaos and subsequent depression, many of the groups will be prone to do away with such decorating. It is not necessary that the organizations go to the expense for this work. Banners, colors, and lights can be purchased much cheaper this year. Destroying of this gala atmosphere will detract from the spirit that has always characterized these homecoming affairs.

SuKy student pep organization, will award cups to the fraternity and the sorority having the most attractively bedecked homes. Competition for these trophies has ever been keen and has served as an impetus to spur the groups on to greater efforts in preparing for the carnival.

As the old grads trek back to Kentucky to greet and chat with their former classmates, they must not think that the present students are backward in their endeavor to carry out the ideals and principles of the university. The South is noted for its hospitality and friendliness. This must not be disrupted and destroyed.

Decorate the fraternity and sorority homes! Let the spirit of King Carnival and the holiday air of jollity reign supreme!

THESE WASTEFUL LIGHTS

In various buildings on the campus, lights have been seen illuminating unoccupied class and laboratory rooms. This waste of money, resulting from the indifference of those who switch on the lights, is a black eye for school economy.

Unquestionably the university is running under strained conditions. The budget has been slashed by the legislature; President McVey has adopted a new scale of economizing, including a reduced salary scale for staff members and other employees.

The university has come in for a deal of criticism throughout the state for political and economical reasons. Eyes of the taxpayers have been and are focused on the school's budget. Some persons believe that too much money is annually appropriated in the upkeep of the University of Kentucky.

Whether this be true is a matter of conjecture and bears personal investigation. But what The Kernel is interested in is the cooperation of everyone on the campus with the economy move. And unnecessary burning of electric lights is a good starting point. It is such a trivial thing for one to snap off the switch when leaving a classroom or to step inside and turn out the lights of an emptied laboratory.

We are the ones who benefit by the economy move. As the university must stay within its appropriation, the co-ordination of every individual is asked in eliminating such a wasteful expenditure as unnecessary burning of electric lights.

Jest Among Us

Headline — "Co-ed Band Has Unique Position." Well there's nothing uncommon about a co-ed band in a unique position.

We wouldn't advise any lady to sit in the 50 cent line near the press boxes at the game. Please notice that we said "lady".

A freshman appeared recently, wanting to know if the "power of the press" had anything to do with getting his clothes back from the shop on time.

We venture to say that every upper classman who read The Kernel last Tuesday didn't overlook the ad they were supposed not to read on the fourth page.

It seems to the Jester that the object is not to control liquor but to control the subject once the liquor has got into him.

If a co-ed feels wriggle inside, maybe she has swallowed her gum.

The Jester will bet even money that Hoover won't get a single vote in any county in a certain state.

CID the CYNIC

Though glasses may detract somewhat from their complexions bright, I've found that elles wearing them have At least achieved foresight.

There's no money around here any way so you might as well be informed. It's Louisiana; they don't have counties, they have parishes!

A lot of kids have got a beating for not wearing Blue caps now that the school tourney is in progress.

Speaking of states, we wonder if it's easier Macon Georgia or Wheeling West Virginia.

DOTES AND ANTI-DOTES

Following in this week's contribution of an eulogist column. If you like it, write in about it.

Since we can not start a column by saying "a shot rang out in the dark" or "once upon a time," we shall open with that great American subject, the weather. The crowd of students leaving McVey hall on a damp day is very hard-hearted. We timidly ventured to the door for a tentative estimation of a dash to the next building and were cruelly forced out into the rain by the mob behind us, although we had decided not to go. It was worth while, though. . . . .

Tom Cassidy stole the show at pep meeting, even from Coach Harry (Jimmie Walker) Gamage. His imitation of Schmoose Durante was a wow. Speaking of the pep meeting, Cheer-leading Zeta Anderson caused the first two yells to be drowned by boys yelling "Who's the Girl."

Ellis Johnson still holds down the back room at the K. D. house but what about those notes he writes to a certain Kappa pledge in class?

Little did we think that we would live to see "One Round" Lucy Shropshire become a shy and retiring lil gal. When called upon to ask a blessing at a dinner the other night she giggled and remained speechless. How quaint! The whole Kappa chapter seems to be changing. . . . .

Mina (Kappa Culprit) Pate is claiming to have turned over that new leaf! And Dot Williams is disillusioned. . . . .

She says her first(?) kiss was very disappointing. And we never have seen that K. A. pin Cooke Gibson is supposed to have. We wonder where she wears it. . . . .

Have you heard Louise Johnson and Don McGurk say "Just Friends"? Quit now! . . . . .

Fretheite Scotty Hobart also says that his home town boy who drives up from Danville for that standing date is an old friend of the family. . . . .

At the mention of someone "yelling in the cellar," why do Pat hall girls scream "Hurray for Delta Tau?" . . . . .

ROAMIN' THE RIALTO

Bing Crosby, Kate Smith, the Boswell Sisters, the Mills Brothers, Cab Calloway and his band, Burns and Allen, Arthur Tracy (The Street Singer), and Vincent Lopez—all on one bill! Is that entertainment? That's the line-up which Paramount assembles for "The Big Broadcast," screen version of the play "Wild Waves," which has its premiere showing tonight at the Kentucky theater, and will continue its run through November 10. Stuart Erwin and Lella Hyams of the films are featured in the picture.

"Player's perspective is one of the most important single items in the moulding of a strong screen drama," according to Victor Fleming, director of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Red Dust," coming Sunday to the Ben All theater. In other words, the realism of the picture is in direct proportion to the actor's intensity of understanding his or her characterization. Fleming's view is confirmed in a striking manner by the work of Clark Gable and Jean Harlow in the leading roles of "Red Dust." The story deals with the eternal triangle as manifested on a rubber plantation in the depths of Indo-Chinese jungles.

Keyholing the keyholes is the unique and hilarious process by which the Warner Brothers picture, "Blessed Event," adapted from the stage play of the same name, provides audiences with an unusual hour of entertainment. Lee Tracy is a dashing newspaper reporter dedicating his column to confidential journalism; his supporting cast includes Mary Brian, Dorothy Donnelly, and Ned Sparks. "Blessed Event" opens Saturday at the Strand.

Cross-Blending

WHAT IS IT.. and how does it improve cigarette taste?

YOU'VE heard how fruit of one variety has been crossed with fruit of another to produce a new and more pleasing flavor. The loganberry, for example, is a cross between the raspberry and the blackberry.

Chesterfield's Cross-Blend gets the same result—better taste—by a different method.

It welds together the different kinds of several varieties of tobacco. Many types of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley tobacco, and numerous grades of Turkish tobacco are all merged into one—Chesterfield tobacco.

This welding or Cross-Blending goes beyond ordinary blending or mixing tobaccos together. It actually makes every kind of tobacco in Chesterfield partake of the qualities of every other type.

It's the Cross-Blending of fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos that gives Chesterfields a distinctive, better taste.

They are milder. They have a flavor and aroma which, we believe, you will like.

Wade Jinx Is Now Under Contract to Duke's Devils

Spell Has Been in Power for Ten Year, Both at Bama and Durham, N. C.

By a STANLEY TRICKETT
For the tenth time in as many years Wallace Wade will attempt to defeat a Wallace Wade coached team when they engage the Duke university Blue Devils, at Durham, Saturday.

and his droppick sailed squarely between the uprights.
Last year Wallace Wade saw Kentucky outplay his boys in a decisive manner. The count of first downs was Kentucky 12, Duke 3; the Big Blue accumulated 202 yards from scrimmage to 99 for the Devils; yet the 'Cats found themselves on the short end of a 7-0 score.

Nashville Saturday. Late in the first quarter Dixie Roberts, Vandy halfback, was run out of bounds. He was unable to stop and attempted to dive over the bench to avoid the Tech players. As he went over his feet struck his head and knocked it against the bench. The only man knocked out was sitting on the bench.

The greatest grid show of the South was staged Saturday at Nashville. Eighteen bands were present and 24,000 people watched the Commodore battle the Yellow Jackets. Vandy with Dixie Roberts in the leading role, won the game by a score of 12 to 0. Roberts passed to Guntzheimrich for the first touchdown, and then ran around end for the other score. The giant Commodore forward wall was too much for the Jackets. Vandy has a rest game against Maryland Saturday while Tech meets Tulane.

Plans for Coming Week

The Mothers' club of Alpha Delta Theta will meet at 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon at the chapter house. Mrs. Ben Offutt will preside at the business session and will be assisted in receiving the members by the house-mother, Mrs. A. C. Brown.

The active members and pledges of the chapter will be honored at a buffet supper Monday evening at the chapter house, in honor of rushes.

Dr. Charles Allen Thomas of the Thomas and Hochwald Chemistry Research laboratories, Dayton, Ohio, will give a lecture to the public at 8 p. m. Monday, November 7.

But the Wade jinx is not all that the 'Cats have to face Saturday. They have never defeated a Duke team and the Blue Devils are out to keep their record clean in that respect. The Devil-Cat series is not very old therefore the Wade jinx is not so serious as the other.

The first Devil-Cat fray was played in 1920. The teams played before 14,000 rabid North Carolina fans and after an hour furious battling the Durham lads led by the long end of a 14-7 count. Duke clearly outplayed the Big Blue in nearly all departments of the game.

The 'Cats were handicapped by the fact that 'Shipwreck' Kelly was hindered by a bruised hip, and Williams, star center, was injured. The big man of the Wildcat team was Captain Floppy Forquer who played the best game of his career. Forquer spilled Duke backs time and time again before he could get out of their own backyard.

"Bo" Meyer, Dick Richards, and Louis Toth starred in the 'Cat backfield. Meyer was especially good in booting the ball, one of his punts sailing out of bounds on the Devil's one yard line.

Kentucky's lone score came as Ken Andrews snatched one of Dick Richards passes out of the zone as he stepped in to the end zone. "Old Bud" Cavanaugh's steady toe was good enough for the extra point.

Briefs From Enemy Camps

By EDWARD WATTS
Breezy Wynn, Tennessee halfback, kicked a field goal in the last quarter to give the Vols a hard earned 16 to 13 victory over Duke last Saturday. Feathers scored both of the Tennessee touchdowns. Dick tied the score at 13 all when Crawford intercepted a pass and ran 72 yards to score. The Blue Devil running attack was good for 70 yards. Tennessee made 14 first downs to 6 for Duke.

A 12 yard pass by Jimmy Hitchcock and a 96 yard run by Rogers in the last two minutes of play gave Auburn a 14 to 7 victory over Ole Miss. Mississippi scored first in the third quarter. The game was rough and many fumbles broke up scoring chances. Mississippi out-gained Auburn making 14 first downs to 11 for the Plainsmen.

Tulane gained 331 yards from scrimmage to 37 for South Carolina, but the Green Wave could score only one touchdown while holding South Carolina scoreless. In the first two minutes Zimmerman ran 37 yards for a touchdown. The game started like a slaughter but the Greenies lacked the touchdown punch after the fire that has characterized them in former games. Numerous fumbles hurt Tulane's chances to score.

While sitting on the bench Eddie Laws, Georgia Tech guard, was knocked unconscious during the Tech game with Vanderbilt at

Wildcats To Lose Third Game—We Predict by One Touchdown. Eight Southern Conference Games To Be Played

By GENE LUTES
We find out Wildcats playing away from home this Saturday with the Duke Blue Devils. You will remember that Duke beat the Wildcats by a "break" last year and also, a Kentucky team has never beaten a team coached by Wallace Wade, former coach of the Alabama Crimson Tide. Duke has a better team than that of last season, the held the Tennessee Vols, to a score of 16 to 13 last Saturday. The Blue Devils have chalked up victories over Davidson, V. M. I., Maryland and Wake Forest this season. They lost to Auburn by two touchdowns early in the season. Our Wildcats will be without the services of Kercheval which will hurt them considerably. Wildcats will fall to the Devils by a lone touchdown. Here is hoping we predict wrong.

One of the most important games within the Southern Conference will be the Alabama-Virginia Poly tussle. V. P. I. is standing on top with four wins to no losses; they will be fighting mighty keen to play on top but we are afraid that the mighty Crimson Tide will knock them off. Another real tussle will be the Tulane-Georgia Tech game. This game should be a toss-up but we pick Tulane to be the favorite. In the North Carolina-Florida scrapp, we pick the North Carolina Tarheels to take the Allegators. Louisiana State should have little trouble with South Carolina. Vanderbilt will be taking the Maryland Cle Liners for a voyage. Tennessee will have a rest period with Mississippi and Virginia and Virginia will be playing a hard fought game. Virginia will be the favorite in this game.

Two Southern Conference members will be playing in the east, Georgia and Sewanee respectively. The Georgia Bulldogs will be locking horns with N. Y. U. again; the Bulldogs have won over N. Y. U. in the last two seasons by the same score, 7 to 6. We think the story will be different this year. The eastern team will take this one by two touchdowns. Sewanee will be playing the Penn State aggregation. Penn State hasn't got much this year but will take the southern Tech for it's second victory of the season. Another southern team will have to fall into the hands of defeat, that being Mississippi to Minnesota. The William and Mary-V. M. I. tussle should be a good game with W. & M. being the winner. Citadel are favorites over Clemson. Davidson will take a defeat by the hands of its ancient rival, North Carolina State.

In the Dixie Conference, we will find an important game near home, the Centre-Mercer scrapp. This game has a great deal of importance on the winner of the Dixie Conference. Centre will have its "grades" out rooting for them as it is homecoming. The Praying Colonels won from Mercer last year by a lone field goal, 3 to 0. We predict the Colonels to repeat with a victory. Another important game in the state will be the Western Teachers-Georgetown tussle at Bowling Green. Western will win the game by one touchdown.

EXTENSIVE RESEARCH CONDUCTED IN U. K. PHYSIOLOGY DEPARTMENT

An example of the extensive research being carried out in almost every department of the university may be seen in the department of anatomy and physiology where much time is spent in studying disease and control.

In the field of diabetes, experimental forms of this disease by diet control are being developed in animals with the idea of throwing some light on its cause. Once this cause is determined, treatment will be based on its removal.

Another study, less developed but offering interesting possibilities, deals with methods and results of gland transplants. Rabbits and cats are used in these experiments.

Of direct importance to many people are the experiments that have been conducted relating to the effects of cod liver oil administered to the human system in excessive doses, and of Viosterol. In view of many controversies that exist in regard to whether Vitamin A or D was the toxic principal, experiments were conducted by administering excessive doses of cod liver oil to adult rats. It was found that the medication caused the thyroid glands to lose all of their colloid content. It was also found that there were no changes in the basal metabolism of the rats.

Members of the Block and Bridle club are working on the plans for p.m. Wednesday in McVey hall. All students interested in English are urged to come, and, particularly, English majors. At the last meeting the following officers were elected: Evelyn Freyman, president; Virginia Lee Pulliam, vice-president; Alice Hamm, secretary-treasurer; Dr. L. L. Dantler is faculty adviser.

BLOCK AND BRIDLE TO MEET

Faculty of the College of Agriculture will hold their regular monthly meeting Monday, November 7, in the Agriculture building. Routine work of the college, and the new advisory system, which was recently inaugurated in all divisions of the college, will be considered. Dean Thomas Poe Cooper will preside.

Ag College Will Adopt Complete Advisory System

The College of Agriculture is adopting an advisory system in all its departments which it is believed will bridge any possible gap between the students and faculty, and enable the individual student to have a more comprehensive knowledge of the purposes and requirements of the course he is pursuing. Under this new arrangement, each entering student will be assigned to an advisor who will confer with the student on all points of difficulty.

Deans' Association Will Convene Today

KITTENS TO PLAY VANDY FROSH SATURDAY

Coch Pribble's big bone-crushing yearling squad will entrain for Nashville Friday where they will meet the Vanderbilt frosh Saturday. Although little is known of the strength of the Vanderbilt team, Coach Pribble is very enthusiastic about the Kittens' chances for a victory.

The yearlings have been working hard all week and they are showing a decided improvement. They were able to get in some good practice in the rain when Coach Gamge excused the varsity Monday from practice. While using Duke plays in their Wednesday scrimmage against the Wildcats the yearlings were able to complete a few passes for some nice gains.

The greatest worry that the coaches have is in getting the nervousness out of their players before the game. A number of the first string freshmen received some ankles and legs in the Sewanee game; others have been bruised while scrimmaging against the Wildcats. Among those who are on the injured list but are expected to be in shape by game time are Gilmer, Symptom, Dickey, Ayres, Prichard, and Meyers. All injured players have reported to practice in uniform for light workouts except Tishener, regular center, who is suffering from a dislocated neck vertebrae and will not be able to report until spring practice.

ALPHA ZETA SMOKER

Local chapter of Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural society, held a smoker for faculty and students of the College of Agriculture Tuesday night, November 1. About 30 persons were present at the meeting. Robert Reed, president of the local chapter presided. There will be another meeting of the society on Tuesday, November 8.

Just because the Kampus Kat hasn't a stripe down it is no sign that it hasn't its instincts.

Kercheval Is Out Of 'Cat-Devil Game

(Continued from Page One) the last game, is ready for Duke and John Drury at the other tackle looks fine. He is playing better on the defense than has been his wont and his offensive ability has improved as well. "Honus" Wagner is about to make a trip for the first time since the Georgia Tech battle, when he suffered an injured shoulder. Wagner is fully recovered and with Drury will be held in reserve in case of injuries to Aldridge or Skinner.

Seale and Luther are still battling for the center position but it seems likely that Seale will be the victor this week as Luther took a heavy battering from the Tide and is still slightly under the weather.

The line seems to be much better than it was last week and the Alabama game served to improve their defensive abilities.

With the absence of Kercheval from the starting array, Ellis Johnson, who played such a great game against the Tide last week will call the signals and do the kicking. Ellis played one of the greatest if not the greatest game of his career Saturday.

The Tide was unable to gain consistently. He has been going great guns in practice all week and seems likely to continue his frolic against the Devils. Eddie Cameron, Duke composed present at the last few games in which the Wildcats played, mumbled under his breath constantly, "We gotta stop Johnson, he's the best back they have."

All this week the 'Cats have been driven hard as their condition would permit. On Monday they were dismissed from practice but on Tuesday they were given a rather strenuous drill and a hard scrimmage on Wednesday against the frosh.

The frosh using Duke plays were unable to gain on their ground plays, but with Gilmer hurling the ball they advanced consistently on overhead thrusts. Yesterday the 'Cats took their last workout before entraining and went through a long signal drill and a session of dummy scrimmage.

Jimmy Miller, stocky little blocking back from Henderson, has looked excellent this week and will probably start against the Blue Devils tomorrow. He is capable on the defense and a good blocker. "Cuszy" Foster, the playboy of the team, impressed the coaches with his prowess this week and is slated for "Pug" Bach's wingback place tomorrow afternoon. Bach will probably play a good deal, but after his great defensive exhibition

THE STRIPED TIGER

"Nature in the Raw" - as portrayed by the great animal artist, Paul Branson... inspired by the savage ferocity of the striped tiger, known throughout the world as the terror of the jungle. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild" - and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

"Nature in the Raw" is seldom MILD

No raw tobaccos in Luckies - that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world - but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild" - so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words - "It's toasted."

That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
