

VAUDY SQUAD IS FIRST OPPONENT OF TRACK TEAM

Cats, Hampered by Rainy Weather, Are Training Hard Daily SPRINTS ARE STRONG EVENTS OF U. K. SQUAD Baker Shows Improvement in Mile Run; Seale and Drury in Weights

With adverse weather conditions hampering the work of Coach Bernie Shively's track squad, the Big Blue cinder artists will have to work extra hard for the next few days in order to be in condition for the meet with the Vanderbilt Commodores on Stoll field, April 15.

With rain falling every day almost a week, the Cat trackmen were forced to practice in the rain and on a soggy track. The runners are nearing their top-form, but the field event men and hurdlers are not ready for action yet.

The sprints seem to be well fortified with Johnson, Foster, Ball, Parrish ready to run either the 100 or 200. Ball will run both the 100 and 200, and possibly in the mile relay. Parrish has the quarter in 33.2, improving daily, and will receive aid in this event from Carter and Cassidy. Cassidy is fast and with a little more work should do the quarter as well as Parrish does.

The half-mile is the weakest of the field events because both men who were being groomed for the event have been forced to quit the team because of injuries. Mahan, a long legged sophomore, is showing form, but Shively is searching for another man for this event. In case he can find no one else, Cassidy will run the half-mile.

Captain Howard Baker is better than ever in the mile and Mahan is a capable running mate for the Cat leader. Miller was turning in some fine workouts before he sprained his ankle, and he may yet be of service to the Wildcats. Vinson, McCaughey, and Baker form the two mile double, and they are all developing into crack distance men.

The field events are still weak and the coach is hunting for men who can pole vault, jump, throw the discus, or shot. The pole vault seems to be the best bet in the discus; John Drury and Frank Seale are the leading contenders in the shot.

"Doug" Parrish and Ralph Kereval are the pole vaulters and Parrish gives promise of developing into one of the best wildcat vaulters in several years. The hurdles are well cared for with Parrish and Parrish in the 220 lows, and Parrish and Emmerich in the 120 highs.

All the men in the jumps are unknown quantities, but several are talented performers and may come through and develop into valuable men. Gene Miller and Don Braten in the high jump, and Sale in the broad jump are the best of the newcomers. Kereval will do the broadjump and throw the javelin, and seems to be sole entrant in the spear throw. Anyone who can or thinks he can compete in any of the field events see Coach Shively on Stoll field.

There will be a special Stroller meeting today at 5 p. m. in the Little Theater in White hall and the members are requested to attend.

Mortar Board will meet at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the Patterson hall, reading room for the purpose of selecting new members. The patroness will be present.

Dr. A. R. Shiple, professor of German, will speak to the young people's meeting Sunday evening at 6:15 at Christ Church cathedral. All students who are interested are invited to attend. Supper will be served.

All men interested in trying out for the Independent Diamond Ball team may do so by reporting to manager Recano at Stoll field at 4 p. m. Saturday.

Thomas R. Underwood, managing editor of the Times, will speak at the regular meeting of the Catholic club at 10:30 a. m. Sunday in the gold room at the Lafayette hotel. His subject will be "Newspapers." J. Rogus Miner, president, will preside.

Prof. Odoriferous Piscatorious Will Deliver Lecture in Concert With Others at W. A. C. Banquet

By JUDY CHADWICK "Year 2000—U. of K." is the title of the faculty stunt which will be presented at the W. A. C. banquet Monday night; last year the faculty stunt was (according to eye witnesses) a little raw, it was too good, I mean it really was. This year, however, the faculty has decided to mix a little education with their humor, but don't be alarmed—it's only simplified education. Three only simplified education. Their stunt will be given and cut down on time they will be given all at once.

TRIO TO PRESENT FINAL MUSICALE

Ramsay, Kelly and South Are Featured On Last of Sunday Afternoon Programs

The final Sunday afternoon musicale of the current season will be presented in the Memorial auditorium April 8, a Palm Sunday sacred concert entitled, "John, the Baptist." The program will be presented by three young men who will be remembered as one of the most artistic presentations of the year.

The field events are still weak and the coach is hunting for men who can pole vault, jump, throw the discus, or shot. The pole vault seems to be the best bet in the discus; John Drury and Frank Seale are the leading contenders in the shot.

WESLEY CARTER CHOSEN KERNEL EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

New Staffs to Assume Posts With Publication of April 21 Issue JUNIORS WILL SELECT YEARBOOK EXECUTIVE

Coffman, Palmer, Vogel Named as Kentuckian Editor Candidates Wesley E. Carter, 25 years old, Campbellsville, junior in the department of journalism, and a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, was appointed Tuesday by the Board of Student Publications as editor-in-chief of the Kentucky Kernel for the school year a 1933-34. Edward R. Turnbull, 21, Lexington, junior, College of Commerce, Delta Tau Delta, was named business manager.

Of four nominees submitted for editor of the 1934 Kentuckian, the board approved those of J. D. Palmer, Providence, junior, College of Commerce, and a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity; George Vogel, Schenectady, N. Y., junior, College of Engineering, Alpha Sigma Phi, and Cameron Coffman, Lexington, junior, department of journalism, Delta Delta.

Other petitioners for Kernell editor were Ralph Johnson, sports editor of the Kentuckian, and Dan Ewing, business staff, also petitioned for business manager.

To Take Posts April 21 Carter and Turnbull, succeeding Lawrence Herron and Coleman R. Smith, incumbent Kernell editor and business manager, will take their posts with the April 21 issue. The successor to John M. Kane, 1933 Kentuckian editor, will be chosen from the eligible candidates by vote of the Junior class president of the junior class, indicated Wednesday that he will call the Kentuckian editorial board meeting next month. A tentative date, set by Helm, is the week after Spring holidays.

STUDENTS OFFER PERSONAL IDEAS

Forum Discussion Results In Decided Expressions of Individual Opinions From Members

An expression of opinion that college students in the present economic crisis should keep themselves well-informed about the world, and make proper use of leisure time was made by college students at a meeting of the Student Union Tuesday night at Patterson hall.

In the preliminary informal talk before opening the question for student consideration, Esther Cole, faculty leader of the meeting for the evening, stated that the present time is a 1930 potential wage-earners are out of work and that not more than 10 per cent of them could be placed in industry if all factories and business organizations were operated at the full-time 1929 level.

She pointed out that under the present economic order, factors were working in cross-purposes. The program is devoted to improving technical methods which will throw business out of work, thus decreasing the purchasing power of the nation.

During the student discussion, the point was made that college education in many cases is not relevant to securing a position. Opinions were freely expressed and a portion of the group remained for a continuation of the discussion after the meeting was dismissed at 8:30 p. m.

A discussion of the relation of religion to problems which have already been considered at the Forum meetings will bring to a close the series of Forum discussions with the fourth and final meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, April 11, in the Recreational room of Patterson hall. Dr. Amry Vandenberg, department of political science, will be in charge of the meeting, and will conduct the discussion.

Varsity Golf Team Names Settle Captain

Evan Settle, junior in the College of Education, was elected captain of the 1933 varsity golf team and Jack Hobbins, student golf instructor, captain of the freshmen, at a meeting held at 3 p. m. yesterday in Coach J. C. Jones' office. Roy Steele was elected manager of the varsity squad and Walter Hillenmeyer manager of the freshmen.

University Stenographers Use Enough Paper to Make 500 Books of Two Inches Thickness

By FRANK BORRIES It has been estimated that the yearly quota of typewritten paper turned out by the University's stenographic department is of sufficient amount to fill five hundred books of two inches in thickness. This department, which is located in the north wing of the Administration building, has been on the campus since 1917, the year of President McVey's inauguration as president of the University. President McVey, noting the crowded conditions of the department stenographers, decided that the time was right for the organization of a department to have as its particular function, the attendance at all University communications. This department has grown and expanded from its original force of two typists, to a force of approximately 20 stenographers, the presence of the various departments.

THREE ANNOUNCE FOR KYIAN CHIEF

Juniors Will Meet At 5 p. m. Tuesday To Elect '34 Year Book Editor MEN ARE EXPERIENCED

Horace B. Helm, president of the junior class, issued a statement that a meeting of the entire junior class at 5 p. m. Tuesday in Room 111, McVey hall for the purpose of electing the editor-in-chief for the 1934 Kentuckian. The candidates are, George Vogel, Schenectady, N. Y., Alpha Sigma Phi; J. D. Palmer, Providence, Pi Kappa Alpha; and Cameron Coffman, Lexington, Delta Tau Delta. Vogel is a junior in the College of Engineering and was associate editor of the year book for the past year. J. D. Palmer is an assistant news editor on the Kernel and is a junior in the College of Commerce. Cameron Coffman is a senior in the department of journalism. He is the present circulation manager of the Kernel.

Applications were passed by the Board of Publications committee on April 4 which is headed by Prof. Enoch Grehan, head of the department of journalism. This committee successor to the former Board of Student Publications, which was done away with by President McVey when he appointed new committees last semester. In previous years, also the business manager of the Kentuckian was appointed by the Publications board, but under the new system, the editor of the year book may appoint the business manager, provided the candidate for the post receives the sanction of the Publications committee.

James Adams, popular tenor soloist of Lexington, will be the feature attraction on the program Saturday afternoon. He will sing Y. M. C. A. will receive ballots.

2,000 VOTES ARE CAST IN KERNEL DRESS CONTEST

Kernel Unable To Publish Names of Ed and Co-ed Winners TO BE ANNOUNCED AT SHOW TONIGHT

Style Show in Training School Auditorium Will Start at 7:30 p. m.

More than 2,000 votes were cast in the election of the best dressed man and woman of the campus held Tuesday and Wednesday, April 4 and 5, in McVey hall. This was probably the largest vote ever taken at the University in proportion to the size of the student body.

To carry out further the program of the contest, The Kernel is forced to withhold the names of the winners from publication until tonight when they will be announced at the style show to be held at 7:30 in the auditorium of the Training school.

Tuesday edition of The Kernel contained the ballots used in the election, and the issuing of the ballots was without incident. All day the voting ran heavy and continued at a somewhat slower rate in the evening. The counting of the votes took place Wednesday afternoon in the business office of The Kernel. Committee members from the editorial and business staffs of the paper had charge of the counting.

The fact that no nominations were made caused a large number of candidates to receive votes. Seven hundred ballots were cast, for approximately 20 males, and 500 for 15 female candidates.

The contest among the women was close, the winner of first place defeating her nearest candidate by hardly three dozen votes. The remaining order of the votes was widely scattered.

The sponsors of the contest are working yet on the program to be offered at the style show. Several persons of local talent will present their talents in the form of an announcing of the winners in the contest. The various winners will model their prizes.

Those who will probably appear on the program are the Kentucky Cardinals quartet, featuring Duke vocalist; Whitlock Fennell, whistler; Jimmie Sammons, and Mary King. The contest will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the auditorium.

APRIL 30 IS FIRST TWILIGHT DATE

Concerts Changed To Sundays, at 4 p. m., from Thursdays; 50 Pieces Listed in New Organization

The annual twilight concert series, given by the concert band under the direction of Elmer O. Sulzer, will be held on the first of the new organization of the University that spring is here when it presents its first concert, on Sunday, April 30, at 4 p. m. Sunday, April 30, in the Memorial hall amphitheater. This concert is the first of a series of 50 twilight dates which will be presented weekly, at this same hour, until May 28.

The concert of this year's series of concerts, many new features will appear on the programs, and all of them will be presented on Sunday afternoons in place of previous concerts which were given on Thursday evenings.

The concert band of this year numbers more than 50 pieces, and a difficult and extensive repertoire which will please every concert fan has been rehearsed by the band and will be presented before its audience in pleasing arrangements. Many of the numbers are recent Broadway hits from musical comedies such as "Good News," and "Of Thee I Sing."

RELATIONS STUDY CLUB WILL HEAR MCINTYRE

Prof. R. D. McIntyre, of the College of Commerce, will be the principal speaker at the final meeting of the International Relations study club at 7:45 p. m. Tuesday, April 11, in the faculty club rooms at McVey hall.

Professor McIntyre's talk on "International Relations and Music" has been a series of discussions on the general theme of "Intellectual Co-operation." The club has been organized to attend the last meeting of the club for this school year.

Prof. Adams, popular tenor soloist of Lexington, will be the feature attraction on the program Saturday afternoon. He will sing Y. M. C. A. will receive ballots.

MELCHER DAY

The moving finger of time is writing a finale on the active academic career of a distinguished teacher who has given more than twenty-five years of faithful and constructive work in the interest of the University. That gentleman, C. R. Melcher, dean of men, will be the guest of honor at a testimonial dinner, Tuesday night, May 2.

This banquet will culminate a special day set aside as "Melcher Day." The program was instituted by the Men's Student council; however, almost every organization on the campus will participate in the affair. It is only fitting that the student body and the faculty should join in this testimonial of a man whose contribution to the institution could hardly be measured.

Dean Melcher has given twenty-six years of his life work to the people of this commonwealth through the medium of his state University. During that time he has performed the duties of dean of men in an admirable way. Since 1914 he has been head of the German department.

In preparing himself for his ultimate position in life, the dean of men studied at several American colleges and then went abroad where he continued his work at European universities. Dean Melcher has many degrees of honor and is active in outstanding associations. The honors which have come his way, owing to his contributions to education, are far too numerous to mention in this brief editorial.

In June of this year he will be eligible for transfer to professor-merit status, having reached the age limit set by the University senate.

Through The Kernel, the student body, faculty, and alumni wish to thank Dean Melcher for his contribution to the institution and to extend warm felicitations of good health and happiness henceforth.

SOUNDS OF SPRING

With the sun finally breaking through the clouds to herald a late spring, college students have assumed an unsportsman-like attitude by way of celebration. Dismissed early from classes or having a free hour, some students give vent to their exhilarated feelings by annoying classes in session.

Although there are many places on the campus where students suffering from spring fever can relieve their excess emotions, collegians tend to loiter about halls and doorways of the buildings. Open windows and doors carry the sounds of their boisterous conversations to class rooms and disturb class procedures. No thought evidently is given to the fact that students and professors in class rooms are being annoyed.

Such conduct is not indicative of true college spirit. The University administration expects the students matriculated here to conform to rules and regulations as a municipality expects its citizens to conduct themselves in a decorous manner.

Disturbing classes in session is not a serious offense; yet it suggests a discourteous attitude which is characteristic of the serious college student. It is to be hoped that, in the future, these thoughtless offenders will suppress their outbursts until they are assured that they will not annoy others.

DOTES AND ANTI-DOTES

By TINY

I received a letter the other day. It wasn't much of a letter, but here it is. "Recent observations have shown that a certain woman hater has changed to an ardent lover. Observers have noticed also a change in Miss Florence Kelly's eyes." . . . If the writer of that anonymous note will tell me the name of the "ardent lover," I will keep it confidential, maybe.

And I also received another note . . . It was from some member of the K. A. lodge. . . It threatened me with destruction if I ever mentioned again that they were to have Jan Garber's orchestra. . . Billy Phelps said "It was not rumored." Okay Billy you win. I merely mentioned it for you good. . .

While I'm on the subject of K. A.'s, the Tri-delts had planned to have their bi-weekly open-house for the Linden Walk boys until they discovered that the K.A. boiler had blown up a week before. The boys had not been able to bathe, so presto. . . No open house (Clever these Tri-delts)

The Zetatas attempted to put one of their members under a cold shower for some misdemeanor she had committed. . . after chasing the accused for three blocks and dragging her back to the lodge they were too fatigued to accomplish their intention.

One of the engineers, while dancing with the Junior Prom Queen, earnestly popped this question to her. "What class are you in?"

On the basis of interest shown . . . Piekap Tommy Conroy and Bill Lowenthal should be the best dressed men.

The Deltas are planning a circus dance for April 22. . . the best dressed ed and co-ed will be featured in a special show. . . a tall man and the bearded lady have been procured. . . and a bareback rider will be present. . . But as yet no applications have been received for the reception as fat lady.

TONES
The first of sunset is too brilliant; Red is more delicate dwindled to a star;
Or sliding quickly down a spider's web.
Our words are far too colorful; They burden with their bold profusion
The faintest thoughts.
For love is more delicate dwindled to a glance,
Or gleaming silently along the thread of life
In gentle sympathy.

LULLABY
I heard the happy voice of a woman
Cooing as she lay among the water grass,
And approaching, found only a stream.
That was great with the child of the rain.

MOCKINGBIRD
I heard the songs of sunlit yesterdays
Repeated in a Moon's remembered light
Rising, rising upward for a moment,
Flutter softly back into the night.
Whistle the phantom echo!
Whistle and then alight.
I hear the words of sunlit yesterdays
Repeated in a dream's remembered light
Rising, rising upward for a moment,
Flutter softly back into the night.

HARP-SONG
You plucked soft notes
From a harp's bright wing
To float on the air
Like colorful plumes.

WHITE HEARTS
The smallest fancy creeps within
Thy tender petal labyrinth,
And leaves all clumsy mortal thoughts
To stare outside,
For only fairy dreams can probe
The peaty pocket of thy love,
And there abide.
No heavy mind could ever climb
A stem so tenuous as thine,
Nor see with dull translucent eyes
Such fragile art.
With shadow kiss a fancy slips
Between the golden flower lips
Into thy heart.

THROWING KNIVES BLINDFOLDED!

ILLUSION:
You see knives flash from the magician's hand and plunge into the board, framing the girl so closely that she cannot move.

EXPLANATION:
Here is one way the blindfold knife throw is done: The knife thrower lets the knife go over his shoulder into the wings. The knife that you see quivering beside the girl is another knife. The girl standing against the board presses at the right place and a knife is sprung from behind the board into position.

It's fun to be fooled —
...it's more fun to KNOW

A clever trick employed in cigarette advertising is the illusion that manufacturing processes account for mildness in a cigarette.

EXPLANATION: All popular cigarettes are made in much the same way. Cigarettes vary greatly in mildness because they vary greatly in the quality of tobaccos used. Mildness, as well as character and good taste, depends upon the quality of tobaccos used.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is the most important statement ever made in a cigarette advertisement. Weigh its words. Consider what it means. Smoke Camels critically and learn to appreciate what costlier tobaccos can mean to you in mildness, in throat-ease . . . in added pleasure! Other cigarettes, we believe, will taste flat and insipid to you forever after.

SONG FROM AMPHITRYON

Fair 'tis I love, and hourly I die,
But not for a lip, nor a languishing eye;
She's fickle and false, and there we agree,
For I am as false and as fickle as she.
We neither believe what either can say,
And, neither believing, we neither betray.
'Tis civil to swear and say things of course,
We mean not the talking for better or worse.
When present, we love; when absent of course,
I think not of 'tis, nor 'tis of me.
The legend of love no couple can find,
So easy to part, or so equally joined.

FAMILIAR FACES

Well, well, well, and well! Courtesy is not dead among college students as some have been saying. We can prove it. We were recently talking to a long, lean Irishman with twinkly grey eyes, unruly straw-colored hair, and abundant freckles across the bridge of his pug nose, and to everything we said he answered a genteel "yes, ma'am," very courteously indeed!

We had never expected to find such manners in this young man particularly, since we had always understood that he was very cautious in his remarks on any matter whatever and most outspoken in his opinions, whether pleasant or otherwise. Could this be the same person who, we had heard, never scrupled to tell his instructors if he thought they were holding their classes too long, had no intention of ever finishing college if he thought he could learn how to raise bigger and better hogs without a degree, and is planning to unfold some very dashing and dazed publicity stunts for the Independents' candidate for May Queen this year, declaring that he really doesn't care whether they win the election or not for they are going to have such a ripping good time during the campaign. Evidently it was that same person, for he vowed and declared that his name was Bill McClure, head of drum sections of the University men's band and the University Philharmonic orchestra, inveterate smoker of a pipe with a hinged lid to keep the ashes from falling out when he gets excited with his pipe in his mouth, and expert teaser of tunes from musical saws.

"Bill" is a second semester sophomore in the College of Agriculture, likes very black coffee and takes it straight, does not propose to take advantage of the 3.2 per cent, read-

Winners of "Best Dressed Ed & Co-ed Contest" will be announced, prizes awarded. Read Front Page Story

This is my swan song! Never more will the writings of Ralph E. Johnson appear in the columns of The Kernel. There will be no mourning—a goodly majority will be glad.

Among many others who are pleased at my demise are: Mr. Ward, my English professor; my girl friend, whom I neglected for The Kernel; one or two gate tenders at basketball games; John Herber, coach at Henry Clay; a certain workman on the campus who earns his money by driving the ash truck about the campus; Professor Crayton, a member of the faculty of University High, and perhaps Mr. Hackensmith, to whom I never gave enough publicity.

For the past year I have heard dissection among the readers. Passing the Engineering college lawn this morning I overheard comments on a "lousy sports column, lousy sports page, etc."

Four years on this paper under the most trying conditions have worn me out. I no longer enjoy the same enthusiasm I did during my freshman year. But in the four years I have worked I have profited more than any other man. And now I leave contented, satisfied!

again this summer. All the players wear some sort of facial equipment, and they warm up in straw hats and overalls.

In case any of the readers have heard of the squabble that went on between A. Stanley Trickett and J. Delmar Adams, let me state before leaving, that Mr. Trickett was not scuffed off of the staff by the vile threats of Adams. Adams called Trickett all sorts of names, threatened his life, etc., because Trickett was a graduate student and because Delmar was jealous.

The news staff and mechanical staff enjoyed many pranks at the expense of the two. If Delmar wrote a story, they would invariably put Trickett's byline over the story or if they both contributed, the staff would switch the bylines.

As a climax to the pranks, a press book written by Delmar was thrown into the "hell box" and Trickett rewrote the stuff and had it printed.

But, as I was saying, Trickett did not quit because of any fear of Mr. Adams. It was a result of a blow-out given him by the professor under whom he is taking his graduate work in history.

When the students on the campus were speculating on "Who's Who among the best dressed, they completely overlooked the best dressed co-ed. I blame "Tim" the columnist for not mentioning Elizabeth Owsley Fry, Tri-delt pledge.

This striking blonde co-ed is from Dushkin. She was born May 22, 1914, and is originally from the deep South. Her daddy is a preacher, but she is second semester sophomore, for that is the English, she is taking.

Now relax! From now on you will have the pleasure of reading the eccentric views of J. Delmar Adams, a clever, unusual, unique, but truly enjoyable character!

CAT BASKETEERS WILL CLOSE SESSIONS

The spring practice of the Wildcat basketball team, which began March 15, will terminate Tuesday, April 11.

During the absence of Coach Adolph Rupp, who is in New York attending the convention of the National Basketball Coaches, Capt. "Aggie" Sale is supervising the practice.

"Frenchie" DeMossey, "Little" Bill Davis, Jack Tucker, and "Dave" Lawrence, of this year's squad, are showing up better and better. However, Coach Rupp is more interested in the development of his freshman recruits.

Of the freshmen in the spring practice, the most interesting first semester freshman, is the shining light. He will be a likely prospect for the squad, if he keeps up the good work.

"Slip" Jerome, according to "Aggie" Sale, is the greatest passer to play on the Kentucky floor since he has been in school. He is a good defensive man and is as good on the offense.

Ed Eech has everything it takes to be a good basketball player and if he would show a little more interest in the game, he would be a hard man to keep off of the team.

"Dave" Lawrence, stocky sophomore, has been shifting from his forward position to guard. He is showing up much better in this position and promising to excel his camp as a forward.

Jack Tucker is showing great ability to follow up shots and is making a good rebound man. Ray Shell, who graduated from London High school in 1929 and played with Sue Bennett for two years, is trying his hand at the Wildcat squad.

If he succeeds he will enroll next semester, and according to all reports, Shell will be with us next September.

"Dutch" Kreuter has not been out on account of spring football practice. Evan Settle has also been out of the practice because of golf.

"SONGS OF U.K." ARE PUBLISHED

Booklet Intended for Forerunner of Larger, More Complete Collection of University of Kentucky Songs

Songs of U. K. is the name of a compendium of favorite songs used by students, faculty, alumni, and the countless friends of this University. The booklet, containing a ninety most popular tunes inclusive of "On, On, U. of K.", "My Old Kentucky Home", "U. of K. Alma Mater", "Love's Old Sweet Songs", and others, is compiled by Elmer G. Sulzer under the auspices of the Music Committee, University of Kentucky, and is dated 1933.

Acknowledgments for special service in the use of several plates of songs contained within the booklet are due Miss Anita Burman, Exponent station, because many of these appear in her publication, "Sing Songs."

President McVey is the author of the foreword which states, in context, that "Songs of U. K." is intended to be the first step in the growth and publication of a complete University of Kentucky song book.

Patner, Doctor McVey writes that the book will find its way into the hands of all alumni and former students and, also, that its use should result in a new loyalty among all who will be given and will be sent copies. Concluding the foreword, President McVey asks that to whom it is sent to help of the eventual compilation of a larger and more complete book of songs.

ALUMNI STARS PLAY 'CATS TODAY

By JOE QUINN As a climax to the six-week period of spring training, the Wildcat varsity will clash with Frank Seale's Alumni aggregation in a regular game, at 3 p. m. today on Stoll field.

This game will wind up the spring sessions which began early in February.

Seale, who has been assisting Coach Shively in developing the line candidates, has gathered together a team of former "Cat luminaries who are expected to furnish the current combat with plenty of opposition.

Among the men to appear with the Alumni squad are John Drury, former "Big" Skinner; "Nig" Blevins, "Hoot" Gibson, Darrell Darby, Bill Luther, "Bo" Meyer, and Frank Seale from last year's team; and "Floppy" Forquer, "Big" McGinnis, Carey Spicer, Connie Rose, Dick Richards, Newell Wilder and Otto McElroy. Coach Seale stated that "Shipwreck" Kelly might also don a uniform for the grade.

The varsity lineup will be composed mainly of sophomores with "Big Joe" Rupert the only regular from last season. In the starting lineup, Jack Jean, who was absent from the squad last fall, will begin the contest at quarterback, with "Able" Ayres, "Red" Sympton and Doty Jackson, all from the freshman outfit, at the other backfield positions.

The spring drills have shown that the material in the Big Blue camp this season is exceptionally good and the tentative varsity that will battle the former stars will probably lick the old-timers. Game action is using the same system which he employed last year, with a balanced line and single wing back formation.

The varsity line will be much heavier than the alumni forward wall with "Big Bill" Jobe and Bertolini at tackles opposing Rose and John Drury. The varsity also has an edge in the backfield with Jean, Ayres, Sympton and Jackson, slated to start the battle, opposing a quartet of veteran backs.

Prof. Piscatorious To Speak at Banquet

Now comes the most lengthy part of the program—the Mortar Board award will be presented, but just before this all the names of students with three standings will be read. This usually takes hours, but this year two people are going to read at once to shorten the time.

The decorations are going to be let-r-r-ly. It's rumored that they have been even renting trees to trim the Commons, one of the faculty women promised to dig up all the trees in her front yard. Just a word of explanation: the motif is a spring garden, not a forest.

Of course, the Glee club will sing (the program committee thought they might feel hurt if they were left out).

The menu is being planned by Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. Mildred Neal Schneider, and Miss Hoover, but its going to be a grand dinner occasion—of most of it will be donated—even tomato juice.

The purpose of this story is to help freshmen and sophomores—I mean to encourage banquet attendance.

CASUAL OBSERVATIONS

It seems that the Student Forum just can't get enough publicity, so the Observer elects to assist in publicizing that organization. Students, an organization that relatively affect student life on the campus, should make effort to avoid politics of all kinds, but the Forum seems to have failed in that requisite. Dr. Esther Cole, one of our leading political science advocates, led the Forum with a semi-political talk Tuesday night.

Botanists, and others who profess to know what the plain educated American doesn't seem able to learn, were amply demonstrated to the public by the "Chewing Gum" box in Tuesday's Kernel, Fungi or Algae; which was it? And it melted and dropped off, does fungi or algae ever do that? We plain folk know chewing gum when we see it and we don't carry it 60 miles in order to subject it to a botanical test, either.

Each of us would be a paid reformer, if raising money was a little easier. However, money isn't being raised; it's the prices of things and that's what is killing all the sales of most merchants. Not to discourage anyone, but the Observer desires to call attention to the fact that we are still in the midst of our worst depression. "Don't get overbet, folks, we'll come out."

Swelthead Never again does one feel as important and successful as when he is graduated from the university.

The girl with the most sex appeal in America is "Miss Depression"—She has been felt by everybody. That isn't all, and there is consolation in this brief sentence: Marriage is a committee of two—with power to add to their numbers.

Do you remember that old Chiropractic song? "That's How I Feel About You." But we must remember, since we are speaking about chiropractors, that they are always behind in their work.
