Compulsory Student Tickets

In a recent "Four Bits" column, the Lexington Leader's Jay Jay brought up some good points about UK's compulsory season ticket system and the I-D cards which apparently aren't accomplishing their purpose.

By now, it's pretty well known that just about anyone can get in to a game or a concert on just about anyone else's I-D card. Even if the checkers looked at them, which they often don't, they couldn't recognize half the students from those cards.

Jay Jay's main argument is that a student should not be compelled to buy a student ticket which he may not be able to use for various reasons, among which may be the fact that he works while the game or concert is going on. And if he does have to buy the ticket, he should be allowed to do as he pleases with it.

The Kernel agrees that here is something not exactly democratic about the ticket situation. However, if students are allowed to transfer their tickets, the old complaints about scalping begin to pour in to hurt the school's reputation.

The best solution seems to be making the purchase of season tickets optional. Of course, the selling of individual tickets for each event would mean more trouble and expense for the Athletic Office. But it does seem only fair to let it up to the student to decide whether or not he wants to buy a season ticket.

'Nuff Said

We're sure the entire student body will join the Kernel in saying heartily, "We're proud of you, Wildcats." There's not much else we can add to the reams of copy already written about this hard-fighting, high-ranking team.

As far as we were concerned, that awful-in many ways—"Tennessee Weekend" never existed. All we can remember about it is that Kentucky got a bid to the Sugar Bowl. What's that? Did we hear someone mention a Salesmen's Club special to New Orleans Jan. 1951?

Musical Cheer For Cagers

We're glad to see that Suky is trying to remedy a situation which has troubled some Kentucky basketball fans for years. We refer to the fact that the Kentucky fight song, "On, On, U. of K.," sounds hopelessly out of place at a basketball game. It would be interesting if a Kentucky quartet someday took your advice and "hit that line" or "kicked" till the battle was won.

Suky members wisely decided that it would be better to add a basketball verse to the present song than to attempt to put over an entirely new song. A contest to find the best new version is announced elsewhere in today's Kernel. Here's a good chance for someone to earn a place in UK history as the person who rescued the basketball Wildcats from musical oblivion. It might be well worth the trouble.

"Show him your father's trophies, dear. Maybe he's interested in wild life!"

Dear Editor: The Mailbox

South's True Son Sounds Off Again

I am moved to take pen in hand once more in behalf of the Southern cause. This cause is a worthy one. A grand and glorious one! It is the cause of individualism and states' rights! The South fought the war to defend their beloved homes and to rid themselves of the meddling Yankee economic exploitation. The struggle has continued up to the present date. This is far from a dead issue. I refer mainly to such things as unjust freight rates.

"Idahon" is to be excused if he doesn't know the correct interpretation of the Kentucky state motto, "United We Stand, Divided We Fall." This means united within the state of Kentucky, and does not mean united with a group of Yankee states.

One of my letter writing opponents sees fit to belittle the value of a fine old family background. It is obvious that such a person has no background himself. He seems to forget that the New England Yankees also have a fine tradition of which they are proud.

The Yankees are always criticizing some of the South's less desirable features. "Why does the South have so-and-so?" they say. "Something should be done about it." This is merely a cover-up for their guilty feelings over having raped a prostrate and noble South.

I am calling on all Southerners to rally round the Cause. Let's display our Confederate flags at all times and all places. This demagogue is trying to interfere with our rights as individuals and as loyal Southerners. Let's show him that we are worthy descendants of the "boys in gray" who fought the North for four long years.

In conclusion, I would like to state that if anybody doesn't like the South, he can take the first train north. A True Son of the South with a Yankee pseudo-Kentuckian with a one-way ticket from here to the northern shore of the Ohio River.

(The Kernel has decided that this topic has been—or should have been—long since dead. Therefore, after next week the editorial page of the Kernel will no longer be a battleground for the re-fighting of the Civil War.—Ed.)

Help The Hungry

I don't want to be always complaining and always moaning, but I'm awfully upset about the situations down here at UK. Now, I don't mean every situation, but I am upset about some situation that happens to me three times a week.

With the hope that you will help me, I will pass my information on to you. Now, I have a class way away from my dormitory at 11 o'clock every a.m. This class is a right nice class, and I don't go to sleep too often. But, seems as if the professor gets so wrapped up in his opinions that he don't hear that ever welcome bell. I hear it, and the other 50 students in the room hear it, but this professor don't hear it one bit.

Now, he surely isn't deaf, cause he hears me when I snore, and I don't snore loud much. So I'm wonderin' why he don't hear that ever welcome bell. Do you know? Does anybody know? Does he know?

Because he don't hear the bell, I am trampeted on to death as I try to make my way across the campus to my home in the dorm. Once I finally reach the dorm, I fall up the steps to get to the cafeteria. But there are always girls swarming all over the place way ahead of me, and I set so darn hungry waitin' to get in the place to eat, that I almost don't like my class with the profesor who don't hear the bell. In fact, I almost hate it. I need my food, and I need my nourishment, and I don't need a professor who don't hear that there bell. Please, dear Editor, what can I do to make him mend his ways? I'm desperate, and I'm hungry. Starvin' Marvin

(Ed. Note: Holler "fire" and run.)

Family Affair

In the issue of Nov. 3, it was noted that several parents of students were attending the Northern Extension Center. Mention was made that this was the first known happening of this event in the history of the University of Kentucky.

While I little desire to detract from the prestige accorded these folks, yet I still believe that my daughter and I have a bit to be proud of too. You see, we are both students carrying full-time loads here on the very same campus.

My daughter, Evelyn Frances Evans, is a freshman in the college of Home Economics and Agriculture, while I am at present enrolled as a special student in the College of

Bingham Will Give Lecture

Barry Bingham, president of the Louisville Courier-Journal, will be the speaker for the second in the Blazer Lecture Series at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall on Dec. 12.

His topic will be "Would France Stand Up To Soviet Aggression?" In addition to being president and editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, Bingham is the owner and operator of the radio station WHAS.

He was born in Louisville and has received the A.B. degree from Harvard University and the LL.D. degree from the University of Kentucky.

Bingham was chief of a mission in France for the Economic Cooperation Administration. Now holding the rank of Commander in the United States Naval Reserve, he was on active duty with the Pacific Fleet during World War II.

The Blazer lectures are made possible through the courtesy of Paul O. Blazer and Georgia Blazer of Ashland, who have established at UK a fund to bring to the University distinguished speakers in history and the social sciences.

During the academic year 1946-51, this series of lectures will be given scholars and journalists who will discuss two basic themes: first, Europe in the twentieth century and, second, the United States in the twentieth century.

Revoltin' Condition Doesn't Stop Suky

Suky band members and cheerleaders were among the UK students stranded in Knoxville after their chartered bus reservations had been canceled because of bad weather.

Despite the bitter cold, canceled bus trips, and a discouraging finish to the Kentucky-Tennessee football game, the UK pep group didn't lose their spirit.

Their singing and cheers were carried down to the train station where Dr. Rhea Taylor, faculty advisor to the student group, arranged for train transportation. At the station the group was joined by scores of other Kentuckians.

The train scheduled to leave Knoxville at 1:45 a.m. Sunday was almost five hours late in departure. The crowded train left students standing in the aisles and even straggling in the streets.

Commerce, I am 39 years of age, an ex-OI (retired officer), and so far have been able to maintain a cumulative standing of almost 2.0. Frances is 18 years old, and a recent graduate of Lafayette High school.

I also have another daughter, Phyllis, who is at present a senior at Lafayette and who might possibly be enrolled with us here at the University next year.

Clara-fying Campus Capers

By Clara Early
Snow hasn't seemed to cramp the style of the students at UK. From everything I hear, there was much fun in Tennessee, as well as the gay parties staged by the "Eds." and "Co-eds" who were snowbound.
SNOW WON'T HAMPER THE FUN this weekend either, for many events are scheduled that sound "mighty fine."
THE APO's are having their annual "Snowball" formal at Joyland tomorrow night. Right in season if you get what I mean.
THE GIRLS at SAYRE HALL are having a tea dance today from 4-7, at Sayre.
ZETA BETA TAU's will hold their annual winter formal dinner-dance at Bowling Springs Country Club tomorrow night from 6-12 p.m., with the dance beginning at 8 p.m. Tinker Bagarry and his band will furnish the music.
DICK DICKEN, committee member, was installed as president of the Omega chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha Wednesday night. Other officers installed were James Sigler, vice president; John Pruitt, treasurer; Don Wilson, secretary; Bob Pryor, social chairman; and Leonard Wood, house manager.
IT HAS BEEN RUMORED that Jobie Raitley has been initiated into the Iota Delta Epsilon Fraternity. Sad news has come to our campus. Charlie Troyler, along with many other students, has had his physical, and is now classified I.A. Charlie is managing editor of the Kentuckian.
JEWELL HALL is holding a "Frontier Frolic" in the lounge of Jewell tomorrow night. Pioneer co-turns and square-dancing will be in style.

THE DON COSSACK CHORUS will really attract a crowd to the Coliseum Monday night. Another great event in the series of concerts for the year.
"TWELFTH NIGHT" will be presented at the Grotto for a week beginning Wednesday night. There will be no performance Sunday night.
HANGING OF THE GREENS will take place at 5 p.m. Thursday in the STR. This is a beautiful and inspiring Christmas program, presented each year before the holidays. It seems that snow and cold weather really help Cupid, for just look at this list of winners.

Methodists To Hold Waffle Supper At 6

The Wesley Foundation will have a waffle supper at 6 p.m. tomorrow at the First Methodist Church. No reservations are necessary.
Jeanne Hubbard is in charge of arrangements for the supper, which is being held Saturday instead of Friday because of the basketball game.
The Southern Association of College and University Registrars will meet in Richmond, Virginia, Tuesday. This will be the fourth annual meeting and will be held at the Hotel John Marshall.
The University delegates are Lee Sprowles, registrar; Miss Maple Moore, assistant registrar; B. W. Caldwell, graduate assistant; and Mary P. Milton, recorder. Miss Moore is the secretary-treasurer for the organization and Mr. Sprowles will conduct a panel at the meeting.

Rosemary Haley is in charge of the event, and Patty Wilkinson is head of the serving committee.

Musicians Impressed By Coliseum

By Ed Coffman
The members of the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra had some very interesting comments to make about America and the Coliseum. Since Sir Thomas Beecham, the conductor, was not available for interviewing, they were pleased to air their views.
I went backstage during intermission and proceeded to get into a bull session with two of the outstanding soloists in the orchestra, Dennis Brain, who was the horn soloist of the evening, and Jack Brymer who is the clarinet soloist.
Both musicians were impressed by the Coliseum. Brain, who looked very young, commented, "It is so vast." Brymer said that the acoustics were fine for such a large place; however, they were a little too loud.

Kinney To Present Recital At Next Sunday Musical

Gordon J. Kinney of the music department, will present a cello recital at the Sunday Musicals at 4 p.m. in Memorial Hall. He will be accompanied by Nathaniel Patch at the piano, and the UK string quartet.
The cellist, a composer himself, has performed with the Rochester, Kansas City, and Columbus philharmonic orchestras, and the Sioux City and Lincoln symphonies. He has also performed over the radio and in other public recitals.
Mr. Kinney has been with the UK music staff since September, 1948, and is an assistant professor of music. He earned his bachelor's degree at the Eastman School of Music in 1939, and his master's at the University of South Dakota in 1941.
A native of Rochester, N.Y., Mr. Kinney has taught at the University of Kansas, Eastman School of Music, Fredonia Normal School, the University of Colorado, Ohio University and Morrisville College.
Members of the string quartet are Kenneth Wright and William Scott, violins; Marvin Rubin, viola; and Gordon Kinney, cello.
The program is:

On Going To Classes

Some Like And Some Don't But All Brave Cold Snow

By Claire Ann Graves
Martha Bach
QUESTION OF THE WEEK - "What do you think about going to classes in this weather?"
NANCY FLOOD - "I think it is horrible to have to go to all."
JOHN WENTZ - "I think it's impossible! It's no fun!"
PEGGY DRISCOLL - "Why not? Many other students in other colleges do, so why can't we?"
GARY SMITH - "I think that it's best."
JUDY HENRY - "I think that it's swell 'cause it reminds me of home."
SUE BELLE CLIFFORD - "It's

OK, if you don't have too far to walk.
BARBARA KING - "It's too much trouble to get all dressed up and then slip and slide and finally fall down."
JOYCE HAMRICK - "I'd like it better if it had snowed ten feet then we wouldn't have to go to them at all."
BILL MANSFIELD - "It's better than staying at Richmond."
MARY LEE HUNT - "It beats Florida weather all to heck."
DICK MACKIE - "It's a lot easier to go to classes than it was to get to UK."
LOU BALLARD - "I don't approve of it at all. Do you?"

Finn Releases Info On How Campus Wheels Get That Way

By Bob Finn

Be it ever so humble, there is no place like the college campus. And what is a college campus without the "wheels" that make the life go round?

The "Big Man on Campus" is usually referred to as a BMOOC. This is a term of public information character by the appearance of a very important man and a distinguished personality.

To become a BMOOC you must have certain necessities. These necessities are enumerated below:

- 1. A LITTLE BLACK NOTEBOOK - This notebook is for the sole purpose of keeping your appointments and dates straight. The candidate for the BMOOC position will enter miscellaneous facts and meetings in this indispensable item. Even if you have no use for a little black notebook—get one! If other students see you with it they will assume that you must be important or you wouldn't have a little black notebook.
- 2. A KEY CHAIN - Your key chain is a bulletin board showing the activities you participate in. It means of activity keys. You should have active in about 14 to 16 extracurricular activities. In this way you can fill up your key chain in no time. Thus weighted down you will list to one side, giving the impression of carrying 15 or 20 pounds of lead on one side. This will give you a manner of walk that will be easily recognizable from a distance.
- 3. HORN RIM GLASSES - The importance of horn rim glasses cannot be underestimated. In these strictly for identification purposes. As you stroll around the campus, you will not be mistaken for some non-BMOOC. If you must see where you are going, it is permissible to take the glasses off for a few minutes, but they must be returned to their original position on the bridge of the nose, immediately, because you will lose the prestige of having everyone on the campus recognize you, by the use of your horn rim glasses.
- 4. CLOTHES - As a final note, I would like to say something about wardrobe. One might as well wear no shirt at all if the shirt does not have a button down collar. Buttons are the thing for a BMOOC but

Mr. Ross joined G-E as a student engineer on the company's test course, immediately upon his graduation from the University. He was assigned to the Motor Engineering division at Fort Wayne Works in 1940, and a year later became a member of the D-C Motor Section of the Motor Divisions. In 1943 he was named assistant to the manager of the D-C Motor Sales Division, the post he held until his present appointment.

L. E. "RED" SIMPSON, '38, former Kentucky Wildcat football star from Bessemer, has been called to active Navy duty.

Red has been coaching football at Popposon High School, Bessemer.

He is a Navy veteran of World War II, and holds the rank of Lieutenant (jg). He was discharged in 1946 and has been active in the naval reserve since that time.

BYRD B. SEXTON, former University student from Louisville and a native of Carroll County, retired in September as assistant superintendent of mails with the Louisville Post Office.

Mr. Sexton attended the University of Kentucky when it was known as State College.

ONE PENNY AND YOU CAN VOTE FOR THIS! This is an ugly man, possible candidate for the ugly man contest, and more than that—possibly a winner. You see, his name is Frankenstein.

Just A Has-Been?

Alumni Gym Was Scene Of 84 Home Victories

By John K. Ryans Jr.

The following is an interview with Alumni Gym. It was made early this morning.

"It isn't fun to be a hasbeen. When I look across the street to-night, I will have a feeling of sorrow because for the first time in many years the Wildcats will be playing a home game without me. I have never been relegated to the roll of handling the physical education department as they go through their daily activities. No longer do I get to see the Baron walk onto the floor before a game in his traditional brown suit or to see the white Wildcat warriors in action."

College Of Pharmacy RX NOTES

By Eugene Miller

The sophomore class will sponsor their annual informal Christmas dance on Dec. 14 at the Seelbach Hotel. Jack Crutcher's band will be featured. Students on the dance committee are Jack McDonald, Eugene Diba, Elmer McDaniel, and Malcolm Cox.

Jacob W. Miller, senior student and past president of Phi Delta Chi Fraternity announced his resignation from the Pharmacy. The guest speaker was Mr. William Curry, president of the Curry-Dilly Scholarship Board of Pharmacy. His topic was the requirements necessary for taking the state board examination, and apprenticeship training.

A PING PONG tournament was scheduled this week. A singles and doubles match was held during and after school hours in the student lounge. Wilford Dunson was in charge of the tournament.

Profainitase

By Bob Fain

A great injustice has been done the author of this column (parade the expression). Some young and innocent thing — we will call no names at this time — has committed treason by saying that the jokes quoted herein are copied from a certain magazine. I point with pride and great joy to the fact that this is a great untruth. How could a person think of doing such a thing or even thinking the jokes in this column are stolen from this un-named magazine?

Such an accusation should be punished by taking the wrongdoer's bottle of Hadacol from him. That's darn 'n' conarn 'im.

BUT WE STRAY from the track. The question is: Do we or do we not copy jokes from this magazine. With the Kernel masthead waving wildly in my hands, I shall stand atop Memorial Hall and say "no." I do not copy jokes from this magazine. In the first place, they are copyrighted and having had just in law of the press we know just how wrong it is to violate a copyright. Furthermore, they spend money buying joke books when it is much cheaper to copy them from other college papers.

As I said before, we have been done wrong.

She: Do you love me?
He: Yes.
She: Would you cry if I died?
He: Yes.
She: Show me how much you would cry.
He: Die first.

"Frequent water drinking," said the specialist, "prevents you from becoming stiff in the joints."
"Yes," said the cook, "but some of the joints don't serve water."

Waitress: I have stewed kidneys, boiled tongue, fried liver, and pigs feet.
Impatient Diner: Don't tell me your troubles, sister. Bring me a menu.

Then there was the girl who soaked her strapless evening gown in water to make it stay up all night. "Don't blame me," she said, "I copied them from other places."

Little Lily is a funny and eccentric little waif. Swallowed all of sister's money. Said he was playing safe.

A long skirt is like prohibition: the joints are still there but they're harder to find.

"What's worse than being a bachelor?"
"Being a bachelor's son."

Gentleman—a wolf with patience.
Customer: Is that milk pure?
Waiter: Pure as the girl of your dreams.
Customer: Gimme a Coke.

"If I refuse to be your wife," she whispered dramatically into his ear, "will you really commit suicide?"
"That," he said haughtily, "is my usual procedure."

"You're charged with throwing your mother-in-law from the top of a 10-story building. Guilty or not guilty?"
"Guilty, your honor. I did it with out thinking."

"That's no excuse. You might have hit somebody on the head."

"Hanging of the Greens," the pagantry program sponsored by the YW-YMCA and the Student Union Board will take place at 5 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 7, in the Great Hall of the SUB. Hundreds of students and townspeople crowded into the SUB last year to watch the recent Yule-tide ceremony.

Baby, It's Cold Outside

By Nancy Gaskin

It was Saturday night, and he was so-cold. He'd been stranded in the same place ever since it started snowing, and it looked like he'd just have to stay here for a while longer. His clothes had been good ones when he first got them, but they were pretty threadbare now—just when he needed warmth the most.

And he was all alone. He kept hoping someone would come by and talk to him, but no one did. Every one else was inside somewhere where it was nice and bright and cheerful. It was the only one in the world, he was sure, who was out on this cold, snowy, windy night.

A SUDDEN GUST of wind from a different direction blew a blob of snow down the back of his neck. Ugh, it was awful. The wind was blowing harder now. Frost all over his face. The way it drove the snow around himed a person.

Along about five o'clock he'd seen some men go by with snowshoes, and for a minute he thought they were really going to stop and be rest. Maybe it would be warmer in the morning. One hoped so. The snow kept blowing around and around and up and down, and packing itself all around him. Oh, for a nice warm fire!

Look! He saw someone coming. Two people, in fact. They were all hunched over against the driving snow and wind. He wished he could hunch over too, but his bones were too old and stiff for that. And he'd always been so proud of his erect posture! People said it made him look dignified, when they said anything at all.

THE TWO PEOPLE, a young man and his girl, laughed as they ran by him, enjoying the snow and the cold and each other. Never once did they even glance in his direction. He wanted to follow them with his eyes, but his head was so old and stiff now that he wasn't able to do that anymore like he used to.

And he would have gladly stood up for that girl, too. Even if his bones were stiff. She was a good girl. But even she did not know that he was freezing into one position. Well, if he was frozen, he'd hunch all the people that came by the next morning that old as he was, he could take it. He wouldn't let them laugh at him, when he couldn't fight back.

He straightened his old body, and stretched his shoulders one last time. Lifting his head, old Patterson stared straight ahead into the icy blizzard around Miller Hall.

Jobs Paying Up To $5400 Open For Civil Engineers

Engineering positions are available, according to the Civil Service Commission, paying $4600 and $5400 a year. They are located at the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base and the 82nd AF Specialized Depot, Dayton, Ohio.

There are also positions to be filled in the Department of Agriculture and the Department of the Interior in Washington, D.C., and throughout the U.S. The salaries will range from $3825 to $5900 a year for the various positions including agricultural marketing specialist, dairy and poultry products inspector and trader, fresh fruits and vegetables inspector, agricultural commodity market reporter, and fishery marketing specialist.

TO QUALIFY For the engineering positions, applicants must have completed a four-year college engineering course or have had four years of technical engineering experience, or a combination of such education and experience. In addition, they must have had at least two years of professional experience. Graduate study in engineering may be substituted for the experience required for the $4600 a year jobs and for part of the experience required for those paying $5400 a year. No written test will be given.

Applicants for the agricultural positions must have had from four to six years of responsible and successful experience in appropriate marketing specialties and activities. Some substitution of education for experience is allowed. No written tests are required.

Footballer To Get Cup

Inauguration of a scholarship award to be given annually to a UK football player was announced by Miss Helen King, secretary of the UK Alumni Association.

The award, she said, has been established by Sam Huey Jr. of Lexington, a University graduate and former student manager of the UK squad. It will be presented each year to the senior player having the highest cumulative academic standing for his first three years at the University.

Announcement of the 1950 winner will be made at the Alumni Association's football banquet to be held after New Year's, Miss King said. The recipient will be presented an engraved silver cup donated by Huey.

Ceremony Set For Thursday

The Christmas season will officially get underway at 5 p.m. Thursday with the traditional Yule-tide ceremony, "Hanging of the Greens," in the Great Hall of the SUB.

This will be the fifteenth year of the annual ceremony which is sponsored by the YW-YMCA and the Student Union Board.

A stringed quartet will play a Yule melody in the ceremony, and the Women's Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Hamilton, will take part in the program.

The Christmas Story will be told by the Rev. William Swift, director of the Wesley Foundation. The invocation will be given by Jo Daugherty, president of the YWCA, and Bob McGowan, president of the Student Union Board, will give the Benediction. Frank Mauro, president of the YWCA, will read the Christmas Story from the Bible.

Members of the SUB and YW-YMCA cabarets, wearing black gowns, will march in a procession and hang wreaths of evergreens in the windows of the candlelighted SUB.

Report Tells Of Progress

In a historical report of the Department of Bacteriology, Dr. Morris Scheraga, Distinguished Professor of the University, outlines the progress taken in his department since 1919.

Outlook Good For Engineers

Employment opportunities for engineering graduates have improved greatly since early 1950, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics. The mobilization program has increased the demand for engineers so much that employers are now seeking additional personnel, after absorbing the engineering school's record 1950 graduating class of 50,000.

Numbered Cats Lose To Vols For Only Season Loss, 7-0

By Fred Lawson

It was a long, cold afternoon for Kentucky fans in Knoxville last Saturday.

The Wildcats, trying for their first perfect season since 1898 and a shot at the mythical national title, were upset by Tennessee 7-0 as a crowd of around 10,000 Kentucky fans watched hopefully in freezing weather.

It was a hard, bruising, defensive battle with the linemen taking most of the punishment. Smashing tackles and blocks, as well as chilled fingers, caused numerous fumbles. The Wildcats fumbled nine times and Tennessee seven times.

But the fumbles were more costly to the Cats than the Vols. 21 was one of Kentucky's fumbles that led to the only scoring.

About midway of the second period, Lauricella got off a high kick from Tennessee's 35-yard line that hit the ground around the Wildcat 40. As both teams rushed to cover the ball, it took a crazy bounce and hit guard Pat James on the leg. Bob Davis, the Vols' center, picked up the ball on Kentucky's 26-yard line.

On the first play Payne went around right end for 13 yards to the Cat 22. After Rechichar failed to gain on a reverse, Payne picked up six yards to the 19.

A FUMBLE and a penalty pushed the ball back to the Kentucky 28. With fourth down and 14 to go for a first down Lauricella passed to Rechichar on the one and he went over standing up. Pat Shires kicked the extra point and Tennessee led 7-0.

But the Wildcats didn't give up. In the face of one bad break after the other they kept trying to get a drive started. After the Vols' score Kentucky's Doug Moseley recovered a fumble on the Cat 19-yard strip.

Parilli passed to Jamerson for 12 yards and Webb for 16 as the Wildcats moved to the Tennessee 29. But Polakoff ended this drive by intercepting Parilli's next pass to Tennessee's 33, three plays before the half.

KENTUCKY ALMOST scored on an unusual play early in the third quarter. Rechichar took off on a reverse, but James stole the ball from him and took off for the Vol goal line, but Stroud, the last man,

Freshman Cage Opener Delayed By Snow, Ice

By E. T. Kirk

The Kitten cagers had their 1950-51 opener moved out Monday but were planning to travel by roads to Winchester to get the season underway against Kentucky Wesleyan last night.

Captain Harry Lancaster, whose UK freshman team has lost but one game in the past two seasons, said that the game with Campbellsville, postponed at Paris Monday, has not been re-scheduled.

Site of the Lindsay Wilson game next Monday, Dec. 4, has been shifted from Columbia, Ky., to a larger gym in Somerset. Buddy Massey, a Kitten performer, is from Somerset.

"We try to play as many games as we can in our boys' home towns," Lancaster said.

One man, Noah Marmel from Glasgow, has been dropped to level of the Kitten roster at ten men, seven of whom are Kentuckians. Whaley, a 6-3 center from administration, and has some training in job evaluation.

This job would have a besting salary of $50 to $25 a month. Anyone interested may call at the Personnel Office for further information.

Teacher Exam Is Scheduled

The National Teacher Examinations will be given at testing centers throughout the country on Feb. 17.

Candidates may take the common examinations, including tests in general culture, mental abilities, basic skills and professional information; and one or two of nine optional examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught.

Application forms, and a bulletin of information may be obtained from college officials or by writing to National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing, P.O. Box 392, Princeton, N.J. The application should reach the Educational Testing Service not later than Jan. 19, 1951.

Winter's Cold Freezes Out Entire Intramural Program

Jack Frost's icy finger has chilled the University intra-mural program to a near stand-still for the past two weeks.

Just before the holidays, the annual cross-country turkey run was disrupted. Golf singles and doubles are yet to be finished and even volleyball was the victim of frost bite.

I-M Director William McCobb said Wednesday night that the turkey run would be run when the weather permits. Meanwhile, until new dates for entry and the race itself can be set, University athletes who haven't signed up may do so. Any student not on probation may register for the winter classes in the I-M office.

Swimming Card Announced

A six-meet swimming schedule and the dates of the Southeastern Conference meet, probably to be held here, were announced Wednesday by Coach Alge Reese.

Coach Reese also said that the first call for organized freshman practice would be sounded Monday, Dec. 4, at 4:15 p.m. Three meets have been tentatively set for the frost team.

Seventeen varsity prospects have turned out for the University of Kentucky's first swimming team, since practice began Nov. 15. Coach Reese said that more good swimmers and divers are needed. He plans to carry a 16 or 17-man team.

Kentucky Cagers To Play West Texas In Opener Tonight

Cats Favored To Extend Streak Of 84 Straight Wins On Home Court

By Lewis Donohew

Memorial Coliseum will receive its first blood-and-leather dedication at 8 o'clock tonight when Big Bill Spivey and his Kentucky Wildcat teammates clash with West Texas State in the 1950-51 season's opener.

And according to the sports writers (Look Magazine rated the Wildcats second in the nation) the blood will be that of West Texas.

Kentucky will be going into the contest with a string of 84 consecutive victories on their home floor, built up over a seven-season span.

Probable starting line-up for the Wildcats will be Walt Hirsch and Shelby Linville, forwards; Bill Spivey, center; and Bobby Watson and Frank Ramsey, guards. Ramsey, a 6'5" former all-stater from Madisonville, will be the only sophomore in the starting line-up.

The Buffaloes of West Texas will be countering with a squad which averages well over six feet in height. Only one man of the 1st Texas squad, 5'6" sophomore Gurd Bill Abbott, could not stand in a crouch and have his head stick over the top.

The Texans have played three games this season and won all of them. They have beaten Dowells AAU of Amarillo twice, thumping them 53-45 in their opener, and squeaking past 45-44 in a second game. They breezed over Southwestern Oklahoma, 72-47, in their latest encounter.

High scorers for the herd of Coach Gene Miller are Dwayne Stewart, who has netted 42 points thus far, and Bill Price, with 34 in the three games. The West Texas roster is made up chiefly of sophomores and juniors.

Turning back to the Kentucky lineup, the Cats will be led by 7'4" Bill Spivey, who set a new scoring record against Georgia Tech last season with 40 points in one game. Spivey has been picked for a spot on this year's All-American team by Stanley Woodard in his "Basketball, 1951" magazine, and by Look Magazine.

Capt. Walt Hirsch, whose Partridge pass has led to many a Wildcat score during his career, will again be at one of the forward posts for the UK cagers. He is the only senior on the starting five.

At the other forward position Shelby Linville will be filling the shoes of Jim Lane, who graduated along with Capt. Dale Barnstable and Garland Towne.

Bobby Watson, set shot artist and Owenboro, and one of the three juniors on the five, is expected to be a steady influence on newcomer Frank Ramsey. Ramsey was named to all-state teams in both basketball and baseball while in high school.

The other juniors in the starting lineup are Linville and Spivey. Following the Kentucky game, the North Texans will meet Oklahoma A. & M.'s Angies on the Agave court. They have won one game out of four with Coach Hearn at the helm, which once defeated Kentucky for a Sugar Bowl championship.

THE OLD ALUMNI GYM, which saw Kentucky pile up a record of 282 wins against 25 losses, is to be honored with a plaque at the dedication.

AP writer Bill Hudson quoted Rupp this week as saying, "You have to leave a place like that in a way. Moving from an old building to the new is a great loss, but whether it will be able to compete with a record on our new floor only time alone can answer."

And the time is from 8:09 o'clock tonight henceforward.

The Blue Print

By BOB GORHAM

KERNEL SPORTS EDITOR

All-American, conference, and sectional laurels are pouring in for members of the University of Kentucky's Sugar Bowl-bound Wildcats.

Babe Parilli, Bob Gain, Shorty Jamerson, Gene Donaldson and Dick Martin have been the recipients of the awards so far, and more squad members undoubtedly will come for their share before the passing out is completed.

Parilli was named to Collier's 61st All-American team in a publication that hits the news-stands today. The same magazine had listed him on its All-South team previously. In addition, he was voted the Most Valuable Player in the SEC by a wide margin and also named the best passer. Gridiron Record also named the Babe to their All-American and the aerial wizard is a cliché for All-SEC honors.

Gain has been named on three All-American lists so far—United Press, Football Digest and Gridiron Record. A national magazine next week will honor him with the same accolade and he, too, is a cliché for All-SEC honors and other All-American teams.

The Bob also was voted the best defensive and offensive lineman in the SEC and was runner-up in the voting for the Most Valuable Player and the best blocker award.

Donaldson, the star-plug guard who won a starting berth in his first year on the varsity, has been named to the Southeastern Conference All-Sophomore team. Co-captain Jamerson was named the recipient of the WHAS award, and Dick Martin was listed by Collier's as one of the country's best defensive halfbacks.

These are but a few of the highest honors to come of the Wildcats' way. Many more have and will be bestowed upon this, the most outstanding grid team in UK history.

After hitting on our prediction that Kentucky would play Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl, this column would like to go a little further and predict that Kentucky will train in Baton Rouge, La., on the practice field of Louisiana State.

These are but a few of the highest honors to come of the Wildcats' way. Many more have and will be bestowed upon this, the most outstanding grid team in UK history.

1950 Alumni Association Cancels Football Banquet

The Alumni Association banquet honoring UK's 1950 football squad has been postponed until after the Sugar Bowl game according to Miss Helen King, alumni secretary.

The tickets bought for the previously scheduled banquet will still be honored, Miss King said.

Hap Gladst, sports columnist for the New Orleans Item, said in this column Nov. 27 that Oklahoma would not accept the Sugar Bowl bid because OU scout reports on Kentucky showed the Cats to be more than a good bet to ruin the Sooners' long win string.

To quote Hap: "The OU scouts will tell their leader that in Kentucky, Oklahoma would be meeting his most rugged and tested line of three seasons and the finest line of the year. Perhaps Wilkinson will accept the Orange Bowl and Miami, but it appears from this corner that he will remain at home on New Year's Day and glory in a national championship."
