

El Paso, Texas.

January 14, 1916.

General Rodger D. Williams:

Dear General:

I tried to see you before you left for Washington but wasn't fortunate enough to make connections.

You know Mr. Sherley wrote that he had secured a waiver on my eyesight, and that I would be notified of my appointment as a second lieutenant in the regular army in a short time. That was nearly a month ago and I haven't heard a thing from the War Department as yet.

If, while you are in Washington,
