

against us this sudden change my record is above reproach & am proud of every day of my service so I cannot figure any other thing than that I have mentioned. If I were sure I believe I could settle for ever any interference by this party in my affairs, but - of course I cannot find out,

When Roger comes I shall take care to keep the boy in the straight and narrow & should evil companionship influences come to the fore. Roger will listen to me and be advised - should it be necessary I shall feel quite paternal with two youngsters. Roger and Daugherty, under my wing.

Your assignment to duty was a notice of distinct satisfaction to all of us here. May we serve together again. Mrs Wapes sends thanks and wishing devotion to you and believe me as ever yours to command

Regards to Mrs Williams

Dear General Williams:

I feel a distinct - guilt - in accepting the beautiful little dog. Please believe me when I say I was not hunting for a present - when I wrote to you - I had tried every where to get Cocker spaniels a Kennel but all seemed to deal in Setters pointers and Ardanals only.

Mrs Wapes fell in love with him at once and it keeps her better contented.
The little fellow has distemper, but we got right after it and gave him Parker Davis's auto vaccine and Mrs Simmonds loaned us your book and we are giving him the 1/2 teaspoon full of cod oil and forcing him to take Eggs, milk and brandy and he is getting along first rate and if good care and attention will do it he will have it.

Daugherty - failed in Spanish but I wrote a letter telling how well he did while with us and that he may
