

A black and white photograph showing a railway bridge over a stream. The bridge is constructed from wooden beams and supports. The tracks are covered with gravel ballast. The stream is visible in the foreground, and there is dense vegetation on the banks. The image is taken from a low angle, looking down the length of the bridge.

265.0 A.G.S.
7-15-15