

I really did like the blue sueg very much for May.
She is growing so that a child's pattern is ^{very} ^{pleasantly} suitable for her. Both the children have fat "tummies" which you can allow for both in planning and ^{cutting}.

I enclose what I think is charming for something for Nancy, with embroidery of course in cotton instead of wool. He must be washable.

My dear Mrs. Sweet, - I know I am a very undesirable person to do any sort of business with, and I am sure you are vexed at waiting on me. When I finally had a chance to go matching, the blue ^{blew} shive was all gone. So instead of new sleeves I'll have to ask you to make something three quarter out of these. The cuffs ^{will} never go over my big girls' ^{hands}
