THE LAST ISSUE.

This, the thirty-fifth issue of the year, marks the end of the season for the publication of THE IDEA. The staff has endeavored to put out a weekly that would be enjoyed by the students and one worthy to represent the institution. We wish to thank the students for their kind aid, and owe much to the valuable assistance of the Department of Journalism. The work has consumed much valuable time of a few students, but we all feel that the hours have been well spent, and hope the issues have met the approval of the majority of our readers.

This is our last issue and we now turn THE IDEA over to the new staff, secure in the feeling that it will be in safe hands and trust that they, too, will find the work of getting out the college paper next year, as pleasant and enjoyable as we have found it.

FIFTEEN'S FAVORABLE FAREWELL.

It is amazing and almost surprising how rapidly the years glide by. The Class of Fifteen is now about to leave the confines of the University to begin their labors on a greater sphere. There are only a few who would not add in chorus that the days have been both beneficial and highly enjoyable. The memories of the past linger and, about to go, we feel a resentment now. Many valuable lessons have been learned. Many experiences of college days will be a joy and prize forever. The faculty have been very kind and to their untiring efforts should be assigned a great part of the reward for our success.

In parting we leave to the Class of Sixteen the many customs, ancient rights and liberties of the Senior Class. Some of these may be changed or shorn of some features notwithstanding the many efforts put forth to pass them on in their entirety.

Owner will please call at the Registrar's office for same.
EZRA L. GILLIS.

The Original Wise Guy.
A wise old stude we'll all admit,
Is he who is so sick
That when he "cuts" he'll never tell
The profs. that he was sick.

Oh, Very Well.
"There are some cases on record of students getting something for nothing," said the optimist.
"But not on an exam," answered the pessimist.

The State-DePauw Game.
(As written by the Society Reporter.)
The three months' engagement of Miss I. C. DePauw and Mr. I. R. Wildcat was brought to a successful and happy termination Friday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock on Stoll Field with Mr. "Tape" Allison officiating. It was an impressive affair, the beautiful background of crepe de dust being most attractively decorated with a large square surrounded by numerous strands of galvanized wire. The ceremony took place on the beautiful diamond on Stoll Field and an unusually large number of friends assembled for the gala occasion.

The home plate was a beautiful slab attractively decorated in natural colors and banked by a lovely earthy material. As the guests gathered the low humming of voices made most beautiful music.

The bride was lovely in her bluish-grey tailored suit with crepe de mayonnaise stripes, with the coat and trousers similar and lovely and a jaunty cap of maraschino flannel to match. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DePauw, of Indiana. The groom is a son of Kentucky State University and a grandson of the State Legislature. He is attractive, popular and has been engaged several times this season to some of the season's fair debutantes.

Among the guests present were: Lillian and E. B., Bess and Roger, Clara and E. A., Nat and Bill, Florence and Blackie, Eva Hawes and Errol, Adella and Tilford, Anita and Jeff, Amy and Fay, Beth and Biscuit, Esther and Pinky and many others whose names could not be learned or spelled.

Now, Whaddye Think of This?
State University, Lexington, Ky.,
12 o'clock Noon, May 25, 1915.

The Committee on Discipline, having had at this hour no confessions from or information regarding persons who threw water at a passing automobile on May 19, hereby declare in effect, the order issued on May 21, that the rooms on the third and fourth floor of the first and second divisions of the old dormitory be vacated before 6 p. m., May 26, 1915.

By order of the committee.
C. W. MATHEWS,

Things to Worry About.
Of eighty girls at Oberlin College only five knew that Ypres and Joffre were not names of face powders.

Our Weekly Special.
Graduated Doesn't Necessarily Mean Educated.

The Gadfly Says:
Some people will blow into the muzzle of the gun-that-wasn't-loaded, and others will throw water out of the dormitory windows.

If soap were free and the laundryman would pay one for the privilege of keeping his clothes free from foreign matter, there would still be those who would come to school looking as if they had just made a 30-foot slide into home plate.

The old-fashioned man who used to get up at five in the morning to study now has a son who comes in about that time.

There are all sorts of Liars, including the student who says he worked three hours on that one problem and couldn't get it.

A glimpse at Page 26 of any modern fashion magazine is enough to make us wonder what the world's coming to next.

The cheerful optimist is the one who has to take summer school every year and can still feel that the profs. did not do him a great injustice in flunking him.

Why is it that the high brow girl who can talk so fluently and intelligently on Nietzsche, Ibsen, Montemazel, Baudelaire and such, doesn't receive half the attention that other girls do?

The nearest that some of us backsliders come to getting religion is to mail our letters in Y. M. C. A. envelopes.

Says an exchange: "At 16 a girl will believe anything you tell her but at 26 you will have to show her the blue prints."

Some of the more nervy ones may seek positions after graduating, but it won't be long before the whole flapdoodle will hunt jobs.

Can it Was?
We're told there's only two weeks more
Until Commencement days are o'er!
How sad we think it is
For grads, who do not fizz,
For Patrick Hall they'll see no more.

Our Revised Definitions.
Honor Student—One who has the wherewithal to get by without studying.
Patt Hall—An oasis in the desert.
Water—That which falls at intermittent intervals from the Old Dorm windows.
Exam—An obstruction in the road to Knowledge.
Flunk—What the faculty, recognizing no creed, does to rich and poor alike.

KARRAKER HAS STORY IN "AG" JOURNAL

Professor P. E. Karraker, of the Agronomy Department has an article in the May number of the Journal of Agricultural Research, entitled "Effect on Soil Moisture of Changes in the Surface Tension of the Soil Solution Brought About by the Addition of Soluble Salts."

The journal is published by the United States Department of Agriculture with the co-operation of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations, and it is considered quite an honor to get an article into this publication.

Professor E. F. Farquhar, of the Department of English, has delivered commencement addresses to high school graduates as follows: Hazard High School, May 20; Falmouth High School, May 21; Stanford High School, May 26. Tomorrow he will deliver an address at the Paintsville High School and on June 3 at the Nicholasville High School.

BOOKS AND NOTE BOOKS.

The following persons have left books in the library: Olive Taul, C. J. Haydon, Hilary Boone, Carolyn I. Watkins, Anita D. Crabbe, H. P. Shelton, R. S. Tinkler, J. H. Landberg, W. C. Smith, Nancy Pilcher, A Nameless Book, C. R. Barker, F. H. Johnson, Harry J. Powell, Bertha Elkin. People interested may call at the library.

NOTICE TO STUDENTS.

Students are urged to return all library books in their possession before leaving Lexington for the vacation.

This means books taken without charging, as well as the books in regular circulation. Carelessness in this means loss to the university and inconvenience to you. Look over your own books and return to the library all that do not belong in your collection.

CATS CLOSE '15 SEASON

of Jim Park's injury during the football season and the consequent destruction of our one-man pitching staff. Due to the able coaching of Gossage, our pitching this year was one of our strongest points, and with Thomas, McClelland, or Kelley in the box, the fans were confident of seeing the hurling well handled. The two Freshmen, Kelley and McClelland, were the finds of the season and if they continue in form will be able to hold down this end of the game for four years. While this is Thomas' third year at State, this is the first year that he has been able to acquire control of hot ones. This is also accredited to Gossage and "Ad" has been transformed from a more or less valuable "sub" into one of the best Wildcat hurlers.

One of the most gratifying events of the season was Park's return to form, after it was thought that his career as a pitcher was ended by his injury last fall. Every student regretted this and it was a pathetic sight to see "Jim" working at third instead of in the box. The admiration which we all have for Park was shown by the expressions of joy among the students when it was heard that he had pitched one of the winning games on the Southern trip, and by the shouts which went up when he went into the box in the seventh inning of the Hawaiian game. We all hope that if "Jim" goes in for professional ball he will make good.

The fact that two of the Wildcats have been given an opportunity to show their fighting qualities in the professional game, and a third has offers that he is considering accepting, shows that our team has some good qualities at least. "Biscuit" Reed has signed a contract with the Lexington team and played in three games as catcher. In these games he has played excellent ball and has apparently won a permanent place for himself. "Rasty" Wright reported Wednesday to the Cleveland American team and will be given a try-out in a few days in an outfield position.

The scores for the sixteen games of the season were:

State, 5; Ohio, 7.
State, 2; Michigan, 8.
State 12, Tennessee, 0.
State, 7; Tennessee, 8.
State, 7; Miami, 6.

NIGHT SCHOOL FOR JANITORS AT STATE

Friday evening, May 21, marked the close of the first year of the first Negro Night School at State University. This school, composed of the janitors and in charge of Elmer Robertson, has been conducted under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association and though this year is the first attempt at work of this kind on the campus, it has been a marvelous success. Six different subjects have been taught, the classes meeting three nights a week in the basement of the Administration Building.

The janitors have been intensely interested from the beginning and their regular attendance has been gratifying to the men of the university who have given their time as teachers. The following have served as teachers: Messrs. H. Scott, Jackson, Peak brothers, Redwine, C. B. Smith, Griggs C. Dotson, S. E. Clark, Sartin, Grainger, Hodges and Reddish.

A LAMENT.

Out in the cold and the rain, boys,
Out in the cold and the rain;
And the bright lights glow in our old time home
In the dorm where our hopes lie slain.

For a baneful rule of a faculty cruel,
We're cast from the homes we filled;
And the cold damp wind on our brows cuts keen;
And the joys that we knew are killed.

The good name of a score is our own no more,
And the touch of our friendship's gone
For the crime (?) of a few we all must suffer—
But we stand united—we will not fawn.

O, the faculty knows, and the faculty shows,
How it loves all the students dear.
It's tell on your friends, or out you go—
Give the old dorm boys that unshed tear.

FOSTER—GELDER

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Burton Foster to Mr. John Thomas Gelder, was celebrated at the Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock with Rev. J. E. Moss, of Georgetown, officiating.

The bride is organist for the Park Avenue Church and one of the Sunday School teachers.

Mr. Gelder is a senior in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering and is president of the athletic association and a member of the Alpha Delta Sigma fraternity.

CATHOLIC CLUB MEETS AND ELECTS OFFICERS

The Catholic Club of State University met in its club room on Barr Street at 10:30 Sunday morning and held an election of officers for the ensuing year. E. A. Taylor, of Louisville, was elected president; John Rodman, of Owensboro, vice president, and Leonard Taylor, secretary-treasurer.

The Catholic Club has had a prosperous year, having a membership of sixty-five larger than that of any other organization of its kind in the school. N. E. Philpot, of Owensboro, president for the past year, graduates in the 1915 class of the College of Mechanical Engineering.

Nineteen copies of the Cantata "Ruth" are still in the hands of the students and must be returned to the Business Office before the end of this week. Otherwise, the students will be requested to pay for them.

FINAL HISTORY CLUB MEETING FRIDAY 4 P. M.

The last meeting of the History Club will be held Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Reports will be made by the Seniors of the department and also two prize essays will be read. The session will close with the election of officers for next year and all members are requested to be present.

CUPID'S ARROWS AGAIN PROVE DEADLY

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Cassidy announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Cassidy, to Mr. William Jasper Sandford, Jr., of Covington, Ky., and Greenville, Miss. The date for the wedding has been set for Monday, July 5. Both young people are well known in State University in which they have distinguished themselves in various college activities. Miss Cassidy has been in the university for three years. Mr. Sandford graduated in the 1914 class of the College of Law and is now in charge of Y. M. C. A. work in Greenville, Miss.

The address at the annual commencement exercises of the Eminence High School was delivered by President Barker on Friday night. A class of twelve was graduated, one of the number being Miss Mary Leigh Brewer, a sister of Miss Carleton Brewer, a Junior in the Arts and Science Department.

ENGLISH TEACHERS FORM ASSOCIATION

English teachers in the universities and schools of Lexington met at Morton High School last Tuesday afternoon and organized the Lexington English Teachers' Association to promote the study of English. Professor C. C. Freeman, of Transylvania, was elected president and Professor A. S. Mackenzie, of State, secretary-treasurer.

Four of the charter members, Professors A. S. Mackenzie, Charles P. Weaver, E. F. Farquhar and L. L. Dantzer are from State.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL.

Ain't it funny how the little guy you pass every day,
Who hides behind his school books in a timid sort of way,
Who slides along the sidewalk, and who speaks to but a few,
Who walks alone and never says a single word to you—

Ain't it queer how such a cuss who blushes when he's seen
Blows on the dance floor at the hop with a million-dollar queen?

Need Lumber? Good Lumber?

It is not alone necessary that lumber shall be good in the first place, but good lumber to retain its goodness must have proper care and attention.

Every stick of lumber that enters our yards is carefully handled. Some is stacked on sticks, some piled in open sheds and some put in enclosed buildings, according to the individual needs. So, each piece will reach you in the best possible condition.

You will find, here, lumber for any purpose from the smallest operation to any ordinary undertaking.
