27 Recognized Wildcat Revue Who's Who And Pep Rally Slated Tonight

Campus Committee Makes Selections

The names of 27 juniors and seniors chosen as this year's members of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" were announced today by a campus selection committee.

Students are chosen annually by a committee of two faculty members and five students on the basis of activities on the campus. Their records and pictures will appear in the 1948 national "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" yearbook.

Those selected and some of their principal activities follow: Shirley Fields Adams of Lexington, president of Omicron Delta Kappa and member of Triangle Fraternity.

Lovely Carol Gable, vocalist for Clyde Trask's orchestra, will sing in the Misses' Room November 1.

Webb Chosen Distinguished Professor

Dr. William S. Webb, head of the Physics department and the department of anthropology, has been chosen "Distinguished Professor of the Year" in the College of Arts and Sciences by secret vote of his colleagues.

Elected from 140 eligible candidates, Dr. Webb is the fourth professor to hold the distinction which carries with it a quarter's leave of absence for special work and devotion to the department since 1939.

Professors receiving the greatest number of votes in addition to Dr. Webb were Dr. Lyle R. Dawson, chemistry department head, and Louis F. Fieser, atomic research scientist on the physics department staff.

The three previous professors honored by their associates with the award are Grant C. Knight, professor of English, 1944; Dr. Amy VanDusen, head of the department of political science, 1945; and Dr. Thomas C. Clark, head of the department of history, 1946.

Dr. Webb, a native Kentuckian born at Greenfield, has been associated with the physics department since his graduation in 1901 and received the department since 1915. He is nationally known as an outstanding physicist and archeologist, and played a prominent part in the development of the atomic bomb.

Dr. Webb has been active in archeological projects. He is a member of the American Physical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Association of Physics Teachers, member of the committee of the State Archaeological Survey, director of the council of the American Association of University Professors, and member of the National Research Council, president of the Central Section of the American Anthropological Association, president of the Society for American Archeologists, and member of the American Physical Society. He is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Phi Mu Epsilon, and Sigma Pi Sigma.

Recreation Program Plans Developing For Cooperstown

Plans for a recreation program in Cooperstown are expected to be completed by the end of the year, according to elected members of the veterans housing project.

Young said the recreation program is one of the three major objectives of the program, which includes a more active council and the reviving of the area's sports.

Cooperstown is governed by a mayor and council elected by the voters. The city has a population of 24,000.

Members of the council all serving their first term, are Mrs. Dallas Perkin, Mayor; William Vaughn, Councilman; W. H. Wilson and Sam Salucci.

Mums For Game Now On Sale

Members of Morlar Board are taking pre-game orders for mums and button mums today, until noon today, Helen Hutchins, Morlar Association secretary, has announced.

Saturday sales will be on campus, downtown hotels, and at Williams drugstore. The flowers are priced from $1 to $1.50.

Live Wildcat Mascot Here Years Ago, Why Not Now?

"Long live the Wildcat! . . . but the wildcat is dead. Yes, there was a real-live wildcat mascot of the University of Kentucky twenty years ago. It's rumored that he died of a strange disease called chagrin, when Georgia Tech beat Kentucky at their own game, basketball.

The animal was named "T.N.T." because he was of such an explosive nature that no dog's life was safe on the campus. With the help of the University of Kentucky, he died, but he finally died in flames when the old maintenance building burned.

Y Elects Officers

The Freshman "Y" Club has elected officers. Those elected were Lee Miles, president; Carolyn Freeman, secretary-treasurer.

Distance Men, Other Thinlies Needed Now

In an effort to bring Kentucky's track team up to championship caliber, Dr. Don Cash Sexton, head of the Physical Education department and new Wildcats track coach, issued a call this week to all men interested in track to report to him before the end of this quarter.

He stated that he was especially interested in interviewing all prospective distance runners at their earliest convenience, and in giving them the Cadis-Vascular test to determine their physical condition and see if their hearts and lungs are capable of standing up under the grueling work demanded of a distance man.

Jumpers and pole vaulters are asked to sign up for tumbling classes next quarter, and this actually begin their training for the spring meets early.

Dr. Sexton, who guided Illinois to a Big Nine track title a few years back, said that he would like to work with all hurdlers during the winter and to specialize them with a new way of jumping that has proved highly successful with him.

Shot, discus and javelin men are requested to sign up in weight lifting classes next quarter in an effort to increase their powers in field events.

The field is still apparently wide-open for next spring's endorphan derby, and any freshman, especially those with previous experience, should seriously consider trying out.

Patt Elects Officers

Eleanor Gray, Louisville, has been elected president of Patterson Hall. Jean Fritchard is vice president. Ruth Adams, social chairman, Janis Orwa, assistant social chairman, and Helen M. Rice, secretary.

"As Gilmer Goes, So Goes 'Bama"

By WALTER MILES
Sports Editor, Crimson-White University of Alabama

The University of Alabama's Crimson Tide has enjoyed a big edge over the University of Kentucky since the series was inaugurated in 1917. In fact, the Wildcats have won only 1 game out of 25 played and there has been one tie.

The Kentucky win came in 1922 when they beat Bama, 7-0. So, in 1947, they try again to break into the win column. And this year they seem to have their best opportunity in recent years to claim the Crimson Tide.

Bama has had its' troubles this year. They have a team that is playing its' fourth year as a unit. That has to be qualified of course, as the whole team hasn't been together all the time, but key players are playing their fourth year together. By key men, I mean Gilmer, Tew, Mancha, Hodges, Whitley, Morrow, Cassidy and Wozniak.

But despite all this experience the Tide received a rule upon the second game of the season when Tulane beat them, 21-20. Then Vandy got up a head of steam and licked the Tide in Nashville, 14-7. That gave Bama the worst early season loss record in a long time. After these two losing performances Bama finally got into the win column at the expense of old beaten Tennessee.

In the second half of the Tennessee tilt, the Tidesmen seemed to have hit their stride again. Their blocking looked sharper than at any time this year. And Harry Gilmer suddenly ciled up his miss with his passes and piled 11 completions in 14 tries and wound up player of the week. Anytime Gilmer is right, Alabama is dangerous.

The thing that worries us here was that the day we beat Tennessee, 10-0, Kentucky moved down unobscured Vanderbilt. Vandy had beat us decisively. Also Kentucky beat Georgia soundly.

In fact, the Wildcats have Bama supporters quaking in their collective boots. Bear Bryant, an old Bama alumni, has a good football team. They were upset earlier in the season but every one realizes how much they have improved since that loss. The defeat could be the best thing that could happen to them. It got them down to work and look at the results.

Alabama won't be cheery this Saturday but neither will they be beat till the game is over. And Wildcat backs will have their tongues hanging out from chasing Gilmer's receivers. That much I can assure you.

So we'll sit back and hope for the best. Win or lose, Alabama will show you an afternoon of interesting football and we lean toward the first word in this sentence. We sincerely believe that Harry Gilmer is the best passer in collegiate football and as Gilmer goes, so goes Bama.

Thanks for listening, and no matter what the results of the game Saturday remember we have a basketball date with you and not too far off either. And believe you me, we take a dim view of being beaten in both major sports by the same school in one season. We're out to salvage one or the other.

Peak-Weary Kentucky Wins Close Game From Inspired Spartans By 7-6 Score

By O. C. Hayward

An underdog but highly inspired Michigan State team took advantage of the peak-weary and seemingly unconcerned attitude of Kentucky's Wildcats last Saturday in East Lansing, to outplay them in nearly every department, and give them their worst scare of the season before finally missing an upset win, 7-6.

Kentucky's one point victory margin must be accredited to the accurate kicking of George Blanda, who chalked up his tenth successful conversion against just four misses for the season. Few persons figure that that extra point made so early in the game would prove to be the deciding factor, and not until the final whistle did it really become important.

It was not only that extra point that saved the day, but time and time again, "The Foot" dropped back in punt formation to kick the Wildcats out of trouble, and protect that slim margin. He booted the ball eight times for 299 yards and a 37.4 game average, but on several occasions he had to soft pedal the plunkin' keep from sending it into the end zone.

Serini and Phelps
Two men from Kentucky selected by the 1946 Spartan lettermen as members of their all-opponents eleven, Wash Serini and Don "Dopey" Phelps managed to give the Spartans a goodly amount of trouble. It was the Danville dasher that slung the ball into position and then ran it across for the Wildcat's touchdown. Although they kept their eyes on him this time after he ran wild for four comfers last year, he still averaged six yards per try at the line and completed two out of two passes.

Wash Serini, big likable Wildcat tackle and certainly an easy going fellow everywhere but on a football field, helped stop many Spartan plays during the afternoon. One of them was Michigan State's extra point attempt.

Michigan State's chances were hurt considerably when their too-dragging little back, George Guerre, received a broken ankle in the second period. The 160-pound halfback had just waded through the grabbing Cats for nine yards and Michigan State's six points when he suffered the injury and had to be carried from the field.

Cats Score
Kentucky's tally came after a Blanda boot of 57 yards gave the Spartans the ball on their own 17. Guerre quick kicked and Bill Bolzer hustled back to midfield to scoop up the ball and return to State's 41. On the next play he picked up seven yards around right end to put the ball on the 34.

Then Phelps circled the other end and got to the 18 picking up a first down before Guerre stopped the play. Phelps faked another end run and pitched to Don Ridge on the five who fought to the three. Fullback Bill Moseley punched center for two before "Dopey" Don cranked the right side of the line to pay dirt. Jim Babb held and Blanda kicked.

Bob Gain kicked off to start the second quarter. Guerre taking the ball on the five and returning to the 28. Jim Blenkhorn tried a full spinner through the center for five, but State was penalized 15 yards for holding, moving the ball back to the ten.

Far from beaten, Guerre danced through the Kentucky forward wall and continued to the Cats' 25 before Jack "Bobo" Farris and Dick Hensley pulled him down. Because Smith, negro halfback, entered the game and flung one to Warren Hury, but in his haste to get the pass off, he didn't notice that Hury was well guarded by Dick Martin and Wilbur "Shorty" Jamerson. The latter leaping high in the air, intercepted the ball behind the goal and Kentucky took over on their 20.

Fumble Costly
However, the complexion of the game changed again. On the first play Blanda fumbled and Michigan State recovered on the 22. Bob Krestel hit Bernard Rookopp on the 13 with a pass. Guerre moved to the 11. Blenkhorn was thrown for a three-yard loss when he stalled at his right guard. Smith got to the nine on a reverse, and then Guerre took it over on a lateral. Gordon Smith's try for the extra point was blocked.

Late in the fourth period the Spartans were driving and had advanced the ball to the Kentucky 36 on a series of passes. Two more State passes fell incomplete. Then Doc Ferrell charging hard, intercepted a lateral pass and was across midfield stripe before he was downed. The game ended on the next play, a quarterback sneak by Blanda.

HALYARD'S SPORT SIDE SHOW

Featuring Today —
Stemmig Crimson Tide
May Be Cats' Toughest Job

Kentucky's clash tomorrow with the Alabama Crimson Tide could well prove to be the stumbling block in the Wildcats' path to any sort of post season engagement. While West Virginia and Tennessee are by no means to be regarded as offering smooth sailing—for all three schools will be pointing for Kentucky and trying to retard as much as possible our efforts to climb up in the football world—we feel that stemming the Crimson Tide may be our toughest job.

Right now, considering their top physical condition and that they seem to be hitting their stride and displaying that form that has made them the famous "bevi team", we think they are the strongest opponent on the Cats' schedule. Harry Gilmer is still pitching them for the Tide, and he's the man that has to be stopped. It was Gilmer that paced the Red Elephants in the 41-0 spanking they gave the Cats in 1944, and their certainly impressive 69-19 win margin in '46. Then it was Gilmer that paced for one and ran for two touchdowns last year to account for all three Alabama tallies against the re-juvenated Wildcats. "Anytime Gilmer is right, Alabama is dangerous." (See "Column" column).

A number of persons have asked about the statistics for all the games played this year, and we figured the rest might be interested in them. Here they are, complete statistics of Kentucky's first six games.

War Surplus Stocks Valued At $750,000 Given To University

War surplus electronic equipment worth an estimated $750,000 is now owned by the University for use in teaching and research.

The carloads of equipment were received from the War Assets Administration at no cost to the University. The equipment includes such valuable items as a $100,000 radar truck unit, a 100-watt television, 2000 cathode ray tubes and thousands of other articles such as microphones, ultra high radio receivers, motor generators, dynamometers, and transmitters.

TIPS ON TOGS

by Link
Stripes... If you have a solid color suit and you want to brighten it up, try wearing one of Van Heusen's new striped shirts with spread collar and French cuffs, or with the regular collar and standard cuffs. Either one will give your suit a lift. I just unpacked a shipment of these shirts. Striped shirts will be a big item this season.
My opinion... While waiting around, I caught Buddy Smith, Phi Kappa Tau, draped out in a brown single-breasted, three-button lounge model tweed suit... Very popular white, wide spread button down shirt, highlighted with a brown and gold tie, and complemented by accessories that blended. He wore a hat (Remember what I said about hats this year?) of a blue grey shade, sounds odd but looked great.

Grid Elimination Tourney Underway In Intramurals

Sand is dwindling rapidly from the main attraction.

In a previous clash held several days ago, LXA ousted out the ATO's.

Twenty-two teams, representing all fraternities and four independent squads, participated in the meet, and after three full weeks of exciting round-robin play, nine of the original docket went their way to the elimination tourney.
There was little dispute in the first and second divisions as to which three teams from each section, respectively, would advance to the play-offs.
However, the feuding third division proved to be the "dog" in the wheel.
At the end of the regular round-robin (turkey), it was discovered that both the ATO's and Lambda Chi Alpha's had four wins to their credit. Therefore a special meeting between the two was arranged Wednesday to decide which would go to

Leo Yarnik, vest-pocket size Wildcat guard, was selected along with Alabama's Lowell Toy as runner-up to Charley Conroy of Ole Miss in the Associated Press SEC Player of the Week contest. 1-0 by gaining the most yardage in four downs from the mid field stripe after the game ended in a 6-6 deadlock.
Wednesday's battle saw the Lambda Chi's go out in front 7-0 in the first half by taking the initial kick-off to lay dirt on a series of running and passing plays. In the last half the ATO's came back strong to rack up a six pointer in the early stages of the second section and then score their winning marker on a pass with 30 seconds left in the game.

"Outstanding Athlete" Undergoes Operation

Kentucky's best-hoped for sharp job Sunday night when Wildcat "Wah Wah" Jones, Wildcat All-SEC end, was operated on for appendicitis at the Good Samaritan hospital. The day before Jones received a foot injury in the game against Michigan State as he turned in what was termed by observers as his best performance of the season.

The operation sidelined the three-tracker athlete for the remainder of his gridiron season and the early portion of Adolph Rupp's 1947-48 season.

ApPOINTMENTS for pictures for the Kentucky closed Wednesday and photographing of students will start on Monday at 8:30 a.m. Any Price, business manager of the Kentuckyian announced.

Since the photographer is from out-of-town, it is important that each student keep the appointment he has made, Miss Price said. There has been no advance in prices from last year. They remain $1.25 for the first print and $2.25 for each additional print.

The pictures will be taken in room 119, Student Union building. This room is off the Y lounge.

If any organizations have not turned in their contracts for pages or the organization form sheets, it should be done today. If there are any new organizations that have not been approached by a member of the Kentuckyian staff, the president of the organization should come in to the Kentucky office in the sub-basement of McVey hall to check on this matter.

Although used only sparingly throughout the season, Jones has been the bulwark both offensively and defensively, pulling down nine passes, good for 53 yards and two touchdowns. Kentucky's only touchdown against Ole Miss, took sole co-conspirator this year, was scored by Jones. His other touchdown came as the Wildcats faced Georgia's Bulldogs 26-0. Taking over during Jones' absence will probably be Don Ridge, 195-pound sophomore, and Charlie Bentley, a 196-pounder, also a second year man, with the former expected to get the starting nod.

Basketball Drills Continue Daily; Closed To Public

"Now boys, when we come out here at 2:30 and practice our drills, let's not throw up any old excuses. Let's make a real, genuine, first-class effort," instructed Coach Adolph Rupp as his basketballers carelessly threw in goal after goal.

Despite the gloomy rainy weather and the usual second week dummy ball handling, Kenny E-flies, all-conference guard, "lathered" the brilliant star that he is. Joe Richland dumped in shot after shot with methodical perfection. Al Cummins reared in from the guard position with deadly accurate lay-up shots.

Former Wildcat players Buddy Parner and Bill Stargill watched practice Tuesday and mutually agreed that Cliff Barter would be the best ball handler in the nation even if he wore catcher's mitts on both hands.

League's Straw Vote Favors Constitutional Convention, Clements

University students polled in the League of Women Voters mock election Tuesday were overwhelmingly in favor of a Kentucky constitutional convention, as shown by a 629 to 37 vote.

A close outcome in the race for governor was predicted by the 70 vote margin Clements polled in the election. The final count was 375 for Clements and 303 for Dummit.

Last year's straw vote, sponsored by the Campus League, proved an accurate prediction of election results in the senatorial and congressional races.

German Professor's Book Is Published

Dr. D. V. Hegeman, associate professor of German, has published a book on social and literary forms of expression under the title "Bosch: Interviews with Goltzsch and Geleit." The book also treats the background of the changing concept of university professors.

Respect Increasing An increasing respect for intellectual eminence was partly responsible for bringing the university professor out of the "seclusion of his book-lined study" and making him "increasingly a man of the world," Dr. Hegeman discovered in his study of the Age of Enlightenment in the eighteenth century German.

Rivalry Developed During the period, rivalry for the services of teachers developed among the universities and Dr. Hegeman has traced this rivalry back to the establishment of the University of Gottingen in 1737.

Dr. Hegeman, in his report on Anglo-German literary relations during the eighteenth century, reports there was much more cultural contact between the nations of Germany than has been previously recognized.

Wildcats Seek

The Alabama record for the present season is four wins and two losses—to Tulane and Vanderbilt. In their opening game, the Tide whipped Mississippi, 34-7, and lost to Tulane, 21-20, and Vanderbilt, 14-7. Settling down in their fourth game, the Elephants trimmed Duke, 26-0, and last week upset the favored Georgia eleven, 17-7.

In the Alabama-Bulldog game, Harry Gilmer scored one TD on an 83-yard jaunt. Caddenhead scored the second, and veteran quarterback Hugh Morrow, kicked a field goal in the final period.

Pepit vs. Teacher

UK's Coach Bear Bryant will be especially anxious to "thump" Alabama. He will be facing his old tutor at Alabama, Coach Harold "Red" Drew. The 52-year-old Drew, who coached at Alabama from 1925, and 1936 when the former was end coach for Frank Thomas, Carney Laake, and Frank Moseley, assistant coaches for the Wildcats, also graduated from Alabama, after playing under Thomas and Drew, in the early thirties.

The Kentucky gridders, after a close 7-6 victory over Michigan State, will be out to stop the aerials of Gilmer and the tricky Notre Dame offensive system that Coach Drew's charges employ. A loss by the Wildcats will almost certainly eliminate them from a major bowl bid come December.

Big George Blanda, UK's quarterback, will bear the heaviest part of the Wildcats' attack. His play in the Georgia, Vanderbilt and Michigan games have been little short of sensational. Blanda is also Coach Bryant's leading passer although Don "Dopey" Phelps has completed four passes in the same number of games.

The leading runners in the Kentucky backfield—Phelps, Harris, Boller, Howe, Jamerson and Moseley—will probably give the well-oiled offensive forward wall of Alabama plenty of trouble in the 60-minute session.

Blue Yonder Class Room For "Winged Wildcats"

Although they have been using the "wild blue yonder" over Lexington as a classroom only about two weeks, the 40 students enrolled in the new flight training program might well be called "Winged Wildcats," according to their instructors.

"I doubt if we have ever had a more serious and yet competent bunch of trainees," J. E. Pierson, chief instructor for Bohmer Flying Service at Blue Grass field, declared. "They are something like the Wildcat athletic teams in their spirit and willing to learn."

Three Flying Services
The Bohmer service is but one of three local flying schools under contract with the University to teach enrollees in the institution's newest and most novel course offered by the College of Engineering. Also at Blue Grass field is the Thomas Aviation Co., and at Cool Meadow airport there is the Lexington Flying Service.

The flight training program was started this fall and is designed to run through the entire school year with each student taking two hours of actual flying and one hour of ground school training each week. At the conclusion of the course, the student will receive a private pilot's license and six credits from the Engineering College.

Solo Hops Planned
Trainees must be over 21 or have parent's permission. The students are predominantly engineers who are interested in flying as a supplement to other aeronautical work. W. F. Savastri, instructor in aeronautical engineering, is co-ordinator of flight training for the University.

Pi Tau Sigma Holds Pledging Ceremony

Pi Lambda chapter of Pi Tau Sigma, mechanical engineering honor society, held its first pledging ceremony in the University high school auditorium before the Nichols General Hospital in Louisville. Warden has partially regained consciousness after being unconscious for eight days.

The rough castings must be finished and polished before the initiation, which will be held November 14 at the Lafayette hotel. A banquet will follow the initiation ceremony at which time the finished keys will be presented to the active members, who are charter members.

Harry R. Conrad, a senior in agriculture, was awarded the first of five $200 scholarships by the Borden company at an assembly of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics in Memorial hall, Wednesday morning.

The scholarship, which is awarded to the senior in agriculture who has completed at least two courses in dairying and has the highest standing for the first three years in college, will be continued for four more years. A bronze plaque will bear the names of the five winners.

Conrad, who is the president of the YMCA, last summer was awarded the Danforth Fellowship, which was a two week scholarship at the Rabston Purina Feed company in St. Louis, and two weeks at the American Youth Foundation camp in Shelby, Mich.

Shindlauer Opens Meeting

Ad Building Offices May Be Kept Open During Lunch Hour

University officials are considering a plan to keep certain offices open during the lunch hour as a convenience to students.

President Herman L. Donovan said the matter is being left to each dean to decide if he believes it necessary his office remain open.

"No definite conclusion on the problem of whether the registrar's office should be kept open during the noon hour has been reached," Dr. Maurice F. Seay, registrar and dean of the University, said Thursday.

The issue was brought before a staff meeting and the necessity of having open such offices as the registrar's office and veterans office was considered, he said. Dr. M. M. White, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, said there was no need for leaving his office open because the students did not come in at noon. His office remained open for the first three weeks of school to take care of the rush, he said.

Industrial Organic Applications of Metallic Sodium

Sodium for organic reactions is shipped in 80,000-lb. quantities. It is pumped into the car, solidified by cooling and melted by hot oil for removal.

Sodium for organic reactions is shipped in 80,000-lb. quantities. It is pumped into the car, solidified by cooling and melted by hot oil for removal.

This would seem to be a considerable gap between the electrolysis of salt to make sodium, and research in the field of organic chemistry. However, at Du Pont as much emphasis is placed on organic research to develop outlets for sodium as on its inorganic uses.

For more than 15 years, intensive work on industrial uses for sodium has been carried on in Du Pont laboratories and plants by chemists, physicists, chemical, mechanical and electrical engineers.

In the organic field, this research has contributed a number of important uses for sodium such as the reduction of fatty esters, particularly of natural glycerols, to alcohols.

Chemical reaction:  $C_2H_5CO_2R + 4Na \xrightarrow{\text{alcohol solution}} C_2H_5CO_2H + 4RONa$

Du Pont organic chemists have found that sodium with selected secondary alcohols, such as methyl amyl alcohol, in the presence of toluene or xylene, eliminates shortcomings of the classical method involving ethyl alcohol and sodium. Practically quantitative yields of the higher molecular weight alcohols are obtained.

This new method is especially useful in preparing unsaturated alcohols not easily made by catalytic hydrogenation. The process can be carried out at atmospheric pressure and compares favorably with catalytic hydrogenation of saturated, higher fatty esters because of the simplicity of operation and equipment.

The discovery of the new reaction conditions has led to the use of millions of pounds of sodium annually for manufacture of long-chain alcohols for wetting and emulsifying agents and synthetic detergents.

Other important processes developed by Du Pont organic research include the use of sodium for reduction of fatty esters to corresponding long-chain acetylenes, and reduction of nitriles to primary amines.

Your Opinion Counts

It is not our place, as a paper representing students of all political views in a state university, to take sides in the coming state elections. However, it is our place as organ of a democratic society to urge you who are able to vote to exercise the right you have.

The primary question in many minds is that of the constitutional revision issue. As you voters already understand the necessity of bringing in a strong vote on this point. It may have a direct bearing upon your future as a college student and will certainly have one upon your children if they are to attend the University of Kentucky. At this stage of the game, your mind is undoubtedly made up as to what your preference is. Whether you are of the opinion that the revision is necessary, that change may be made later by gradual amendment, or even if you think the status quo should be maintained, it is your responsibility to your state to voice that opinion. It is to your own interest to do so.

All state ballots are not the same, but the constitution question is, in most cases, printed at the upper right hand corner of the ballot. In Fayette county it is placed in a prominent position on the machines.

Express your opinion! It does concern you and your future!

Answer:

Last week the Kernel expressed its views upon the question of a constitutional provision of the Student Union Board which seems to us to be straining the treasuries of campus organizations.

This week we have given the Student Union Board an opportunity to answer our arguments. However, because of the length of their answers and our refusal to cut any of their material, we have been forced to run their answer in the letters section because of the limited space in this column. We still disagree, but you read their side too and then decide for yourselves. Letters will be welcome, but please sign them. You may request that your name not be used, but be certain that we have it.

Editor, The Kernel:
The Kernel in an editorial published last week attacked the Student Union Board's policy which states that "no commercial concession shall be granted to a student or student organization." The editorial referred specifically to Vague magazine, project of Chi Delta Phi, women's literary honorary.

The Student Union Board believes that its position in the matter should be made clear to the student body. This is not the first time that such a problem has arisen. Two previous boards have discussed the question and upheld the policy. The present board decided that a solution which would allow some groups to sell commodities in the Union and exclude others would be almost impossible to formulate. Just where can a line of demarcation be drawn? Every group, logically enough, believes that its project is worthy.

Union Doins

By Charles Whaley

Dances are the big topic this week at the Union. One is scheduled for tomorrow night, following the Alabama dance; the other is after the Homecoming game.

Entitled "Football Frolic," tomorrow night's dance will feature Clyde Trask and his orchestra. This is Trask's first appearance since the Island Queen excursion this summer. He and his band were featured on the boat and at Cincinnati's Coney Island for several years; they were aboard the steamer when the disaster occurred.

Bob Beldt, chairman of the dance committee, has announced that tickets purchased in advance will cost only $1; those bought at the door the night of the dance will be $1.25.

An orchestra has not yet been signed to play for the Homecoming dance; however, arrangements will be completed this week, according to Dot Evans, social director. The band will be an out-of-town group.

Board members and members of the house committees will welcome alumni and guide them on tours of the campus during Homecoming.

The horse committee will entertain all members of other Union committees with a party in the building at 4 p.m., Nov. 17. Bob Congdon, chairman of that committee, has announced.
