Faculty, Alumni Give OK To Little Kentucky Derby

UK's Little Kentucky Derby, scheduled for the weekend of May 10-11, has received a solid vote of confidence from the University faculty and the Alumni Association.

Faculty approval came Monday afternoon, during a regularly scheduled meeting. The executive board of the Alumni Association gave its blessing to the race at a Monday night dinner.

Present plans call for the Derby to be held the afternoon of Saturday, May 11. The Derby itself will be a bicycle race, patterned after Indiana University's "Little 500" race which is held annually at the IU campus in Bloomington.

Chip Rice, a member of the Little Kentucky Derby steering committee, said the race was tentatively billed as a ten-mile race, or 40 laps around the cinder track in McLean Stadium.

James A. Beazley, head of the Alumni Association's Alumni Fund, said all men's organizations, Independent and Greek, are eligible to enter a four-man team in the race.

Each team will have three sponsors: the men's organization, which will furnish the bike riders; a co-ed group whose duty it will be to furnish the pit decorations; and a downtown business establishment, which will be asked to contribute a flat sum for the purchase of uniforms and equipment for the team its sponsors.

Beazley emphasized that support of both independents and Greeks is necessary for the success of the race. He pointed out that some of the teams in the Indiana race are made up of different floors, or sections, of the men's dormitories.

Besides the Derby, three other races are tentatively billed for Saturday afternoon. These include a contest limited to K-Club members and persons who have participated in intercollegiate athletics; one for faculty and staff; and one for alumni.

Besides the Derby, three other races are tentatively billed for Saturday afternoon. These include a contest limited to K-Club members and persons who have participated in intercollegiate athletics; one for faculty and staff; and one for alumni.

Friday afternoon a picnic is scheduled on the campus. Following the picnic, some sort of social function will be held, with a street dance being the most likely possibility.

Saturday morning a tricycle race, featuring the women's sponsoring organizations, will be held in downtown Lexington. A parade of the Derby units, the UK Marching 100, and various high school bands will follow.

The four races will follow on Saturday afternoon, with the feature race, the Derby, to be held last.

After the Derby, open house will be held at all sorority and fraternity houses, and all other housing units on campus.

The May Day dance is scheduled for Saturday night in the Student Union Ballroom.

Beazley said that invitations to the Derby would be sent out to Gov. A. B. Chandler, and to other famous Kentuckians, now residing either in or out of the state.

He added that an invitation would also be sent to Bill Corum, president of Churchill Downs in Louisville, site of the world-famous Kentucky Derby.

The profile of the Derby will be split three ways: one-third will go into a scholarship fund, to be used only to aid students who work part time; one-third will go to the Alumni Fund, to be used to contact alumni, and tell them about the Derby, with the aim of

10 Seats At Stake In Today's Election

The Student's Party has been assured of at least three new seats in the SGA assembly before today's votes are counted. Constitutionalist have clinched one of the ten seats being contested.

Two seats in the College of Commerce will go to the Student's Party as candidates John Johnson and David Becker are unopposed. Constitutionalist planned to enter candidates in this race, but they failed to register for the election. John Darsie (SP) is backed by both parties for upper classman representative from the College of Arts and Sciences. Constitutionalist Ted Powers is similarly endorsed for the Graduate School seat.

Karl Johnston entered as an independent candidate for lower classman representative from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. He is opposed by Fred Strache (Const.).

Christmas Vacation Not To Be Extended

A last-minute move to extend this year's Christmas vacation by two and one-half days has died for lack of a second by University officials.

The final death knell for the proposal was sounded Monday by President Frank G. Dickey, after an hour long conference with Dick Lehman and Dave Ravencraft, president and vice president of SGA.

In refusing to allow the extension, Dickey cited several factors which, he said, blocked the proposal.

He listed these as:

(1) The Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, of which UK is a member, requires that its schools teach a minimum of 165 days annually. By allowing the extra days for Christmas, Kentucky would be under that minimum figure.

(2) The days could not be made up during Easter, because the Association of Secondary Principals is scheduled to hold a convention here at that time, and have already contracted for classroom space.

(3) The days could not be added at the end of the year, because some 3,000 students are expected to converge on the campus immediately after the last class day for a 4-H Club meeting.

The proposal by Lehman and Ravencraft called for classes to be dismissed after Wednesday's schedule, rather than at noon Saturday.

Dr. Dickey added that the university calendar is planned for a year in advance, and that it would be implausible to alter this year's schedule because of that.

The president said that students with special hardship cases should consult with their deans individually.

Dickey said a longer vacation is planned for next year, with the holiday season to extend from Dec. 21 through Jan. 5.

This year's vacation is from Dec. 22 through Jan. 2.

UK Accepts Million Dollar Medical Grant

A grant of $1,208,992 from the federal government was accepted Tuesday, Dec. 11, by the University of Kentucky trustees. It is to be used to aid in the construction of a medical sciences building, the first unit of UK's medical center.

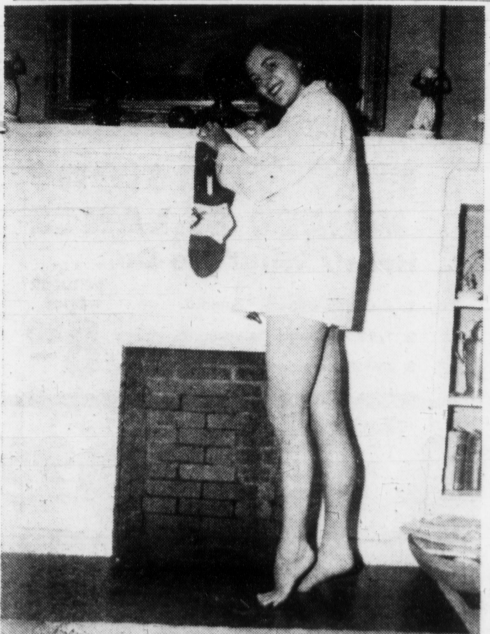

The full amount of the grant will be used for the construction of the medical sciences building to increase medical research facilities. Last summer the President signed the Health Research Facilities Act of 1956, which appropriated funds to assist in the financing of construction of facilities for medical research.

Dr. William R. Willard, dean of UK's College of Medicine and vice president of the Medical Center, said that the research activity will be centered in the medical sciences building. It was upon this basis that the University received the federal grant.

The 1956 General Assembly, at the request of Gov. A. B. Chandler, appropriated $5,000,000 for construction of the medical sciences building. Additional appropriations pledged by Gov. Chandler will be used for the construction of a teaching hospital and other needed facilities.

The University has set aside 39 acres of the Experiment Station Farm adjacent to the campus as the site for the new medical center. This will later include a College of Dentistry and a School of Nursing.

Present plans call for the admission of the first class of medical students in the fall of 1959.

The judging was based on the amount of money turned in per pledge during the entire campaign, which ran the length of Kentucky's football season.

ZBT took top honors in the fraternity division with an average of $17.01 per pledge, based on a total of $204.17 turned in, with 12 pledges.

ADPi turned in a total of $325.78, for an average of $11.24 for each of its 29 pledges.

Representatives of ZBT and ADPi were presented with silver tea services for four at the IFC dance Saturday night. Chip Rice, chairman of the Tag Sales committee, made the presentation.

Delta Tau Delta and Kappa

Delta took second place in their respective divisions. Each was awarded four silver cups, as the runner-up prize.

Weekly contest winners were ZBT (2 weeks), DTD (2 weeks), ADPi (2 weeks), and KD (2 weeks). Weekly awards were based on total sales.

Night Grill To Be Voted By Students

Student opinion on keeping the Grill open at night is being sought in today's SGA election.

Voters are being asked to indicate whether or not they favor extending the hours.

Ray Trout, chairman of SGA's social committee, is studying the feasibility of opening the Grill to students at night. Today's poll is part of the survey.

The Association voted to take this preliminary step at its meeting Monday night.

Dick Frymire, ex-officio representative to the assembly, presented a request for $300 to be used by the newly elected Coopers-town governing body in setting up operations. It was referred to the finance committee.

He cited a need for playground areas for children as one of the primary considerations of Coopers-town officials.

Luther House was admitted to the assembly as a new representative from Law School.

Terry Kuester, chairman of SGA's election committee was commended by Lehman and Dr. Dickey for his handling of today's election, particularly for his efforts in procuring voting machines.

University Chorus To Give Concert Next Wednesday

The University Chorus, under the direction of Aimo Kiviniemi, voice teacher at the University, will present Bach's Christmas Oratorio in Memorial Hall, at 8 p.m. Dec. 19. This concert is free to the public.

This particular work of Christmas significance is being given this year in place of Handel's Messiah which has almost become traditional with University groups. The University Chamber Orchestra and Carl Bleye, at the console Holtkamp organ, will be the accompanying agencies.

Soloists for the occasion are Phyllis Tilton, soprano; Janet Frederick, and Emily Walter, contraltos; Bertram Kelso, tenor, graduate student at the University, and teaching voice at Centre College; Charles Sims, baritone; Paul Thoms, bass.

Kiviniemi is well known for his recitals and choral presentations in this area. He holds a Master's degree from the Ohio State University.

Alexander Hamilton is said to have written Washington's farewell address.

'Miss Christmas Seal' To Be Named Dec. 21

The contest for "Miss Christmas Seal" is now entering the final stages, with JoAnn Fisher, Alpha Xi Delta in the lead by 4 votes, followed by Carolyn Collier, Chi Omega, Jo Ann Fisher, Jewell Hall is in third place, and Bobby Tice, Alpha Gamma Delta; Christine Johnson, Delta Delta Delta; Pat Phelps, Kappa Delta; Laura Weinman, Kappa Kappa Gamma are all tied for fourth place.

All other candidates are close behind the leaders, with 25 votes separating the first and last place contestants.

The contest closes midnight, Thursday, Dec. 20.

W. W. McLendon, executive director of the Lexington-Fayette County Tuberculosis Association, sponsors of the contest, said today, "We are well pleased with the response of the students, at the University, to the 1956 Christmas Seal Campaign; however, many of the students have not yet made their usual contribution. We urge that each person make a contribution and vote in the contest. A contribution to the Christmas Seal campaign will be a tremendous help in the fight to eradicate tuberculosis. Last year 2,193 new cases of TB were discovered in Kentucky and 463 Kentuckians died as a result of tuberculosis."

"Because Kentucky's tuberculosis rate is so high—second highest death rate in the nation and third highest case rate—everyone should be especially generous in purchasing Christmas Seals," McLendon went on to say.

"I feel confident that the students at UK will continue their support to the Christmas Seal campaign. Also I feel sure that a continued interest will be shown in selecting "Miss Christmas Seal."

All contributions should be mailed to the Lexington-Fayette County TB Association, 1410 Forbes Road.

He received two degrees from Purdue and his Ph.D. degree from Indiana University.

Dr. Jack Gibb, University of Colorado, highlighted the opening session with demonstrations on how to work with student groups. Dr. Robert Shaffer, dean of students at Indiana University, spoke on meeting student problems in a period of increasing enrollments.

Alphie Back Home After Week Tour

"Alphie", now weighing 80 pounds (he weighed 75 when stolen), has been returned to the ATO fraternity.

After a week's tour of Kentucky and Tennessee, the St. Bernard pup ended up at the ATO house at Vanderbilt.

It was reported at Vanderbilt that Kentucky's SAE's dog-napped "Alphie" Monday night during the Ky.-Miami game. He was taken to Louisville where he remained until Thursday. From there he went to the Vandy campus.

Five Kentucky boys brought the pup home Friday.

"Alphie", who was chained in front of the house, aroused plenty of attention on the Vandy campus.

Trustees Appoint An Administrator To Med. Hospital

A University of Chicago hospital administrator was appointed by the Board of Trustees this week to become administrator of UK's teaching hospital.

Richard Wittrop, who will assume his duties January 1, will assist in the planning and direct the operations of the hospital. He will hold the rank of assistant professor of hospital administration.

Wittrop was recommended by Dr. William Willard, dean of the College of Medicine. He is presently instructor in the Hospital Administration program of the School of Business at the University of Chicago.

Wittrop holds an A.B. degree in economics from the University of Missouri and a master's degree from the University of Chicago. He has been associated with the University of Chicago Clinics in various capacities since 1951.

He is presently engaged as a consultant for the United States Public Health Service on a Marine hospital in Chicago. Previously he was administrative assistant in charge of the Argonne Cancer Research Hospital and in 1954 was promoted to his present position of administrative assistant for the clinics.

The new hospital administrator has served on various civic committees since joining the University of Chicago staff. He is married and has two sons.

Condemnation Suit To Be Brought For Site For N. Center

The UK Board of Trustees gave final approval to the filing of condemnation proceedings a site at Devou Park, Covington, as the site of the College of Adult and Extension Education's Northern Center.

The Kentucky Attorney General's Office has stated that the proceedings would be in order. The State Department of Finance has approved the acquisition of the property as "essential to the long range service of the Commonwealth."

Established in 1948, the Center has been housed in the top floor of the first district school in Covington. The Covington Board of Education, however, has indicated that UK should look for a new home for the Center. The Board said that it needs the space occupied by the extension unit.

Efforts to find suitable quarters in downtown Covington have been abandoned because of the cost of remodeling existing buildings.

The proposed site of the Northern Center will occupy 44 acres of a 550 acre tract deeded to the city of Covington by the late W. P. Devou. The will specified that the land could be used for park purposes only.

For the past two years a committee of 20 persons has been at work in an effort to establish the Center in its own building. The plan has the backing of the city and county, boards of education in the area, the Covington Park Board, and organizations throughout Northern Kentucky.

About 700 students are presently enrolled in extension courses in Covington.

Switzerland's political districts are called cantons.

Seven Faculty Members To Attend Law Meeting

Seven UK College of Law faculty members will attend the annual Association of American Law Schools meeting, Dec. 28, 29 and 30. The meeting will be held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago, Ill.

Dr. William L. Matthews and Professors A. B. McEwen, Paul Oberst, Roy Moreland, J. J. Miner Jr., Richard D. Gilliam Jr., and W. D. Ham will represent the UK Law College at the convention.

Dr. Matthews, acting dean of the Law College, described the forthcoming event as being the most important meeting of the year in legal education. Approximately 600 law professors, representing the foremost law schools, are expected to attend.

Founded in 1900, the Association has granted charters to 27 accredited law schools. It is unique in being the only legal organization devoted exclusively to law educators.

Highlighting this year's convention program will be "What Procedure Should Be Taught in the First Year," a round table discussion, to be conducted by Robert E. Keeton of the Harvard Law School. Other problems of the entire legal curriculum will also be discussed.

HAPPY TALK

As we all know, conversation is terribly important on a date. When lulls in the conversation run longer than an hour or two, one's partner is inclined to grow logy — even sullen. What, then, does one do?

If one is wise, one follows the brilliant example of Harlow Thurlow.

Harlow Thurlow prepares. That is his simple secret. Before the date, he goes to the library and reads all 24 volumes of the encyclopedia and transcribes their contents on his cuffs. Thus he makes sure that no matter what his date's interests are, he will have ample material to keep the conversation alive.

Take, for example, Harlow's first date with Priscilla de Gasser, a fine, strapping, blue-eyed brot of a girl, lavishly constructed and rosy as the dawn.

Harlow was, as always, prepared when he called for Priscilla, and, as always, he did not start to converse immediately. First he took her to dinner because, as everyone knows, it is useless to try to make conversation with an unfed coed.

So he took her to a fine steak house where he stoked her with gobbets of Black Angus and mounds of French fries and thickets of escarole and battalions of petits fours. Then, at last, dinner was over and the waiter brought two finger bowls.

"I hope you enjoyed your dinner, my dear," said Harlow, dipping into his finger bowl.

"Oh, it was grandy-dandy!" said Priscilla. "Now let's go someplace for ribs."

"Later, perhaps," said Harlow. "But right now, I thought we might have a conversation."

"Oh, goody, goody, two-shoes!" cried Priscilla. "I been looking everywhere for a boy who can carry on an intelligent conversation."

"Your search is ended, madam," said Harlow and pulled back his sleeves and looked at his cuffs to pick a likely topic to start the conversation.

"I thought we might have a conversation!"

Oh, woe! Oh, lackaday! Those cuffs on which Harlow had painstakingly transcribed such diverse and fascinating information — those cuffs were nothing now but a big, blue blur! For Harlow — poor Harlow! — splashing around in the finger bowl had gotten his cuffs wet and the ink had run and not one word was legible! And Harlow broke out in a night-sweat and fell dumb.

"I must say," said Priscilla after several silent hours, "that you are a very dull fellow. I'm leaving."

With that she flounced away and poor Harlow was too crushed to protest. Sadly he sat and sadly lit a cigarette.

All of a sudden Priscilla came rushing back. "Waa that," she asked, "a Philip Morris you just lit?"

"Yes," said Harlow.

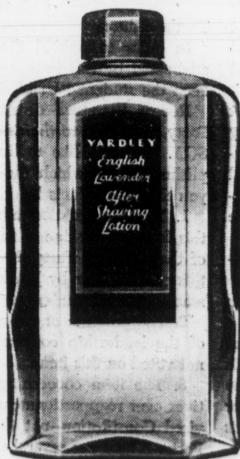

"Then you are not a dull fellow!" she cried and sprang into his lap. "You are bright! Anybody is bright to smoke such a perfect doll of a cigarette as today's rich, tasty Philip Morris, which is brimming-full of natural tobacco goodness and fresh unfiltered flavor... Harlow, tiger, wash your cuffs and be my love!"

"Okay," said Harlow, and did, and was.

Who Left Out A Back Door?

We wandered over to Graham Avenue the other day to observe the miracles of modern engineering as personified by the magnificent new structure which will house the UK College of Pharmacy next year.

As we stood there on Graham, gazing at the awesome majesty of the back side of the building, a discordant note suddenly pierced our reverie.

Not wishing to make any false accusations, we traversed the length of the back side of the structure, hoping to find something which would allay our suspicions.

But at last we were forced to forego our search and admit our original thought was correct—this pinnacle of engineering perfection has no back entrance.

Not wishing to be thought of as old fashioned, we attempted to take an objective view of the matter. We told ourselves that, after all, students could always jump out the window should the front door get jammed, in case of fire. And besides, we're sure the architects must have made the building fire-proof. After all, they thought of everything else, didn't they?

We then began searching for other good features, and, sure enough, we found one. The front entrance is facing away from the campus. This is very handy if you live on the Experiment Station farm, but if you're not so lucky, you have to walk all the way around the building to get to the front door. Wonderful for reducing, but tough for 8 o'clock classes.

Maybe we shouldn't be too concerned with how the Pharmacy College building looks. After all, it will only affect a few people, and maybe the future pharmacists will be so happy to get to Lexington, they will accept any kind of building.

But we're looking to the future, when, we are promised, new buildings will begin springing up on the campus in great numbers, under the guiding hand of a campus planner.

It is to this planner that this message is directed. Remember, even Mickey Mouse had a "front door hole, and a side door hole, and a back door hole."

Derby Success Is Up To You

The Little Kentucky Derby passed a major crisis in its young life Monday when the project was approved by the faculty and by the Alumni Association.

The success, or failure, of the Derby, now lies squarely in the hands of (1) the Little Kentucky Derby Committee, and (2) you, the students.

The initial moves will have to come from the Derby Committee, for it is the Committee's responsibility to see that each and every student knows his participation is not only wanted, but needed.

Then it is up to the students—to the independents who gripe, often justly, at our "Greek campus"; to the campus "wheels", who too often fit the time-worn description of "those who go round in circles"; to the blasé, cynical senior; and to the fresh, wide-eyed, freshman—to all of these, and a whole lot more, a great responsibility has been imparted.

Even if the Derby were without altruistic motives as to the dispensation of its profits, we still think it would be a good idea. We like it because it offers an opportunity for all-student participation; we like it because we have been told, at least, that no one organization will ever assume domination, or control, of it; and yes, we like it, because we never did like the SUKY May Day Parade set up.

We hope that just this once, UK students will snap out of their collective trance and show a little enthusiasm as a group, rather than as a few scattered individuals.

Letters From The Readers

'Kernel Misinformed'

To the Editor:

In last Friday's Kernel an editorial was printed entitled "Decision Hour Nears for SGA." In this editorial many topics pertinent to today's election were discussed, including the newly revised constitution. As a former member of SGA who took part in the discussion of these changes, I feel that I must take issue with that part of the editorial applying to the constitution changes. The issues are:

1. The Kernel has not been fully informed concerning exactly what changes have actually been made.

2. Due to this lack of correct information, the Kernel has not fully and correctly informed its readers on the effect these changes will have on the functions of SGA.

In its editorial the Kernel quoted a sentence from the revised constitution which says "the function of the Student Government Association is to act as the responsible authority in relations pertaining to students and affecting student organizations." Further, the Kernel interpreted this as meaning that SGA will "pretty well run the show." This indeed seems to be the case until one examines the old constitution. That same sentence in the old constitution says "the function of the Student Government Association is to act as the responsibility authority in relations among students and among student organizations." Comparing this sentence from the old constitution with the same sentence from the revised constitution shows that the only changes made are:

1. "among students" has been changed to "pertaining to students";

2. "among student organizations" has been changed to "affecting student organizations."

A complete comparison of the individual sections of the old and revised constitutions follows this same pattern. The changes made have been for the purpose of correcting errors in wording, spelling or sentence structure. In only one or two cases is there any actual change in the meaning of a sentence, and these changes in no way change the functions or powers of SGA.

While these changes are necessary for correct grammar, it should not be thought that SGA will derive great benefits from the ratification of the revised constitution. The functions and powers of the Student Government Association are defined essentially the same in both the old and revised constitutions. If sufficient power was not invested by the old constitution, the situation is certainly not remedied by the revised version.

Therefore, the student voting in favor of the revised constitution will not accomplish the long-desired purpose of making the Student Government Association more effective in dealing with student problems. Rather, it will be a vote for a constitution with more correct spelling and better wording and a grant to SGA to sink deeper in its lethargy without any gain in effective representation between students and faculty.

In voting on this issue, the student has two alternatives. 1) Vote in favor of the revised constitution and thereby ratify a constitution with better grammar and more correct spelling than in the old constitution; or, 2) vote against the revised constitution and, by so doing, force SGA to make changes which actually redefine its functions and empower it to carry out these functions to the benefit of all students.

So, as you go to cast your ballot today, you hold the future of the Student Government Association in your vote. The choice is yours to make. Will it be better wording or better government? I believe in better government.

'Cease Party Claims'

To the Editor:

In order to uphold the principles of integrity advocated by this institution, I feel it my duty to keep the student FULLY informed.

Recent literature distributed by the Student's Party lays claim to their many accomplishments in SGA. I should like to list some of those accomplishments for which they claim credit and give you the candid facts behind said accomplishments.

1. The Constitution adopted by the Assembly this fall was not due to the efforts of any member of the Student's Party—in actuality, it was written this past summer by Jim Bergman and Dick Lehman—a United Student and a Constitutional.

2. The program of pre-registration was a project of the leadership conference. To date, SGA has not voted on this item.

3. The item concerning increase in representatives over reapportionment was included in the revised Constitution—not the work of the Student's Party. There are several other technicalities which I will pass on in order to save space.

In conclusion, let me say this. SGA was founded for the purpose of promoting and protecting student welfare. It seems a certain few would rather use it for the promotion of personal gain. No representative elected to SGA should represent a party, but rather; he or she should represent those students in the college from which elected. In view of this, I feel that party claims should cease following elections, and the true purpose of SGA pursued. The Student's Party seems to have gone on record as being opposed to this belief.

Yours for a stronger SGA,
Richard E. (Dick) Vimont

By John Marcus

The two college officials leaned back in their chairs, puffing on briar pipes, contemplating the chess board that sat on the table between them. It was the day of their yearly chess match, and concentration lay heavy on their brow.

"Your move," said the rotund one, looking into the glowing fireplace of the faculty club living room.

Meanwhile, outside, the tension could be felt in the air. The annual college elections were being held, with the "Bluenose Party" running their candidate against the best the "Patched Clothes Party" had to offer. The bluenoses cheered Oscar Throne, while the Patched Clothes backed Sammy Crown.

Back in the faculty club, people crowded around to watch the chess match. The thinnest player looked at the board and mumbled, "to win, you've got to move your pawns around to suit yourself." He moved a figure.

Outside, on the campus, the Blue Noses were holding a campaign rally. "And now, for higher class representative, I present to you..." the MC droned on. The students with bluenoses waved banners, threw confetti, threw each other. The students with the patched clothes threw stones.

It was getting hot in the den now, with the fireplace roaring. It was the rotund man's move, and at the chess board, once again, Perspiring, he grumbled to the

Across the barren college grounds, the Patched Clothes Party was in the midst of after dinner speakers. It was the annual campaign dinner and a meek looking candidate squeaked out, "We are running on a platform of principles. The principle of we're for everyone, even the poor old scholarship students that bring their lunches everyday..."

In the faculty club, the thin man leaned forward with anticipation. The chess board lay almost bare before him. It was narrowed down to Kings and Queens now and it was his move.

Oscar Throne, the Blue Nose candidate, stood above the screaming throng. Waving his fist at the overcoated mass he roared, "I'm for you, if you're for me..."

The fireplace in the faculty club burned brighter. It was the rotund man's turn and he fingered his King.

At the Student's Building, Sammy Crown smiled broadly at the stamping and clapping people. They had finished their desserts and were waiting for his words, "I'm for everyone, if they're for me..."

The chess game went slower now, as each player peered at the board in anticipation.

On the campus, the polls had closed and the final vote was counted. Members of the Patched Clothes party yelled and hollered with ecstasy. Their candidate had won, they were in Power!

In the faculty club, the crowd tensed. The rotund chess player moved his man, smiling proudly at his opponent, "Check mate!"

His opponent stood, "Well, you won this year. But next year I'll think up something new and win myself."

All-Gas Kitchen To Be Installed For Class Use

Within the coming months, a fully equipped gas kitchen will be ready for demonstration classes as well as adult training and service classes.

The Kentucky LP Gas Association, the College of Adult Extension and Education, and the State Fire Marshal's office have cooperated in planning and equipping the kitchen in the basement of the Home Economics Building.

Each year the State Fire Marshal's office conducts a class for the purpose of educating servicemen and licensed LP gas operators in care and servicing LP gas equipment. The College of Adult Extension and Education is in charge of the organization of the class.

The kitchen will be used as a laboratory for demonstration and equipment by home economics students and its facilities will be used for the class sponsored by the State Fire Marshal's office. It will also be used during Farm and Home Week.

Installation began on Dec. 3, and representatives from several companies were on hand to complete final arrangements. These representatives included J. Ray Humkey, State Fire Marshal; Miss Frances L. Holiday, secretary of Kentucky LP Gas Association; Charles E. Nead, treasurer of Kentucky LP Gas Association; M. E. Dobbins, Pyrofax Corp. representative and sub-chairman assigned to UK on college co-op committee; John W. Barker, district promotion manager of the Central Kentucky Natural Gas Co.; Virgil May, chairman of the committee on college cooperation and representative of the Samuel Stamping and Enameling Co.; and Richard Jett, Lexington Farmer's Supply, in charge of LP Gas installation.

The equipment in the kitchen includes a Serval Gas Ice Maker Refrigerator, two suburban built-in burner units with two thermal-eye control burners, a suburban built-in gas oven with rotisserie, a Universal gas clothes dryer, a Magic Chef automatic gas range with thermal-eye and thermal control griddle and giant size oven, and a James automatic dishwasher. The L shaped kitchen also has built-in base and wall cabinets of fruit wood. These Brammer cabinets include a broom closet, drawers, built-in general purpose area with a pan rack, a portable cart, and a 15 inch laminated maple chopping area. The counter tops are made of formica.

The nine base cabinets and the 11 wall cabinets give continuous shelving around the kitchen.

Some of the equipment was donated by gas appliance dealers. The Samuel Stamping and Enameling Co. gave the suburban built-in oven and the Magic Chef range was a gift of the Magic Chef Inc. LP Gas is actually liquefied petroleum. The non-poisonous gas is stored under pressure and is commonly known as bottled gas. LP Gas serves 250,000-300,000 Kentucky families.

Kentucky LP Gas Association was established in 1947. The association is made up of active and associate members. Active members include dealers and distributors of LP gas, while associate members are suppliers of merchandise.

Maxwell Place

Dr. and Mrs. Frank G. Dickey and their family moved into the recently redecorated president's home. Maxwell Place has been the home of two previous Presidents, Dr. Frank McVey and Dr. H. L. Donovan. The building was purchased by the University in 1917.

Maxwell Place Has Impressive History

By FRANK C. STRUNK

President Frank G. Dickey became the third UK president to live in Maxwell Place, when he and his family moved in last week. Before him were President-Emeritus Donovan and former President McVey.

Maxwell Place is a home rich in history and memories of famous guests. It was built in 1871 by Dennis Mulligan for his son, Judge James H. Mulligan, author of "In Kentucky" and other poems.

The bricks used in Maxwell Place were made here in Lexington, and the architecture was of the Italian Villa type. It was built on a 14 acre tract of land that had originally been part of a 1,000 acre tract belonging to John Maxwell, for whom the place was named.

Judge Mulligan was a quite versatile man. He served as a judge, edited a newspaper, wrote poetry, served in the State Legislature, and served as Consul-general to Samoa under President Grover Cleveland.

While he lived at Maxwell Place, he entertained, among others, William Jennings Bryan, and John Hunt Morgan.

After the University bought Maxwell Place in 1917, it became a social gathering place for UK students and faculty, as well as for famous guests.

It was the custom of Mrs. Frances Jewell McVey, the president's wife, to invite student and faculty groups there often to drink her famous spiced tea and relax in the gracious atmosphere.

Probably the biggest social event that took place while President McVey lived there, was the visit of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. It was necessary for the local police to separate the crowd so that Mrs. Roosevelt could enter, and it was feared that the floors of the building would collapse with the weight of the throng that crowded in to see her. During Dr. Donovan's stay at Maxwell Place, he and Mrs. Donovan entertained Alben Barkley, Jesse Stuart, Madame Pandit, Milton Eisenhower, Fred M. Vinson, and Alfred Leland Crabb.

Before Dr. Dickey moved in, Maxwell Place was redecorated by UK Maintenance and Operations. The downstairs was decorated in colors of the rose-tone family and the upstairs was done in blue and harmonizing colors.

Two large, brass chandeliers from the old State Capitol at Frankfort were hung downstairs, and a new GE electric kitchen was installed.

Maxwell Springs once bubbled from the ground near where the Fine Arts Building now stands. Henry Clay, who often spoke to crowds there, was very fond of the place.

He once said, "No man can call himself a gentleman of Kentucky until he has watered his horse at Maxwell Springs."

After looking over the impressive history of Maxwell Place, it is easy to believe that Clay may have been right.

Students To Vote For Night Grill

By Phil McIntosh

Thank you, SGA, you slipped in under the wire. Although only a week before the election, and with little or no publicity, you have at last decided to act on the night grill.

In today's election, the students have the RESPONSIBILITY of voicing their opinions on this matter. If you don't want the grill, fine; if you do, that's even better. But if you don't vote, and give your opinion, you can jolly well sit back and accept the name of disinterested student. VOTE!

There is a rumor, we have heard, that members of the K-Club have, by force, removed a high school letter from a UK student, wearing it on campus. We believe this is not true. Members of the K-Club have said it is not their policy and they are certain the rumor is unfounded.

There are several students who wear their high school letters on campus. We join SGA and the K-Club in asking you not to do this. However, you are not expected to forget your high school loyalty. If it were that weak, how strong would be your UK loyalty?

At the risk of being called fair weather friends, we have two questions to ask about UK basketball. 1. Is it a tradition that our centers walk down the floor? 2. Is it possible to move the UK basket out to the foul circle so our players there might get some offensive rebounds?

We will back the team whenever and wherever they play and defend them from all outside criticism. But, just between ourselves, sometimes it sure is hard. AND THAT'S IT!

Hurt Praised By Critic For Guignol Production

By WALTER LEE HENSLEY

The Guignol Players took over the second production of the Guignol Theatre's 1956-57 season, by opening Dec. 11 with T. S. Eliot's poetic drama, "Murder in the Cathedral."

The play deals with the assassination of Archbishop Thomas a Becket, and shows him choosing to obey the laws of God rather than those of man, even though by so doing he loses the opportunity for worldly powers, and insures his murder by the party representing the English king.

Choice of "Murder in the Cathedral" had certain built-in dangers. For one thing, the play is akin to Greek tragedy. It therefore has very little in the way of action. It simply begins and ends, with little happening in the middle. Another danger is that the play has not been popular among American theater-goers. Then, too, presenting a classic role the audience of the uncertainty and the privilege of making up their own minds that is half the pleasure when the curtain goes up.

The Guignol Players did not escape these dangers completely. However, they did present a performance that was certainly adequate and at times quite captivating. Hurt is to be commended for his choice of cast and his directing skill.

A colorful setting and the unique costumes relieved the play of some of its usual morbidity. The lighting effects were excellent. These were perhaps the most impressive features of the entire performance. Performances of the individual actors were quite pleasing, although at times their poses appeared a bit too posed. Ewell Cornett was sufficiently convincing as Thomas a Beckett. Brad Clark, Ronnie Chilton, and Dudley Saunders were pleasing as the Tempters.

Little can be offered in the way of criticism, with the exception of calling attention to the beginning of the second act. The opening minutes of this act were lacking both in feeling and in mood. The Players, however, picked up the pace again and ended in a closing climax that was quite effective.

Agriculture Student Future Farmer Champ

An 18-year-old freshman in the College of Agriculture has been named state champion Future Farmer.

James W. Decker won the award for his farming achievements and successful application of vocational agriculture training.

He will receive a $100 prize and an all-expense-paid trip to Louisville to attend the farm awards luncheon next February.

Announcement of Decker's award was made by Barry Bingham, president of the Courier-Journal, Louisville Times, and WHAS and WHAS-TV, sponsors of the competition.

Members of FFA were eligible to enter the contest if they were regularly enrolled in high school vocational agriculture or graduated in the spring of 1956.

Awards were based on accurate farm records and an outline of the contestant's farming setup, its development, changes as a result of vocational agriculture training, and future plans.

The old Christmas spirit has really invaded with a bang this year and the entire campus is celebrating. Here are only a few of the social events to take place in the coming week.

Tonight the Lambda Chi's will hold their weekend house party, the Chi O's will have a house dance, and the Phi Sig's will hold their annual Christmas dance. The Alpha Gams will hold their Christmas dance, and Christmas parties will be celebrated by the Phi Tau's, Kappa Sig's, Thetas, Sigma Chi's, Phi Deltas, Alpha Sigma Phi's, and ATO's. The AGR's will hold a dance at their house.

The Big Blue will tie with Maryland Saturday night and after the game many parties will be had. For instance, Alpha Xi Delta buffet supper, ZTA, PIKA, KA, Farm House, Sigma Chi, AGR, and Alpha Sigma Phi open houses.

Sunday the Alpha Xi's, Alpha Gams, and Alpha Sigma Phi's will entertain the underprivileged and orphan children with Christmas parties and presents.

Tuesday the Triangles will hold a Christmas party for the children. Wednesday the KA's will feast at their buffet supper and the KKG's will hold their annual Christmas party for orphans.

The Alpha Xi's and AGR's will wind up the week with dinner parties for members and their dates.

Sororities and fraternities may be good or bad but no one can say that they don't do their part in making the unfortunate a little happier around Christmas time. This is what I call the real spirit of Christmas.

Reporter Gives Views On Grill Characters

By JIM BLAND

The group that inhabits the UK grill provides some interesting and some obnoxious characters for the campus scene.

Always interesting to observe, but irritating to many, is that creature known as the "table-hopper." This character, who has traces of kangaroo blood in her, is continually hopping from one table and group to another. She can't remain more than five minutes at one table because she is so restless and must visit all her friends. She enters the grill, looks around to locate all her friends, and then proceeds to make her rounds like a night watchman. Her sole purpose for visiting the grill is to pay social calls, never to eat. She will someday make a great social welfare worker or door-to-door sales person.

Closely akin to the "table-hopper" is another female known as the "parader." Instead of hopping from table to table, this coed walks around the grill without once sitting down unless someone shows interest in her. She makes a grand entrance by shouting hello to everyone within ten feet of the door. Then follows about two or three tours of the grill in the fashion of a beauty parade. Her tours are to show off her "standing" anatomical structure to the boys in the hopes of attracting dates for future events. If she isn't married by the time she leaves college, she will likely be a contestant in beauty shows or a lady floorwalker at a department store. Everyone who has entered the grill has met the "sprawler." This offender is always the male of the species. He ignores all the room around the tables and takes his space in the middle of the aisle. Sprawlers are usually in groups, since a group can cover much more space. They slide down in the chairs and stretch their legs into the aisle so that you must either step over them or trip. They prefer the latter, especially if the victim is a female. From the attitude, appearance, and positions of the sprawler, one could probably say that they will be in the same position, but without a chair, ten years from now, on skid row.

Then, there is that individual who believes the old saying that "there's always room for one more." He or she, as the case may be, arrives at a table around which a group of friends are gathered. Scarcely an inch of space exists between the members of the group. But this person is determined he room to set up a tent. When he leaves the University he will probably go to New York so that he can use the routine on the subway crowd, and he will be a success with the practice he now gets.

The "chair-napper" is a real operator and nuisance. He can take a chair from under your nose without you being aware of it, if necessary. There are two approaches used to accomplish his goal. The most often used is the direct action method. You look the other way for a second and look back to see the snatcher's will get into the group. One leg is placed between two persons and he begins wedging himself in. Then he gets his shoulders in and starts twisting. Soon the two persons are moved from the table and the individual has enough back and your buddy's chair fading into the distance as he tiptoes away. As an alternative he uses the negative approach. The snatcher steps up to the table and takes a firm grip on the chair. Then as he moves away he says to you, "You aren't using this are you?" If you want the chair you will have to beat him in two falls of three. This individual is most likely to be pursued by the law enforcement agencies if he keeps at this operation and expands it.

Summer Activities Committee Named

Choristers To Present Annual Christmas Recital

The annual Christmas recital of the University Choristers, under the direction of Mildred Lewis, will be given at 4 and 8 p.m. Dec. 15, in Memorial Hall.

The program is composed largely of carols but sixteenth, seventeenth century and contemporary composers will be represented. This group is made up mostly of students though a few staff members are included. Robert Regua, organist, will be the accompanist for the occasion.

A feature, inaugurated about five years ago, is to have former members return to sing the closing number with the present group. This augments the chorus with 40-50 additional members for Dickinson's "The Shepherd's Story." A traditional event is to have the audience join with the Choristers in singing several carols.

Cooperstown Officers Are Sworn In

Cooperstown Mayor Thomas L. Stidham was formally sworn in to office Monday night, along with nine of the 13 newly-elected members of the Cooperstown Council.

The ceremony took place at the Student Union Building, at an installation banquet for the new Cooperstown governing body.

Dean of Men Leslie L. Martin told the group that the progress of the council would require much "foresight and mature thinking, since this initial group will set the standards for years to come." Martin said that one of the biggest problems of the University administration is that of communicating with the students. "Student governments can serve as the necessary communications agencies", he said.

He listed these problems as (1) the academic situation—whether a system of quiet hours should be installed, etc.;

(2) necessity for a well-rounded social program;

(3) necessity for a project-centered recreational program for both children and adults;

(4) need for a nursery, or training school for the children of Cooperstown; and

(5) internal affairs, including possible disciplinary measures that may be passed and enforced by the Council.

Martin said the University's primary consideration in building the project, which was only opened this fall, was to promote better academic standards.

The second consideration, he said, was to provide a standard of living for students commensurate with the future positions in life they may hold.

The mayor and new councilmen were sworn in by Dave Ravencraft, vice president of SGA. Dick Lehman, SGA president, was a special guest at the banquet, since SGA conducted the entire election for the Cooperstonians.

New Councilmen sworn in and their districts are Sam Reynolds

(1), Terence McKiernan (2), William Goins (3), Kent Angel (4), Richard Day (5), Duke Curnutte (9), Mrs. Nancy Garriott (10), Ted Tillman (11), and Howard Dohrman (12).

Law College Mock Trials In Progress

Room 100 of Lafferty Hall is rapidly becoming the center of student interest as law students continue to stage weekly mock trials.

Constructed on actual law suits, these trials incorporate legal proceedings with amusing and unexpected details. The glittering testimonials of defense and prosecution witnesses blend facts with amusement.

Last Monday's trial found Donald Dumb, Hicksville cattle trader, accusing two men of "conning" him out of a sizable sum of money. The three men had engaged in a "game of odd man," and upon his loss, Dumb reported the incident to Sheriff Sly Fox, who found the two men dividing Dumb's money.

This afternoon at 2 p.m., Mr. and Mrs. Jesse James are bringing suit against Adam Plophouse, manager of the "Heartbreak Motel". Plophouse, also a deputy sheriff, arrested the two for "criminal conversation".

Student lawyers representing the plaintiffs are Wayne Bridges and Caywood Metcalf; for the defense, Fuhrman Martin and Arthur E. Abshire.

These trials are open to all university students.

Naval Reserve Program Now Open To College Men

College men are now eligible for enrollment in a new naval reserve program, Lt. Com. H. B. Clark recruiting officer for the Naval Training Center, has announced.

Under the new plan college freshmen, sophomores and juniors can get reserve commissions in the Navy.

Students apply for the ROC (reserve officer candidate) training and, if accepted, spend two summers at the ROC School, Newport, R. I. Then, upon receipt of a degree they are commissioned as a Navy ensign.

Clark said that this is the first time reserve training in the Navy has been offered to men over 18.

He said that if a person is not accepted for ROC, he would still be in the reserve. Applicants must become members of a reserve unit to take the training.

The recruiting officer pointed out that candidates would be able to continue with their college work and that they would be draft exempt. Officers commissioned under the plan will spend three years on active duty.

Clark said that UK students interested in the program should apply at once. Applications will close in about 30 days.

For more information, see H. B. Clark (lt. com.) at the UK Experiment Station

College Sports Editor's
All-American Grid Team
Has Michaels Third Unit

By SCOOP WHITE, Sports Editor

Collegiate football has yet to be kicked out of the sports picture. All-American teams are still coming in, the latest one being the College Sports Editors' first annual dream eleven polled by the Notre Dame SCHOLASTIC magazine.

At ends were Ron Kramer, Michigan and Joe Walton, Pittsburgh. Tackles selected were John Witte, Oregon State, and Mike Sandusky, Maryland. Jim Parker, Ohio State, and Bill Glass, Baylor are the guards with Jerry Tubbs of Oklahoma anchoring the middle of the line. Notre Dame's Paul Hornung was chosen quarterback. His other backfield mates are Tommy McDonald, Oklahoma, and Johnny Majors, Tennessee. A surprise was picked for fullback in Paige Cotchren of Mississippi.

My fellow colleagues chose the Wildcats' Lou Michaels third team tackle. Ahead of him on the second team were Paul Wiggin, Stanford, and Earl Leggett, LSU. Except for the starting tackles the team is fine. However, one weakness is evident. The poll was taken at mid-season and I imagine most of the editors leaned toward the pre-season ratings instead of the showings the candidates made during the season. Much of Michaels' national praise came after the Georgia Tech game, in which millions of grid fans witnessed his All-American performance.

This was the first recognizable team Sandusky has made this year while Witte has made all the major ones. PARKER was named Player of the Year and BOWDEN WYATT of Tennessee was a popular choice for Coach of the Year.

Men, let's pick our teams a little later next year.

Kentucky's game with Duke in Durham Tuesday night will highlight the Blue Devils' golden anniversary in basketball. Their initial experience with the roundball sport came on March 2, 1906 when Duke, then Trinity College, met Wake Forest, with history recording the tussle as the first basketball game in North Carolina.

People down-Durham way are happy the gay occasion will pit the Blue Devils and the Wildcats. Here is a paragraph from the publicity release. . . . "It is fitting that a team such as the Wildcats help mark 50 years of basketball. Kentucky has without a doubt the most famous basketball name in the country and RUPP, its coach, is rightfully called "Mr. Basketball."

That is a fine tribute to Coach Adolph Rupp and his past teams, and the North Carolinians will see why the above words were written when they watch the 1956-57 Cats in action.

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED, in this year's last issue, will name its Silver Anniversary All-American roster from the football heroes of 1931. Almost half of the candidates have made successful careers in the business field. UK's candidate is John S. (Shipwreck) Kelly, an outstanding athlete in his collegiate days. Kelly played pro football with the New York Giants after graduating in 1932. His work in the pro field helped establish the successful status of pro football.

Meet A Wildcat

Calvert Sparks Cats As Good Team Player

By DON LESSLEY

When a writer interviews an athlete to find out about the player and hears nothing but praise for his teammates, you can rest assured you are talking to a true sportsman and a real competitor. Such is the case with the shortest Cat on the basketball team, Gerry Calvert.

Though Gerry stands only 5-11, he is a real giant of a ball player, as well as a personality. He has lettered twice in basketball and twice in baseball for the University. Last year he played in all 26 games the Cats played and ended with an 11.2 scoring average, fourth best on the whole team.

"That team my sophomore year was the best I've played on. It had the most fight because of Billy Evans, the best player I've ever played with," says Gerry. "(Guy) Rodgers of Temple is the best I've ever played against." In talking of the teams, Gerry said that he would not talk about this year's edition in comparison with the other two he has been on because it is too early in the year.

Gerry made All-State twice while playing high school ball for Maysville. The redhead did not come to the state tournament during his high school career.

Concerning the future, Gerry had little doubt about what he wants. "I'd like to give high school coaching a try, but I don't want any of this college business, it's too rough a sport when you lose." The physical education major was sure about pro ball. "No, I don't want any of that either."

"What has given me the most pleasure during my college career?", he repeated to a question. "That's easy. I've had two real thrills. The win over Temple this year and my first and really biggest, starting against Marquette and Penn State in the 1954-55 NCAA Tourney".

Like the other Cats, Gerry was disappointed about getting beat by St. Louis. "The loss hurt, but I think we'll learn by our mistakes we made. That was the toughest loss I've ever had to take."

Though Gerry will not be on the 1957-58 Wildcats he had this to say about some of the boys who will be. "Hutton and Cox will be two of the greatest players this school will see, you can't deny them. Kentucky will have a solid club next year . . . provided they don't let down."

Gerry is a real pepper-pot of energy. Always on the go, regardless of whether he is on the floor or just moving around. You can't be around him very long without feeling that he is a team man, always ready to give the ball to someone else if it means two points. Kentucky has 22 more games this year. Calvert will be in each one of them, baring injury, and Calvert will get the job done, well done.

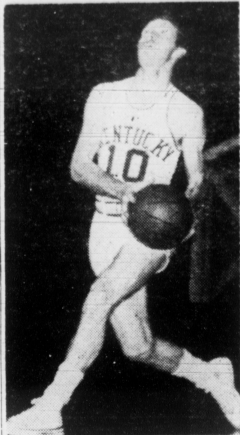

Kentucky Hopes To Rebound In Maryland, Duke Contests

By TOM WHITE

How tough is Atlantic Coast Conference basketball! Kentucky's Wildcats will have a clue as they meet two of its undefeated members, Maryland and Duke, in the next four days.

Maryland's Terps, beaten last year 62-61 at College Park, invade Memorial Coliseum Saturday evening to test the Wildcats. The Kentucky freshmen entertain Lee's Junior College starting at 6 p.m.

Kentucky travels to Durham, North Carolina Tuesday to battle the Duke Blue Devils starting at 7:15 (CST). The Wildcats defeated Duke last season 81-76 in Lexington.

GERRY CALVERT

MARYLAND
Maryland lost two of its leading scorers by graduation, Bob Kessler and John Sandbower, but Bob O'Brien, who averaged 14 points a game last season could help ease coach Bud Millikan's problems.

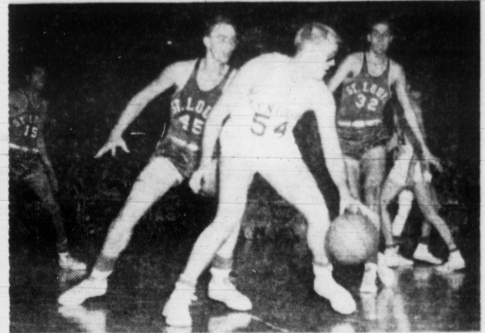

Two promising sophomores, 6-2 Gene Danko and 6-1 Nick Davis, are good floor men and deadly shots. Back for another campaign is John Nacinick, 6-3 who has been starting at one of the forward slots this season.

A battle for the starting center spot exists between 6-5 Perry Moore and 6-5 Don Dunlap. Future success of the Terps depends on whether one of these two boys will give Coach Millikan the big man needed in today's big-time basketball.

DUKE
Duke has four lettermen back from last season's ball club which compiled a 19-7 record. Coach Hal Bradley has built his team around his only returning starter Bobby Joe Harris. Harris, 5-11 is one of the best long shot artists in the ACC.

Teamed with Harris at guard is Bucky Allen, 6-2, who played little last year. Sophomore Jerry Robertson inherited the center spot left vacant by the graduation of Junior Morgan. Robertson, 6-6, was outstanding as a freshman and possesses a good hook shot and is a good rebounder.

We Were Winning Then

Kentucky substitute guard Bill Cassidy is shown dribbling from St. Louis forward Jack Mimplitz (45) in the game's final moments. Seconds later Mimplitz hit a one-hander to beat the Cats 71-70.

XMAS TIME — Means holly, mistletoe and parties — and holiday parties call for a tuxedo by "After Six" (America's best known formal wear). If you want a nice inexpensive tux, try the model called "Stagline" by "After Six". The single breasted, shawl collar is the big favorite and has a lot of zip, that will help brighten your holiday evenings—add a complementary cummerbund and matching tie set to this and brother you are heading for a Xmas to remember. Last night I re-met an old friend (U.K. Alumni)—now on the staff of the "Courier-Journal" in Louisville, and amongst the talk of "old times," he said, "Link, do you remember when you fitted me in my first tuxedo?" (Struck me as funny since I had planned to talk with you about tuxedos this week.) He also asked if I was still writing this little epistle—and I was happy to say "yes." Invitation in the mail box? — Need a tux? — Pay a visit.

JIMMY WARD—Phi Sigma Kappa (accounting) is not only a nice person, but a nice dresser as well. He was real tuxy the other p.m. — (1) Sport coat of light grey Shetland — (2) Charcoal flannel slax — (3) Soft grey pin collar shirt with French cuffs (sporting links of drama mask motif) — (4) A tie of wine colored silk with matching handkerchief — (5) Grey cashmere Sox and a pair of well shined black wing tip shoes — very subdued — very pleasing!

CAR COATS — Are nice, but everyone needs a nice topcoat to complement their "dressy up" times. "Harris tweeds" are wonderful — (they blend with darn near everything) from tiny checks, houndtooths to heather weaves. College men and non-college men love "Harris tweeds."

TIP ITEM — Wide — but wide stripe ties are the vogue in N. Y. So long now,

IS THIS THE MAN WHO STARTED IT?

There are some who dispute the fact that President Chester A. Arthur was the first man to wear the Oxford Button-Down shirt. They are right, he wasn't. Van Heusen has discovered that its originator was actually Arthur A. Chester, who, oddly enough, used the button not to keep his collar down, but to keep his shirt up. Whatever its purpose, the Oxford Button-Down (or Button-Up) shirt wowed Mr. Chester's crowd on sight and has been a staple of fine wardrobes ever since. Today, Van Heusen's Oxford Button-Down is still in the authentic Chesterian tradition

. . . but with a wonderful difference. The cloth, woven of fine long-staple cotton, is as soft as a co-ed's smile, yet exceptionally long-wearing. Superbly tailored in the smart Van Heusen way, this Oxford Button-Down enhances your looks, whether you're involved in class, tugs of war or mid-night brawls. $5.00.

SAE, FH, SX, ATO In Semis Independent Meet Wide Open

By BOB WHITAKER and KENNY HILL

Upsets dominated fraternity tourney play, as independent play has gone as expected.

Upsets ruled the fraternity tourney as AGR, KA, and DTD were ousted. The three kingpins in regular season play were undefeated.

Farmhouse met SAE and SX played ATO in the semi-finals. Scores of these games were not available at press time. The championship tilt is Dec. 18, at 7 p.m.

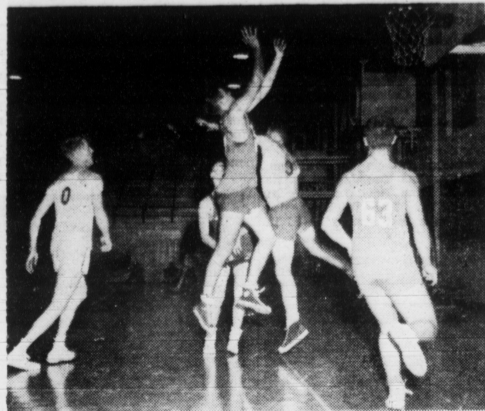

In the lower bracket, Farmhouse held off a last minute surge by the Deltas in winning 28-26. Howard Baker tapped 16 points to lead the Farmhouse boys. AGR, a strong contender, had a short tourney stay, for they were bounced 24-17 by SX. SX led at halftime 10 to 9.

In a low scoring tilt, ATO, with a 3-3 record for regular season play, upset KA 20-14. Shorty Saufley, big KA pivotman, was held to six points.

With PKA ahead 24-17, "fate" decided to step in and give SAE a hand as they dropped the Pike's 48-38. The Pi Kaps hit a cold streak, while the SAE's were enjoying a hot spell.

Bill Martin, the tilt's high scorer with 18, led the SAE surge. Aiding the PKA cause was Joe Revo who bucketed 14 points.

In first round encounters, ATO, with Don Mills blazing the nets for 12 points, topped LXA 32-13. And Farmhouse crushed KS 31-22.

While the favorite Independent Cats drew a first round bye, the Clifton Cats remained strong contenders for the crown by looking impressive in their opening game.

Led by 19 points by Don Blevins and 14 by Jerry Vance, the Cats upended Team (3), 56-43. Joe Scot paced the losers with 25 points. Dale Trivette led the Cats with 10 points as they led 28-17 at the half.

Newman Club (1) upset the Civil Engineers, 33-26. Eddie Kleir's 14 points led Newman (1). Tom Milton and Dick Delozier each had 12 points for the Engineers.

The Barons nipped the BSU Theologs, 38-34. Bill Joiner paced the Barons with 14 markers. Luther Jackson hit for 14 for BSU. Team (1) walloped Newman Club (2), 29-14 with Bill Callahan leading the way with 16 points. Bob Walsburger had 5 to lead the losers.

Jim Hamilton led Wesley Foundation to a 45-33 win over the BSU Deacons with 19 points. John Bond had 13 markers for the Deacons. The Comets won on a forfeit from Donovan Hall.

Swim Meet Will Be Held On Monday

I-M swimming interferes with basketball one night this week when the mermen meet begins at 5 p.m. Monday in the Coliseum pool.

In the fight for the team title, DTD leads in the number of entries with 14 men in the various eight events. Last year's champions, Swamp Rats, are next in line with 10 qualifiers, followed by SAE with seven, PKT has three, and SPE, ZBT, and ATO each have a single entry. For the first time in four years, PDT will not be a contender for the crown as they failed to qualify any men for the meet.

Catfish Prepare For Opener

DePauw and Sewanee are the only two additions to the 1956 University of Kentucky swim schedule released by Athletic Director Bernie Shively this week.

These two schools join nine repeaters of the 1956 card that dealt the Catfish eight losses in ten engagements last season. With slightly more than a month remaining before the first meet with Louisville, the University of Kentucky Catfish have already shown indications of an improved swim team in 1957.

In announcing the new schedule, Swimming Coach Algie Reece said that the prospects expect to be "a little better, although we still have a very inexperienced squad". The nine-man team is composed of six sophomores without varsity experience, and three juniors.

Reece also commented that by next semester he may have one to three additional swimmers on the squad, including SEC dash champ Roger Messick who has returned to Kentucky following a short tenure at Virginia.

Messick won the 50 and 100 yard freestyle events in the SEC meet before transferring to Virginia. The only person in the SEC to beat him during his freshman and sophomore years was the sensational Reid Patterson, of Pineville, Ky., former Georgia sprint star and now a member of the U. S. Olympic squad.

"Depth again will be our problem this year" pointed out Reece. "We really need about a 15 or 16-man squad to compete with the other schools. This year we had about 30 freshmen trying out and they should help us in the future, but we need more people to take up swimming seriously," said the veteran mentor.

Members of this year's Catfish team include Ronald Boorman of Alameda, California, a sprinter; Bill Eaton, of Easton, Pa., butterfly and free-style; Olaf Hauger, Paducah, diver; James Ketzler, Detroit, breast-stroker; Jerry Reece, son of the swimming coach, Lexington, backstroker and free-style; Sidney Neuman, Lexington, free-styler; Guy Hisle, Mt. Sterling, Ky., free-styler; David Lentz, Lexington, diver; and David Wild, Lexington, free-styler.

Cats Divide Rugged Tilts

Johnny Cox scored 23 points to lead a Kentucky come-from-behind win over Guy Rodgers and company of Temple in Philadelphia.

The Owls left the floor at half-time leading 37-36, but Kentucky came back and scored to make it 38-37 and it was all Kentucky after that. The widest margin was 21 points at one time in the second half.

The Cats held their opponents scoreless for two stretches of better than five minutes each to notch their third win of the year. Gerry Calvert, senior playmaker for the Cats, came through with 18 points for the Bluegrass five.

When the Cats took the floor on Monday night they ran afoul a fired up team from St. Louis University that was recovering from a set back in their last game and fell before the Bills, who couldn't miss a long shot, 71-70. Guard Vernon Hinton led in point production with 21, followed very closely by Cox who poured in 20. Calvert was next in line with 18.

Kentucky now stands three wins, one loss and they take on Maryland, a team they beat by only one point last year, tomorrow night in the Coliseum. After the game with the Terps, the Cats' next home games will be in the UKIT tournament when they meet Southern Methodist University in the opening round. Illinois plays Dayton in the other game.

The UK freshman, led by Don Mills and Reger Newman, had little trouble downing Wilmington Air Force Base 109-. Mills tallied 32, Newman 28, with Lowell Hughes adding 14. Bobby Sheperd was the big boy under the boards for the winning Kittens.

East-West Game

The University of Kentucky will be well represented in the annual East-West Shrine football game to be played in Kezar Stadium in San Francisco, California, Jan. 29.

Kentucky Coach Blanton Collier has been selected to help coach the East squad. Collier will have the services of seniors J. T. Frankenberg, Dave Kuhn and Bob Dougherty, selected to play for the East.

This game is played annually to raise funds for the many Shrine hospitals throughout the country. It will be on nation wide television.

Ex-Wildcats In Pro Ball

Five recent University of Kentucky basketball stars have been playing either professional or service basketball since their graduation.

Cliff Hagan, All-American center in 1954, has been switched to guard by the St. Louis Hawks of the NBA. Hagan is in a new position for him as a playmaker for the Hawks. Bob Burrow, All-American center last year for the Wildcats, has been drafted by the Rochester Royals. Rochester hopes Burrow will give them added rebounding and scoring strength off the boards.

Lou Tsiropoulos, forward on the 1952 and 1954 Wildcat teams, has been seeing plenty of action for the Boston Celtics. He returned to the Celtics this season after his Army discharge. A former teammate, Frank Ramsey, played brilliantly for the Celtics before his Army induction, but is expected back sometime in January.

Billy Evans, captain and guard of the 1954-55 Kentucky team, was a member of the United States World Championship Olympic Basketball team this year. In one of the first round games Evans scored 13 points to help lead his country to victory. Evans is currently an officer in the Air Force. He was named to the Olympic squad during last Spring's All-Service tourney held in Louisville.

J. Paul Sheedy* Was An Ugly Duckling Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

"Sheedy, you're quacking up", snorted his girl friend. "Your appearance is fowl. Why don't you wise up to Wildroot Cream-Oil?" So J. Paul marshed right down to the store and pecked up a bottle. Now he's the sharpest duck in school because his hair looks handsome and healthy... neat but never greasy. When last seen he was sipping a chocolate moulted with the prettiest chick on campus (... and she caught the bill!) So if the gals are giving you the bird, better get some Wildroot Cream-Oil... either a bottle or handy tube. Guaranteed to drive most swimmin' wild!

Middle East Debate

Dr. Jonah Skiles (left), head of the Ancient Language Department, and William Jenkins (right), a graduate student in Political Science, debate the crisis in the Middle East. The debate was held in the Donovan Hall cafeteria and was sponsored by the Political Science Club.

UK Political Science Club Sponsors Mid-East Debate

A hotly debated forum sponsored by the Political Science Club on the Middle Eastern Crisis was presented Thursday at the Donovan Hall cafeteria.

Taking part in the discussion were Dr. Jonah Skiles of the Ancient Languages Department and William Jenkins, a graduate student in Political Science.

"Israel shows more reason for existing than any of the Arab states and shows more ability to be a state," was the position taken by Dr. Skiles.

"For Israel has no aspirations to increase its territory and the attack on Egypt was not an attempt to seize the Suez Canal, but an attempt by Israel to get themselves in a better position for defense of their country. Also I feel there existed no deal between Israel and any other power. A peace between Israel, Lebanon and Jordan could have existed for a long time except for the pressure being exerted by Syria on these two countries. When I was in Israel recently the fear of an Egyptian attack was prevalent," Dr. Skiles said.

Jenkins felt just the opposite. He said, "Israel's main import over the years has been money gotten through world wide collections. Israel's ability to exist as a nation is much less than the other Arab States."

Dr. Amry Vandenbosch, head of the Political Science Department, entered the debate by asking Skiles if the large number of refugees who are now immigrating to Israel will not force that country to expand.

To this Skiles said, "Israel is making great gains in cultivating the barren land of that state, which has a total area of 8,000 square miles and that he feels expansion is not necessary."

A continuation of this topic will again be presented at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, December 20 at the Donovan Hall cafeteria. The forum will be open to the public.

Caroling Group Announces Plans For Singing Tour

A group of carolers will make a tour of the dormitories, independent organizations and Greek letter groups Thursday, Dec. 20.

The group will assemble on Limestone near the SAE and Sigma Chi houses at about 6:30 p.m. They will go down to Maxwell caroling about 5 minutes at each organization. After covering Maxwell Street, the carolers will go to the men's dormitories and then to the women's residence halls, ending at the Good Samaritan Hospital.

They plan to add to the group at each stop.

Grady Sellards, spokesman for the carolers, said the activity is not sponsored by any single group.

He added that both Dean of Men Leslie L. Martin and Dean of Women Sarah B. Holmes are very much in favor of the idea.
