The Coliseum's New 'Blue Room'

ATHLETES TO GET RECEPTION ROOM

A showpiece for University of Kentucky athletics has been built into Memorial Coliseum. The new addition is a reception room in which to entertain prospective players, their parents, and coaches.

The Blue Room is the name given to the new hospitality center by Bernie A. Shively, athletic director at the University. The room is located in the west side of Memorial Coliseum across the hall from the ticket division.

The new Athletic Department showpiece will provide a homey atmosphere in which to entertain guests. "We needed a place to entertain visitors in a non-office atmosphere," said Ken Kuhn, University sports publicity director. He suggested the Blue Room will provide a comfortable place in which members of the department staff can talk over plans with the prospective athletes.

The Blue Room will be equipped with all the elements to make it both a showpiece and a congenial reception room. In front of the door is a blue tile welcome mat displaying a white "K" emblem. Inside, the floor of the reception room is covered with a thick blue carpet; the furniture is upholstered in blue leather, and the walls are done in walnut paneling. On one side of the room is a trophy case in which major University triumphs will be displayed, and on the other side of the room is a snack bar from which sandwiches, soft drinks, and coffee will be served during conferences. Pictures of University all-Americans will be used to decorate the walls and the acoustical ceiling will provide a quiet meeting place.

Kuhn explained that having such an entertainment room is not a unique idea and many other universities have such rooms in which to entertain guests.

The Blue Room has been converted from the old varsity locker room and part of a men's rest room. It will replace the squad meeting hall as a place where coaches interview prospective players. Bernie Shively, the head coaches, and the Lexington Quarterback Club are jointly deciding what should be displayed in the Blue Room.

TRUSTEES TO MEET TUESDAY

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. The major topic of discussion will be the internal budget for 1963-64.

The Board will consider the names of persons recommended for honorary degrees, reports on the HHFA Housing Project for four fraternities, and reports on the sale of Coldstream Farm land for 1-64 right-of-way.

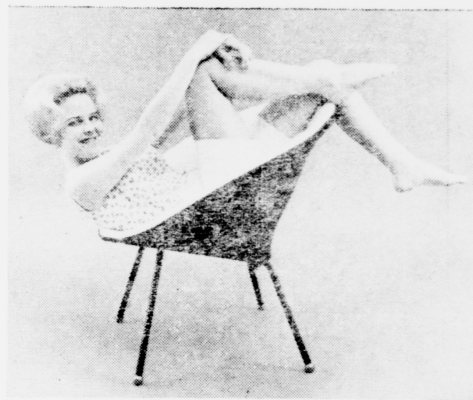

The Board will accept the deed of conveyance from the Educational Development Association and will hear a report from the Hopkinsville Community College site selection committee. There will also be discussion of the filling of the Board Secretary position.

Formal approval will be given the establishment of the Department of Plant Pathology; the recommended changes in governing regulations; and the graduate faculty appointments.

Engineer Exams

An Engineer-In-Training examination will be held Thursday, April 25 in Lexington at the Engineering Annex, on the UK campus.

Seniors in engineering may file applications with Dr. C. S. Crouse, secretary of the Engineering Registration Board, before April 11.

Counting The Days Until Spring Vacation . . . is this week's Kernel Sweetheart, Paula Stamer, of Louisville. Paula is a freshman journalism major and a member of Alpha Gamma Delta.

Where The Cowboys Are

Tired Of The South? Go West, Collegians

By JANIE GEISER, Kernel Feature Writer

Want to be "discovered" at Hollywood and Vine, ride horses on dude ranches, meet real cowboys and Indians, see the Grand Canyon, or drink water from a cactus? Then, go West, young collegians, go West!

It's still not too late to cancel those reservations at Daytona Beach and make plans to travel West for spring vacation. Satisfy that wanderlust, that something-out-of-the-ordinary to do besides term papers feeling; go West.

You may not get to go as far as California or Oregon during the vacation, but you could get as far as the 10 gallon hat and oil well territory. Who knows—you may encounter some millionaire (or henness) who's at the marrying stage. While you're there, you could even venture to Lake Texacana, the supposed "Ft. Lauderdale of the West" for western colleges, or visit "Big D, little a-l-l-a-s."

The West offers sand and sun, even more than in Florida, as well as deserts, lakes, resorts, Las Vegas, Tiajuana, Yellowstone Park, and the Petrified Forest. It's all there for the asking.

Have you ever been to Chinatown, the "Purple Onion," the "Hungry i" UCLA, or Hollywood? Travel by bus, car, thumb, train, or plane (depending on your financial situation at the time), but go! Remember those long-lost relatives whom you've never met but who live in the heart of the movie industry? Sometimes you just have to take advantage of little, but very significant, opportunities, like that.

If you like the West, or think you might like it, you may even want to work there in the summer. Many college students will be working on dude ranches, in hotels, Yellowstone Park, the Grand Canyon, Colorado Springs, camps, Disneyland, and other innumerable western spas. The jobs offer something new and different from the usual office and store jobs available each year in your hometown. Although the salaries may not be the greatest, the experience of meeting and working with other students from campuses across the nation could prove even more beneficial to you. Many places are still taking applications for positions this summer. Names of these spots are sometimes found in travel magazines, travel bureaus, or from other students who have worked there.

Try something like this—working or traveling in the West—for a new experience. You don't have to join the Navy "to see the world;" you can see it on your own.

POO-POOLY! Four Preps Return To UK

The Four Preps, nationally famous jazz-singing group, will appear at Memorial Hall at 7 and 9:30 o'clock tonight sponsored by the Keys, sophomore men's honorary.

The "Preps" have had many best-selling albums and are known for their popularity with college crowds. They have appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show and on the Dick Clark Show a number of times.

The Four Preps appeared at UK last year for the LKD concert.

Tickets are being sold at Kennedy's Book Store, Barney Miller's, Graves-Cox, and Campus Bookstore. The tickets are $2 in advance and $2.50 at the door.

LKD Concert Shows Rise In Receipts

A profit of $1,539.69 was shown from the Smothers Brothers concert, sponsored by the Little Kentucky Derby scholarship committee.

The announcement was made yesterday by Dick Lowe, director of student activities. The money will go into the LKD scholarship fund. LKD offers $100 scholarships to qualified students. The number of grants available will not be known until all receipts from the LKD weekend and other LKD-sponsored activities are totaled.

The Four Preps To Appear In Memorial Hall Tonight

Phi Kappa Tau Selects Professor Of Month

Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the Department of History, has been selected by Phi Kappa Tau as professor of the month.

The monthly award was given to Dr. Clark because of his willingness to work personally with the students in his class.

Dr. Clark has been head of the department since 1945. He obtained his A.B. degree at the University of Mississippi, M.A. at the University of Kentucky, and his Ph.D. from Duke University.

Dr. Clark has written "A History of Kentucky," "Exploring Kentucky," "The Beginning of the L & N," "Simon Kenton," "Kentucky Scout," and several other books. He is a member of American Historical Association, Southern Historical Association, American Association of University Professors, and an honorary member of Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary.

"We're moving," said Mrs. Sondra Ricks from behind boxes of books and files topped by a pink and white miniature windmill.

Mrs. Ricks, head of the YWCA, leaned against her cluttered desk and explained the turmoil which seemed to have enveloped all the back rooms of the Student Union Building. "The YMCA, the YWCA, the Student Union Board, the Little Kentucky Derby office, and the Student Congress are all moving to McDowell House for six months," she said. The move is the result of the intended remodeling of the old section of the SUB. The remodeling will take place during spring vacation and now there is a rush to get everything into McDowell House, 341 Harrison Avenue, between the International Center and the Delta Gamma sorority house, so that everything can be open by tomorrow.

"All the telephone numbers will remain the same," Mrs. Ricks said.

Social Whirl

By NANCY LONG

Mid-term week has passed us by again stripping us of our brains, our normalcy, our reasoning ability and our muscle control, leaving us with shaggy heads, flopping flaps, agonizing frustration pains and a shattered ego.

There's this thing I have about professors who say an exam is going to be with an open book and then decide to close the book! Ah yes, you've experienced it too! That certain feeling, that makes the stomach cavity retract into a tight ball. You stare blankly at the blackboard as the avid realization envelops you — you don't know one thing about John Locke, or Kant, how can I contrast them? Suppress the recalcitrance of the agony, maybe you can bring your 18 hours of E up to 18 hours of D by June.

But, there are all sorts of ways to compensate for flunking your worny midterms. For the girls, a new hairstyle does wonders for the psychological renovation, and does no harm at all in untangling the two week ratted mass of string called hair you've accumulated. By the way, what do the men do? I guess they get a pledge to polish their shoes, but I don't know what that does toward boosting morale. More than likely, they make use of a foaming cleanser (not Ajax either).

The M & O men are at it again—a sure sign of Spring. They're going around campus with giant clippers and snatching the life from all sorts of bushes. UK's beautiful campus has become a land of stumps.

Sit in class and listen to the medley of sounds, they make a rather interesting tune to doodle by. There's the occasional motorcycle murmur as someone races to class ten minutes late, the sound of the garbage collector as he bumps around tin cans, the roar of some mysterious machine in the Wendt Shop, and the inevitable Spring remodeling of the floor beneath you. All this crowns out the pitiful drone of the professor's voice which you can not possibly hear. And they wonder why spring grades are lower than winter grades!

Delta Gamma has the distinction of holding the first spring formal of the year. They will waltz to Frankfort in billowy skirts and flowers to occupy the Governor's mansion and dance to the bewitching hour tonight.

Delta Zeta is holding a jam session this afternoon at the chapter house, and the campus is invited—but the whole campus will be there too. Just the right temperature for a jam session. The Shades will play the perfect hononade sipping music!

Phi Gamma Delta fraternity is going to the Campbell House to swing tonight, and as an extra attraction the Continentals will be there to play music while drying by.

Something you won't want to miss is the Four Preps concert tonight at Memorial Hall. They're appearing twice and if they're as good as they're latest album, (and they're probably better in person) promises of a great show are in store.

I think everyone anticipated mid-term blues by scheduling this weekend as there are parties in abundance to soothe our weak minds, and even Apollo was kind in showering his object of favor, the sun is upon us. Dear, good Apollo.

The fifty mile hike sponsored by Alpha Tau Omega begins tonight at 11 p.m. They will energetically heading toward Frankfort, and turning around at that point, will try to return to Lexington. The walkers, comprised of various fraternity men (probably pledges!) will return to the ATO house Saturday afternoon (see hope) where they will be honored with a jam session. I'd like to meet the fella who after walking all night and half a day, could still do the Big D! I'm not insinuating that it's impossible, I'd just like to meet him. Well, good luck fella, may you return home before spring vacation starts, and may all your blisters be tiny ones.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon is having a Casino Party Saturday night at the chapter house. The decorations have been sent by Harold's Club in Reno—legitimately of course, and minus dancing girls. The Temptations will be playing good gambling music to roll dice by.

Phi Gamma Delta will hold a Florida Party Saturday night at the chapter house. Good training for next weekend.

Kappa Sigma pledges are entertaining their active brothers at a coat and tie party Friday night. The Lyrics will play.

Lambda Chi Alpha is having a Viking Party Saturday night at the chapter house. Costumes, make believe duels, and real live pirate music by the Torques will be highlighting the evening.

Sigma Chi has come back into the social scene and sponsoring a Cabin Party Saturday night at Sleepy Hollow. Pi Kappa Alpha pledges will have a Bermuda party Saturday night and of course they're inviting the actives!

Phi Kappa Tau fraternity will entertain their parents at their annual Parent's Day Banquet at the Holiday Inn Saturday night. Dr. James Gladden will be the guest speaker and a reception will follow at the house.

Westminster Fellowship is sponsoring a square dance at 8 p.m. Saturday night at the center.

7 Receive ROTC Award

Seven University students were recently designated Distinguished Military Students by Col. R. E. Tucker, head of the Military Science Department, with the approval of University President Frank G. Dickey.

The students are Earl L. Campbell, Gayle W. Ecton, Ronald L. Grimm, Henry Koppelman, Robert L. Price, Terry R. Roberts, and Vaughn K. Timberlake.

Men receiving this recognition must be in the top one-third of their military classes and the top half of their other classes, and they must demonstrate superior qualities of leadership.

The Department of the Army gives this award to every college and university in the United States having a four year ROTC program.

All distinguished Military Students are eligible, upon graduation, to accept a commission as second lieutenants in the United States Army. They enter the army on the same basis as graduates of the United States Military Academy.

"Each year more men receiving the DMS award enter the regular army as commissioned officers than graduates of West Point," said Col. Tucker. "The University usually has four or five men following this program each year."

A certificate of honor is awarded to all men who are designated as Distinguished Military Students, and they are presented with a silver badge with the United States shield.

Social Activities

Lutheran Student Association
Donald Leak, Director of the YMCA is giving a talk on Christian marriage at the Presbyterian Center at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Westminster Fellowship
Westminster Fellowship will meet at 5:30 p.m. Sunday. The program will feature Dean Harper and Jack Hall, Head of Men's Residence. They will comment on how they view organizations such as Westminster Fellowship and how they might relate to the campus. They will also elect officers for the coming year.

Newman Club
Father Elmer Moore, chaplain of the Newman Club, will explain the ceremony of Mass at 7 p.m. Sunday. The explanation, followed by a question-answer period will be given in the Newman Club Bubble. All are invited to attend.

Alpha Tau Omega
Alpha Tau Omega held its annual Founders Day Banquet Sunday afternoon at the chapter house. Several alumni were in attendance along with the actives and pledges of the fraternity. The day's activities included talks by Dale Henderson, an active, and Elmond Martin, a Lexington alumnus.

Maybe Kentucky Should Leave SEC For Negroes

By EDDIE DEAN, Sports Editor
The Commercial Dispatch, March 24, Columbus, Mississippi.

We see where the editor of the University of Kentucky student newspaper has advocated the withdrawal of the University from the Southeastern Conference for the expressed purpose of recruiting Negro athletes.

This was bound to happen in the not too distant future. Kentucky, along with a couple of three other universities in the conference have been the doormats of their big brothers and on the bottom of the Dixie Dozen.

The editor states, and we quote, "If the university (Kentucky) is to live up to its moral obligation and make significant progress as a major institution, it must divorce itself from the segregation policy which dominates the Southeastern Conference."

First, we would like to know how such a policy would make the University of Kentucky any more progressive. The school is recognized as one of the finest academic colleges in the country.

The editorial further states, "Here and now with a withdrawal from the SEC, or an announcement that we will begin to recruit Negro players by a certain date, we have the golden opportunity to become leaders."

"We can stand up and tell the world that we, a Southern University, are sick and tired of having a doctrine of racial inferiority rammed down our throats."

University Soapbox

Beware Of Naked Animals

To The Editor:

Fellow students, awaken! I was aware of the outrageous indecency that is allowed to continue on this campus until I happened to observe a seemingly unimportant article in the Courier-Journal. Upon reading this article, I, like any self-respecting gentleman, received a terrible jolt.

It seems that there exists, struggling against great odds and trying to overcome seeming obscurity, a brave and far-sighted organization known as the Society for Indecency to Naked Animals.

To quote the Courier-Journal: "Its motto: 'clothe all animals.' Its purpose: 'To protect our children from the sight of naked horses, cows, dogs, cats, and other such animals.'"

SINA, as this courageous and self-sacrificing group is commonly referred to, picketed the White House March 5, carrying such appropriate posters as: "Mrs. Kennedy, won't you please clothe your horses for decency?"

These happenings have made me realize that a shocking and terribly immoral atmosphere exists on our own campus here at UK.

Do you realize that the virginal young eyes of our own freshman men and women are constantly being exposed to the sight of nude dogs and squirrels running around campus in full view of everyone? There is no telling what effect this may have on a young and innocent mind.

Another thing which we have been deceived on for many years, if the editorial is correct, is the fact that Kentucky is a "Southern" university. Just what makes them think that they know anything about the South?

In the editor's final statement, he says that he is sick and tired of the doctrine of racial inferiority being rammed down our throats.

It is not the doctrine of racial inferiority that has been rammed down the throats of Kentucky but the foul taste of defeat on the football field year in and year out.

It is a known fact that Kentucky has one of the hardest academic requirements in the nation, and athletes, especially football players, are not known to flock to schools that head up academic polls.

Now what makes this editor think that the university will change its policy and recruit Negroes is beyond reason, when they will not do it for white football players at the present. Of course they may.

Kentucky fans and others interested in the SEC may rest assured that officials will study hard if such a proposal is brought forward before turning down the lucrative sums of money that each member of the conference reaps on New Years day from the bowl games, just for the purpose of having Negro athletes.

As we have said, it may happen. Just how they expect it to benefit them is not made clear.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

So Long Good Friend

To The Editor:

I notice where your newspaper is advocating integration of sports in the Southeastern Conference. Now we say if you people up there in Kentucky don't think that the other schools in the SEC are good enough for your University to associate with, then we're sure the other schools will be glad to see Kentucky pull out. We would like to see Miss. So. of Fla. St. come into the conference anyway.

So long, good friend.

Ain't You Presuming

Editor's Note: All punctuation and spelling was in the original letter. To The Editor:

Who ever told you that Kentucky was a southern state. Ain't you presuming. Read a little of the War between the states. Find out what states seceded, and those who could never make up their mind. Fence straddlers the Kentuckians were, mostly. Count the states that are more South than Kentucky

From A Bred Northerner

To The Editor:

My honor to say "good job" for your editorial stand of Thursday, March 21. As reported by the Associated Press, you asked the University of Kentucky to "divorce itself from the segregation policy which dominates the Southeastern Conference" and tell the world it is "sick of having a doctrine of racial inferiority" rammed down its throats.

As a born and bred Northerner, I am sure I cannot understand the complete significance of your editorial from an ethical and/or sociological point of view, but as a former college newspaper editor (Drake University Times-Delphic, 1961-62), I have complete admiration and respect for your journalistic courage and sense of responsibility.

Congratulations on your stand.

More From Halfhill

To The Editor:

Upon reading Mr. David Sanderson's letter (Kernel, 3/5/63) condemning peace education and opposition to capital punishment as "Unamerican," I was reminded of the concluding paragraph of Bertrand Russell's rebuttal to the Senate Internal Security Committee's "investigation" of the Pugwash movement. Lord Russell states:

"The whole tone of the report is to the effect that the wicked Russians praise peace, while all patriotic Americans praise war. Any unprejudiced person, reading the Report and believing it, would inevitably be driven to the support of Russia. Fortunately the West is not quite so black as it is represented to be in this report. But it would be very unwise to overlook the fact that Senate Committees have immense powers of persecution, and use these powers, in the main, to discourage and discredit every approach towards sanity."

(From Has Man A Future? pp. 67-68, my italics).

I do not believe that opposition to capital punishment and self-destructive war is "Unamerican." If Mr. Sanderson has any hope of defending the justice of his cause, he will not maintain the contrary.

Similar observations might be made about Mr. Sanderson's assertion that "the actions of these two men could in no way benefit the University. . . ." In addition I might observe that such "actions" occur rather frequently among the faculty and students of the high quality Universities such as Harvard. It has been reported to me that the handbill incident has gained increased respect for UK among the faculty and students of the University of Louisville. They say that UK has finally become an University. It is significant that student-faculty apathy and poor quality education coexist in the South, the most backward Region of the United States.

Four Preps. Dave Brubeck . . .

Soundtrack

By NANCY LONG
Kernel Society Editor

All ye collectors of great albums, come hither; I have discovered a couple new ones you'll be anxious to hear.

The versatile Four Preps have come into the scene with their latest recording "Campus Confidential" (ST 1814). It's directed to college type people and was recorded in concert at California's UCLA.

The Preps combine expert harmony and blend with comedy and slightly risqué comments. They travel round the nation on a "College Cannonball" and pick up songs from a variety of Universities giving their audiences a taste of melodies sung at campus gatherings from Florida to California.

One especially delightful song which is introduced on this album has a hula strain and words that discuss a little girl and her possessions: "The Princess Poo-poo" has Plenty Papaya—legitimately taught to them at a University of Hawaii fraternity party.

An original, "Campus Rules" becomes the topic of a hilarious song as they suggest that the college generation should look upon rules as a challenge to their young and fertile minds.

The words to these tunes makes you want to learn them for future reference, and the melody seems to be floating round your brain at the oddest times—it really catches.

Being southern students, we know the mystification of that notorious brew called "White Lightning" and the Preps may strike a strangely familiar note in hearts around UK as they inform us of it's evil existence.

The album is not all humor, the Preps exhibit their fine style in favorites such as "Lazy River" with a bass solo, and a touch of reminiscing to "Goodnight Sweetheart." And of course you all know the Preps will be appearing in concert at Memorial Hall tonight. As a preview of this "sure winner" go down to Kennedy's and give it a listen.

Another album I ran across while browsing through the record department is Dave Brubeck's interpretations of the "Bossa Nova" (CL 1966). No one else could present the essence of this exotic rhythm which is presently sweeping the country.

The bossa nova is accredited to a cool wave of Brazilian sounds which drifted across the Atlantic in late '62. Dave Brubeck, the ultimate in jazz with the accompaniment, or as the complement (which ever way you see it) of Paul Desmond's roving horn draws in the bossa nova and infilters it gracefully into American Jazz.

Brubeck says, "We had waited long for bossa nova, or some kindred rhythm . . . (it has been) bubbling under the surface of jazz for the past ten or fifteen years, occasionally bursting through with Latin accents, African rhythms and even Oriental and Indian influenced jazz."

Tumultuous sounds, interesting improvisations, a strangely consistent drum, with the cool emphatic motif appearing here and there comprise the spirit of bossa nova—the Brubeck way.

Never boring sounds which heighten your initial impressions and constantly introduce you to a new idea, are readily obtainable at Kennedy's Book Store.

New Comic Plays It Cool

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer

Alan Arkin is playing Broadway's spotlight cool. After all, man, who wants to be a square?

Elevated to stardom overnight on a wave of rave notices for

STUDENT TO GIVE RECITAL

A voice recital will be given by Alice Ebenburgh, a graduate student in the Department of Music at 8 o'clock tonight, in the Laboratory Theatre of the Fine Arts Building.

The program will include music by Brahms, Strauss, Schubert, Britten, and a group of songs by contemporary American composers. Accompanying her will be Ann Hatfield, instructor in the music department.

Ms. Ebenburgh has appeared in Opera Workshop productions as a singer and pianist, and is currently directing the chorus, playing and singing in the production "The Apothecary," to be staged April 19-20.

The program is free and open to the public.

zany brilliance, the 28-year-old entertainer mutters:

"To tell you the truth, I'm not too crazy about being called a comic."

Just what designation would please him is uncharted, for when Arkin talks about himself, he uses a tone somewhere between wary nonchalance and nervous disdain.

"I may not tell the whole story, but I don't lie," he sums up the free-wheeling odyssey that preceded his current triumph in "Enter Laughing" at Miller's Theatre.

The comedy is based on an autobiographical novel by television's Carl Reiner about a youth getting into show business. The day after it opened, Arkin's name was elevated abruptly to stellar position above the title along side Sylvia Sidney, Vivian Blaine, Alan Mowbray, and Irving Jacobson—a quartet of established worthies who received only glancing attention from the critics.

"It's the first time since I started acting that I have to prepare for a performance," he declares. "Before this, I've always played the juvenile roles that no one else wanted."

Comparing himself with the stagestruck character he portrays, Arkin says "he has an openness, a vulnerability that I don't have."

The slender, dark-haired youth travelled from his native Brooklyn to Broadway the long way—via the West Coast, Mexico, St.

Louis, Chicago, and other way stations.

"I've been acting since I was 8, but turned professional at 16," he notes. "My father is a painter. I attended a couple of colleges around Los Angeles, then I was one of eight fellows who were undergraduates at Bennington up in Vermont."

"Isn't that a woman's college?" "Mostly, yeah, but it was kind of fun. I got thrown out before getting my degree. I married one of the girls without permission of the dean, and then I had a run-in with the head of the drama department."

The scholarship for theater studies at Bennington was one of five which Arkin has scooped up since his 12th birthday. He and his coed bride had two daughters, have since been divorced. The restless sire tried his hand at a variety of skills including guitar-teaching and folk-singing—which he gave up "because I got bored."

His main dramatic interest for the future lies in the works of Chekhov, Shaw, and Moliere.

"I haven't been in enough things to have gotten typed," declares Arkin, "but I'd rather quit than ever get typed. Also, I've worked with enough people to know my work in other areas to not worry now about having to convince anyone else."

"The next time, I guess I'd like a jazz musical, then a couple of years knocking around the world shooting pictures."

Faculty String Trio To Present Concert

A program of three original works for string trio will be presented on the University Musicale series, Sunday, in the Guignol Theatre, at 3:30 p.m.

Members of the University Trio are Gordon Kinney, cellist, Paul Todd, violist, and Kenneth Wright, violinist.

The musicale is open to the public and there will be no admission charge.

The program will open with a recent transcription by Dr. Kinney of the F Minor Three-Part Invention of Bach, for the violin, viola, and cello instrumentation of the University Trio. The Beethoven G Major Trio to follow next, is one of the early works of Beethoven, and one of a group of three famous string trios written in 1798. The Francaix Trio represents the contemporary French composer in a characteristic mood, that of wit and understatement, with some satire not absent.

Closing the program will be one of the masterpieces of Schubert, the Bb Major Trio, written in 1817 when the composer was only twenty years old. A mixture of Italian and Viennese styles, the work includes all the typically Schubertian wealth of melodies, with no attempt at seriousness. The middle section of the Minuet movement relaxes into a genial Landler-type waltz melody of very earthy origin.

The complete program is as follows:

- Sinfonia in F minor.....Bach
- Trio in Gb major, Opus 9, Number 1.....Beethoven
- Trio in C major (1833).....Francaix
- Trio II in B-flat major.....Schubert

All-Star Tilt Set Saturday

TOM THACKER

America's finest basketball players will participate in tomorrow's first annual East-West All-Star game at the Coliseum. Game time is 8 p.m.

East mentor Harold Anderson of Bowling Green is retiring after this season. Currently he is also president of the sponsoring National Association of Basketball Coaches. Tulane's Cliff Wells, coach of the West, has also announced that he is retiring.

The run-and-shoot brand of basketball popularized by UK's Adolph Rupp will highlight the star tilt. Although the East is favored to win by virtue of the top-heavy distribution of All-America selections, the game should be an example of basketball at its finest, for a fine cause.

Proceeds from the game will go to the Naismith Memorial Hall of Fame being set-up to honor America's basketball best at Springfield, Mass.

Leading the East are a talented selection of All-America selections, three of who played last weekend in the NCAA final round in Louisville. Player of the Year Art Heyman of Duke leads the trio. Loyola's Jerry Harkness and Cincinnati's Tom Thacker will also play for the East. West Virginia's Rod Thorn and Bowling Green's Nate Thurman are expected to join them on the starting team.

West starters will probably be Ken Chaiton of Colorado, Bill Green of Colorado State, Lyle Harger of Houston, Gary Hill of Oklahoma City, and either Willie Brown of Texas Western or Nolan Ellison of Kansas.

Baseball Cats Open Season; Play Vanderbilt Today At 3

The Kentucky Wildcats will open the 23-game season against Vanderbilt at 3 p.m. today. Coach Harry Lancaster's squad includes 13 sophomores, three juniors and three seniors.

Two of the sophomores — Randy Embry and Ron Kennett — also followed the basketball trail with Lancaster, assistant to Coach Adolph Rupp.

Kennett, a prime candidate for shortstop, hit a torrid .433 for the Kitten team last year.

Embry operates from the third base corner. He is a good hitter and has quick hands and an accurate throwing arm.

They will be expected to take up some of the slack left by the departure of six 1962 starters.

Gone from last year's team are Eddie Monroe, first base; Dallas Reed, second base; Allen Feldhaus, right field; Bobby Myers, left field; Larry Pursiful, shortstop; and Ray Raulf, third base.

Five of these positions will be filled with sophomores.

enski, pitcher.

Nash is also listed as a pitcher. He is the only returnee with more than four starts to his credit. His earned run average of 3.15 was the lowest on the team last season. Nash had a 4-1 record.

The Wildcats were 12-7-1 overall and 9-7 in the Southeastern Conference last year.

Lancaster said this year's fortunes rest with the pitching staff. Sophomore Ken Gravitt and junior Duane Schwartz are also being counted on for starting roles.

Rex Ratcliffe, a southpaw, has looked good in early practice and will probably start against Vanderbilt Saturday.

Tomorrow's return match begins at 2 p.m., also at the Sports Center diamond.

The two games with Vandy begin a 15-day period in which the Cats play 12 games, including eight SEC tilts.

UK Golf Team Opens Today At 1

Kentucky's golf team opens the 1963 season today at 1 p.m. at the Lates Creek Country Club against Xavier of Ohio.

"We expect to have one of the best golf teams in UK history this year, due mainly to our overall depth," new coach Dave Butler said.

Butler is taking over this year for Coach L. L. Martin, on a year's leave of absence. The last three years Butler has led the UK golfers.

Last year UK downed Xavier in both matches. Kentucky, with four returnees from last season and a promising sophomore crop, should be favored over the Musketeers.

Kentucky will be hampered this afternoon by the loss of one of the expected "big three" for the match. Sophomore Don Rogers, expected to fight it out for the number one slot, is in the hospital and will miss the first few matches.

Don Heilman and Juddy Knight, fighting with Rogers for the top spot, will lead the UKers against Xavier. Both shot about 75 last season.

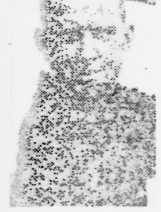

Jim Gracey and Chuck Kirk are expected to hold down the third and fourth slots for the Cat golfers. Last year, Kirk shot 75, Gracey fired a 76.

Sophomore Smitty Hoskins will fire number five and either Floyd Ellis or Johnny Anderson, both sophomores, will be the number six golfer against Xavier.

Butler said that the fine fifth and sixth men on the squad will win many matches for Kentucky this year.

He said this overall depth is due mainly to the program of scholarships begun four years ago. This enables UK to have a full team of good golfers where in the past only three or four of the six were top-notch golfers.

"UK had not had a winning season for five years before we began giving scholarships," Butler said. "The last four years we have posted a 11-20 record.

"We have not had a man win the Southeastern Conference golf meet since Johnny Owens won back in the early thirties. This year we have three men who have a good possibility of finishing among the leaders.

"The team also has a good chance of winning the tournament, scheduled for the first week in May, at the University of Georgia."

Butler said, "We believe that we are really going to have a good squad and would like people to come to the matches. We start at 1 p.m. on weekdays and 10 a.m. on Saturdays. Admission is free to all our matches."

Scoring in golf is based on 27 possible points, with six man squads. Each team plays six man-for-man matches. One point is awarded for the man ahead after the first nine holes. One point is awarded for the man with the lowest score for the last nine holes. One point is awarded to the man with the lowest 18-hole score. These six matches account for 18 points.

Concurrently with the man-for-man matches, score is being kept for two-man team matches. Points are awarded on the same basis as for individual play. This accounts for the remaining nine points.

Each squad's best man is designated as number one golfer and these two play. The same goes for second through sixth positions.

Cats Sign Ohioan To Grid Grant

Tim Martin has become the latest addition to an impressive list of talent for future University of Kentucky football teams. Head Coach Charlie Bradshaw announced yesterday.

The newest Wildcat grid prospect played one year of high school football at Torrance California, and then moved to Covington, Ohio, to finish up his career there the past two seasons as a halfback.

The six-foot and 185-pound back captained his team the final season and averaged over seven yards per carry. Martin also scored 60 points as the Bucaners chucked up a 7-2 record in 1962 to finish second in the Little Buckeye League.

Martin was recognized for his outstanding contribution by selection to the All-League team.

Want To Go Home? Heck No—Florida!

By JOHN RYAN, Kernel Feature Writer

"What are you going to do during Spring Vacation? Are you going home?"

"Heck no, I'm going to Florida."

This sequence now has a familiar ring on the UK campus; an appreciable portion of the collegiate population has taken on that "I can't wait" look, and many students are being caught gazing wistfully in a southerly direction.

In about ten days, anyone not knowing what it's all about is likely to be a bit startled; he will see sweatshirt-clad persons running (faster than they ever ran to class) to airports, bus terminals, train depots, cars and bicycles. Last year a party named Benny Orgewitze and a friend tried to pedal a tandem bicycle to Fort Lauderdale; one of them was going to pedal while the other slept, but on arriving in Daytona Beach, the friend discovered that he had lost Benny someplace in Georgia. The friend was dismayed, because Benny had all the beer money.

The general pattern is, about two weeks before the vacation is supposed to begin, start saving your coke money. As the time draws nearer, you cut down on other luxuries—like lunch, laundry costs, and pizza. Then, about a week before V-Day, you go sell all your books back to the bookstore, write home for an advance on your next five or so care packages, and by a supreme effort you have stretched that little kitty of yours almost far enough for a fair-sized blast in Daytona. (If you can go without meals for two weeks running, it may be possible for you to go to Nassau.)

The next move is to find a way down. Flag waving, sign holding, and an all out man-with-a-car hunt becomes the thing, but the budget-conscious traveler will adopt the medium of the thumb and a "Florida or Bust" sign.

What you do after you have left your safe, secure campus and arrived at the "Home of Fun" in quest of having a ball may be speculated upon, but whether you go where the boys are or just follow the boys, one thing is pretty certain: there will probably be one or two other collegiate types there.
