GREETINGS

It is with a great deal of pleasure that The Kernel expresses its happiness over having as the guests of the university department of journalism the delegates to the convention of the National College Press Association.

Many times have we expressed our belief in the value of conventions but, upon this occasion, we are able to appreciate even more fully the benefits which cannot but accrue from such a gathering.

We are sure that those who are responsible for journalism at the university will profit from this occasion, and with whom we will come in contact, and we know that the standards of our own campus publications cannot be raised as a result of this meeting.

Thus, with a cordial exchange of greetings, may we begin a convention which will be both enjoyable and instructive; entertaining and beneficial.

WILDCAT SPIRIT

Spirit which has been evidenced by members of the Wildcat football squad during this week has been better than any shown so far this year.

ed generally that Kentucky CAN defeat the Volunteers.

Coch Gamage has said that Kentucky can defeat Tennessee, as have many other close observers of the Wildcat team.

It generally is accepted that a defeat over Tennessee makes any football season a success.

BENEFIT SHOWS

Students of the university undoubtedly are ardent theater-goers, and at present, this love for the cinema may help a great deal in relieving the suffering of those who will be unemployed this winter.

The benefit show is perhaps the most practical method of gathering relief funds which has been proposed, and it cannot but be a decided financial aid to the various relief agencies of the city and county.

It is hoped that the students of the university will be able to contribute to the relief funds, if at least can attend one or more of the benefit shows.

IS FOOTBALL FOR THE STUDENTS?

If the theory that the game of football is played for the students of the institution from which the team is drawn is practiced at the University of Kentucky it is hardly understandable that students should be afforded so little opportunity to see the contests.

Naturally the athletic departments desire to profit as much as possible from the sale of seats for the football games, but when this profit is made at the expense of the students themselves we believe that some change should be made.

With conditions the same as they have been for the Tennessee game we again will be reminded of the story of the money-minded father, who when a rich stranger came to his city to visit, put his son out of the house in order that the foreign gentleman might have adequate board and lodging.

A MEDICAL SCHOOL FOR THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY? Editor, The Kernel: The University of Kentucky has made rapid improvement in the past 10 years and now offers many opportunities to its students.

deal students from the state university, but why not have a medical school of our own? The question arises: Can the university afford the additional expense?

A new building would be necessary, thousands of dollars worth of equipment would have to be bought, and accomplished instructors acquired.

The state institution would be able to offer its students a course in medicine at a much cheaper rate than the private schools. One of the main reasons why more students do not attend the medical schools is the tremendous expense.

LOVE AND FRIENDSHIP

We call it "friendship," you and I. And that is just as well: But there's a bit of Heaven a-strir-

And if you were to say "I love you," And I to answer the same: Could we play as skillfully, I wonder, At that other sort of game?

Would you know how to sound the deeper notes And touch new chords awake? And what would be left of faith for you When the first illusion breaks?

Could I in my turn, keep the rules, And cling to my topmost heights? How well, when the heart is laid bare at last, Should I weather the days and nights?

There's a great high mountain before us still, And these thoughts we are thinking now: While the far side calls us, yet threatens too— Just over the mountain's brow.

Only a word to whisper: A look, one move of the head: And two loose the art of friendship That hangs by a sliver thread. Would life grow richer for saying the word? Or for leaving it unsaid?

PARTING REQUEST You may keep the things I gave you . . . Things like laughter and dreams, Silks and laces and orchids too, Verses and stories, dreams! Opera cloaks and moonbeam nose, Diamond pendants and rings, And things like that—you can keep those—

But there are other things! The night you tipped on my toes To tie a perfect bow . . . The time you found a trampled rose And cried to see it so . . . The time you gave my first kiss (You said, "Don't be a duffer!" I have all these, and I have this, You really loved me once!

So keep the silks and diamond rings. But, dear, before we part (You've grown so careless with my things, Please . . . give me back my heart. (AUTHUR UNKNOWN) jest Among Us The week's worst joke: "Just a big shot on the varsity rifle team." Kernel headline: "Justice Elected President of Law Society." As Shakespeare said, "What's in a name?"

After watching those frosh play Saturday, one wonders at the name "Kittens." And after a society open house, one also wonders . . . Kernel feature gurgles, "Get Out And Get Under The Moon." The trouble is that too many students reverse it—they get under the influence of moon, and then go out. . . . And why not a fight to the finish between Smythfield and any two Kappas for the benefit of the intramural debaters? Famous last lines: "Couldn't you manage to give me a D—?"

That one of the gentle 3dlets takes care to list those gentlemen whom she believes satisfactory companions for herself and her visitors was disclosed recently when a compilation made by Millie Nelson was made public. It perhaps would interest our innumerable readers to know just which of the socialites the lady regards with favor.

We bring you now the second of a series of communications addressed to this department. It is our intention to have a letter from every organization on the campus before the year is over. That is, of course, if we can so far receive the cooperation of every organization on the campus to carry out this program.

It is much to our displeasure that it is necessary to lower ourselves to communication with a broken-down political burn-out, but our charitable nature calls upon us to enlighten, not those who have their hearts at their feet, but those who harbor their minds there.

Answer to Question No. 1: Is it possible that there are people in this university, other than freshmen, who have not heard of The Kernel, and the duties it imposes on its Editor-in-chief? Then, can you explain your Mr. Lynn who was also present during the elections?

Professor Rannels Gives Lecture on Art Talk is Special Feature of Study of Scandinavian Countries

"Scandinavian Art" was the subject of the illustrated address given Wednesday night in the lecture room of McVey hall by Prof. E. W. Rannels, head of the art department. The lecture was given as a special feature of the regular course of study of international relations sponsored by the Womens' club of the university, the American Association of University Women, and Pan Politikon.

Professor Rannels gave information concerning painting, sculpture, and architecture of Norway, Denmark, and Sweden. In the Denmark crafts, he showed slides of sculpture by Kai Nielse. Views of Royal Copenhagen porcelain, Danish silver, and Swedish glass also were shown.

For Norway, the sculpture of Gustav Wigelund was illustrated, and Swedish sculpture emphasis was placed upon the works of Carl Milles. Mr. Milles is at present in America awaiting commissions. The spectacular paintings of Prince Eugen, of Sweden, the animal paintings of Liljor, and selected painting by Zorn were among those exhibited.

In the show of reproductions of Swedish architecture, the town hall of Stockholm was one of the selections shown. In the Art League Show in New York last spring, Sweden was honored by being the only foreign country invited to show in the architectural exhibit.

Fine Arts Program Will Be Radiocast

The Fine Arts program which will be radiocast from the university studios of WHAS from 1:00 to 1:15 p. m., Monday, November 23, is: Violin: Rattle of Spring, Sinding; Violin duo: Prelude in C sharp minor, Rachmaninoff; Violin: Scourville's Ballad; Piano duo: Northern Song, Schumann; Violin: Londonderry Air, Arrangement by Tertis; David Young, violinist, Leila W. Cullis, accompanist, and Helen Stark and Bernice Matson, pianists, will present the program.

RANNELS IN CINCINNATI Prof. Edward W. Rannels, head of the department of art, will spend the week-end in Cincinnati, where he will make plans for a forthcoming exhibit.

The Spanish Club of the University, Meno Castellano, held its first meeting of the year, for the purpose of organization, at 3 o'clock Tuesday in the recreation room of Patterson hall.

Plans were made for meetings on alternate Tuesdays, at the same time and place. It was also decided that all conversation at and concerning the club would be conducted in Spanish, with a fine for breaking the rule. Officers for the coming year are:

Baker White, president; Emily Hardin, vice-president; Hal Bencomo, secretary, and David Welch, treasurer.

The Suiky circle will entertain with a tea dance on 4 to 6 Saturday in the men's gymnasium. The Blue and White orchestra will furnish music.

The dance is in charge of Misses Lois Neal and Alice Lang, and Mr. Ted Cassidy, and the chaperones will be Mrs. E. F. Farquhar, Mrs. Slade, and Miss Marguerite McLaughlin.

The committee in charge of the Collegiate Press Association convention, which is being held on the campus will entertain the delegates with a dinner dance from 6:30 to 10:30 o'clock, at the Lafayette hotel.

Chaperones will be Prof. and Mrs. Enoch Grehan, Prof. and Mrs. Victor Portmann, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffin, and Miss Marguerite McLaughlin.

Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalistic fraternity, will meet Monday evening with Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, hostess at home on East Maxwell street. Miss Mary Alice Salby will preside at a business session after which a social meeting will be held.

Agriculture College Represents Many Sections of State

The enrollment this semester in the College of Agriculture at the university is comprised of students from 14 Kentucky counties, six other states and one foreign country, according to the latest report issued. Of the counties represented, Fayette has the largest contribution with 14 boys and 27 girls. Fayette is equalled by Boyle in interest in good farming, the latter county having 14 boys studying agriculture.

Of the six counties bordering Boyle, only Lincoln and Garrard have boys enrolled in the college. However, girls from Washington, Mercer, Casey and Marion counties are studying Home Economics.

Authorities of the College of Agriculture are pleased with the number of students from eastern Kentucky as previously there have been very few from that part of the state. In that district there are students from Perry, Pike, Magoffin, Knott, Bath, Estill, Lewis, Knox, Harlan, Greenup, and Breathitt counties.

Other states sending students to the college are Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Virginia. The foreign country represented is Russia.

The report shows a slight decrease in the number of students enrolled this semester as compared with the number last semester. However, many counties are entering the study of agriculture due to the work of 4-H Clubs.

ROAMIN' THE RIALTO

with ROAMIN' RENA

The Kentucky theatre has announced a presentation for the benefit of the local unemployed at 10:30 o'clock. There will be a stage show and the Blue and White orchestra will be featured. This is a nationwide movement to help the millions who are out of work. It will certainly be a help to Lexington. We feel that the students can do much to help in this fine piece of work and are certain that they will do their part.

At the Strand starting Sunday we find Laurel and Hardy pulling their tricks in a full length feature entitled "Pardon Us." These two "short" artists bring their grimaces and noble dumbness into the precincts of a prison. Here besides being unbelievably clumsy they insist on indulging in the razzle-dazzle. June Marlowe is cast as the female attraction or the warden's daughter in this Metro film.

RKO-Pathé is finding the replacement of Robert Williams a tough job. Williams was rehearsing with Constance Bennett in "Lady with a Past" when he was rushed to the hospital for an emergency appendix operation. The appendix burst before the operation was completed and Williams died at the Hollywood hospital November 3. This actor, who started his theatrical career on a Mississippi river show-boat, had made a firm place both on the stage and on the screen.

The Ben Ali's Thanksgiving feature beginning Saturday is a thriller of the submarine laded seas of the World War days. "Suicide Fleet" tells how schemes to sink enemy U-boats were formulated and carried out. Bill Boyd, Robert Armstrong, and James Gleason appear as the hard-boiled gobs and show their usual escapades with women. The film is directed by Albert Rogell and RKO-Pathé has used very realistic sets and thrilling scenes.

Estelle Taylor visited Boston's city hall recently and as she was leaving stopped to sign the visitor's book. Upon glancing at the signature of the last visitor she observed that the name was Benny Leonard. Handing the pen back to Mayor Curley she said, "After all these years with a heavy-weight, you can't expect me to sign with a light-weight."

Metro brings us "Squaw Man" with Cecil B. De Mille at the directorial helm and Warner Baxter with a fine supporting cast on the other side of the megaphone. "Squaw Man," opening at the Ben Ali Saturday, should be a splendid production with all that to recommend it. The play by Edwin Milton Royle was first produced in New York in 1907 and has been popular ever since. In the supporting cast are Charles Bickford, Lupe Velez, Eleanor Boardman, and numerous others.

PEPY'S DIARY

Tuesday: Up to attend my classes that were terribly boring. I did see THORNY HELM who admitted he was the handsome man on the SHROPSHIRE, then we did walk to the DEN of ENIGUITY, where the collegians were discussing the late edition of the paper which contained SCANDAL and news. I did see PAUL WILLIAMS and HILDA COOPER, who were talking the nothings of the day. I did hear that JIMMY HAYES had gone in the cat business, especially when BETTY BOARD did ask him to buy one—or she made him do it. I did see BETTY KING and MILDRED HART sipping their cokes and eyeing the boys as they entered. I did dine with friends and we did discuss the mugs and muggettes of the campus. I did see LAWRENCE JUDD escorting EVELYN TREIBYS to the movie and I did think that he was courting too much of late. I did go to Tully Kernel office where I did see LILLIAN WARREN and Metro has signed John Barrymore to appear with his brother Lionel in "Arsene Lupin", which should really make a show. The reported price stipulated by John for the picture is $250,000. Lionel, of course, is a contracted Metro star.

HAZEL BAUCOM hard at work. I did see PHIL ARDERY working under his big brother WILLIE. I did join friends at the CHIT COMRAH house. CARLEEN GRANT and CAROLYN RAY were the shining lights of the afternoon, especially among the freshmen who had adorned the doors of this home of courtiers or lovers. I did chat with FISHER about the type of student on the campus. I did sup with friends in the evening and did read the college paper. I did think that DAUGHTERY'S articles were very good. I did talk to loafers about the pool room until I grew tired. So bed.

Wednesday: Up to dress and be at my classes which did think came too early. I did see GENE HINDMAN was strolling with a damsel as usual. I did see BRUDGIE CUNNINGHAM with VIRGINIA DOUGHERTY, and he did seem to pour sugar with great success. I did see JACK ROGERS with SERRELLA BISHOP, and I did think that he liked a variety. FINCH HILLIARD and AL KIESEL were very hot in discussion and I did wonder what they did speak of. I did visit the Kentuckian office where I did see BILL HUMBER and MITKEY (SAE) MAQUIRE hard at their tasks. Sleep was my entertainment of the afternoon. In the evening the freshmen had to be paddled, of which I grew weary. Thence to bed.

Thursday: Up to be about my work. I did see JUSTINE WHITTY and FRANK STONE riding, but I did think that they would not come under the head of LOVE BIRDS, as BETTY GREAVES and SAMMY WOODBRIDGE, or MARY MOORE NASH and KIRK MOBERLY. I did see NANCY BELLE MOSS and her beloved, RICE SMITH, enjoying each other's company.

SCHOOL DROPS ABSENCE RULES

Chicago—Paternalism in the college classroom appears to be about to breathe its last at the University of Chicago, under the direction of President Robert M. Hutchins, who explained a new system of higher education to the 775 incoming freshmen this year. The Chicago student is now "mentally on his own." He can make whatever scholastic progress his application and ability will permit. He can cut classes when he wants to without receiving a slip from the dean. He will not be called "on the carpet" when he fails to make the same progress in his course as the other students.

The classes, the teachers, the libraries and the many other resources of the university will be there for his use as he wants to use them. The education will be there, and the student can take it or leave it.

At the end of each course the instructor will make one of two comments. Those who have made satisfactory progress will be so designated. Of others the instructor will simply note: "We don't know enough about him to comment." Students who fall into the latter classification will be barred from intercollegiate competition. That will be the only penalty.

Other than that the student about whom the instructor doesn't care to comment can go right on doing as he pleases for at least two years.

At the end of the two-year period he takes a comprehensive examination, embracing the subjects he has pursued. If he passes he goes on into the University. If he fails he probably will be advised to quit. In the meantime the exceptional student has come in—probably long before the two-year period is up—passed his comprehensive examination and is in the upper division of the university. A genius might finish the first two-year course in three months. Then, after taking a two-year course in one of the upper divisions he would get his degree.

ALUMNI IS RELEASED

The Thanksgiving number of the Alumni, university alumni magazine, was sent out Monday to its subscribers. It features a homecoming story, a Blue and White orchestra story, an article on the organization of the Alumni association in 1898 and general news, campus, alumni and club news.

Never parched, never toasted CAMELS are FRESH in nature's own mild way!

EVERYONE knows now that Camels are the fresh cigarette.
If inquiry went deeper, it would reveal that Camels are the natural moisture cigarette.
That's important, because in handling fine tobaccos, when you process out natural moisture, you sacrifice freshness and flavor too.
Camel smokers needn't worry about that, because Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that are never subjected to violent processing. They need no parching or toasting to make them smooth, palatable, cool.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack is such a boon to Camel smokers—it preserves the freshness, flavor, natural moisture, fragrance that are in this fine cigarette to start with.
Camels are fresh in nature's own mild way, and if you want to see what that means in unalloyed smoke-enjoyment, switch to them for just one day — then leave them, if you can!

WILDCATS PREP FOR TURKEY DAY GAME

FRESHMEN FAIL TO IMPRESS BIG BLUE IN DRILLS

Preparation for Game With Tennessee Rats Delayed To Favor Wildcats

By SUNNY DAY

Since Coach Pribble's freshmen's next and last game, with the Tennessee "Rats" is not to be played until the Saturday following Thanksgiving, the Frosh have given themselves over to entertaining the varsity Wildcats during the past week.

On Tuesday, after the varsity had run against the Kittens with good gains, the freshmen were put on offense to demonstrate some Tennessee plays. In the running of these plays, Jean, Barney, and Cotterell were aided by Backfield Coach "Spinner" Campbell, End Coach Baldy Gill, and George Yates. Campbell has scouted Tennessee several times this year and is thoroughly familiar with a great many of the plays. "Spinner" took the part of the versatile Gene "Wild Bull" McEver, and the Cats had a hard time stopping him; in fact Campbell scored the only touchdown of the afternoon. Taking the ball at the halfback position, he climbed over center, eluded the secondary, then showed the Wildcats his heels and crossed the goal line standing up. His success was short lived, however, for the Big Blue showed its defensive strength on the following plays, and the freshmen and their aides were stopped dead.

Wednesday the Kittens were on defense more than offense, but in spite of all they could do, the Cats' two teams gained consistently. "Big George" Yates, converted into a halfback, stretched out his long legs, showed a real halfback hip motion, and galloped for three touchdowns. E. L. "Hot Shot" Hines, reserve halfback, did his share of the ball totting, and on more than one occasion made gains that resulted in touchdowns. Sparks, Kitten halfback who received a cut over his eye in the game with the Western Frosh last Saturday, was in there fighting while Barney and Jack were taking a rest.

Toward the end of the practice period the freshmen tried Tennessee plays, but without their assistants of the day before they were unable to gain. Even the dreaded passes that are used by the Vols failed to gain. Not a single pass was completed against the Big Blue and most of them were intercepted.

Coach Gamage was so pleased that he dismissed his players shortly after five o'clock, and the Frosh, after a turn around the field, were also sent to the showers.

Ruby—Is my face dirty, or is it my imagination.

"Woody"—Your face isn't, I don't know about your imagination.

Wildcats Who Plan to Trim Vols

We May Be Wrong

The Dopester picks them the way he thinks they will finish. The Wildcats will win, maybe. The rest are conjectural but should run as he figures them.

By TOTSZY ROSE

It seems to be all over but the shouting in the Southern Conference football race; at least this week Tulane and Tennessee are safe bets to stay at the top of the heap. Tulane has an easy game with Sewanee and Tennessee has an off day preparing for its last game of the season against Kentucky on Thanksgiving Day. Tulane has but one more conference opponent to hurdle in order to finish the season undefeated, and that opponent is none other than its traditional rival, Louisiana State.

In selecting an opponent for Southern California in the Tournament of Roses why not let Tennessee and Tulane battle it out in a big charity game, thus killing two birds with one stone? This game would certainly draw one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a game in the South. Tulane will naturally object to this contest because, at present, the Green Wave is the logical choice for the other team in the Rose Bowl classic; however, if the Southern Conference officials would ask permission to stage this charity game it seems only natural that the directors of the Tournament of Roses would give their consent. This game could be held on a neutral field any time after December 5, as Tennessee plays Kentucky November 26, and Tulane closes its schedule against Washington State at New Orleans on December 5.

We must now stop dreaming and return to the games that are billed for this week in the conference. Most of the teams are having an off day tomorrow, and the game next for the big Turkey Day games next Thursday. The most important game will be between Tulane and Sewanee, although this game will be far from interesting. The Green Wave should have little trouble in downing Sewanee, as the Tigers have only a great fighting spirit to stack up against the powerful Tulane eleven.

The Georgia Bulldogs should return to the win column at the expense of Auburn. It is unfortunate that Georgia's hard schedule dulled their performance against Tulane last Saturday, but regardless of the outcome of that game the Bulldogs have one of the most powerful teams that the South has ever pro-

TWENTY PLAYERS SURVIVE RUPP'S FIRST CUT

With four weeks of arduous practice behind them and only four more weeks before the opening game of the season, 22 fighting varsity basketball players are working out daily under the watchful eye of Coach Adolph Rupp.

A cut made the early part of the week has let Coach Rupp with 14 upperclassmen with whom he will work until the end of the football season. At that time several football players will join the squad and a second cut will be made to keep the squad down to approximately 20 men, who will be carried all season.

"The sophomore material this year is promising. Though the boys lack experience, they are showing unexpected strength," Coach Rupp said.

"Frenchy" De Moisey, six foot four inch sophomore, has replaced Sale, substitute center last year, on the first team and seems one of the best of the new men. Sale has been shifted to forward and Kleiser to guard. Sophomores who are showing up well in scrimmages are Hughes, George and Blair, Nelson and Judd, who have reported for basketball this year for the first time, show signs of strength.

Within a week or two the varsity players will start their scrimmages with the freshman team and the varsity plays will be given their first real pre-season test.

Members of the squad who survived the last cut are: Smoot, Moisey, De Moisey, Bell, Davis, Grump, George, Helm, Sale, Oaks, Nelson, Settle, Yancey, House, Hopperton, Hughes, Judd, Blair, Kleiser, Little, Maguire, and Nelson.

FALMOUTH TEAM, PURPLES WILL PLAY HERE

The Purples of the University High school will conclude a successful football season Friday afternoon when they meet a powerful Falmouth team on Cassidy field at 2 o'clock. The game will be the feature event of the high school homecoming program.

The schedule played by the Kemperians included only six games with one game remaining to be played, but so far the season has been very successful. Early in the season the team was not conceded a chance to come through the season with a majority of wins. Lack of an adequate practice field and weight handicapped them considerably, but in spite of a bad start against Irvine, which they lost 6-0, they came back and copped the next three starts and tied Versailles in a scoreless fray Armistice Day.

The playing has been heads up all year. The aerial route has been utilized to the fullest, and it was due to the brilliant passing attack at the waning minutes of the Springfield game that the team was won by a touchdown margin. Versailles outrushed the locals, but He always came back with a fight that kept the play from being one-sided. As the final minutes fled during the Armistice Day game, Little, quarterback, called pass after pass that rushed the ball from the shadows of the University High goal line to the Versailles goal where the gun popped as a Purple receiver dropped a pass as he stepped over the line.

Falmouth has a splendid record to uphold as they take the field against University III. They have scored as high as 121 points against a single opponent this season, and at least 50 points in all the other games with the exception of the Maysville game in which they were 6-0. Versailles won over Maysville 6-0, which figures University High six points to the good over Falmouth.

"Petey" Kemper, Purple coach, has been drilling reserves in regular positions all the time in an effort to build up some material for substitutions should the need arise. He has been greatly handicapped all year by lack of reserve material.

Kelly and Kercheval Must Break Up Vols' Over Head Offense

By RALPH E. JOHNSON

Kentucky has always been a dark cloud on Tennessee's horizon, for no matter how bright prospects might be for Tennessee, Kentucky would rise up on Thanksgiving Day and smite them down. Only desperate effort saved them from complete submergence in these last few years.

Last year the football world rather expected Bobby Dodd, peer of quarterbacks, to trick Kentucky into a defeat. He did that, but not once did the mighty Vols crash the score column via the touch down route. But in Kentucky there is an Irishman named Kelly who is spending his last year for Kentucky in a football uniform. Here in Kentucky and elsewhere those who knew expect him to turn the tables on Tennessee. Kelly doesn't outsmart them—he just outruns them.

However, all of that is a bit off yet, and more startling things are happening in the Wildcats' camp than can be safely neglected. Shifts and changes are being made in the first team line-up in an eleventh hour effort to shape up a team that will click against one of the very best teams in the country.

Kercheval is ready to play halfback if the need arises, and Flippus will step into the fullback berth to fulfill his obligations without a moment's hesitancy. Kelly remains at left half back where he has functioned for three years.

During Wednesday's scrimmage George Yates was shifted from end to half back, where he turned on full steam for the afternoon. He raced the length of the field for a touchdown the first chance he had at the ball. Twice he repeated his feat. This is not the first time that Yates has been in the backfield, for last year he did a turn at that post quite successfully. The new back field shift causes him a little trouble, but the natural grace he possesses will aid him in overcoming that handicap.

Early in the week Coach Gamage called his men about him for a good bawling out and a talk on possibilities. He said, "Kentucky can beat Tennessee on Thanksgiving. Our line is better from tackle to tackle. They have the best ends and a wonderful passing attack."

"Vanderbilt's line outweighed, outplayed and outkicked Tennessee," Gamage continued. "But two of the Vanderbilt backs were laying down, and during the last half they folded up altogether. They let the pass receiver get behind them. Kentucky's salvation is to develop backs who can stop that passing attack, and we're going to do it."

To do this Gamage will probably depend on Kercheval and Kelly, as they have proven most dependable to date. Kercheval has a hard assignment. To him goes the brunt of the line-plunging, punting, plus his share of the passing attack defense.

When the frosh were run against the varsity Tuesday with the aid of Glib, Campbell, and Yates, they scored one touchdown, when Campbell ran over center and eluded the entire first string. After that they were crushed under the weight of the Wildcats' charge.

Bill Luther has replaced Seale at center, but Seale will probably see action against the Volunteers. Both Urbanik and Johnson appeared on the field this week in uniform, but they did not enter into the scrimmage. Stanley Bach took things easy pending a thorough examination of his ankle. Aside from the above mentioned members of the squad everyone is sound.

Arbor Day Was First Celebrated In Switzerland, History Reveals

Kentucky Celebrates Holiday Today by Governor's Proclamation

By ROBERT H. McGAUGHY
The who plants a tree, plants a hope; the who understands the importance of a tree in this universe...

One day, although in late season, people awake from a seemingly deep reverie and started a conservation of the forests by the planting of trees...

Although this holiday is one of the newest of our national holidays, its institution is merely the revival of an ancient custom. It is said that the Aztecs of Mexico always planted a tree when an infant came into the world...

The most interesting of these connected with the Swiss people, who in the fifth century curiously introduced an Arbor Day...

Next, the planting of acorns in furrows was tried, but, again, all their labors were in vain. It was then that they conceived the idea of transplanting the saplings of oaks...

The official father of the conservative movement in this country was J. Sterling Morton, afterward secretary of agriculture during the second term of President Cleveland...

Fourth Musicals of Series Is Planned

Hans Merx, German Baritone, Will Present Sunday Program Here

The fourth in the series of Sunday afternoon musicals to be presented in memorial hall at 4 o'clock November 22, 1931, will be given by Hans Merx, German baritone...

- The program is:
I. Der Wanderer-Schubert.
b. Der Lindenbaum-Schubert.
c. Liebesbotschaft-Schubert.
d. Urquhild-Schubert.

New German Folk Songs by Herm Lons:
a. Das bitterste Lied
b. Das verlassene Magdlein-Hugo Wolf.

Popular German songs of the present day.
I. In 1876, Michigan and Minnesota recognized the holiday, as did Ontario, Canada, in 1877, and New York in 1888.

The holiday is generally observed in the spring, but in many states the date of observance is formally proclaimed by the governor, the time ranging from January to December. In Germany there exists a law which states that for every tree removed, another must be replaced. Truly, this is an example of the intellect predominant in the German race.

Art Center Shows Textile Designs

To him visualizing the importance the execution is ideal; to the matter of fact spectator, the tone is duly faded, and even groaning. Women will appreciate it more readily than men.

Prints suited to the atmosphere of period rooms are Essex Hunt, "American Scene," and "Manhattan." The first, on unbleached muslin, is executed in black on a white ground, with yellow, green, and a bit of red relieving the severity.

"Manhattan," on cotton voile, featuring the sophistication and the cosmopolitan life of the machine age, is printed in pale almost severe-black on white ground, with red and blue. The print has all the charm and simplicity of an etching.

Other textiles designed by Ruth Reeves are "Flora Americana," a fine-weave cotton; "Bill Life," a cotton velvet of subdued coloring and "Polychrome," a pre-prepped cotton.

Another outstanding, at least compelling, textile is one designed by Henriette Reiss and executed by Marie Lutz, executed by David Young. It is a textile of green, provide an intriguing contrast with the other exhibits.

Another Henriette Reiss design similar to the first is done in blue and white on a fine weave cotton textile. This print, executed by the Pepperell Manufacturing company, features sharper curves and contrast and less distinctive. A red flowered design, with blue-grey leaves, and black is exhibited by the same artist. The impression created is one of warmth and sentiment.

Wesley Carter Is Selected Head Of Announcing Staff

Wesley E. Carter has been selected head of the announcing staff of the radio staff of the university extension studios of WHAS to take the place of Harold G. Ritter, who resigned recently due to ill health. Mr. Carter's assistants will be William Arbery, Burnam Fearman, and Roscoe Stephens.

The chief of the operating department will be Harris Sullivan and Edward Barlow. The studio will be entirely equipped with condenser microphones within the next two weeks. One of the microphones is already in use.

Rannells to Give Lectures on Art

Prof. Edward W. Rannells, head of the art department, will give an illustrated lecture on Scandinavian art at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and a second lecture at the same time Thursday in room 314, of the library. The illustrations will be lantern slides of architecture, sculpture, and painting of Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

Practice Begins For Stroller Floor Show

Acts Are in Rehearsal in Preparation for Dance, November 28

Practicing for the first time in the women's gymnasium last night, the chorus for the floor show which will be presented at the Stroller dance Saturday night, November 28, was directed by Georgianna Weedon. Other acts for the show are being prepared under the direction of William Arbery, Stroller director.

In addition to the chorus presentation Dot Day and Mary Elizabeth Rantz will do a specialty number. An effort is being made to enlist a vocal soloist for the show, but the Kernel goes to press, one has not been selected.

Robust Son Born To Mrs. Gene Tunney

New York, Nov. 18.—A robust son—his first one fortune in leather and another in steel—was born today to the Gene Tunneys.

The first child of the retired heavy-weight boxing champion and the former Polly Lauder, Carnegie heiress, weighed more than seven pounds, and was described as an exceptionally healthy youngster.

Both mother and son were "doing perfectly," said Dr. Benjamin F. Watson, director of the hospital, smiling his satisfaction. Tunney remained nearby.

McVey To Address Students' Mothers

Meeting Will Be Held Tuesday Afternoon in Memorial Hall
Pres. Frank L. McVey will speak at the second meeting of the town mothers and relatives of students at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Memorial building. He will discuss the responsibility of town parents and students toward the university.

A musical program is being arranged by Phi Beta, honorary women's musical organization. Miss Emily Hardin has charge of this feature, and she has chosen the following program: Will O' The Wisp...Nevin Evenson...Elizabeth Hardin...Evening Star, "Tannhauser" Wagner Lois Robinson.

After the formal meeting the mothers will be guests of Miss Sarah G. Blanding, dean of women, for tea in the faculty club rooms on the third floor of McVey hall.

At a former meeting held in October, only the mothers of women students were invited, but at this meeting the members of the administrative staff who are arranging the program have issued invitations to mothers of men students also.

No written announcements are being sent, but all town mothers are asked to take this notice as an invitation, and arrange to be present.

FOSTER FOSTERS FIGSKIN!

University students were dumb-founded at the first of the week when "Cuzey" Foster was seen crossing the campus nudging a brand new football in his arms. Foster carries this implement of the gridiron at the command of Harry Gamage, football chief at the university, and Coach Gamage hopes the loving of said football will cure "Cuzey" of his buttermilkedness.

Foster is more than a nursemaid to the oval, he is more like a mother or a brother, because he stays with the bright yellow pigskin all the time, even sleeping with it. To every class he takes his pigskin friend, and amid the titters and guffaws of the co-eds and male students blushing carries his emblem of torture with the courage of many previous generations of Wildcat forebears.

As a punishment for his frequent fumbles in practice and in games this novel form of punishment was introduced by Gamage to enable him to make a first team back of Foster, who is barring this one bad habit, is a most capable ball carrier. Foster must carry his ball all the rest of the football season, but in witnessing Foster carrying the "yaller" colored pigskin around, do not censor him, for he is doing his duty.

SORORITY TEACHES DANCING

Lawrence, Kan.—There's a new sorority at the University of Kansas, an honorary dancing sorority. They hold sessions before football games and "teach the eds and co-eds to dance."
