TWO TALKS ON BOOKS AND PRINTING: THE TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE KING LIBRARY PRESS

Two distinguished speakers will mark the 25th Anniversary of the King Library Press on April 2 at 7:30 PM. in the Gallery.

John S. Mayfield, of Washington, D.C., will deliver a talk entitled "My Friend, Algernon Charles Swinburne." A celebrated collector, Mayfield owns portions of Swinburne's original manuscript for "On the Cliffs," a work recently published by the Press. He is also one of the founders of The Manuscript Society and the American Committee of the International Byron Society.

James Mosley, of London, will speak on "Eric Gill as Typographer." Mosley studied with Philip Gaskell at Cambridge and was associated with Water Lane Press there. Later he worked with the Stevens, Shanks type foundry. He is Librarian of the St. Bride Institute, a research collection built on the library of printing historian William Blades. He is also editor of the Journal of the Printing Historical Society.

The King Library Press's first book, The Marriage of Cock Robin and Jenny Wrenn, appeared as the work of the High Noon Press in 1956. It was printed by Carolyn Hammer, Nancy Lair and Mary Voorhees. The Press's current name first appeared on Thomas Merton's Prometheus: A Meditation in 1958. From these beginnings, The King Library Press has become an internationally-known program based in the Department of Special Collections. It has received special impetus from the presence in Lexington of the late artist, printer and type designer Victor Hammer and from the Gravesend Press of the late Joseph C. Graves, Sr. Two of Hammer's presses are presently in Special Collections, and the Gravesend Press's equipment as well as the Joseph C. Graves, Sr., typographical library were presented to the University of Kentucky by Mrs. Graves in 1965.

The Press has produced a total of 21 books, including choice original texts and important reprints. These are widely collected and have earned significant critical recognition. In addition to its publishing program the Press's Graphic Design Seminars have brought outstanding figures from around the world to Lexington to meet with U.K. students and other interested persons from throughout the region.

The Anniversary program is free, and all are invited to attend. For further information call Gay Reading (258-8611) or Jim Birchfield (258-2651).

It was a banner year for the LSO. After several years of dormancy it sprang to life again in its 25th year and once again became a viable organization. The year began with the election of officers for 1980. Toni Powell (Agriculture) was elected President, Andrea Bryant (Business and Economics) was Vice President, Betsy Peters (Acquisitions) was Secretary, and Sandra Muenks (Cataloging) was elected Treasurer. Other staff members were soon involved with the organization of the LSO departmental representatives (list attached). We also began a publication for the staff and about the staff called the WAX BEAN. This proved very successful and may be continued next year (if the printing machine holds out).

1980 was a very active year for LSO. We began the year with a Newcomers' Reception in an effort to introduce new staff and acquaint old staff with their colleagues, sponsored an LSO tasting party (to feature the cookbook), the annual picnic, LSO Walking Tour of Historic Lexington, the Silver Jubilee (combined with a newcomers' reception), and the annual Christmas Party. We had 6 lunch hour programs (listed at the end) and served coffee and donuts for both ACTS and faculty meetings. Our moneymaking ventures included the sale of paperback books, the cookbook, and of course the membership dues. We were also very generous during 1980. At Thanksgiving we gave 3 food baskets and at Christmas we gave $164.05 to the Medical Center for gifts for indigent patients, collected toys for the needy children of Lexington, and treated Paul Willis, our Director of Libraries to dinner at Holly Hill Inn as his Christmas gift.

LSO was not without its ups and downs (fortunately more ups). In September we lost our Secretary, Betsy Peters, and this left a void in the organization. Betsy was a very enthusiastic member of the organization and very innovative in her approach to our activities. We were sorry Betsy left before the Silver Jubilee (a party she really looked forward to.) At the end of the year the bank began bouncing our checks and it seems that they deposited our hard earned money into someone else's account. Sandra missed the Christmas luncheon trying to straighten that out.

The LSO could not have survived without the support of the staff. The officers thank Jean Robinson for organizing the lunch hour programs and the food baskets, Jim Shaeffer for his design of our logo, David Farrell and the members of the Social Committee for the fine programs, the staff lounge committee for keeping the staff lounge so clean and pleasant, Paul Willis for his continuing support in the organization, and of course all of you 106 members who worked hard and enthusiastically to bring LSO back to life.
