Dear Sir,

I have no right to ask of you the favour I am about to ask. But my son Roger Fry & Kuzi (decease) has been of less account the young men when you rather found you on Sunday evening: I should be very thankful if I could have a few minutes about him conversations with you when you are next in London. If you could permit me, I would call on you some afternoon at Westminster. Kindly say nothing of this note to my father.

Yours faithfully

Edw: Keble
