

MAX GATE,
DORCHESTER.

Dear Mr Hueffer:

I am quite in sympathy with the objects you have in view in proposing to launch such a magazine as you describe. But I have not been able to find anything that I can send - though I may have some poem lying about that would be in keeping with the tone to be adopted.

If I should find one I will let you have it - perhaps when the magazine is a little further advanced.

Yours truly
Thomas Hardy.
