

Mrs. Hemans presents her compliments to Capt. Gardiner and D. Adams, and requests their permission to subscribe in a little volume of Long's edition she is collecting for the poor, she would also write for their opposite Station. - If allowed to make this use of them she will send them to Boston

In a note, the work for which they were originally written, and the authority for which they is inserted in the Collection.
