Sir

On returning the document with which you were so kind as to favour me, I hope I may be allowed to express to you my sense of the politeness and friendly disposition which prompted such consideration towards one who had only had the honour & pleasure of meeting you casually in a public place. These amenities under the pursuits of literature doubly agreeable; & while I thank you I beg also to thank my friend Mr Blanshard (if he will permit our long acquaintance & my respect for his character to take that name) for his good offices on the occasion.

I

Trust the paper will reach you in as good order as you gave it to me

Your obliged humble servant

W. Jordan
